

he stops before her Majesty's chair of state, and slowly bows with the most profound reverence, and, turning to his royal mother, he bows again with equal respect, but less deeply than to the Queen, and then kneeling in the centre of the chapel prays with earnest devotion for a few minutes. His prayers ended, he rises and stands at the right hand of the altar, waiting his bride, and likewise submitting to such a scrutiny from hundreds of brilliant eyes as never bachelor withstood alone before.

After "a pause of impressive solemnity," the great officers of State enter and take their places, amid appropriate blasts of trumpets. The writer now proceeds to describe the appearance and dress of the bride, but with such verbosity that we shall neglect it, and go to another part of the history, and take the following compact piece of millinery writing: "The Princess Royal's bridal dress was of white moire antique, the body trimmed with Honi on lace, and a bouquet of orange flowers and myrtle. The pituitous, trimmed with three flounces of Honi on lace, wreathed with orange and myrtle, and the train of white moire antique lined with satin, bordered with a ruche of white satin ribbons Honi on lace, and a wreath of orange flowers and myrtle to correspond with the dress. Diamond necklace, ear rings, and brooch; the Prussian order of Louis, and a Portuguese order. The head dress, a wreath of orange flowers and myrtle; the veil of Honi on lace, to correspond with the dress. The design of the lace medallions of the rose, shamrock, and thistle, with a rich ground of the leaves of the rose, shamrock, and thistle."

"As the bride passes up to the altar, she stops and makes a deep reverence to her mother, though with evident agitation, and her face flushes like crimson; then, again turning, she renders the same homage to the Prince of Prussia. As she does so the bridegroom elect advances, and kneeling on one knee, presses her hand with an expression of fervent admiration that moved the august audience. Taking their places then at the altar, and with their illustrious relatives standing round in a group of unequalled brilliancy the service commences with the chorale, which peaks through the little building with the most solemn effect.

The Rubric is rigidly adhered to throughout. At the moment the ring was placed upon the bride's finger a salvo of artillery, arranged by signal, reverberated through the corridors and chapel. The usual prayer and a psalm followed.

Hardly had the last words of the chorus died away in solemn echoes, when the ceremonial, as arranged by chanoines and heralds, ended, and the bride, giving vent to her evidently long pent-up feelings, turned and flung herself upon her mother's bosom with a suddenness and depth of feeling that thrilled through every heart. Again and again her Majesty strained her to her heart and kissed her, and tried to conceal her emotion; but it was too needless and vain, for all perceived it. We need not mention how the bridegroom embraced her, and how, as she quitted him, with the tears now plainly stealing down her cheeks. She threw herself into the arms of her father, while her royal husband was embraced by the Princess of Prussia in a manner that evinced that only a mother's love can show the most affecting recognition, however, took place between the bridegroom and his royal father, for the latter seemed overpowered with emotion, and the former, after clasping him twice to his heart, kissed his bride's hand.

After a few minutes had been allowed for the illustrious personages to recover their composure, during which the bride again lost herself, while she received, with all the affecting warmth of a young and attached family, and the congratulations of her brothers and sisters, the procession prepared to leave the church. As to the bride's presents the account says: "Her Majesty gave her royal daughter, as a bridal present, a necklace of diamonds, and the Prince Consort a set of diamonds and emeralds. The Prince of Wales' gift was diamonds and opals, and that of the Princess Alice a diamond brooch. The Maharajah Duleep Singh gave a magnificent opera glass, and the King of the Belgians a Brussels lace dress valued at £1000 sterling.

A letter from Berlin says: "The nuptial present destined by Prince Frederick William for his royal bride consists of a pearl peckle of unusual beauty and costliness. The necklace consists of thirty two large Oriental pearls pronounced by connoisseurs to be remarkably pure, and the larger of which, those towards the centre, are of the size of a hazel nut. The cost of this little collection, which has been complete only by dint of great diligence during a lengthened period, is said to amount to 28,000 thalers, ($21,000.)

Of the wedding cake, we shall probably satisfy our readers when we say it was "between six and seven feet in height," and was divided from the base to the top into three compartments.

Arrival of the "Niagara."

Three Days Later from Europe!!

HALIFAX, Feb. 14th.

The "Niagara," Miller, left Liverpool about 10 A. M., on the 30th, and arrived here at 7.30 A. M. on Sunday, 14th.

Among the passengers are His Excellency, the Right Hon. the Earl of Mulgrave, the recently appointed Governor of Nova Scotia, family and suite.

The Niagara experienced heavy weather during the whole passage. She reports 30th, having passed the American ships Henry Clay and Ann Hooper, and barque Statesman, of Yarmouth, N. S., bound in. Passed steamship Africa, of Holyhead, at 6.30 P. M. On the 31st, passed the American ship Benbow, off Kinsale.

The Baltic arrived at Liverpool on the afternoon of the 23th. The propeller New York, arrived at Greenock on the same afternoon.

The North Star, for New York, left Southampton on the 27th.

BRITAIN.—Parliament would assemble on the 4th Feb. Lord Palmerston had, as usual, issued circulars soliciting an early attendance of his supporters, as matters of considerable importance will come under discussion.

A numerous delegation waited on Lord

Palmerston to urge the immediate abolition of Church rates. They met with such a lukewarm encouragement that they adopted indignant resolutions, and pledged themselves to press forward an independent bill on the subject.

Prince Frederick William, of Prussia, had been invested with the order of the Garter.

The Leviathan had been pushed 25 feet off the ends of the launching way, and her cradles were being removed. She had over 17 feet of water under her, and was expected to float on the 30th or 31st.

The resolution pending before the general court of the East India Company, deprecating the proposed change in the Government of India, was carried by an almost unanimous vote.

The London Advertiser asserts that the Indian bill will not be nearly so sweeping as it was generally believed at first intended.

Ministers will consent to modifications in the measure in its progress through Parliament, and if it will not pass this year it will be shelved (if not previously withdrawn) at the end of the session.

Heavy drafts of troops were under orders to embark for India.

The Bank of England reduced its rate of discount on the 29th, to 4 per cent. The reduction had little or no effect on the money market or stock exchange. The London Times remarks upon this subject that there is a prospect that the tendency for a considerable period may be toward's increased ease in the money market. For the last week or two the applications at the Bank for discount have almost entirely ceased, and although the alteration led to a little demand, they are still likely to be only of a very moderate character, since the minimum rate in open market has for some days not been higher than 3 per cent., while in stock exchange the supply is abundant at 2 per cent. The interest on deposits allowed by discount houses, has been reduced to 2½ per cent. The Daily News says that some persons are disposed to look for a further reduction in the Bank minimum.

The correspondence from Calcutta to Dec. 24th adds nothing of importance to the telegraphic despatches which we anticipate by the mail.

The Times correspondent gives a circumstantial account of the Wyndham affair. The facts do not differ from those already before the public. The scenes after Wyndham's defeat are said to have been fearful—hospitals were crowded to suffocation, the enemy directed their fire especially upon them, and it was not till Sir Colin Campbell returned, and with a dozen haughty words brought every man to his place, that order was restored.

Latest London, Friday night.—The Government has received a telegram from Malia announcing the arrival of Bombay dates to Jan. 22d, at Suez. The news is of little importance.

Sir Colin Campbell was still at Cawnpore, and at latest advices was shortly expected to move westward with a powerful force.

Sir James Outram, at Alumbagh, attacked and defeated the enemy on the 22nd of December, capturing four guns, with trifling loss.

Gen. Roberts is appointed to the command of a Field Force in Rajpootana, which is assembling at Desas, and which is to march on to Nusserabad.

No fresh disturbances in any part of Decan. Central India and the Punjab remain tranquil.

CHINA.—The correspondent of the Times writing from Canton River, under date Dec. 10, says, Gov. Yeh has returned an insolent answer to the ultimatums of the English and French Plenipotentiaries, and that the two forces would in a few days attack Canton.

The Earl of Elgin's demand was of a most temperate character, and asked for no more than that the treaty should be carried out, so that Canton should be put upon the same footing as other treaty ports, and its gates opened to commerce. Compensation given for damage done to British merchants, and the occupation of Anan acquiesced in as a material guarantee until all matters are settled.

A letter from Hong Kong says that Yeh's answer to Elgin, couched in sarcastic vein, tells his Lordship that the question of the treatment of strangers at Canton has been settled by a decree of the Emperor, and that Sir Geo. Bonham was made Baronet for respecting that decree, and recommends Elgin to follow his example, and that as to compensation, Yeh has suffered, and has demanded of the English Government for losses suffered by the Chinese.

A few days before the answer, Reed, the American Commissioner, solicited an interview in the city, but Yeh replied he would meet him outside the city, but that no barbarian should set foot within the limits of Canton.

The Paris Press publishes accounts from Coshin China and Tonquin the 15th Nov. The persecution of Christians continued with unparalleled violence, and the country was also in a state of the greatest confusion.

FRANCE.—The army of the line is to be divided under five great commands, confided to Marshals Casselant, Bonquet, Peltier, Canrobert, and Vaillant; and having their general headquarters at Paris, Nancy, Lyons, Toulouse and Tours.

Addresses from some of the regiments to the Emperor, worded in such strong language as to attract much attention. The Zouaves almost regret that they had not the opportunity to mark their zeal in a striking manner: and the address of the 82nd Regiment contains the following sentence:—"And if your Majesty sends soldiers to reach these men, even in their haunts, we humbly pray you to assign the 82nd Regiment a part of advance guard of this army." Addresses from other regiments appear to have been worded still stronger, but the Moniteur has omitted some of the paragraphs.

It is stated that Orsini was at Stuttgart when the Emperor was there last year, but he and two or three other Italians were expelled.

The Moniteur publishes a decree announcing it to be the intention of the Government to put down all religious controversy in the French press.

A Brussels paper affirms that the French Foreign Minister addressed a note to the British, Belgian, Swiss, and Sardinian Governments demanding certain measures, which may prevent renewed attempts at assassination.

The latest correspondence of the Times reports that no further measures of repression will be directed against the Press.

Addresses from the army continued to appear in the Moniteur. Many civil violently for leave to pursue the conspirators to their haunts.

ITALY.—A despatch from Naples announces the death of Signor Lablache, at that place on 23rd Jan.

A plot against the life of the King of Naples, has been discovered. Ten persons, Frenchmen, are said to have landed at Naples to carry out their design. A conspiracy was also discovered at Ascoli, objects unknown.

It was stated that the Rothschilds were negotiating a loan for the Papal Government. An insurrectionary movement in Rome was said to have been planned for the 15 January, but the police frustrated it.

AUSTRIA.—A Vienna Journal says that the National Bank, contains a greater amount of specie, by three million florins, than ever before.

Austria consents that the act of the Riverine States, relative to the free navigation of the Danube, should be submitted to the Paris Conference.

DENMARK.—The new project from Denmark, having for its object to place the Duchies on an exceptional position in Danish Monarchy, has been taken to Frankfurt, but the members of the Diet declared against it as insufficient.

RUSSIA.—It is said that Russia intends to restore the fortress on the Circassian coast, but on a new system, which will evade the treaty of Paris. A new Sebastopol is also in contemplation.

TRINIDAD.—It is asserted that the British Government has agreed to pay the pecuniary indemnity to the Porte for the occupation of the island of Perim, the amount to be fixed amicably between the two powers without the intervention of any other.

Serious disturbances are said to have broken out in Bosnia, and a force of 3000 men had been sent to suppress them.

Very Latest by Telegram to London.

LONDON, Saturday morning.—The Times City Article says: Funds are moderately steady to-day, but the market is without animation, and the manifestations encouraged in the French official and military quarters would probably have led to a further depression but for the investments on the part of the Banks and others who, in the present state of the discount market, are unable to employ their money except in Government stocks or exchange bills.

In stock exchange loans are obtainable at from 1½ to 2 per cent., and in the discount market no exceptional transactions have taken place below 3 per cent.

The London and Country Banks have today decided to take in no fresh deposits at a higher rate than 2 per cent. The Union Bank has also reduced its rate of allowance to 2 per cent. Nearly £300,000 was taken to Bank to-day.

In foreign exchanges this afternoon rates are about the same as by the last post.

The Bishop of Calcutta died on the 3rd instant.

The Daily News City Article says:—This has been a dull day in stock exchange. Funds experienced very little variation, and closed the same as yesterday, but the share market, especially for British Railways, was weaker. In stock exchange it was scarcely possible to lend money on Government securities, at any rate, however low.

Gold! Gold! Gold! Health! Health!

Health!—Which will you choose?—The above is a serious question to answer. Gold is the God of the world. It is to be feared there are many men who would risk their health and even their lives to procure it. How very few there are who take care of that better gift of God—good health. To such I would say, learn wisdom from the things you have suffered. If you are afflicted with dyspepsia, or Liver Complaint, be assured it will terminate in consumption or some other malady that will terminate your existence. "A word to the wise is enough." Now to the monthly report.—Mr. James Hamilton, St. John—Dyspepsia an affection of the lungs, two years standing; Mr. Russell, St. John, Dyspepsia and an affection of the lungs; Mr. Robert Payne, St. John, strain in the side, which caused spitting of blood; Mr. Alexander Elder, St. John, strain in the loins, of several years standing, caused by a fall.
