THE BURIAL OF THE OLD YEAR.

We were a mighty multitude, That, mourning for the Old Year, stood...

It had been snowing day and night, And the sabbath earth had a fringe of light...

Why art thou robed in thy pure white dress, Thy type of virgin loveliness...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

And I stood erect, and cast my eyes Up to the stars in the dark drear skies...

And I stepped to the grave side, the crowd among; For they say I was moved by the Spirit of Song...

And I stood by his narrow resting place, And looked my last on his dear old face...

ed them of all suspicion, he began to use the duplicate or forged note. His plan was this; he would go into a note broker's, say he wanted to borrow $40,000 for a month or so...

And now Huntington is in the Tombs. His trial will make work for the lawyers, and attract a good deal of public attention.

It will be asked, what has become of the proceeds of these extensive forgeries? We have given an inkling of the extravagance of this man, which sufficiently indicates his character in that respect...

It was usual to see his lady driving two in hand, and himself driving a similar team, side by side. He kept open house for all his friends, and gave them the use of his whole establishment.

With such lavish expenditures as these extravagant tastes and habits imply, it need not be wondered that became of the proceeds of the forgeries.

Huntington, like many other people in New York, was determined to live like a prince—no matter who should eventually have to foot the bill.

A Nursery Lesson on Riches. A little boy sat by his mother. He looked long in the fire and was silent. Then, as the deep thought passed away, his eyes brightened as he spoke:

"Mother, I will be rich." "Why do you wish to be rich, my son?" and the child said, "every one praises the rich; every one asks after the rich. The stranger at our table, yesterday, asked who was the richest man in the village."

"What is it to be rich?" He answered "I do not know. You tell me how to become rich, that all may ask after me and praise me."

may take it his prey. Men are worried by the toil of getting it, but they leave it behind at last. They die and carry nothing away.

"Then," said the boy, "may I bego gather this kind of riches, or must I wait I am a man?" The mother laid her hand upon his head and said, "To-day, if you will his voice; for he hath promised that those who seek early shall find."

And the child said, "Teach me how to become rich before God." "Kneel down every night and morning and ask that you may love the dear Saviour and trust him; obey his word, and strive the day of your life to be good to all; thougou may be poor in the world, you shall be rich in faith, and inherit the kingdom of heaven."
