

matters are happily changed. The prompt and pointed opposition I received created sympathy, and a great interest in the favor, and also for my cause; Satan runs too fast betimes to accomplish his plans.

I commenced by attempting to get up a Henry Allen scholarship, our beloved brother Barton headed it with $10, which he was better able to bear the sacrifice, it is not uncommon for him as well as others in his calling, to make sacrifices to lead in the way of benevolence, when will our more highly favored brethren view matters right and relieve the burden from the hearts and shoulders of such as are pressed down with the weight of the cause.

This is the place where Mr. Allen commenced his successful mission for his beloved Master, I have tarried with some of his relatives, and near the spot where he preached his first sermon, I have seen here his work called "Two Mice," part of his journal, and some hymns in manuscript, written by his own hand. Any person wishing to secure his life or journal, may obtain it at Widow Sarah Young's, Upper Palmouth, they are in print but not bound.

I am getting on with the Allen scholarship, and have got a Payzant scholarship completed by the increase of $75 from Lewis S. Payzant added to $25 paid by his father, Deacon Peter Payzant, previous to his death. He charged his son on his dying bed, always to do his part in sustaining the cause of God and true benevolence, in every way; that son responded in heart, and has endeavored to act it out. God has blessed him, and last evening for the first time he came forward, humbly and boldly, and confessed his love to Jesus. The fruit of godly parentage and pious instruction is pre-eminently manifested in this dear brother. He will most likely be united with the church before you send this abroad. A blessed prospect is lighting up here just now, and a number seem determined to press into the Kingdom.

I am at our dear friend William Shaw's, he is the "Gaius" of this district at least to us; and has been to our people, God's servant for years, although he has not as yet connected himself with the Church, I trust this will not be the case a month hence. The lines have fallen to him in a pleasant place, and he has a goodly heritage on earth, and an amiable family. Some of his house hold are at present anxious about their eternal state, I hope their sorrow will be turned into joy.

Our brother, (brother he certainly is in sympathy and heart,) is settled on property occupied by his ancestors upwards of 97 years, he tells me he has plowed dyke land this fall, which has never been plowed before as far back as the memory of his forefathers can reach, and in fine circumstances lead to the conclusion that it never was turned since it was reclaimed from the sea, which was done by the French, perhaps, two centuries ago, but the wonder is, that it has yielded a good crop of hay for the last ninety-seven years, averaging two tons to the acre, and that without dressing.

I may continue here a few days more, as I am still being patronized.

Yours in Bible union
ADAM C. THOMSON.

Another Horrid Affair.

The public mind has been again shocked by indications that another horrid murder has been committed.

It appears that on Sunday last a body was discovered near the margin of Little River, not far from Messrs. Reed's Mills. Intelligence was given to the Coroner, and he dispatched proper officers, who brought the body to the city.

An inquest was held on Monday afternoon and the following facts elicited, which we extract from the "Leader" of yesterday:

John Chisholm being sworn deposed as follows:—I found the body yesterday (Sunday) between 12 and 1 o'clock in the day on the right hand bank of Little River Road. It was between three and four rods from the water. It was on high land, and could not have floated to where he lay. I was first apprised of there being a body in the woods, by some boys who had discovered it. The body lay with the head towards the stream down hill; the face was downwards. The head was off and lying between three and four feet from the body. There was no flesh on the head. I should think it was eaten off by animals of some kind. Did not lay my hands on the body, but should think it was not decomposed enough to make the flesh drop off. The body was frozen. Did not see any bones of the neck or any blood or marks of footsteps. I turned over the skull but could not see if it was broken. The under jaw was uppermost when I found the skull. One hand, the right, was off; it appeared to have been gnawed off. I live in the neighborhood; I have no suspicion how the man came there.

Jeremiah Harrison. I think I know the deceased. I am satisfied in my own mind it is Henry Stewart. I know him from his dress. He has been in my employ near a year. I last saw him on Saturday the 17th or 24th of October. He was then in my employ, but had not been at work for three or four days. I heard he was sick and supposed he had been drinking. He drank more or less all the time, but was very seldom drunk. He seldom lost any time. When I saw him last he seemed feebly, had a wild appearance and did not seem himself at all. I made enquiry which satisfied me he had been drinking. Have seen people with "the horrors" deceased's eye looked as such persons do. He was last seen drinking in McManus's at York Point. I think he had no money with him. McManus told me he thought he saw him on Monday, but he must be mistaken. He was paid usually five dollars a week in money. I have no suspicion that he came to his death by violence. I have been making enquiries since he was missed. I cannot account for his being out at Little River, and am not aware that he had any relatives or friends there.

James Henry. Yesterday between twelve and one o'clock some boys told me a dead man was lying in the woods, as described by the first witness. Deceased might have been making for the road; there is a foot bridge a little further up. There was no path near him. He lay as if he tripped over a little tree about twenty or thirty feet long, which was lying under him. The nearest house was as much as half a mile off. There was no blood nor foot marks where the man lay. I did not examine the head or neck. The ground was a little trodden round his head as if animals of some kind had been there. There are plenty of foxes in the neighbourhood. Some hair and wool was lying near the neck. I did not look close at it, and cannot tell if it appeared eaten, or if there were the marks of animals teeth. Had never known a man named Henry Stewart. Live in the neighbourhood where the body was found, within a small bit of Davidson's; no one has been missed from about there, and no one has spoken of seeing such a man as deceased about. There is no one near there that sells liquor.

At this stage of the proceedings the Coroner intimated that the Chief of Police had some information to give and as he was from home, he would adjourn the inquiry. The inquest was then adjourned till Tuesday.
