Poetry.

THE AUTUMNAL GUEST. The crown from the forehead of summer Had dropt, the dim woodlands were sere, When there entered our home a strange comer, Afar from the kingdom of fear, In the mystical fall of the year.

166

He darkened our doors, and the hours, Ouce spening like myrtles in bloom. Were b ighted as if they were flowers That droop in the shade of the tomb-That wither and die in its gloom.

There came to out cheek a strange pallor, Our words grew unfrequent and low, But one of our number with valor Smiled sweet on that ter ible foe,

As the rose on the cold falling snow. My star of the night and the morning, My joy and my beauty was she. Then came to my heart a forewarning, A blast from the winter to be. The winter that waileth in me :

And I knew that my kingdom of summer Must fade, and its crown disappear. Oh ! pitiless grew that dread comer, A far from the kingdom of fear, In the desolate fall of the year.

Strange that hearts can live on after breaking!-At midnight my darling was dead. Her bosom had rest from its aching, Fond bosom her babies that fed-Pure bosom that pillowed my head.

A grave 'neath the pines for my keeping, He left me, that sorrowful guest, A soul that is weary with weeping, A world that in shadow is drest, A life that is wild with unrest.

No more, never more to behold her !-I wake by degrees to my loss. I feel the cold world growing colder On sorrow's drear ocean I toss ; I faint 'neath the load of my cross.

Yet high in the infinite summer, Beyond the pale kingdom of fear, God's angels have crowned a new comer She smiles from her beautiful sphere : She calls me-the morning is near !

My Mother's Portrait.

We make the following extract from a letter, as presenting, a beautiful portraiture of a Christian mother's character:

Your letter, my dear sister, had, in a measure, prepared me for the sad intelligence that our mother is numbered with the dead : and yet I did fondly hope that I might once more see my dear mother in the land of the

The Widow's Lamp. Some years ago there dwelt a widow in a lonely cottage on the seashore. All round her the coast was rugged and dangerous; and many a time was her heart melted by the sight of wrecked fishingboats and coasting vessels, and piteous cries of perishing human beings. One stormy night, when the howl-ing wind was making her loneliness more lonely, and her mind was conjuring up what the next morning's light might disclose, a happy thought occured to her. Her cottage stood on an elevated spot, and her window looked out upon the sea; might she not place looked out upon the sea ; might she hot place her lamp by that window, that it might be a beacon light to warn some poor mariner off the coast? She did so. All her life after, during the winter nights, her lamp burned at the mindow and many a poor fisherman had cause to bless God for the widow's lamp; many a crew were saved from perishing .--The widow woman "did what she could :" and if all believers kep their light burning us brightly and steadily, might not many a soul be warned to flee from the wrath to come? Many Christians have not the power to do much active service for Christ ; but if they do live as lights in the world, they would do much. If those who cannot preach to the old, or teach the young, would walk worthy of Him who hath called them to His kingdom and glory, how much would the hands of ministers and teachers be strengthened !

A Soft Pillow.

Whitefield and a pious companion were much annoyed one night, at a public house, by a set of gamblers in the room adjoining where they slept, Their noisy clamor and horr d blasphemy, so excited Whitefield's abhorence and pious sympathy, that he could not rest.

"I will go in to them, and reprove their wickedness," he said. His companion remonstrated in vain. He went. His words of reproof fell apparently powerless upon them. Returning, he lay down to sleep. His companion asted him rather abruptly,

"What did you gain by it ?"

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCUTER OF THE AGE .- DR. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that soud another ; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that ap-pears to me surprising ; first, that it grows in our pas-tu cs, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846-second, that it should cure all kinds of humor. has never been known until I discovered it in 1846-second, that it should cure all kinds of humor. In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery. I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six buttles per day: in April, 1854, I sudd over one thousand bot-tles per day of it. Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters. In my own practice I always kept it strictly for hu-mors-but since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected. Several cases of epileptic fits-a disease which was always considered incurable, any been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in al cases of that awful malady-there are but itew who ave seen more of it than I have. I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them sged people, cured by it. living. I feel, however, that it is all righ'. She has gone down to the grave in a good old age, and has, during a long life, given the most delightful evidence and satisfatory assurance, that if Christ lives, she shall live also forever in his presence, among the blessed and sanctified in heaven. 1 have often felt and sometimes said, that to me my mother was the best exemplification of a Gospel Christian that I have ever known.

During all her life, that my memory can dwell upon, from my early childhood, there is not a single dark o'tline that can impair the beautiful symmetry of her Christian char acter. Even while a child, her patience and faithful perseverance instructing her children. often excited my surprise and admiration.

I have known her in worldy prosperity when all was bright and joyous. I have known her in adversity, when the heavens were overcast with gloom and sadness, and the storms raged with a power, such as few are called to encounter. I have known her when the wants of a family were to be met by years of patient industry and economy. I have known her when these clouds were passing away, and the evening of her days was calm and serene; and in all the vicissitudes of her long and eventful life, she has ever illustrated the sublime principles of the religion of Jesus Christ.

"Blessed," indeed, " are the poor in spir-it, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.— Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they that do hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God. Blessed are the peace-makers, for they shall see Goo. Blessed are the peace-makers, for they shall be called the children of God." All these beatitudes she beautifully exemplified in her Christian walk. We have no occasion to mourn for her; rather should we say—" Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord."

May we, her children, who survive, suita-bly lay this solemn event to heart. We have great occasion to bless God that we have been favored with such a mother, and that she was for so many years spared to us. And now that He has removed her from earth in such a calm and peaceful manner, and kept her by calm and peaceful manner, and kept her by his grave to the last, from everything that might occasion sorrow and regret, or impair the beautiful picture that we may ever look and dwell upon with pleasure and profit, let us rejoice in the fulfilment of the promise. "They that trust in the Lord shall never be put to shame."—Mag. for Mothers.

Various Degrees of Future Glory.

Various Degrees of Future Giory. Perhaps there is nothing more dangerous, as there is nothing more fulling and stupefy-ing, than low and relaxed notions of Christian holiness; the supposition, that whatever dif-rence may exist among members of our so-ciety here, there will be none hereafter; that however halting and besitating our pace along the course may be, we shall be altogether at the goal, and receive the same or a similar prize. Such is heavenly happiness imagined to be, that by a mystic power, i expands the intellect of each, till all are alike capacious, all then filled to the brim and running over ed to the brim and running

"A soft pillow," he said, patiently, and fell asleep,

Yes a soft pillow is the reward of fidelity-the companion of a clear conscience. It is a sufficient remoncration for doing right in the absence by a consciousness of neglect.

Those who faithfully rebuke, and properly restrain them by their christian depertment and religious counsels, can sleep quietly in the day of trial. - Parents, do your du'y now, in the fear of God, in obedience to his law, at every sacrifice . and when old age comes on. you may lie down on a soft pillow, assured of his favor who has said, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

Life is beautifully compared to a fountain fed by thousand streams that perish if one be dried. It is a silver cord, twisted with a thousand different strings, that part asunder if one be broken. Frail and the ughtless mortals are surrounded by nnumerable dangers, which make it much more strange that they escape so long, than that they almost all perish suddenly at last. We are en-compassed with accidents every day to crush the mouldering tenements we inhabit. The seeds of disease are planted in our constitutions by nature. The earth and atmosphere whence we draw the breath of life are impregnated with death; health is made to operate its own des ruction; the food is made to operate its own des ruction; the food that nourishes containing the elements of decay; the soul that animates it by vivifying the first, tends to wear it out by its own action; death lurks in ambush along the paths. Notwit'stan-ing this is the truth so palpably confirmed by the daily example before our eyes, how little do we lay it at heart! We see our friends and neigh-bours amounts us, and how seldom does it occur bours amongst us, and how seldom does it occur to our thoughts that our knell shall next give the next fruitless warming to the world!

Deer Sir .--I felt it a duty I owe to the public, to make known the value of Davis' Pain Killer, and my experience in using it for some of the complaints for which it is highly recommended. In April last, for which it is highly recommended. In April last on your recommendation, I purchased a one dolla bottle of you for pains with which I have long beer afflicted, and made use of it on my trip down to New Orleans, with the most gretifying and beneficial effects On my seturn trip to this city, the Cholera made it Orleans, with the most gratifying and beneficial effects. On my return trip to this city, the Cholera made its appearance among some of my passengers. I made use of the Pain Killer, having no other remedy on board, and to my surprise and gratileation found it gave immediate relief. On my arrival in St. Louis, I called on you and got four large bottles, and stated to you my confidence in it as an infallible Chelera re-medy, and remarking to you that 1 wanted no other Cholera remedy on my boat. I made use of the four bottles on my trip to New Orleans and back, for Cho-lera and some other complaints for which it is recom-mended, and met with the most astonishing success-when I ordered from you six more one dollar bottles. Since then I have made two more trips to New Orleans and back, and on my previous trip up. I had more than Seventy cases of Cholera on board, when the PAIN KILLER was imm. diately used with the most astonishing results. In all Cases where it was used in time it gave relief in a very short time; and I can with confidence say to the public, that in all o the first stages of Cholera, when taken in time, it is in my opinion an infallible remedy: and after a fair trial with it for several woeks, and for four trips to New Orleans and back, and using it for Cholera and for other complaints for which it is recommended, no new orleans and back, and using it to be a medicing that no officer of a boat or any family would be with out a single day after mains one boated. without a good supply-believ
