The Magical Isle in the River of Time.

SELECTED BY ALLADY. There's a magical isle in the river of time, Where the softest of echoes are straying, And the air is as sweet as a musical chime-Or the exquisite breath of a topical clime, When June, with its roses is straying.

'Tis there memory dwells with her pale golden hue, And music forever is flowing; While the low-murmur'd notes that come tremblingly through,

Sadly trouble the heart—and yet sweeten it too—
As South winds o'er waters when blowing.

There are shadowy halls in this fairy-like isle Where pictures of beauty are gleaming; Yet the light of their eyes and their sweet sunny Only flash round the heart with a 'wildering wile, And leave us to know 'tis but dreaming.

And the name of the isle is the Beau!iful Past, And we bury our treasures all there; There are beings of beauty, too lovely to last, There are bosoms of snow with dust o'er them cast, There are tresses and ringlets of hair.

There are fragments of song only memory sings, And the words of a dear mother's prayer; There's a harp long unswept, and a lute without There are flowers all withered, and letters, and rings, Hallowed tokens that love used to wear.

E'en the dead, the bright, beautiful dead there arise, With their soft-flowing ringlets of gold; Though their voices are hushed, and o'er their swee

eyes
The unbroken signet of silence now lie, They are with us again as of old.

In the stillness of night, hands are beckoning us there, And with joy that is almost a pain,

We delight to turn back, and in wandering there-Through the shadowy halls of the island so fair-We behold our lost treasures again.

Oh! this beautiful isle, with its phantom-like show, Is a vist unfadingly bright;
And the river of time, in its turbulent flow it will be oft soothed by the voices we heard long ago.
When the years were a dream of delight.

Without Encumbrances.

The editor of the Chicago Journal says he recently saw the following, among other advertisements in a New York daily pa-

Board Wanted. - A gentleman and lady, without encumbrances, desire, etc. Whereupon he indulged in the following strain :-

"Without encumbrance!" What young mother, when she feels for the first time her first-born's breath, would ever imagine in the new blossoming of her new love, that any where beneath the sun there should exist a lexicon, wherein under the E's it should read thus: "Ed, Eg, Ei, El, Em, ENCUMBRANCE, n A young human beinga child."

There! What do you think of that, ye old fashioned grandmothers, whose love is visited upon the children, even to the third and fourth generation! "Rachel weeping for her encumbrances!" " Here am I and the encumbrances thou hast given me!" "And the leonard shall lie down with the lamb, and a little encumbrance shall lead them !"

These little motives in pink and fair dimity, that stir the pulses like a clarion, that nerve up the weary and light up the hope, and fill up the sighing with song, are encum-

So then, the sweet little candidates of heaven's kingdom, that dance round the threshold of the open heart and enter unforbidden; that keep the world from growing old in sorrow and in sin, encumbrances, all !

And when they are elected, for so, alas they sometimes are, as the greensward broken in little billows everywhere, and the Rachels that will not be comforted, so sadly at est think you when the mother rocks the empty cradle, and looks upon the unpressed pillow and finds in the "till" a si ken tress and a pair of little shoes that were laid aside for sandals of light, that she finds the name of the wearer under the En's?

That when the poet sighed, "There is no flock, however watched and tended. But one dead lamb is there-

There is no fireside, howso'er defended, But has one vacant chair:"

or when he who sang the "Airs of Palestine" declared,

"I can not make him dead! His fair sunshiny head,

Is ever bounding round my study chair; that either of them dreamed the burden of the song was a mortgage, and not rather one star lost out of the visible heavens-that

I'm Almost Home.

Hence blind bail, with fresh sureties, in a double amount ness is one of the greatest calamities that can befal human nature, short of death. The above have been suggested after visiting a beautiful little girl now returning to her tome in Buctouche, with her mother, who took her to Dr. Skinner, Oculist, in St. John, some eight weeks ago. This little girl was totally blinded by a cataract (like a scale of a fish) over her sight on the inside of each up-a bank with $5,000,000. eye. The Dr. has removed the cataracts and has restored her sight, to the utmost delight of the child, and the great joy of her mother and friends. It is gratifying to know that these delicate operations on the eye can be performed by a skilful hand, in our own Province, thus saving the time and expense attending travel to the United States or Europe for that purpose. - W. ANOTHER APPALLING RECORD.—The reords of the Coroners' office for the week nding Oct. 25th, are replete with cases of death from violence, and show an increase in crime really alarming. GENERAL HAVELOCK'S REGARD FOR THE SAB BATH .- It is said by one who knows him and his career intimately, that having worked his men six days severely in throwing up intreachments at Ghuznee, he appealed to the General to give them the seventh day for rest and for the worship of God. "But how"-in the language too common in military circles-"how"- exclaimed his superior-"are you to have service? we have no chaplain!" "I will be chaplain," rejoined HAVE-LOCK. The General cheerfully acceded :- prayers were announced, and our HAVELUCK, like the great Puritan General, sought to nerve his soldiers for all that might come, by those most irresistable of weapons, "the Word of God and Pray-

GREAT STORM .- The New York Chronicle says :- The storm of wind and rain-in some places snow-which was raging when our ast paper went to press, was long-continued and severe, and in its effects disastrous. The great amount of rain entirely flooded the valley of the Mohawk, and a great destruction of standing crops is the consequence. The northeast gale drove the water into the New York bay, and thence up the Hudson, submerging most of the docks from this city to Troy, while the wind was so strong that the steamer Francis Skiddy was obliged to suspend her trip from Albany to this city.-In various parts of this State and New England the fences and chimneys were blown down, bridges carried away, railroads destroyed, and the mails thus deranged and delayed; and a large amount of damage was done by freshets. It is reported that the self for Baytism, was joyfully received and bapwater covered some portions of the Central Railroad track so that the fires of the locomotive were extinguished.

Pickling .- Miss Leslie, in her " Complete Cookery," prefaces her recipes for pickles with some excellent remarks :-

Never on any consideration use brass, copper, or bell metel kettles for pickling; the verdigris produced in them by vinegar being of a most poisonous nature. Kettles lined with porcelain are the best; but if you cannot procure them, block tin may be substituted,fron is apt to discolor any acid that is boiled in it. Vinegar for pickles should be of the best cider kind. In putting away pickles, use stone or glass jars. The lead, which is an ingredient in the glazing of common earthenware, is rendered very pernicious by the action of the vinegar. Have a large wooden spoon and a fork for the express purpose of taking pickles out of the jar, when you want them for the table. See that, while in the jar, they are always completely covered with vinegar. If you discern in them any symptoms of not keeping well, do them over again in fresh vinegar and spice. The jars should be stopped with large flat corks, fitting closely and having a leather or a round piece of oilcloth tied over the cork. It is a good rule to have two thirds of the jar filled with pickles, and onethird with vinegar, Alum is very useful in extracting the salt pickles, and in making them firm and crisp. A very small quantity is sufficient. Too much will spoil them. In greening pickles, keep them very closely covered, so that none of the steam may escape as its retention promotes their greenness, and prevents the flavor from evaporating. Vinegar and spice for pickles should be boiled but a few minutes. Too much boiling takes away the strength.

TONIC EXTRACT.

A Medicine which possesses extraordinary virtues, and has made many cures.

The proprietor has been for years experimenting and indeavouring to descover a medicine, which could be relied upon in the above complaints, and is happy to inform the affected that he has at last succeeded beyond the timely administration of the Tonke Extract failed to do good.

It is necessary, however, to use this meditine according to the printed directions which accompany each bottle.—
This may, in some cases, involve self-denial on the part of the patient, but is the only course which will bring about restoration to health.

This sedicine is not introduced for the sole purpose of making money, it is a useful article and ought to be generally known. The Proprietor purposes to supply the affected poor widhout clarge, upon the recommendation of a respectable party, on condition that the patients, will from time to time, make a statement of the effects of the medicine.

The Tonic Extract will make the flesh firm, give a good appetite, and bring about a regular state of the system; when this happens, of course the spirits will be entivened, and there will be a prospect of health and long life.

The Proprietor takes the liberty of using the name of the Rev. J. Blakeney, Baptist Missionary, for a reference in support of the good qualities of this Medicine.

The Poinc Extract is put up in four ounce phials—price is 3d per phial.

I know the effect of it in every case. So sure will extinguish fire so sure will tais cure huser. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another after a trial at always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising; first, that it arews in our postures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until i discovered it in 1840-second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great opularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1863, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day it.

Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in bust hess twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annalog patient medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.

In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humoral quarters and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O what a mercy if it will p. ove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them agad people tured by R. For the verious diseases of the Liver, Sick lleadache, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Fover and Ague, Pais in the Bide, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases a the kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.

No change of hiet ever necessary. Eat the best you can, and enough of it.

Derections for Use.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; thiddren over ten years a dessert spoonful. Children from five to eight years, a tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

THE PARTY OF THE PARTY AILKS PILIS.

The sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pills have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedently upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate slaggish or disordered organs into their natural action and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffle I the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, in diminished doses, the sufest and hest physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm, Cures have been made which surpass helief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent elergy men and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent mu the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

aontribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.
