THE LOVE OF JESUS.

Where shall I begin my theme?
Where shall my growing numbers roll?
I'm lost in wonder when I view
The love of Jesus to my soul.

Agnes before the hills were laid—
Before the earth received its name,
Jesus did love this soul of mine,
And now his love is still the same.

When all the world was sunk in woe,
And none was found to help or save,
Jesus did pity—and for us
His precious life he freely gave.

When the atoning work was done,
And he had risen from the dead,
He kindly sojourned with his friends,
And marked the paths for them to tread.

And when at last the hour had come,
And he must to his Father rise,
Sorrowing ones came round their Lord,
While tears of sadness filled their eyes.

But Jesus said—"be not disturbed,
A little while I go away,
On earth to you I'll comfort give,
With me in Heaven you'll ever stay."

And tho' he reigns in glory now,
And angels bow before him there,
He loves us still—and still he hears
The accents of my feeble prayer.

Tho' swelling songs of Cherubim
Enter his all-gracious ear,
Tho' glorious host, he'll not forget
He was the "man of sorrows" here.

Not e'en a sparrow droops and dies,
Without the notice of his eye,
O, never then he'll disregard
His humble children when they cry.

Their tears are precious in his sight;
Their hoary hairs he numbers yet,
And when his jewels he collects,
His faithful saints he'll not forget.

Do clouds of darkness gather round?
Do friends forsake and foes combine?
"Fear not,"—he says—"believe my word,
Tho' art thy Lord's and he is thine."

Tho' trials do my strength assail,
And Satan would my soul devour,
He sympathizes with me still,
For he has felt the Tempter's power.

Does wounded love my bosom swell,
Deceived by those who've early fled?
He feels for me, who was betrayed
By those that shared his daily bread.

Do vexing thoughts arise within,
And all my faith and patience try?
His tender hand both soothes and dries
The throbbing heart—the streaming eye.

Does death approach, and, with a stroke,
Smite down the friend I held so dear?
Jesus does pity—for he wept
And his throbbing accents hear.

And now, my Saviour, when I've done
With every struggle but the last,
Be near my dying bed—until
The bitterness of death is past.

Lord, ease the pain—far thou hast died—
And wipe the latest tear away,
Thy rod and staff bring me to view,
Then point to realms of cloudless day.

Fredericton, January, 28, 1859. G. E. D.

Family Circle.

I HAVE FOUR TEXTS.

Many little girls learn verses in the Sabbath school and forget them again in a few days. But little Bella mentioned in the ensuing anecdote, made use of her verses to better purpose. We hope our S. S. readers will think her example a good one to imitate.

"Mamma," said Bella, a little girl of six years old, one evening, to her mother, "I have four texts, one for the morning, and one for the middle of the day, and one for the evening, and one for when I go to bed. Shall I say them to you?"

"Do my love," replied her mother, "My morning one," said Bella, "is 'Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners'; and my middle of the day one is 'Come unto Me, all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest'; and my evening one is, 'Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out'; and my one for when I go to bed is, 'God is love.'"

"And very good and appropriate I think they are," said her mother; "for when you say in the morning, Jesus Christ came to save sinners, you may think—well I am a sinner, so He came to save me; how I should love him for that! and how I must try to obey Him all day;—then, by the middle of the day, perhaps you have been naughty, and feel sorry for it, or something may have vexed you, and then how sweetly that verse comes into your mind, 'Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest'; and in the evening, however naughty or foolish you may have been, you can still remember the promise, 'Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out'; and at night, when I go to bed, I will remember all these things, and I will say, 'God is love.'"

"Yes mamma," answered Bella, eagerly. "That's it! when I say my morning text, and think, Jesus came to save me, I will love him and try to obey Him; and in the middle of the day I will say, 'Come unto Me, and I will go to Jesus and ask Him to wash me in his blood, and then I will feel Him taking me in his arms, and I will say, I will do anything mamma wants me to do and I will be good.' And in the evening, when I say, 'Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out,' I will think Jesus won't say Go away! I want a better little girl than you! and at night, when I go to bed, I will remember all these things, and I will say, 'God is love.'"

EFFECTS OF TOBACCO.

Both smoking and chewing produce marked alterations in the most expressive features of the face. The lips are closed by a circular muscle, which completely surrounds them and forms their pulpy fulness. Now, every muscle of the body is developed in precise ratio with its use, as most young men know—they endeavor to develop and increase their muscle in the gymnasium. In spitting and holding the cigar in the mouth, this muscle is in constant use; hence the coarse appearance and irregular development of the lips, when compared to the rest of the features, in chewers and smokers. The eye loses its natural fire, and becomes dull and lurid; it is unresponsive and unappreciative; it answers not before the world; its owner gazes vacantly, and often repels conversation by his stupidity.—Scapell.

INGENUITY OF LOVE.

It was the fate of the father of Lamartine the living French poet and orator, to be mixed up with the first French revolution. During that stormy period he, with a great number of his compatriots, were immured in prison at Macon. He was not long there before his wife, and her child, took lodgings opposite the window of the cell which enclosed the republican. She soon drew his attention to herself and his child, which though he could not speak for her fear of the sentinel, reconciled him in some measure to his captivity, and lessened the burden of his woes.

My mother, says Lamartine, "carried me every day in a arms to the garret window, showed me to my father, gave me nourishment before him, made me stretch out my little hands towards the bars of his prison, then pressing my forehead to her breast, she almost devoured me with kisses in the sight of the prisoner, and seemed thus to waft him mentally all the cares which she availed on me."

At last she hit on the happy expedient of conveying him letters in the following manner:

She procured a bow and some arrows, and tying a letter to a thread, she shot the arrow to which was attached the other end of the thread, into the window of the prisoner's cell. In this way she sent him pens, ink and paper. He then, by the same ingenious expedient, sent love letters to her. Thus the separated husband and wife were enabled to correspond, to cheer each other's hopes, and sustain each other in their misfortunes. This was all done at night time, when the scrutinizing eyes of the sentinels remained in happy ignorance of the medium of communication.

Success having inspired courage, the lady with the assistance of the arrow and thread, after having conveyed a file to the captive, with which he silently filed through one of the bars of his prison, and then restored it to its place. On the next evening when there was no moonlight, a stout cord was firmly, fastened on the one end to a beam in the garret of the lady, and the other end to the bars of the cell; then, summoning up all his courage, the prisoner glided along the rope, above the heads of the sentinels; he crossed the street, and found himself in the arms of his wife and beside the cradle of his child.

Such an adventure required the hero's courage and philosopher's caution, and none but those who were personally interested in it, can ever imagine the feelings that must have agitated their hearts! From time to time, when the night was dark, the knotted cord would glide from window to window, and the prisoner would pass from knot to knot, and enjoy delightful hours of converse with her whom he loved best on earth.

"UNSER VATER."

The following incident, touching illustrating the influence of a pious mother, was related by the Rev. J. Miller, in an address before the Philadelphia Sabbath Association—

A little German boy, soliciting a Testament, and being asked if he could read English, answered, "Not much; but if you give me one, I learn." The missionary replied, "I will give you one, if you will learn the Lord's prayer so as to repeat it." He said, "Vell, I tries." He received the book, and began to study the verses marked. Soon a peculiar expression of interest passing over his countenance was seen, and he spoke out: "Minister, minister, I know tem all in Dutch! My mutter learns me tem before she ties!" Being requested to say them, he hesitated at first, and then, in the most solemn and earnest manner, with hands clasped and eyes closed; he said, "Unser Vater in dem himmel," &c. The following is a literal translation of what he said of his mother to the missionary: "She talked to me of God, and of heaven, and of angels. She taught me to pray a short prayer every night, and then she prayed a long one herself; and the last thing she said to me before she died on the big, big sea, as we came from Germany, was, Lewis, my son, be a good boy! and O, never forget to pray, so that you can come and meet me where I am now going!" They frequently met afterwards, and together conversed in the German language, of heaven and that dear mother. It was very grateful to the boy's feelings to do this. Her impress was fixed deeply upon his young heart; and it is devoutly hoped that her prayers will be answered, and that they will be permitted finally to meet on Mount Zion above, "with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads."

A SUPERIOR AND GENUINE VEGETABLE COUGH CANDY. H. Y. MACER'S Vegetable COT ? CANDY. For curing Coughs, Colds, Croup, Irritation of the Throat, Asthma, and is particularly adapted to relieve the Whooping Cough, and all it is a trial, doing to Consumption.

There has been much notice taken of late of the efficacy for clearing the Voice is truly astonishing! The reason is, that this Candy is made of the finest of the most valuable ingredients, and is so prepared that it will cure the most obstinate Coughs, Colds, Croup, Irritation of the Throat, Asthma, and is particularly adapted to relieve the Whooping Cough, and all it is a trial, doing to Consumption.

Good Medicines. There have been many who have said that they do not care for such a thing, but when they have tried it, they have found it to be a most valuable remedy for all the above mentioned ailments, and it is so prepared that it will cure the most obstinate Coughs, Colds, Croup, Irritation of the Throat, Asthma, and is particularly adapted to relieve the Whooping Cough, and all it is a trial, doing to Consumption.

Do not the poor suffer daily? Is it true that they are to be left to die? No, no, no! The proprietor of the Vegetable Cough Candy has undertaken this duty by inventing a Medicine compounded of twenty-nine different ingredients, and is so prepared that it will cure the most obstinate Coughs, Colds, Croup, Irritation of the Throat, Asthma, and is particularly adapted to relieve the Whooping Cough, and all it is a trial, doing to Consumption.

The numerous ingredients composing this Candy have been recommended by many physicians of eminence, some of whom are among the most celebrated in the United States. The pleasantness of this medicine gives it an advantage over others, while its efficacy is such as to induce a persuasion to induce children to use it.

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1857, by JOHN H. BROWN, Chemist, Boston, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Dist. of Mass.

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1857, by JOHN H. BROWN, Chemist, Boston, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Dist. of Mass. The great and sudden changes of our climate, are fruitful sources of pulmonary and bronchial affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stage of disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, for the Cough or Irritation of the Throat, ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off.

Brown's Bronchial Troches. Cures Cough, Cold, Hoarseness and Influenza. Cures any Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Relieves the Hoarseness and Croup in Consumption. Relieves Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Croup, and gives strength to the voice of Singers. Indispensable to Public Speakers.

Brown's Bronchial Troches. [From Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who has used the Troches five years.] "I have never changed my mind respecting them from the first, except to think yet better of that which I began in thinking well of." "In all my lecturing tours, I put 'Troches into my carpet bag as regularly as I do lectures or linen. I do not hesitate to say that in as far as I have had an opportunity of comparison, your Troches are pre-eminently the best, and the first of the great Lozenge School."

Brown's Bronchial Troches. [From Rev. E. H. Chapin, D. D., New York.] "I consider your Lozenges an excellent article for relief and cure of all the affections of the Throat and Lungs, and recommend their use to Public Speakers."

Brown's Bronchial Troches. [From Mr. C. H. Gardner, Principal of the Rutgers Female Institute, New York.] "I have been afflicted with Bronchitis during the past winter, and found relief until I found your Troches, which I consider the best, and the first of the great Lozenge School."

Brown's Bronchial Troches. For Children laboring from Cough, Whooping Cough, or Hoarseness, are particularly adapted, on account of their soothing and demulcent properties. Assisting expectoration, and preventing an accumulation of phlegm. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents per box. Jan. 26—4w.

KING'S EVIL CURED!

MR. JOHN DENTON residing at Little River, has been severely afflicted with the King's Evil for Fourteen Months. He says that the remedies usually applied to this disease failed to give relief, and that having heard of Dr. Leary's Anglo Saxon Medicines, he purchased a supply, and in the month they had performed a most wonderful cure. [If any person wishing to be fully informed regarding the cure can obtain all the particulars on application to Mr. Denton, who wishes all who may be similarly affected to give the Anglo Saxon Medicines a trial.]

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia Cured. Mr. Christopher Vail of Belisle, King's County, New Brunswick, writes to Dr. Leary and says, that he had been troubled with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia for 3 years which produced great General Debility and loss of flesh; he was reduced to a mere skeleton so that last January he weighed only 75 pounds! By the advice of his neighbours he was induced to purchase some of Dr. Leary's Anglo Saxon Medicines, which in one month produced a most salutary effect, as in March he had increased in weight to 122 pounds, and by continuing the use of these medicines on the 10th August he weighed 146 pounds.

He says that his neighbours who were aware of his weakness consider it a most wonderful cure and believe that the Anglo Saxon Medicines (under God's providence) have been the means of bringing the nearly dead to life.
