proposition of Great Britain to arbitrate. is understood that the executive proposes to arbitrate any question of political geography, which, by any possibility, may be raised under the Central American Treaty, but declines any general arbitration as to the construction of the treaty. The following is the letter of dismissal to

Dept. of State, Washington, May 28, 1856. SIR :- The President of the United States has directed me to announce to you his determination to discontinue further intercourse with you as Her Majesty's Diplomatic Repre-sentative to the United States. The reasons which have compelled him to take the step at this time, have been communicated to your Government. I avail myself of this occasion to add that due attention will be cheerfully given to any communication addressed to this Department from Her Majesty's Government affecting the relations between Great Britain and the United States, which may be forwarded to this Government through any other channel.

Should it be your pleasure to retire from the United States, the President desires me to furnish you with the usual facilities for that purpose, and I consequently enclose herewith the passport in such cases. I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you, sir, the as-surance of my respectful consideration.

W. L. MARCY. JOHN F. CRAMPTON."

When it was announced in the Senate that Mr. Crampton had been dismissed, a short conversation took place.

Mr. Cass thought that no pretext for war could arise out of the dismissal of Mr. Crampton, unless England was determined to go to war.

Mr. Toombs thought if this Government was satisfied with the explanation of Lord Clarendon, Mr. Crampton should not have been dismissed.

Mr. Cass replied that this Government had not expressed itself satisfied with Mr. Crampton's conduct, but with the assurance of the British Government that they had intended no violation of our laws; but it has now turned out that Mr. Crampton had acted in violation of the intentions and directions of his own Government.

Mr. Toombs did not believe England or her officers had violated our laws at all. While the matter was pending he did not choose to argue the question against our own Government, but he would now say he disapproved the construction which this Government had laced upon our neutrality laws.

Mr. Butler thought it would have been bet o have dismissed Mr. Crampton as soon as L omplicity in the matter was discovered. the day following Mr. Crampton's dismissal, the President sent a despatch to the Senate on the proposition to arbitrate on the Central American question. It encloses a letter from Mr. Marcy to Mr. Dallas on the bject of the difference of the British Government and that of the United States, regarding the construction and effect of the treaty of the 16th of April, 1850, and the subject of Central America generally. After reviewing the spirit of the discussion up to the present time, it modestly intimates that the questions in dispute could be better determined between the two Governments, than by reference to a third party. Brutal Assault on Senator Sumner. This city was startled on Friday last by report that Mr. Sumner had been assaulted with violence in the Senate chamber. Immediately on the adjournment of Congress, on Thursday, Mr. Preston S. Brooks, of South Carolina, accompanied by Mr. Keitt of the same State, both members of the House, entered the Senate chamber, waited sometime, for Senators and others to retire, leaving Mr. Sumner alone at his desk. As he sat busily writing, Brooks came up and struck him a blow over the head with a gutta percha cane, which disabled him, and followed up the attack with a shower of blows till the cape was broken in pieces. It was hollow, an inch in diameter. The Tribune correspondent says : "Mr. Summer had no distinct conciousness go provided with pistols, and Congress is now to command that the same be published filled with armed men."-Watchman and throughout all our dominions; and we do de-Reflector.

MR. SUMNER'S CONDITION .- Washington May 31.-Mr. Sumner passed a comfortable night, but is in a very bad condition. It turns out that the scalp was torn from the skull for an inch or two in width beyond the cuts, which was not observed when they were first sewed up. The surface of inflammation and suppuration is thus very extensive and exhibits a malignant and serious wound. Two physicians are in attendance this morning. The greatest care has to be taken to keep the patient quiet. It is likely to be long before he can resume his seat in the Senate. He will be removed from the city as soon as his condition will permit.

Washington, May 31 .- The Investigating Committee of the House have prepared their CONVICTION OF O'NEILL-SENTENCE report. It gives a synopsis of the evidence taken, which covers more than sixty printed pages, and concludes with a resolution ex-pelling Brooks and censuring Keitt and Ed-

has that the House has no jurisdiction.

CRITICAL CONDITION OF MR. Summer .--New York, May 28.—A despatch to the Associated Press says—Mr. Sumner was rest-less and feverish all last night. His wounds have ulcerated. Dr. Perry considers his conter is slowly recovering. WASHINGTON, May 28, 1856.-Mr. Summer sultation, including Dr. Perry of Boston, who has been in constant attendance since his arrival. No one is admitted to Mr. Sumner's room.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Granada, from Havana 24th ult., arrived at New Orleans on the 27th. She reports nearly $2,000,000 gold dust on its way to New York.

Triumph of Walker .- From Central America it is reported that the Costa Ricans had shipped 300 wounded from San Juan del Sur, and that their army had retreated from Nicaragua by land.

The Costa Ricans say they were deceived in regard to the feelings of the People of Nicaragua towards Walker, and expected to be received with open arms. They were very indignant at the false representations which were made to them on the subject.

OF DEATH.

Timothy O'Neill was on Friday put on his trial for the murder of Patrick Cotter in Mill Street, on

O'Neill attempted to come in the shop again, but was put away from the door by James Cotter. In a little time he again came into the shop, and said is much worse. He has had a sleepless night, and his wounds are badly swollen this morn-ing. He suffers intense pain. A brain fever a mean blackguard scamp to have any thing to do sets in. Three physicians are now in con- with such an old man, and O'Neill replied that he was as good a father's and mother's son as he was, if not better. Then Cotter getting up, opened the door, and seizing O'Neill, dragged him out. O'Neill, when he came in secondly, had his hand in his pocket, and some of the witnesses stated, swore he would have revenge. None of those in doors could say what occurred outside, except James Cotter, who swore that he saw O'Neill make passes at the deceased, although, until the deceased had fallen back into the shop and they discovered that he was wounded, he had no idea that he had been stabbed.

Mrs. O'Connor, sister to the deceased, heard of the disturbance in her brother's shop, and went to the window to see what was the matter. She saw and heard what occurred within, and her statement was similar to that of the other witnesses ; but she further stated that when O'Neill was put out the first time, she called him aside and requested him to go home, as he had a glass taken, and he said he must have revenge for what her brother said. He went to the door a second time, and was pushed back by her brother James. When after getting in a second time, he was p It is confirmed that the loss of the Costa Ricans at the battle of Rivas, in killed and wounded, amounted to 650, and that of Wal-ker's army to about 100. The California news is unimportant—the markets without much change. The Indians of Oregon have met with several defeats. In Maraposa a party of Americans had murder-ed 20 Mexicans and Chilians, under pretext that some of their number had been killed by the Chilians. The Americans have ordered Mexicans, Chi ians, Chinese and Peruvians out of the country. The way in which this witness gave her evidence, produced a great effect on all present Her statements were clear and always consistent She appeared most anxious to relate what ha occurred, exactly as she remembered it, and without any colouring ; but on the cross-exami-nation her feelings sometimes found vent, and her grief for her brother, and her horror of his murder, uttered in her simple language, touched every beart. Some of the witnesses stated that O'Neill had been drinking with them, and all said that he was under the influence of liquor although some said he was not drunk. When the police learned what had happened and who was the criminal, they proceeded to his house in Drury Lane, and the prisoner was pointed out to them. He was standing in the middle of the room with his right hand in his trovsers pocket. When told he must go to the Watch House he refused, and then his relatives asked and learned what he was charged with having done. The police forced his hand from his pocket, and having bound him, searched and found in the pocket from which they had taken his hand, a jack-knife stained with blood. Dr. Smith stated that there were on the body of the deceased five wounds, such as would be inhe was not drunk. Dr. Smith stated that there were on the body of the deceased five wounds, such as would be in-flicted with a jack-knife, one on the arm, one on the back, one below the shoulder, and two on the left breast. One of these passed through the right ventricle of the heart, the knife having been buried to the hilt, and must have caused almost instant death; another lower down penetrated the spleen and would have caused death in a few minutes. For the defence, John Lonegan was called. He is about fifteen years of age, and is appren-tice to Mr. John Cotter, also a shoemaker, whose shop adjoins that of the late Patrick Cotter. He happened to come out, as the disturbance in Patrick Cotter's commenced. In consequence of the noise made and the apprehensions of some trouble, his master directed him to put up the shutters of the shop window. He did so, went in, and again came out, and saw Cotter drag O'Neil out. Cotter then stood at the door and some words passed. O'Neil attempted to strike Cotter in the face, and Cotter made a kick at O'Neil. They then grappled and fell, O'Neil an-der, and Cotter not lying on him but holding him down. O'Neil fell on a plank in front of John Cotter's that forms a step, and at a distance of For the defance, John Lonegan was called, down. O'Neil feil on a plank in front of John Cotter's that forms a step, and at a distance of some seven or eight feet from Patrick Cotter's door; his head fell against the wall so as to press his head fell against the wall so as to press his head down upon his chest, and while deceased held him in this position he struck him several times apparently about the chest and face, and O'Neil struck at deceased in return. Witness called out fair play and that it was a shame to strike a man down. Then John Cotter, nephew of the deceased, came up and went as if to take deceased up, and witness who was quite close moved away and did not see what occurred after, until he saw Cotter lying in the shop and heard he was stuck. sum of field and service and his State, and declared his purpose to chastise him; but others testify that the blow came without warning. O'Neill strike at Cotter when outside the door, and Cotter kick back at him, and then the two clinched. He walked across the street and saw the tussle, but could tell little more of what happened. Some witnesses were called to speak to O'Neil's character: and certainly he does not look like one who could be guilty of such a crime. He is not yet 20 years of age.

THE VERDICT. After the speeches of the counsel for the Crown and for the prisoner, and a charge generally re-garded as unfavourable to the prisoner, the Jury retired. A crowd remained about the Court House, and as the time wore on and the Jury did not agree, and the impression grew stronger that there would be no verdict, or a verdict of manslaughter, but when the Judge returned at 10 o'clock the Jury had agreed, and their verdict was Guilty of Wilful Mureer, with a recommendation to mercy. The Judge theu in the usual form sentenced the wreached culprit te be hanged on the 16th of July next in front of the Court House. Judge and Jury and all who were present were deeply affecep.-Freeman.

Steam Sash and Door Factory. HARDING STREET.

HARDING STREET. JOINT H. STUART & CO. would respectfully in-form his friends and the public generally, that they have recently taken the Steam Sash Factory in Harding street lately occupied by CLARKE & Mo-ALPINE, and formerly by JOHN E. TURNBULL, where they have on hand a large stock, and are con-tinually manufacturing all kinds of DOORS, SASHES, and WINDOW Frames, which upon in-spection, will be found of a superior quality, and as such they will be warranted, as it is the determina-tion of the Subscribers to furnish their Patrons with such work as will reflect credit upon themselves and the establishment, and do away with the prejudice that exists against Machine Work. Parties con-templating building will find that they can obtain Doors and Sashes of a superior quality at our estab-lishment far cheaper than they can get them made by have Sashes glazed or englaze<sup>2</sup>, packed to order in such a manner as will ensure their safety. Member the stand, Harding street, opposite the South-west corner, Queen's square, and give us a call.
