

600 cavalry of the same genus, with 28 guns. The general makes his arrangements so as to reach this same village at daylight; the camp is struck in the evening, and the whole force marches out a short distance upon the Bahadur road, and rest on their arms, until a couple of hours before daylight. The enemy's pickets and our own had been watching each other throughout the day, and had actually exchanged shots. This looked like business, and every heart beat quicker at the idea of the long looked for moment having come at last. A strong advance guard preceded the column by a short interval, under the command of a first-rate soldier, and who had seen many a bloody field, Colonel Apthorpe. No sooner did Pandey catch sight of the head of the column, than he opened fire at about 700 yards. On went the advance, the Horse Artillery on the left rapidly returning their fire, and the Cavalry on the right, the irregular Cavalry somewhat in advance. A round shot plunging through the infantry and killing caused the order to be given MacKenzie by Colonel Apthorpe to charge the guns, which that excellent officer attempted in most gallant style, but a withering discharge of grape within thirty yards of the muzzles of the guns emptied many a saddle, and for the moment hurled them back; but their brave leader quickly reformed, and seconded by his no less gallant Adjutant, Ryal, again went at the guns, and captured them along with four elephants and a number of camels, laden with ammunition, &c. The Lancers on the extreme right had now come up, and nobly took their share in the attack charging into a battery and capturing the guns. The guns having thus been silenced the infantry on the left had the game all to themselves and plied Master Pandey with their minie, so briskly, that none but those discreet enough to bolt escaped the ball or bayonet. The great body of cavalry managed to escape, owing to the badness of the ground, and the few cavalry we could spare to pursue. A short pursuit was attempted, but it was not carried far. About ten a.m. the heat by this time was overpowering, and after this refreshment the column advanced towards Bahadur, distant about two miles. Upon a ridge of hills directly on the road, a group of horsemen were seen, in the midst of whom was evidently some person of state. They had guns with them, and reined as if bent upon disputing our passage over the ridge; however a few rounds of shell quickly cleared them away, and the guns and cavalry galloping to the front, it soon became a complete rout, the cavalry sabring right and left until not an enemy was seen. At the ford an ugly-looking fort was defending the retreat of the flying enemy across the bed of the river, and it was thought necessary to withdraw guns and cavalry out of reach of its fire. The fight was now over, the battle had lasted five hours, and no one can deny that it had been well contested. The sun was tremendously powerful, but excitement caused it to be little felt. The casualties on our side were 30. That of the enemy is conjectured at between 600 and 700 killed, for not a prisoner was taken. The Pandey General was shot in the thigh, as was also the second in command, who trying to bolt, was polished off by his own men. The Nawab was looking on at his discomfiture, and when we came over the hill, at the last burst, evaporated.

DOMESTIC.

A gentleman who has lately travelled from New Orleans to this city, on his way to Europe, declares the Valley of Annapolis the most beautiful tract of country he saw on the whole route.—Halifax Sun.

He thought to visit New Brunswick. We have travelled in England, Ireland, Scotland, and on the Continent, and have seen nothing to compare with the Valley of Sussex, called "Sussex Vale," in this Province. True the valleys, fields, meadows of those countries, are more highly cultivated; but for richness of scenery, "a lay of the land," apparent capabilities of soil, water privileges, &c., we have seen nothing to compare with our own Sussex Vale. It is like a forest garden; and when the Railway is built through it, it must rise and become a famous agricultural district and place of resort.—News.

ORDINATION.—We are informed by Elder D. Cranford that our valued Bro. J. L. Read was ordained to the Pastorate of the Hopewell Church on Wednesday the 30th ult. Eight ordained Ministers were present, and a large gathering of people. The services were deeply interesting. The youthful pastor enters upon his responsible duties with encouraging prospects, and there is reason to hope that great good will result from his labours.

Further particulars of the ordination are expected.

FIRE.—The Carlton Sentinel tells us that Woodstock was greatly alarmed on Tuesday last, by fires that was raging in the woods near by, and threatening an attack upon the town. One building was consumed, and others caught fire but by the timely and energetic movements of the Firemen, no very general injury was done. The Sentinel says:—

Our neighbor, Mr. James Doherty, lost largely by the fires, in grain, potatoes, and fences, and we fear much more extensive losses, by parties through the country, will have to be recorded.

On Monday last, the body of a man (name unknown) was found floating near Fox Creek, but in such a state of decomposition that it could not be identified.—On Tuesday morning an inquest was held before Jacob Wortman, Esq., Coroner, when a verdict in accordance with the above facts was rendered. The body was supposed to be that of the second mate of the steamer Maid of Erin who was lost overboard last fall.—Westmorland Times.

A FEW HINTS.—New Brunswick Bonds were selling in London, by last accounts, at 108 3/4.—The character of New Brunswick is gaining ground under a Liberal Administration. By the way, how is it that the opposition have not got up a cry, as they did at the last election, to the effect that there is no money in the Treasury to meet the warrants? Why not start something fresh to amuse the green horns, besides the Railway story?—News.

Miscellaneous.

HALIFAX AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.

NEW AND HIGHLY IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

The New Brunswick of yesterday morning says:—

We have great satisfaction in being able to announce that within the last month, most important movements have taken place in London with reference to the construction of a Railway to connect Halifax and Quebec, and that with the approbation of H. M. Government, the nucleus of a Company has been formed for carrying out this great national undertaking.

A public meeting has been held recently in London, attended by several members of Parliament and other highly influential Gentlemen, among whom were Sir Allan McNab, Hon. Samuel Cunard and the Hon. Justice Haliburton. This meeting was presided over by Viscount Bury, M. P. (Son-in-law of Sir Allan McNab). Admirable speeches were made by the Chairman, by the Hon. Captain Vivian, M. P., Sir Allan McNab, Hon. S. Cunard, Justice Haliburton (Sam Slick), Hon. Charles Fitzwilliam, M. P., and others. A very strong resolution passed, commending this movement to the favourable consideration of Her Majesty's Government, as a national undertaking of immense moment to the interests of the Empire, and a deputation appointed to wait upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer. This deputation met with a most favorable reception, and the prospect for a speedy commencement of this mighty enterprise is much brighter than ever.

THE EXTREME HEAT IN THE STATES.

The Doston Traveller of 1st inst., says. The unusually cold weather of May, has been succeeded by weather in June, and such as is commonly experienced only in the last half of July. At New York, there have been many cases of death and alarming illness by sunstroke, but the number which have terminated fatally cannot be known till the coroner's report is made up.

The Commercial Advertiser of Tuesday says: "There has been little variation from the high temperature we have daily noted here since Friday last. The heat of the day is endurable to those who can keep in the shade, but the hot nights are felt to be peculiarly oppressive, rendering healthful sleep almost impossible. If this weather continues much longer there will probably be a great increase in mortality. At two o'clock this morning, an hour when a little coolness of the atmosphere might be hoped for, the mercury marked 86°. Today at 2 P. M. the temperature is 92° in the shade."

In Newark, N. J., on Sunday, the temperature at 3 P. M. was 98 1/2 in the shade.

In Washington, D. C., on Sunday, the mercury rose to 97 deg. in the shade.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of Saturday says: "The weather yesterday was pretty steep in the way of heat. The thermometer stood at 94 in a place that was considered a fair test."

In Philadelphia yesterday, eight cases of death from sunstroke were reported.

Twenty-four deaths from sun stroke are said to have occurred in New York and Brooklyn between Saturday and Monday mornings.

A few green leaves worn inside of the crown of the hat, it is said, or a wet handkerchief, will secure one against all danger from sun-stroke.

DEATH BY DROWING.

We regret to announce that a son of Mr. Alexander James, of Carleton, left home about 2 o'clock P. M., on Saturday last, to go to the office of his father. On his way he stepped into a boat on one of the ponds near the landing place, and accidentally fell overboard, and before help could be rendered, he was drowned. He was in his sixteenth year, and was a youth of much promise. His body was obtained the same evening, and was interred yesterday.

We tender to his afflicted parents, brothers and sisters our deepest sympathies. May God be their support!

MISTAKE CORRECTED.

The blunders of Compositors sometimes tell desperate fibs. One of these mistakes has made the Visitor say more than once that the credit price of the paper is twenty shillings, when in fact it is only ten. We feel not a little provoked that we have been publishing unwittingly for several weeks in succession; a statement so much against our own interests; but we hope our subscribers will not be alarmed, for the terms of the Visitor are just what they have been for some years past, seven shillings and six pence in advance, or ten shillings trust. See notice at the head of the editorial column.

Please read the notice which appear in other columns of the Female Educational Institutions at Moncton, Wolfville and Clarence, and also of the Baptist Seminary at Wolfville. These establishments are what they profess to be and as such afford excellent opportunities for intellectual training and development.

The Steamer "Col. Freemont" will afford accommodation to all persons going to the association at Springfield on Saturday next, see advertisement in another column.

No tidings from the Atlantic Telegraph ships before going to press.
