Lines on the Death of Miss Henrietta Dodge, of Wilmot, N. S. Dear Henrietta, nought can now

Disturb her rest profound ; Calmly, sweetly, she is sleeping Beneath the church-yard mound, That voice, which breathed of joy and love Is hashed forever now ; (1)/ / Quenched is the light of her beaming eye,

And pale and cold her brow.

That joyous heart is silent now, Beneath its snowy shroud, Which lately beat so high with hope Undimmed by sorrow's cloud. 'Twas sad to see her on her bier, Cut down, in youth's bright bloom, But many a bud of joy and love Lies withering in the tomb.

But, sweet the thought that joy and love-Earth's fading buds and flowers,

Shall spring anew in Paradise, To deck immortal bowers. And while we deeply mourn her loss

How precious is the thought That Henrietta in her youth,

A Saviour's love had sought.

Though in life's morn the summons came

That called her to the tomb, Yet death had lost its sting for her,

And the dark grave its gioom.

How sweetly on loves anxious ear Her dying words rang clear-

" I'm going to Heaven, I'm almost there,

My Saviour's voice I hear."

With bitter grief they laid her down Beneath the church-yard sod, But the bright spirit sleeps not there It liveth with its God. Fond parents while you mourn the loss Of one so young and fair, Oh could you look beyond the veil And see your darling there !

Your tears for her would cease to flow For she is happy now, Clad in a robe of spotless white, White jewels on her brow.

Brothers and sisters while yon mou So sweet an earth-tie riven A link is forged in the chain of love Which binds your souls to heaven.

Though friendship deeply feels the loss, Of one so justly dear, We would not call her back from Heaven Again-to have her here,

Ah ! no, but father let us seek To meet our friend above : In the better land, where she dwelleth now,

In the light of her Saviour's love. E. R. C. Cornwallis, 1856.

"I must wish you joy Robert, for I hear that you and Elizabeth are married." Robert nodded assent, and hurried to shake hands with Needham. "I think it very strange," continued Mrs Needham, "that Elizabeth never announced her marriage to me, nor has she even written to me during her residence in Halifax, pray Coldham, what is she about." Robert seemed not very d-sirous of discussing the subject of his marriage, he answered evasively, and throwing off his great coat, hurriedly described the storm, and commented on the difficulties he had experienced in reaching the house. The good wife on " hospitable thoughts intent," hastened to prepare supper, which was very welcome to Robert, who failed not to do it honour. "When neither hunger nor thirst remained" to her guest, the matron resumed her enquiries concerning her sister, but Robert seemed desirous of escaping the subject, and after a few vague answers he complained of fatigue, and drowsiness, when he was shewn to the "spare bed-room," his more !" hostess resolving to elicit further particulars on the morrow. About midnight the family were disturbed by the opening of the outside door, the wind rushed through the house, driving the snow into the kitchen, which drifted even to the bed-chamber : Needham quickly arose, looking out he perceived the figure of a man, just perceptible, as he breast-ed the storm, and darted across the fields. "Your cousin," said he to his wife, "times his rambles strangely, he has forsaken his bed at dead of night, and is flying toward the woods, with the speed of the deer through such a storm, as I do not think it possible a human being can long survive exposure to its fury! Tell me, Eunice, is he subject to fits of insanity !" "Not that I have heard," she replied, "but he is involved in some mystery. And, alas! poor sister Bessy is, I fear, engulphed in the same. Robert evaded all my enquiries last night, I hoped to renew them in the morning with better success, but you say he is gone, and at night through this storm ! ah, 1 tremb'e for I know not what! Poor sister! ] fear you have chosen for yourself a lot of misery !" In the meantime, Robert darted onward, he ran as though pursued by a re-lentless enemy, nor heeded the war of the elements, he seemed incapable of fatigue, but continued his devious course with unabated speed; he had passed the fields and en-tered the forest, neither windfalls nor fences arrested his career, he leaped over every obsta-cle; at length over exerted nature could stand no more ; exhausted and inanimate, he sank before the door of a cottage as he attempted to lift the latch; the inmates, an elderly couple, alarmed at the noise of his fall, hastened to the entrance, and b held with astonishment a man extended on the threshold. The old man with difficulty raised the stranger, and drew him in, the good wife chafed his tomples, and administered a cordial, at length Coldham opened his eyes, but quickly closed them again. "Avaunt, pale ghost!" he cried, "you are but a living phantom! is broken from the house-hold chain; another Bessy is alive! I did not kill her! No, I did s at left vacant by the desolate hearth. Death not murder her !" ""Who are you ?" cried the old man, trem-bling with undefinable apprehension, "Where do you come from ?" The Most Popular Medicine in the World. OPINIONS OF THE PRESS. We take pleasure in referring to the virtue of Davis's Pain Killer. We have used the article, and found it valuable The sale of this article in the United States is beyond all precedent, as the books of the office will 'show.-Cincinni Davis's Vegetable Pain Killer. We first heard of this medicine during a visit to the New England States, and be-ing struck with the novelity of the title, were induced to make some inquiry about it; and we were surprised to learn that it was kept constantly in the houses of most of the in-habitants of the cities and villages where we stopped, to be used in cases of sudden attacks of pain, burns, scolds, &c, and we heard it spoken of in terms of high commendation, both by druggists and physicians.-Philadelphia Eagle. Perry Davis's Tain Killer.-It is a real pleasure to us to speak favorably of this article, known almost universally to he a good and safe remedy for burns and other pains of the body. Ford's Waterproof Oit. n Etherial Solution of INDIA RUBBER, CASTO

An Etherial Solution of INDIA RUBBER, CASTOR OIL, and TANNIN, for rendering Boots and Shoes Waterproof, and for softening all kinds of Leather, particularly Trunks, Hose, Carriage Tops, Har-ness, &c. &c. &c. THIS celebrated Chemical Compound has been found on trial, not only valuab e in rendering ali articles.manufactured of Leather waterproof and im-pervicus to water, but it also penetrates the stiffest and hardest kinds of Leather, s ftening, strengthen-ing, and restoring it to its original state. For Lum-bermen, Firemen, Seamen, Fishermen. or Mechanics, who require to work in the water, this Oil will be found invaluable, as they may stand in the water a whole day without the slight st inconvenience from wet feet. It will also prevent the cracki g, splitting, or blister

Killer.-Prov. Gen. Advertiser. ANOTHER LETTER FROM INDIA. Messrs Perry, Davis & Son, -I am happy to be able to add the sour medicine is getting more and more into note, and tonscenently the demand for it is increaring. The sales at my various sub-Agencies are very satisfactory, especially in Maulmain and Dimanpore in fact, wherever European Re-giments are located the sales are extensive. A party in Agis who sent for a supply for his personal use and that of this triends, says the demand for it is great, and recommends the appointment of an Agent there. Mr. Toome, of Barrackpore, writes under date of 20th Oc-tober: "This will certify that my son, 19 years of age, was taken suddenly ill in the night, with a severe pain in the stonach, followed by Cholera. He found no relief until gave him a teaspoonful of the Pain Killer, diluted with warm water; but after the expiration of a few moments, he brought it up, when I ropeated the dose, which partially relieved him. I followed it with a third dose, when he L consider it a most valuable medicine to be always at hand." I remain yours, &c., J L. CARRAU, Calcutta.

We ale glad to learn that Perry Davis' Pain Killer is hav-ing so large a sale in our city. We have every reason to be-lieve it to be an almost never failing cure for pain, and as such is a medicine no family should be without it.--Mon-treal Pilot.

such is a medicine no family should be without it.-Mon-treal Pilot. DAVIS' PAIN KILLER. This unparalleled preparation is receiving more testime-mials of its wonderful efficacy in removing pain than any other medicine ever offered to the public; and these testi-monials come from persons of every degree of intelligence, and every rank of lufe. Physicians of the first respectability and perfectly conversant with the nature of diseases and re-medies, have recommended this as one of the most effectual-in their line of preparations for the extinction of pain. The Pain Killer is used internally and externally, according to the nature of the complaint. It has been found to be an ex-cellent remedy for sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Asthma and Phthisic, Pain in the Head, Kidney Complainta, Piles, Rheumatic Complaints, Bruises and Sorres, Severe Burns, Canker, Biles and Ringworms, Weak Stomach and General Deblity, Painter's Colic, Broken Breasts, Bowel Complaint and Dysentery, Cholery, Liver Complaint, Dys-pepsis, Toothache, &c.
