"Not to Myself Alone."

"Not to myself alone," The little opening flower transported cries, "Not to myself alone I bud and bloom; With fragrant breath the breezes I perfume, And gladden all things with my rainbow dies. The bee comes sipping every eventide

His dainty fill; The butterfly within my cup doth hide

"Not to myself alone,"
The circling star with honest pride doth boast, "Not to myself alone I rise and set: I write upon night's coronal of jet His power and skill who formed our myriad host

From threatening ill."

A friendly beacon at heaven's open gate; I gem the sky,
That man might ne'er forget, in every fate,
His home on high."

"Not to myself alone,"
The heavy-laden bee doth murmuring hum, "Not to myself alone from flower to flower. I rove the wood, the garden and the bower, And to the hive at evening weary come; For man, for man, the luscious food I pile

With busy care, Content if he repay my ceaseless toil
With scanty share."

The searing bird with lusty pinion sings, "Not to myself I raise my song; I cheer the drooping with my warbling tongue, And bear the mourner on my viewless wings;

And God adore ; I call the worldling from his dross to turn. And sing and soar."

I bid the hymnless churl my anthem learn,

"Not to myself alone," The streamlet whispers on its pebbly way, "Not to myself alone I sparkling glide; I scatter health and life on every side, And strew the fields with herb and flow'ret gay. I sing unto the common, bleak and bare,
My gladsome tune;
I sweeten and refresh the languid air In droughty June.

"Not to myself alone;"-O man, forget not thou, -earth's honored priest, Its tongue, its soul, its life, its pulse, its In earth's great chorus to sustain thy part!

Chiefest of guests at Love's ungrudging feast, Play not the niggard; spurn thy native clod, And self disown : Live to thy neighbor; live unto thy God: Not to thyself alone!

The Found Pocket-Book.

"Tom Jackson says he does not believe there is a God; he says he never saw him; and I don't know as I believe-I never saw him," said John Clary, just come in from out doors, and I suppose from the society of Tom

"I do;" said his mother; and she said nothing more.

A week or more after this, John burst into the kitchen with Tom at his heels. "See, mother," he cried, "what I have foundsuch a handsome pocket-book !"

"Where did you find it?" asked his mo-"In Pine Grove; now who do you suppose it belongs to?" "I recken it grew there," said his mo ther.

"Grew there!" exclaimed John, lifting up his evebrows with great surprise; "a pocketbook grow in the woods! who ever heard of such a thing? It could not be." "Why not?" she asked.

"Why not;" replied the boy ; "the pocketbook was made on purpose. Look here. opening it; "here is a place for bank bills, and here is a little cut-of-the-way spot with a snug fastening, for gold dollars, aud a memorandum-book, and a pencil-case, and such a beautiful gold pencil. Look, mother, with a pen and lead both; it was made for a man to use."

"Some contrivance here, certainly," said his mother, putting down her work and taking it into her hands for examination. "It is one of the most useful pecket books I ever saw: if it did not grow there, perhaps it made

Both boys stared at her more and more. "Why, mother, you talk foolish," said John, with a puzzled and sober look; "there must have been a man with a mind to have made this." "A man that knew how-a pretty neat workman;" added Tom Jackson.

How do you know? you never saw him. said Mrs. Clary.

"No, but I've seen his work, and that' enough to convince me; I am just as certain that somebody made it as if I saw him."
"You are," said Mrs. Clary; "how so?"

"Why, mother," said John, very much in earnest, " you see the pocket-book had to be planned to answer a certain purpose; now it must have had a planner; that's the long and short of it; and I know it just as well as if I saw it planned and done by the man him-

"That is," said his mother, " it shows an intelligent design, and it must have been an intelligent designer. Somebody must have made it, and thought beforehand how to

"Just so," exclaimed both boys at once. And it would be foolish to think otherwise,

"I think so," said his mother. "And i is just as foolish," she continued, with a great deal of meaning in her eye, as she looked into the boy's eyes, "when you see the wonderful contrivance in the beings and things around you, the design with which they are put together, for you to doubt or to deny that there is a God who made them. Who planned your eyes to see with, your ears to hear with? Can eyes make them-selves? Can a man make a bird? Who created the sun, and planned day and night? Did your mother or your father plan your fingers and make them grow? You never saw who does all these things, but you know perfectly well that a great somebody thought beforehand, designed and contrived the eye, and the ear, and the sun, and your fingers— all things and all beings which are around you. And that great somebody is God, the eternal mind, and great Maker of us all."

Culture of the Strawberry.

As no garden is complete in its appointments, without it has a bed or two of this delicious fruit-this luxurious and healthful attention of gentlemen whose gardens are without them, to a necessity of planting one or more beds. Where the supply is desired to be prolonged, one bed should be selected with a southern exposure, the other with a northern one;—these differences in the exposure will continue the supply fully two weeks longer—a matter of importance with a fruit at once -a matter of importance with a fruit at once so grateful to the palate, and so health-giving to the system, in its indulgence.

Soil.—The strawberry delights most in a moisty soil-it is not material whether it be deep sandy loam, or a deep clay loam, so that it be moderately moist, but not wet. A clay loam, of proper texture, would probably produce most fruit, but not so ealy as a sandy loam. What we mean by a proper texture of clay loam, is, one that is not very tenacious, but is friably, easily worked, and susceptible of being put in first rate order.

Preparation of the Bed.—Let the bed be trenched to the depth of twelve inches at least. When thus dug, a dressing of a compost manure must be spaded in. As the spading progresses, let the soil be thoroughly pulverized with a rake. This done, put on a full dressing of compost, formed of four parts well-rotted dung, three parts wood's-mould, or other rich mould, and one part slacked ashes; spade this in half spade deep, taking care to rake as the spading progresses. the spading progresses, so as to bring the soil in fine tilth, and complete the work by passing the garden-roller over the bed.

THEGREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

D. R. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, Mass., has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOUR, from the worst Scrofuls down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases and never failed except in two cases thoth thunder humour). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its virtue, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the sa t rheam. Fere to 8 bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken. Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire so sure will this cure huttor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising; first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1840—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great opularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day: in April, 1854. Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patient medicines was ever like it. There is a universal irales of it from all quarters.

In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors leat since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never sus juccted.

Just since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never sus pected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was miways considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them aged peeple, cured by it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best yeu ran, and enough of it.

Directions for Usr.—Adults, one table spoonful per day: Children over ten years a dessert spoonful. Children from live to eight years, a ten spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.
