MOONBEAMS.

Over fields of thymy blossom, Over beds of dewy flowers, Now upon the streamlet's bosom, Now within the whispering bowers, Soft and slow The moonbeams go Wandering on through midnight hours. Lightly o'er the crested billow, Where the heaving waters flow, W here the sea bird finds her pillow. There the glistening moonbeams go-Soft and slow, Soft and slow.

Ever wandering, soft and slow.

Queen of beauty robed in splendor, Finds thy silent foot no rest? Looks thy smile, so soft and tender, Ne'er upon a kindred breast ? Soft and slow Thy footsteps go, In their silver sandals dressed.

Queen of beauty ! canst thon ever Thusthy lovely task fulfil? Sisters voices, never, never, Answering thee from bower or hill? Soft and slow As winter's snow, Fall thy foctsteps, cold and still. Silent moon ! thy smile of beauty Fainting hope will oft renew; Teach me. then, thy holy duty, Wast and wide to wander through. Soft and slow, Stil to go, Patient, meek, but lonely too.

FOR YOUNG LADIES. You expect, one of these days, to be the mistress of a house. Your comfort and happiness, and the comfort and happiness of your husband will depend very much upon your ability to order that house well. If your companion be in humble circumstances, you will very likely be obliged to do the most of your work yourself. In this case, a thorough knowledge of, and taste for housewifery, will be very necessary to you. If you marry a man of competence on wealth, a knowledge of good housewifery i quite as essential to you, as if you were required to do your own work. The expences of your house will be large or small, as you are a bad or a good housekeeper. If you do not know how to do the work of the house; if you have i.e. practical knowledge of all the offices and economies of an establishedment, you will be depen-a wish and will to meet it with a womanly spirit. I seek to point you to its nobler n eanings and its higher results. (To the Editor of the Christian Visitor.) HEAVEN.

Heaven ! Thou blessed place of Eternal rest Heaven ! asylum, from the storm ! couch of rest to the weary traveller on life's rough and uneven road. Thou glorions post of everlasting tranquility, to the tempest tossed mariner on the great sea of life, abode of redeemed spirits : home of the just, where angles live; where Jesus sits and pleads for man. Abraham, Isaac, aud all those "that have came up out of great tribulation dwell in thee and tune their golden harps and in one great and glorious strain : forever shout the song of 'Moses and the La m' Heaven! art thou situated beyond you blue asure vault; or ait thou bounded by the margin of all space; it. Maters not, as long as we know that God our Maker is in thee, that thy "golden streets, are lighted by the sun of righteousness," that thon art a place of purity; and as long as we know that within thy walls shall be heard no discordent Clamour, no vice of littermess: no sound of disorder tumult or wrong. Within thee all if lovely all is peace: " there is no night there for the Lamb is the light thereof. No tears, no sorrow : one deep, wide, wave of glory submerges all fever, famine, plague dies, recommends it heartily to her neighbors or pestilence cannotcome nigh thee, we, with and is never without it. I have given it in our mortal eyes cannot penetrate thy holy sanctuary. In vain we strain our eyes, and though we were to look beyond the most remote orb of heaven still we would yet one glimps of thy glories. But although we cannot behold thy beauties with mortal sight; yet we know that in thee here are mansions many. CHERRY PECTORAL. FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

Brimfield, Mass., 20th Dec., 1855. Dr. J. C. AYER :- I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a cold, is cherry Pectorial. Its coustant use in my told him I could cure him. I gave him a teadent. So far from being the mistress of your practice and my family for the ast tenyears has hown it to possess superior virtues for the trea: ent of these complaints. EBEN, KNIGHT, M. 1 A. B. MORTLEY, ESQ., OF UTICA, N.Y., writes : "1 have used your Pectoral myself and in my family ince you invented it, and believe it the best mediine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold hould sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than to do without it, or take any other remea,."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION CURED, AFTER ALL OTHER REMEDIES FAILED.

BY THE USE OF THE

COMPOUND SARSAPARILLA.

Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.

The following interesting case came under my own observation. A lady, between sixty and seventy years of age, afflicted with general debility, uneasiness, and pain in the stomach. loss of appetite and great emaciation, applied to me for id. Her attending physician prohibited cathartics, because she was to weak to endure the operation. She had little hope of recovery, and her neighbors said "her work was done." I ordered a teaspoonful of your Compound Sarsaprilla three times a day. On the third day she was entir-ly relieved, and has continued so six months, during which time her appetite became good, her strength increased, and her bowels became regular. She is now managing her domestic affairs, and nursing a sick husband. I have prescribed it in many other cases, and it has never disappointed me.

I recommended the Neuropathic Drops in a case of nervous prostration, with nausea, flatulence, and internal pains. The patient derived more benefit from it than from all other reme-Toothache and other diseases with marked suc-

I have used B. O. & G. C. Wilson's Wild Cherry Balsam in Coughs, Colds, and other Pulmonary Complaints; and three cases have come under my own observation, in which all similar remedies failed, which were completely restored by taking less than one bottle.

It is, in my opinion, an invaluable remedy happily adapted to remove the diseases for which t is designed. S. S. LEIGHTON. West Townsend, Mass.

house, you will be only its guest. Your servants they will circumvent you, they will cheat you, then will make you miserable. If they do no perform their work p operly, through willfulness or ignorance, you cannot tell them bet-You will scold them for things which ter. you cannot tell them how to mend, you will be unjust, and you will not keep them. Many a really good servant is constantly suffering from grievances growing directly from the ignorance of her mistress. Unless you are willing to take up for life with a boarding house-a place for people to vegetate in-you must be a good housewife. It matters not whether you are rich or poor. You need a practical knowledge of cookery, of the laundry, of the prices and qualities of provisions, of chamber work-of every thing that enters into the details of home life.

There are few higher compliments that can be paid to a young woman, than that she is an excellent housekeeper. There is no reputation which will more thoroughly tend to confirm a young woman in the esteem of young men, or more forcibly commend her to their esteem, than that of being acquainted, practically, with the details of the kitchen and economies of housekeeping. Were I as rich as Closus, my girls should have something to do regularly, just as soon as they should become old enough to do anything. They should, in the first place, make their own room. They should dress each other. They should sweep a portion of the house --They should learn, above all things, to help themselves, and thus to be independent in all circumstances. A woman, helpless from any other cause than sickness, is essentially a nuiance .-There is nothing womanly and lady-like in helplessness. My policy would be, as g rls grow up, to assign to them special duties, first in one part of the house, then in another, until they should become acquainted with all house-wifery offices; and I should have an object in this beyond the simple acquisition of a knowledge of housewifery. It should be for the acquisition of habits of physical industry-of habits that conduce to the health of body and mind-of habits that give them an insight into the nature of la bor, and inspire within them a genuine sympathy with those whose lot it is to labor.

Do not seek out for yourselves any prominent field of service where you will attract the attention of the world. Remain where God places you. Some of the noblest heroisms of the world have been achieved in humble life. The poor ye have always with yon. The miserable are always around you. You can lighten your father's burdens, You can restrain your brothers from vicious society. You can relive your failing and fading mother of much care. You can gather the ragged and ignorant children at your knee, and teach them something of a better life than they have seen. You can become angels of light and goodness to many stricken hearts. You can read to the aged. You can do many things which will be changed to blessings upon your own soul. Flo-ence Nightingale did her work in her place ; do your work in yours, and your Father who seeth in secret shall reward you openly.

I would be the last one to cast a shadow on your brows, but I would undeceive you at first, so thay you many begin life with right ideas. Life is real-it is a real and earnest thing. It has homely details, painful passages, and a crown of Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza-

DYSENTERY.

I have resorted to B. O. & G. C. Wilson's Dys entery Syrup, in all kinds of bowel complaints. and it is always sure. One dose is generally a perfect antidote. For Dysentery, one to three may be necessary. In very severe cases, I generally add fifteen to thirty Neuropathic Drops to each dose, which never fails, and my expewe esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the rience is, like that of hundreds of individuals who come to this city on business, and have visited the store of B. O. & G. C. Wilson, under circumstances which rendered a trial of the Syrup necessary, who have been perfectly astonished at the result, and the shortness of the time in which it effected a cure. Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.

Gentlemen : For eight or nine years I have been troubled with a corn of the worst kind ; had it cut out as often as once in from 4 to 10 weeks, and still continued very lame. February 9th, 1857, I noticed that your Neuropathic Drops were used for corns. I applied the Drops, night and morning, rubbing them on with my fingers which cured so many and such dangerous cases as for 10 or 15 minutes each time, for each time, his. Some no human aid can reach; but even to for two weeks, which so effectually cured it that it has given me no trouble since.
