For the Visitor.

An Appeal. 'Tis winter, and the storm beats high, With clouds of drifted snow, A naked child of want appears, Her pale lips speak of woe.

Though fortune casts he was on her, She sheds her smiles ( thee; Then give a little to the poor, O give in charity.

God's bounty blesses you each day, With promises of more; Then give a little of your wealth To feed the starving poor.

The widow gave her little mite, Brought from her scanty store; This offering Jesus did not slight, Then help the humble poor.

'Tis sweet to give for others' wants, The blessings they implore; O give some good which you receive In comforts to the poor.

And God who hears the ravens cry, And langty lions roar; Will every want of yours supply Then help the starving poor.

MARY.

Anatomy and Phisiology.

Know then thyself, presume not God too soon! The proper study of mankind is man. Pope.

Last week, it was our privilege to attend a series of lectures, delivered by Dr. Pearson, on Anatomy and Phisiology; and certainly, if we were never before interested in these subjects we were during those lectures. Evening after evening, we listened with perfect delight, to the gentlemanly lecturer; and were only too sorry when he bade us fare-

The Dr. seems to enter into the subject upon which he lectures, with his whole heart and soul; full of life and animation, he keeps one's mind completely enchained and facinated, by his eloquent style, his clear, practical, common sense remarks, and his fun-provoking anecdo'es; why, we cou'd almost fancy that we heard a shaking among the dry bones of those skeleton forms, that were suspended

"To what vile uses may we come," thought I to myself as I looked upon the boney structures of those who once lived and moved, as we do now; they had their joys and sorrows; hopes and fears, laughed and wept, loved and died, and there they are, for a Yankee Doctor to experiment and speculate upon. Ah, well, perhaps we may be put to viler uses who knows?

And God said "Let there be light." We say let there be more light thrown upon this subject; and that man, who devotes his time, strength and talents, to obtain and impart this knowledge to his fellow man, should be considered as a benefactor to the human race. "Humbugs," perhaps some will say; very well, we should like to listen to just such humbugs as the Dr., at least once a year, and if he dont talk himself to death we hope to see and hear him again. In the meantime we would like to say to every one, old and young, if you wish to gain a perfect know ledge of your organic structure, and of the laws by which it is governed; if you wish to hear the subject explained beautifully and scientifically, go and listen to the wide awake, go-ahead, locomotive Yankee Dr Pearson on Anatomy and Phisiology. You will never repent it, never, never! That this is a subject which has been most shamefully neglected or but very imperfectly understood, no one can doubt; hundreds and thousands are perishing for the lack of this knowledge, so essential to their happiness in this life, and to their future well being in the hife to come. For the want of this knowledge concerning the laws which govern the physical and intelectual being, mankind bring upon themselves much useless pain and misery; for the want of proper exercise, air, diet, the whole system becomes deranged; the bright red blood that should dance through the veins, becomes impure and sluggish, the heart whence are the issues of life and death, beats faint and longuidly, the mental faculties, thought, feeling, fancy, become enfeebled, life, beautiful life, which it is in our power to make "a beauty and a joy forever," becomes a useless burden and a curse; the powers of body and of mind, given to us for high and lovely purposes, die out inch by inch; and sick and disgusted, man turns wearily away, and seeks repose in the long dreamless sleep

Are there any really healthy men, women or children amongst us? let any one go into our churches upon a Sabbath day; into our lecture rooms, our school houses, our homes; look at the spare attenuated forms of the ladies, provided they are not hooped and flounced and padded, so that you can't detect the deficiences; look at the sunken eyes, the hollow cheek, and read the death signs there; look at women in their homes, the mothers of the rising generation, how do they employ themselves? the rich in luxury and idleness, the poor in toiling beyond their strength, to satisfy the never ending wants of a numerous family; look at the poor, wasted, shadowy form as it glides about from day to day, prematurely bowed; look at the thin grey hair, that should be thick and bright and glossy the dim eye; listen to the low, hotlow sounding cough; and then tell us if there be not a cause, and if there be, is it not our duty to seek it out and find the remedy?

But it is of no use moral zing, the fools will never all die; never did I say? O yes! they will, for we believe that there is a millenium coming, and that day never will arrive while a dispeptic lives; perfect happiness never will be enjoyed until we enjoy perfect health. Then let us see to it, that there be no infringement of those laws which an allwise Creator has laid down for us; for surely a sad penalty is attached to the disobeyance

The same of th of them. These laws are as immutable and hour, unless signs of natural breathing come unchanging as himself. Would we glerify God in our bodies and spirits which are his? would we enjoy in the highest sense the

The Rumselling Deacon.

The doorway was darkened, a man entered in tattered garments, with tottering steps, holding a small jug with nervous grasp. had no difficulty in recognizing neighbor H B____, who lives in a poor dilapidated shantee in the outskirts of our village, who only a few weeks ago in a drunken fit, threw n stick of wood at his wife and broke the baby's arm. The Deacon rased his eyes to the wretched creature, and his conscience smote him. Good morning neighbor B., how is the baby's arm this morning? Not any better, said the poor man, with a look of wretchedness and guilt. I want this jug filled with whiskey to bathe its arm in. The doctor advised it. "Poor thing," said the deacon, as he took the empty jug; while the big tears stood in his eye. The dencon walked to the back part of the store, where casks were arranged in rows containing all kinds of liquors, from ale to fourth proof brandy. As the deacon was drawing the liquor and putting it in the jug, I was startled by a noise like s chuckle of exultation. I cast my eyes to the opposite side of the room, were sat the prince of the infernal regions, on the top of a rum barrel, with a most malicious grin on his hideous countenance, and pointing with his finger to the deacon exclaimed, THAT'S THE DEACON FOR ME. Customers began to multiply. The deacon was busy here and there waiting on his numerous friends. A tall red faced man entered the store, known as Dr. H-Good morning, Doctor. Good morning, good morning, Deacon. Good news from Detroit. His crime was burglary and grand larceny, He was a perfect stranger in our 85, King Street. community. I sought an interview with him, and repeated my visit for the three days that he staid, to learn something of his history. He is the son of a minister. He is now 38 years of age. Those only who learned of his abilities, natural and acquired, know how far he has fallen. He has a vigorous mind, is well educated, has a quick perception, and he might have attained to a most any situation of honor or profit, if he had conducted himlearned the printer's trade and the painter's -he has been a reporter for the press. Thurs celebrated Chemical Compound has been found on trial, not only valuable in rendering all articles manufactured of Leather waterproof and imarticles manufactured of Leather waterproof and impervious to water, but it also penetrates the stiffest and hardest kinds of Leather, softening, strengthening, and restoring it to its original state. For Lumbermen, Firemen, Seamen, Fishermen, or Mechanics, who require to work in the water, this Oil will be found invaluable, as they may stand in the water a whole day without the slight stinconvenience from wet feet. It will also prevent the cracki g, splitting, or blistering of Leather, and will increase its durability won-derfully. It will be found very useful for India Rub-ber and Patent Leather Boots and Shoes. Prepared by Samuel W. Ford, Proprietor, 781, Whooping Cough, and all complaints tending to Consumption.

It is particularly recommended to the stiention of Public Speakers, Singers, and all persons who use the Voice freely. Its efficacy for clearing the Voice is truly astonishing!

There has been so much humburg practised under the pretence of furnishing the public with superior Medicines, that the inventor of a CRUINE ARTICLE only begs that each one would try for himself, for society demands that GOOD MEDICINES should be made public. Even those which do possess some virtue are held at such exorbitant prices that they do not come within the reach of the poor; while they, above all, are the most liable to suffer from the consequences of neglect and exposure.

Do not the poor suffer daily? It is true they do, for the want of a medicine which they are unable to purchase. The proprietor of the Vegetable Cough Candy has obviated this difficulty by inventing a Medicine compounded of twenty-nine different ingredients, extracted from the Vegetable Kingdom, and sold at a price which will place it within the reach of all. It is well known that many ingredients, when used singly, are inefficacious, but when combined with others are highly salutary.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

D.R. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, Mass., has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOUR, from the worst scrofula down to a common Pinaple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases and never failed except in two tases that thunder humour). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its virtue, all within twenty miles of Boston.

A benefit is always experienced from the flist bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of boston. I know the effect of it is every case. So sure as water will extragaish five so suce will take cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it hat that sold another; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There the two things about his herb that appears to use supplising; first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plennisul, and yet its value has never been known and it discovered it is leaved. In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great appularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1884, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day r in April, 1884, I sold over one thousand bottles per day of it.

Some of the wholesade Dauggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nathing in the annoted praise of it from all quanters.

In my own practice I always kept it switche for humors, and wonderful virtues have been found in it had inever an elected.

VEGETABLE PAIN RILLER

The Most Popular Medicine in the World.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

We take pleasure in melerring to the virtue of Danie's Pains killer. We have used the actiels, and found it valuable. The sale of this article in the United States, is beyond all precedent, as the books of the office will show.—Cincinnting Davis's Vegetable Fain Killer. We first heard of this medicine during a visit to the New England States, and being struck with the novelity of the title, were induced to make some inquiry about it; and we were surgrised to learn that it was kept constantly in the houses of most of the inhabitants of the cities and villages where we stopped, to be used in cases of sudden attacks of pain, burns, scolds, &c., and we heard it spoken of in terms of high commendation, both by druggists and physicians.—Valladelphia Engle.

Perry Davis's Pain Killer.—It is a real pleasure to as to speak favorably of this acticle, known almost universally to lea good and anderements for burns and other pains of the lody. It is valuable not only for colds in the winter, but for various summer complaints, and should be in every family. The casuality which demands it may some unawasses.—Chris Advocate.

Valuable Medicine,—The sale of that remarkable and truly valuable preparation, Ferry Daxis's Fain Killer, is constantly and rapidly increasing. During the past year the demand for this great remedy has been altogether unprecedented. Scarcely a week passes by during which we do not hear of some remarkable cure having been performed, within the circle of our acquaintance, by the use of Perry Daxis's Fain Killer.—Prov. Gen. Advantuer.

ANOTHER RETTER FROM INFOA.

Messes Perry, Davis & Son,—I am happy to be able to add that your medicine is getting more and more into note, and tonsequently the demand for it is increasing. The sales at my various sub-Agencies are very satisfactory, especially in Madimain and Dinnapare; in fast, wherever European Regiments are located the sales are extensive. A party in Agia who sent for a supply for his personal use and that of his friends, says the demand for it is great, and secondariad the appointment of an Ageab there.

Mr. Toone, of Barrackpone, writes maken date of 30th October: "This will certify that my son, By years of age, was taken suddenly ill in the night, with a severe pain in the stonach, followed by Chabers. He found no rehef until E gave him a teaspoonful of the Pain Kniler, dinted with wrem water; but after the expination of a few moments, he brought it up, when I repeated the dose, which partially relieved him. I followed it with a tland dose, when he fell asleep, and on walking next moming he was quite fresh. I consider it a most valuable medicine to be always at head." I remain yours, &c.,

J. L. CARRAU, Calcutta.

We are glad to learn that Pessy Davis* Pain Killer is haveing to large a sale in our city. We have every reason to believe it to be an almost naver fashing cure for pain, and as such is a medicine no family should be without it.—Monreal Pilot.
