Bright things can never die,
Even though they fade;
Beauty and minstrelsy
Deathless were made;
What though the summer day Passes at eve away; Doth not the moon's soft ray Silence the night? Bright things can never die. Saith true philosophy; Phœbus, though he pass by, Leaves us the light.

Kind words can never die, Cherished and blest; God knows how deep they lie Stored in the breast. Like childhood's simple rhymes Said o'er a thousand times, Aye, in all years and climes, Distant and near. Kind words can never die, Saith true philosophy; Deep in the soul they lie, God knows how dear.

Childhood can never die-Wrecks of the past Float on the memory E'en to the last. Many a happy thing, Many a dasied spring, Flow, on Time's ceaseless wing. Far, fur away; Childhood can never die Saith true philosophy; Wrecks of our infancy. Live on for aye.

Sweet fancies never die, They leave behind Some fairy legacy Stored in the mind, Some happy thought or dream, Pure as day's earliest beam, Kissing the gentle stream, In the lone grade.
Yet, though these things pass by,
Saith true philosophy,
Bright things can never die,
E'en though they fade.

Self-made Men.

Last week we gave our readers some extracts from the Lecture of our esteemed friend Mr. Duval shewing that early education, wealth, favourable circumstances and brilliant talents, will not of themselves ensure success in life: this week we give some further extracts to shew what will.

First we may mention singleness of design, by which a man sets before himself a definite object, which he seeks to attain by the employment of suitable means till they naturally and legitimately result in success.

Such men are sometimes spoken of unfavourably as men of one idea. This is not necessarily true; but if it should be true, let it be remembered, that it is more creditable to work out one idea to a successful issue, than to fritter away a life time and at last accomplish nothing.

Unless a man is born to wealth, it will probably prove a calamity to him to have what is termed "a universal geuius." Such a man will most probably be " Jack of all trades and master of none;" persevering in the pursuits of no one object, but living and dying in embarrassment and poverty. Such a one may find it difficult, perhaps impossible, to check the action of his versatile genius but will nevertheless find its possession an unprofitable affair. It is now thoroughly understood, that a division of labour, tends to benefit society at large, by benefiting its members individually. The man who seeks to reverse this social law, will find his family and himself sufferers by the attempt.

Closely connected with this idea (singleness of design) are patience, perseverence and prudence without these nothing great can be expected. We have a beautiful exhibition of patience in the well known case of Sir Isaac Newton as illustrated by the well known anecdote of the destruction of his papers by his dog. Nor perhaps was it less striking in Sir Wm. Herschell. He went to England as a boy in the band of a Hanoverian regiment, and for some years followed music as a profession, but always improving his mind by way of recreation. Studying at his leisure, the English, Italian, Latin and Greek languages, afterward, in order to understand Dr. Smith's "Treatise on Harmonies" he was compelled to study mathematics; this led him to the study of astronomy. Unable or unwilling to purchase a two feet Georgian telescope he resolved to make one for himself. After many disappointments he succeeded. This was followed by repeated similar efforts, and telescopes of continually enlarged sizes were the result. On the 13th March, 1781 with an excellent seven feet reflector he discovered the planet that immortalized his name and secured him a compe-

This discovery was followed by many others of a very important character. He was patronized by the king; a pension of £300 a year, was fixed upon him to enable him to relinquish music, and follow astronomy exclusively; in 1816, he who had been a poor lad, in a regimental band, received the honour of knighthood, and, in 1822, at the age of eighty-three, died, full of years and honors, leaving a large fortune to his children. who inherited also his exalted genius. We perfectly satisfied him. Perseverance has been referred to; this the manufacture of cotton. His parents were extremely poor, and had a family of thirteen children, of whom he was the youngest, so that it is extremely improbable, as learning. in those days could not be easily obtained, that he had any amount of school instruction. He was apprenticed to a barber, and followed that employment till nearly thirty years of and George had seated himself at the window age, when he abandoned shaving, and became of his little chamber, and was again repeatan itinerant dealer in human hair, for the supply of wig makers.

was engaged in the invention and construction of machinery, by slow degrees he brought his plans to perfection; having, all the time, to contend with the severest poverty. Disappointment, difficulties and vexations were his lot; among which not the smallest was the those angry words resting upon it. opposition of his wife to his pursuit; in her estimation he was nothing but a dreamy speculator, scheming when he ought to be shaving; As he proceeded in the lesson, and saw the while for herself and family, she saw no pros-pect but starvation. Under this feeling she at was recited which had awakened so many one time broke his models of machinery to unpleasant thoughts, he took occasion to impieces, with the hope of gaining sympathy he expressed to her his conviction that he and bitter feelings to remain unrepented of, should one day ride in his carriage, a sneer even during one day. As he spoke of the from her provoked him to say, that he certainly believed it would be true, but that she should never set her foot in it. This threat was most probably fulfilled as they were separated a few years after their marriage, and long before his efforts met with a successful

An avoidance of youthful follies is neces-

Young men who desire prosperity must turn their backs on Billiard Rooms, Cigar Divans and Oyster Saloons; not to mention other and even worse haunts of dissipation and ruin. Indulgent friends fondly hope that all may is only "sowing his wild oats;" forgetting that question, a crop may be naturally, almost certainly, expected. "Whatsover a man soweth the words?" same shall he also reap." A man may sow his wild oats in youth, reap the bitter produce bing boy. in mature age, and spend his later ye fruitless lamentations over his folly.

Cases to illustrate the truth of this remark Crandall, Rev. David... are too numerous to mention, and unhappily fail to make sufficiently deep impressions on the mind by the frequency of their occur-

A man said to me some years ago, "I am just thirty years of age; at twenty, I thought I should be a little prince by this time, but I am not a peany richer to-day than I was then." He was not a drunkard in the ordinary acceptation of the term, but he loved a social glass and the convivial circle; he is now forty, but has been for sometime in a Lunatic Asylum, where he will probably end his days.

Another element of success is, a readiness to avail one's self of every aid that can be ob-

When we speak of "self-educated men," and "self-made men," it by no means follows that such men rely entirely upon their own unaided abilities. To despise assistance that would facilitate progres, would be an evidence of conceit and pride that would form a fearful impediment to success.

I believe that it was to John Locke the question was put, " how is it that while most men have but a limited acquaintance with a few subjects, you seem to be fully acquainted with everything?" He modestly replied, that "the world gave him more credit than was his due; but that in seeking to know the nature of things, he always went to those that he thought understood their nature best; if he wanted to ascertain the properties of any kind of wood, he would not enquire of a blacksmith, but of a carpenter; if the qualities of iron were in question, he applied to the smith rather than to the carpenter; and by such means he thought he had learned much." So, if we wish to enlarge our field of knowledge we must be willing to confess our ignorance, to take pains to ascertain, by enquiry, as well as by personal investigation, and to make our enquiries in the proper quarter.

A person may succeed in studying the dead or living languages without a teacher, but his progress will be far more rapid and his success more certain if he has a competent instructor who has an aptness for teaching.-This has been thoroughly understood by nearly all who have excelled in any department

George Ellis and his Playmates.

"Let not the sun go down upon your wrath." It was just as the sun was setting, that George Ellis, at his mother's call, had left his who inherited also his exalled genius. We have spoken of the patience and perseverance of Herschell; this might be exhibited by many incidents in his life. One must suffice. It is said, that, at one time, after having spent eleven weeks in preparing a mirror for a telescope, he spoiled it just as it was completed. Instead of yielding to fruitless expressions of regret, he calmly said, is his broken

The sun was fast sinking, and he could not quite forget the angry words with which he had parted from his little playmate, nor the angry feelings which were rankling in his heart, even as he held his Bible in his hand. For a moment, kinder and better feelings was strikingly exhibited in the case of Sir seemed to be gaining the mastery in his bosom, Richard Arkwright, the inventor of the spin-ning frame, which completely revolutionized the house of his playmate, and tell him how sorry he felt for those unkind words. His next thought was,

" No! I will not ask his pardon, for Henry provoked me, and he is to blame."

Still George did not feel happy, and it was almost with an emotion of pleasure that he beheld the sun's last lingering rays obscured

The Sabbath sun rose bright and cloudless, ing the verses which had occupied him the previous night. There was a slight trembling of the voice as he read half aloud, " Let not During, this period his mind, for years, the sun go down upon your wrath;" and rising hastily, he closed the Bible, saying to him-

> "If I meet Henry, I will speak to him." But he did not meet his little playmate, and so he passed on with a slow step, for his heart did not feel light and free, with the weight of

When the exercises of the school were closed, and as the last of the class departed, his hand was laid gently upon his teacher's arm, as in trembling tones he said,

"Will you wait a moment, sir? I have something to tell you.

The teacher seated himself beside his pupil, and as he heard the account of all that had passed on the afternoon previous, and of the unhappiness he had felt on account of it his tears mingled with those of Georgetears of gratitude that his heart had been touched, and thus melted and subdued. A turn out well for the young man after all, he few words of counsel were concluded by the

RILLER.

TROY, OHIO, August 30, 1855.

Mr. PERRY DAVIS.—Dear Brother: I feel it to be my duty to bear testimony to the efficacy of your infallible Pain Killer. I have used it for years, for complaints of the stomach and bowels, having formerly been subject to severe attacks of diarrhæa, and cholera morbus, but for the last two years I have not had occasion to use it or any other medicine for that complaint, it having perfectly restored my digestive organs, I had a very severe attack a few days ago of the ague, and such a pain in my back, for three days and nights, that I could get no rest. I demanded of my physicians, after several things had been tried, to give me something to relieve my back and head of pain. He said I must bathe, and wait till the ague wore off, and the pain would wear away, I had too much pain to feel easy, and sent and got a 26 cent bottle of the "Vegetable Pain Killer." I took a little inwardly and bathed according to directions, and one application has removed all the pain, and I am able to write to-day, though with a trembling hand, The application was made last night about 9 o'clock, and I had a sweet night 's rest, I have recommended it for several years, as I have travelled a good deal, and it has given universal satisfaction where it has been used according to directions.

Pastor of Baptist Church, Troy, Ohio.

A letter from Rev. Charles Hibbard, missionary in Burmah, to his father, Joseph Robinson, Esq., of this city, has been handed us for publication, from which we make the following extracts.—[Providence Jour. Newton, MAULMAIN, June 6, 1855: Dear Father, I have been intending to write for a supply of Perry Davis Pain Killer for months, but have let other things prevent hitherto. Will you kindly say to Mr. Davis that Mrs. Hubbard and myself, and indeed I might add all who came out with us, feel very grateful for the box of Pain Killer which he gave us, when we left our native land for Burmah, I have used it for Coughs, Cold and violent internal pains, summer complaints, burns, br native land for Burmah, I have used it for Coughs, Cold and violent internal pains, summer complaints, burns, bruises, and for the sting of Scorpions, and with uniform success. The only severe spasm of the stomach which Mrs. Hibbard has had in Burmah, was instantly relieved by the Pain Killer. We always keep it where we can put our hand on it in the dark, if need be. Although I took Mr. Nisbet's box in addition to be. Although I took Mr. Nisbet's box in addition to my own, when he returned to America, still it is all gone but three or four bottles, and that would have been gone long ago had I not refused to part with it. The Karens also, are beginning to learn its value, and call for its use, but I have to deny them, except in doses, for I would not think of being without it. With Dr. Jayne's Family medicines and the Pain Killer, I feel myself well armed against disease, that is in all ordinary cases. They are indispensable, and I seldom meddle with other medicines.—Rev. C. HIBBARD.

This unparralled Preparation is receiving more testimonials of its wonderful efficacy in removing pain, than any other medicine ever offered to the public. And these testimonials come not alone from the ignorant, but from persons of every degree of intelligence rant, but from persons of every degree of intelligence and every rank of life. Physicians of the first respectability, and perfectly conversant with the nature of diseases and remedies, have recommended this as one of the most effectual in their line of preparations for the extinction of Pain. The Pain Killer is used internally and externally, according to the nature of the complaint. It has been found to be an excellent remedy for sudden Colds, Coughs, &c., Fever and Ague, Asthma and Phthisic, Pain in the Head, Kidney Complaints, Piles, Rheumatic Complaints, Bruises and Sores, Severe Burns, Canker, Biles and Ringhams, Weak Stomach, and General Debility, Painter's Colic, Broken Breasts, &c., Bowel Complaint and Dysentery, Cholera, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Toothache,

The genuine PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is now put up in panel bottles, with the words Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer blown in the glass; and with two steel engraved labels on each bottle—one an excellent steel engraved labels on each bottle—one an excellent likeness of Perry Davis, the original Inventor of the medicine; the other a steel engraved Note of Hand none others can be relied on as genuine.

The Greatest of the Age.—MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls should cure humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands about it, suiting some cases, but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand boitles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty; and has seen poor, puny locking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache ona bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best youcan, and enough of it.

Be kind enough, Reader, to give your attention on moment, and you will learn what C. A. RICHARDS

ABBOTT BITTERS, Are good for. They have been made and sold forty years,—eight years by the present proprietor, and note this great truth; he has facts in his possession, shewing that they have cured and helped thousands, yea, thousands of cases of INDIGESTION, Nervous Debility Sickness at the stomach.

Nervous Debility,
Derangement of the Digestive Functions,
Depression of Mind and Spirits,
Oppression after Eating,
Add Stomach Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, Pain in the Side, and Torpor of the Liver and Howels.

Reader! You are appealed to earnestly. Don't say "If I only could believe this to be true! I have some of the above complaints, and I would take the medicine at once if I could only have confidence." IT IS TRUE; it is an honest truth, if ever there was one spoken. Come then, if your mind is irritable, discontentented, and gloomy, if you have severe Colic Pains after eating your food,—if your body begins to waste, or your strength to fail you,—if your countenance assumes a haggard and sollow aspect,—if you have a difficulty in lying on your left side,—if your skin is dry and shrivelled,—if you have an appetite weak and variable, and perhaps entirely destroyed,—if your whole system is languid, especially during the process of digestion,—if you have a constant uneasy feeling in the stomach,—why, you have only a fit of INDIGESTION! and these great Bitters are made to cure Indigestion, and they will do it, too,—and all its attendant ills; and while at first it gently stimulates the Stomach, cleansing and removing these trouble-some agents,

It Acts Upon the Skin,
Removing Morbid or Vitiated Humors, beautifying the face, kindling life and energy in your entire frame; then, Reader, will the world no longer look dark and gloomy; no longer will your dearest hopes be banished and thrust aside, but with

Health and Strength

You will go forth into the world, to say with thousands of others, C. A. Richards' Abbott Bitters have done wonders for ime. Living witnesses are ready to testify to the statement above made. Thirty years and upwards old Doctor Abbott introduced this medicine. It has been eight years in the possession of M.Richards, neither of whom have advertised it, leaving it to its own merits, to work its own way. Now, in view of its great curative properties—in view of a duty which every one owes to the public, it is being put before the people as it should have been long ago, through the medium of the Press. The Label is Copyrighted, and each bottle, for the protection of the consumers and proprietor, bears the Portrait of Doctor Wm. Abbott, together with the signature of The Inhaler is worn on the breast under the linen, without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid.—supplying the lungs constantly with a bearing and agreeable vapor passing into all the air-cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine CONSUMPTION CURED.—New York, Dec. 27td 1853.—I came to New York in the ship Telegraph my native place is St. John, New Brunswick, when I reached the city, my health was very poor, had a very bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, bad pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I ascidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Va-Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling t present to dispense with it.
