"WEEP NOT."

There's not a spot of earth, however green and fair—
There's not a happy hearth, without some shadow there!
There's not a desert path where human foot hath trod,
But human sorrow hath pressed down its velvet sod!
There's not a silver river, there's not a moonlit wave,
But sings a dirge for ever above some lonely grave!
There's not a dawning morn, there's not a setting sun,
But some to grief are born, and some lie wearied down!
There's not a nontide breeze, there's not an evening's breath,
That somewhere doth not freeze with thy chill touch; O death!
Yet death shall not prevail: weeper of earth or sea!
Ere long shall cease thy wail! Jesus shall victor be!
"Weep not!" shall sound once more, even through thy spit-torn
And, nearing your bright shore, with Jesus none can mourn!

Anecdote of the Rev. Samuel Harris.

It is related in Semple's History, of the Rev. Samuel Harris of Virginia, that—

"When he first began to preach, his soul was so absorbed in the work, that it was difficult for him to attend to the duties of this life. A man owed him a sum of money, which he actually stood in need of, to defray the expenses of his family. He went to the man, and told him he would be very glad if he would discharge the debt he owed him. To which the man replied, he could not pay him the money. Harris said, 'I want the money to buy wheat for my family. You have a good crop of wheat by you, I had rather have wheat than money.' The man answered, 'I have other uses for my wheat.' 'How then,' said Mr. Harris, 'do you intend to pay me?' 'I never intend to pay you, until you sue me,' replied the debtor. 'Mr. Harris left him; and went on meditating. Good God, said he to himself, what shall I do? Must I leave preaching to attend to a law-suit! Perhaps a thousand souls will perish in the mean time, for the want of hearing of Jesus. No! I will not! Well, what will you do for yourself? What? I will sue him at the court of heaven.

"Having resolved what to do, he turned aside into a wood, and fell upon his knees, and thus began his suit. 'O blessed Jesus! thou eternal God, thou knowest that I need the money which the man owes me, to supply the wants of my family: but he will not pay me without a law-suit. Dear Jesus, shall I quit thy cause, and leave the souls of men to perish? Or wilt thou in mercy open some other way of relief?

"In this prayer Mr. Harris found such tokens of divine goodness, that, to use his own words, 'Jesus seemed to say to him, Harris? keep on preaching, and I will become surety for the payment.' Mr. H. having his debt thus secured, thought it most proper to give the debtor a discharge. Accordingly, he shortly after passing by to a meeting, carried a receipt in full to the man's house; and gave it to his servant, desiring him to give it to his master. On his return by the house after meeting, the man hailed him at his gate, and said, 'Mr. Harris, what did you mean by the receipt you sent me this morning?' Mr. H. replied, 'I meant just as I wrote. Well, but I have not paid you,' answered the debtor. True, said Mr. Harris, and I know also, that you said you never would, without I got the money at the tail of an execution: but, Sir, I sued you in the court of heaven; and Jesus has agreed to pay me. I have therefore given you a discharge.

"This operated so effectually upon the conscience of the debtor, that in a few days he prepared and sent Mr. Harris a receipt to discharge the debt."

The Church and the Tavern.

In the year 1793, when Louis XVI. was beheaded, and the French Revolution was in full blast, I was a thorough-going radical. With seventeen more of our club, I was marched, under a guard of the king's officers, and lodged in Edinburgh jail. After a summary hearing, I got liberty to banish myself, and accordingly took passage in the good ship, Providence, and landed at New York in 1794. I was then in my twenty-second year. When the ship cast off from the wharf in Scotland, and swung round with the breeze, my father stood upon the shore. He waved a last adieu, and exclaimed, "Remember the Sabbath-day to keep it holy." I arrived at New York on a Saturday, and the next day being the Sabbath, at nine o'clock, a.m., three young men of our company called at my lodgings.

"Where are you going to-day?" they enquired.

"To church," I replied.

"We have been ten weeks at sea; our health requires exercise. Let us walk out to-day into the fields, and go to church next Sabbath," they said.

Said I, "You can go where you please, but I'll go to church; the last words from my father were, 'Remember the Sabbath-day'; and, had I no respect for the Fourth commandment, I have not yet forgotten his last advice."

"They went to the fields; I went to church. They spent forty or fifty cents in the tavern; I put a one penny bill in the plate at the morning, afternoon, and night service—total, three pence. They continued going into the country, and in process of time, the landlady's daughter, and the landlady's niece, would join their company. Then each couple hired a gig, at two dollars a day; wine, cake, and ice cream on the road, fifty cents each; dine at Jamaica, one dollar each. They got home at eight o'clock, p.m., half tipsy, and, having been caught in a thunder shower, their coats, hats, and mantles, were damaged fifty per cent. They rose the next morning at nine o'clock, a.m., with sore heads, sore hearts, muddy boots, and an angry conscience, besides twelve dollars (£2 10s.) lighter than when they started. I went to church; at five o'clock, a.m., head sound, heart light, rose, bones refreshed, conscience quiet, and commenced the labours of the week in peace and plenty. They were all mechanics; some of them could earn twelve dollars a-week. My business, that of a wrought nail maker, was poor, the cut nail machines had just got into operation, which cut down my wages to a shaving. With close application I could only earn five dollars and fifty cents (£1 3s.) per week. Never mind—at the end of the year, my Sabbath-riding shopmates had fine coats and hats, powdered heads and ruffled shirts; but I had a hundred hard dollars (upwards of £20) piled in the corner of my chest. Having lived fast, they died early. Nearly forty winters are past, and forty summers ended, since the last was laid in the Potter's or some other field; while I, having received from my Maker a good constitution, (and common sense to take care of it), am as sound in mind, body, and spirit, as I was on this day fifty-six years ago, when first I set my foot on shore at Governor's Wharf, New York. Besides, it's a fact (for which my family can vouch), I have been only one day confined to the house by sickness during that period!

Now, I dare say, you think with me, that the church on the Sabbath is better than the tavern for the labouring man.—Grant Thurn.

Interest and Debt.

"I forgot to ask, in the earnestness of my congratulations, whether the farm is yours? Whether it is paid for? I hope the deeds are recorded, without mortgage or lien of any kind. I hope no notes are drawing interest. No bluster draws sharper than interest does. Of all industries none is comparable to that of Interest. It works day and night, in fair weather and in foul. It has no sound in its footsteps, but travels fast. It gnaws at a man's substance with invisible teeth. It binds industry with its firm, as a fly is bound upon a spider's web. Debt rolls a man over and over, binding him hand and foot, and letting him hang upon the fatal mesh until the long-legged interest devours him. There is no crop that can afford to pay interest money on a farm. There is but one thing raised on a farm like it, and that is the Canada thistle, which swarms new plants every time you break its roots, whose blossoms are prolific, and every flower father of million seeds. Every leaf is an awl, every branch a spear, and every single plant is like a platoon of bayonets, and a field full of them is like an armed host. The whole plant is a torment and a vegetable curse. And yet a farmer had better make his bed of Canada thistles, than attempt to lie at ease upon interest."

Beautify your Home.

Every man should do his best to own a home. The first money he can spare ought to be invested in a dwelling, where his family can live permanently. Viewed as a matter of economy, this is important, not only because he can ordinarily build more cheaply than he can rent, but because of the expense caused by frequent change of residence. A man who early in life builds a home for himself and family, will save some thousands of dollars in the course of twenty years, besides avoiding the inconvenience and trouble of removals. Apart from this, there is something agreeable to our better nature in having a home that we can call our own. It is a form of property that is more than property. It speaks to the heart, enlists the sentiments, and ennobles the possessor. The associations that spring up around it, as the birthplace of children—as the scene of life's holiest emotions—as the sanctuary where the spirit cherishes its purest thoughts, are such as all value; and whenever their influence is exerted, the moral sensibilities are improved and exalted. The greater part of our happiness in this world is founded at home; but how few recollect that the happiness of to-day is increased by the place where we were happy yesterday, and that, insensibly, scenes and circumstances gather up a store of blessedness for the weary hours of the future! On this account we should do all in our power to make home attractive. Not only should we cultivate such tempers as serve to render its intercourse amiable and affectionate, but we should strive to adorn it with those charms which good sense and refinement so easily impart to it. We say easily, for there are persons who think that a home cannot be beautified without a considerable outlay of money. Such people are in error. It costs little to have a neat flower-garden, and to surround your dwelling with those simple beauties which delight the eye far more than expensive objects. If you will let the sunshine and the dew adorn your yard, they will do more for you than any artist. Nature delights in beauty. She loves to brighten the landscape and make it agreeable to the eye. She hangs heavy around the ruin, and over the stump of a withered tree twines the graceful vine. A thousand arts she practices, to animate the scenes and please the mind. Follow her example, and do for yourself what she is always laboring to do for you. Beauty is a divine instrumentality. It is one of God's chosen forms of power. We never see creative energy without something beyond mere existence, and hence the whole universe is a teacher and inspirer of beauty. Every man was born to be an artist, so far as the appreciation and enjoyment of beauty are concerned, and he robs himself of one of the precious gifts of his being, if he fails to fulfill this beneficent purpose of his creation.—Southern Times.

The Duties of a Mother.

She should be firm, gentle, kind, always ready to attend to her child.
She should never laugh at him—at what he does that is cunning—never allow him to think of his look except to be neat and clean in all his habits.
She should teach him to obey a look—to respect those older than himself; she should never make a command without seeing it is performed in the right manner.
Never speak of a child's faults or foibles or repeat his remarks before him. It is a sure way to spoil a child.
Never reprove a child when excited, nor let your tone of voice be raised when correcting. Strive to inspire love, not dread, respect, not fear. Remember you are training and educating a soul for eternity.

Teach your children to wait upon themselves, to put away a thing when done with it. But do not forget that you were once a child. The griefs of little ones are too often neglected; they are great for them. Bear patiently with them, and never in any way rouse their anger if it can be avoided. Teach a child to be useful whenever opportunity may offer.

Reader! You are appealed to earnestly. Don't say "If I only could believe this to be true!" I have some of the above complaints, and I would take the medicine at once, could only have confidence. IT IS TRUE; I can honestly truth, if ever there was one spoken. Come then, if your mind is irritable, discontented, and gloomy, if you have severe Colic Pains after eating your food, if your body begins to waste, or your strength to fail, if your countenance assumes a haggard and sallow aspect, if you have a difficulty in lying on your left side, if your skin is dry and shrivelled, if you have an appetite weak and variable, and perhaps entirely destroyed, if you have indigestion, if you have a constant uneasy feeling in the stomach, why, you have only a fit of INDIGESTION! and these great Bitters are made to cure Indigestion, and they will do it, too—and all its attendant ills; and while it greatly stimulates the Stomach, cleansing and removing these troublesome agents,

It Acts Upon the Skin.

Removing morbid of vitiated HUMORS, beautifying the face, kindling life and energy in your entire frame, then, Reader, with the world no longer look dark and gloomy; no longer will your dearest hopes be banished and thrust aside, but with

Health and Strength.

You will go forth into the world, to say with thousands of others, C. A. RICHARDS' ABBOTT BITTERS have done wonders for me. Living witnesses are ready to testify to the statement above made. Thirty years and upwards do Abbott Bitters introduced this medicine. It has been eight years in the possession of Mr. Richards, neither of whom have advertised it, leaving it to its own merits, to work its own way. Now, in view of its great curative properties—in view of a duty which every one owes to the public, it is being put before the people as it should have been long ago, through the medium of the Press. The Label is Copyrighted, and each bottle, for the protection of the consumers and proprietor, bears the Portrait of Doctor Wm. Abbott, together with the signature of
