

Porty.

TO A CHILD.

Whom imp art thou, with dimpled cheek,
And curly pate, and merry eye,
And arm and shoulder, round and sleek,
And soft and fair?—thou art a child.
What boots it who with sweet caresses
First called thee his?—or a wife or hind?
Since thou, in every right that passes,
Dost now a friendly playmate find?
Thy downcast glances, grave, but cunning,
As fringed eyelids rise and fall,
Thy shyness, swiftly from me running,
Is infantine, coquetry all.
But for a field thou hast not flown;
With moccasins and threats, half-heped, half-spoken,
I feel thee pulling at my gown,
O right good-will thy simple token.
And thou must laugh and wrestle, too,
A mimic warfare with me raging;
To make, as wily lovers do,
Thy after kindness more engaging.
The wilding rose, sweet as thyself,
And new-dropt daisies, are thy treasure;
I'd gladly part with worldly pelf,
To taste again thy youthful pleasure.
But yet, for all thy merry looks,
Thy frisks and wiles, the time is coming
When thou shalt sit in cheerless nook,
The weary spell, or horn-bow thumping.
Well! let it be!—through weal or woe,
Thou know'st not now thy future range;
Life is a motley, shifting scene,
And thou a thing of hope and change.

REMEMBER THE LITTLE ONES.

"Mother, I wish Mr. C— would preach here all the time. I don't like to have Mr. P— come."
"Not like Mr. P—, my son? I thought everybody liked him; he is an excellent man. Why do you dislike him?"
"Why, mother, when he preached here last, he stayed here all the time from Saturday to Monday, and I was just as still as I could be, and he did not speak to me, or look at me once; but Mr. C— always puts his hand on my head when he comes, and he says, 'How does Charlie do today?' just as though he loved me."
I have a choice rose-bush in my garden, presented by a dear friend. This year it had but few buds, and my little ones could only have one rose each.
"I will save mine," said little Carrie, "and carry to my teacher. Do you think she ever saw such a beautiful tea-rose?"
Day after day she watched her little bud, till it was half-opened, and then it was plucked in the morning early, all fresh and dewy, and placed in water ready for school-time.
When she returned from school, a cloud rested upon her usually sunny face; and, upon inquiring its cause, she cried as though her little heart would break.
"You know my beautiful little rose. Well, I suppose the teacher didn't want it. She had a whole vase full of flowers; but none of them half so sweet as that; and when I carried it to her, she just laid it upon her desk, and didn't look at it once, and said, 'Take your seat, Carrie.'"
How easy to have said, "Thank you, Carrie," and smiled upon the child, and filled her little heart with grateful love, instead of grief.
Remember the little ones.

WINTER CARES AND JOYS.

The winter is gradually increasing in severity, and now the bitterness of January calls forth souvenirs from the oldest inhabitant, comparisons from the meteorologists, and wise comments and queer chips from those about town philosophers, the "locals." Such being the case, it will do no harm if those of our readers, who know what is for their benefit, would go resolutely to work and see to sundry minor matters which are very conducive to comfort in the times of short days.
In the first place, every house should be not only thoroughly warmed, but as perfectly ventilated as possible. To shiver in damp weather is deadly; to sit in the same close-heated air for hours, is the best possible preparation for catching cold. It is not merely the transit from hot to cold which injures; it is the exchange of dry foul air for fresh, which suddenly affects the pores and has a marked action on the organs of respiration. At the same time, constant draughts of cold air from windows and doors are even worse in their effects. The first care of the house-keeper should be to see that every door is made tight at the edges, which will prove a great economy in fuel; the second to see that the room is aired at regular intervals, and that where possible, a ventilator or chimney is provided, so that there may be an exit for heated air without endangering health.
Another fact well worth remembering in this weather, is that when the first premonitions of cold are felt, the best way to prevent it is to exercise vigorously until perspiration is induced, when the sufferer should keep up the warmth by full clothing or by going to bed. No whiskey punches, or warm baths, or hot water and mustard for the feet, can be compared to the glow which a general stretching out of the muscles induces. If fairly caught, the cold must be endured, but it is always modified by a soothing excess of cold.

As a mere matter of health, economy and comfort, home-pleasures and evening amusements in the home circle should be carefully cultivated during the winter. There is less of this in our country, domestic as we are, than there should be. An ingenious mind and an obliging disposition find it easy to prepare or suggest a thousand minor matters conducive to pleasure and rational instruction. Now is the time for forming reading classes, in which comment and question elicit or impart information, and awaken an interest in general knowledge. Now is the time for young gentlemen and ladies, desirous of learning French, to form classes, and acquire knowledge in the pleasantest manner, and now all manner of fancy labor, from leather work to polichonisms, may occupy the fingers and minds of those constructively inclined.

Winter is no bad season, when due precautions are taken to secure health and comfort, and when we can be content with domestic and rational pleasure.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

SKILL IN EVERYTHING.

Mr. A. is a farmer, and nothing else. If a strap breaks in a harness, he sends two miles to get it mended. If a horse's leg is bruised, he will not treat it himself, but sends for a farrier. His bee-hives need repairing, and he hires a carpenter, to do what a very little skill would enable him to do for himself. He cannot even make an old shed, or repair a broken-backed rack, without foreign aid. He is a farmer. He keeps his implements in good condition, too, but it is at great expense.

Mr. B. is another sort of a man. He is as good a farmer as Mr. A.; but he is limber and elastic too. All the little jobs about the house he does himself, or teaches his boys to do. He can dig a house; he can hoop a barrel, or he can reef and wall a well. He can build a shed, put a spoke into a wagon wheel, graft or bud a fruit-tree, or make a new harness out of an old one, with an awl, a waxed end, and a bit of leather. If he attends a fair, he sees the point in the improvements of an old exhibition, and he can apply many of them to his own work without further aid.

We will go but a little further. Our readers will see what we are at. We hope they will themselves be, and bring up their sons to be, men who will have some skill in every thing.

Here are some reasons for this recommendation, which we will give at the risk of making this article a little longer.

1. Almost every farmer will need this kind of skill. Not one in a thousand will live so near a village where are skillful mechanics, as to be able to use their aid at all times. Fewer still will farm on so large a scale as to embrace all these trades in the force employed on their own grounds. He will need some skill himself.

2. Such skill renders his possessions independent. The sense of such independence is a great comfort. Its exercise is sometimes a great advantage.

3. It saves a great amount of time and money. We know a man who lost a whole day's time and several dollars in money, in the following way: A part of the harness was taken away. He had not enough tact and skill to repair it with a piece of rein or halter.

4. It will develop talent in many persons, where it now slumbers useless and powerless.—The exercise in mechanical skill, furnished by the farm, has awakened the mind of many a youth, who has ripened into a noble, skillful mechanic and artist.

But we have said enough. Give the boys and girls a good chance to cultivate their powers in a practical way. You can never predict what treasures you will find.—Ohio Farmer.

INFLUENCE OF FEMALES.

It is better for you to pass an evening once or twice in a lady's drawing-room, even though the conversation is slow, and you know the girl's song by heart, than in a club, tavern, or the pit of a theatre. All amusement of youth to which virtuous women are not admitted, rely on it, are deleterious in their nature. All men who avoid female society have dull perceptions and are stupid, or have gross tastes, and revolt against what is pure. Your club swaggers, who are sucking the bubs of billiard-rooms all night, call female society insipid. Poetry is insipid to a yokel; beauty has no charms for a blind man; music does not please a poor beast which does not know one tune from another; and as a true epicure is hardly ever tired of water, scenery and brown bread and butter, I protest I can sit for a whole night talking to a well-regulated kindly woman, about her girl coming out, of her boy at Eton, and like the evening's entertainment. One of the great benefits a man may derive from woman's society is, that he is bound to be respectful to them. The habit is of great good to your moral man, depend upon it. Our education makes of us the most eminently selfish men in the world. We fight for ourselves, we push for ourselves, we yearn for ourselves, we fight our pipes and say we won't go out; we prefer ourselves, and our ease; and the greatest good that comes to a man from a woman's society, is that he has to think of somebody to whom he is bound to be constantly attentive and respectful.—Thackeray.

THE LITTLE ONES AT PRAYER.

A little child knelt near the broken lattice. Casting a glance at the sleeping form of her father, she clasped her wan hands, and murmured—

"O God, make father leave his evil ways—make him my own dear father once again! Make mother's sad looks go away, and make her old smile come back; but thy way will be done."

Just then the mother entered the room; and taking her husband by the arm, she said:—

"Hearken to Minnie; she is praying."
"O God, make father love me as once he did; and make him forsake his bad ways!" murmured the little one again.

"O Paul—husband!" cried the mother; "by our past joys and sorrows, by our marriage vows, our wedded love, blight not the life of our little one! O, let us all be happy again!"

The conscience-stricken man bowed his head and wept. Then, clasping his hands, he said:—

"With God's help, you will never be made to sorrow on my account again."
And he kept his vow.—Evangelist.

Change of Name.
THE public are doubtless aware that I have made an improvement in Stove Varnish, and named it BRUNSWICK BLACK VARNISH—this name has been appropriated to a different article by another party, consequently I have determined to change the name of my preparation, which will henceforth be called—

CHALONER'S STOVE VARNISH.
I truly affirm that my Varnish is superior to any other that I know of at present, having subjected them all to fair competition. This Varnish is put up in bottles containing a half pint, at 1s., and is applied with a brush like Paint.

This Varnish is jet black, which will not burn off, though the Polish may be at a red heat. It is cheap, comparatively free from smoke or smell, and all ready to put on, gives a magnificent appearance to Church or Hall Stove Pipes, Franklins, etc. etc.

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION CURED, AFTER ALL OTHER REMEDIES FAILED.
BY THE USE OF THE COMPOUND SARSAPARILLA.

Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.
The following interesting case came under my own observation. A lady, between sixty and seventy years of age, afflicted with general debility, weakness, and pain in the stomach, loss of appetite and great emaciation, applied to me for aid. Her attending physician prohibited cathartics, because she was weak to endure the operation. She had little hope of recovery, and her neighbors said "her work was done." I ordered a teaspoonful of your Compound Sarsaparilla three times a day. On the third day she was entirely relieved, and has continued so six months, during which time her appetite became good, her strength increased, and her bowels became regular. She is now managing her domestic affairs, and nursing a sick husband. I have prescribed it in many other cases, and it has never disappointed me.

I recommended the Neuropathic Drops in a case of nervous prostration, with nausea, flatulence, and internal pains. The patient derived more benefit from it than from all other remedies, recommends it heartily to her neighbors, and is never without it. I have given it in Toothache and other diseases with marked success.

ISAAC SMITH, M. D.
Fenborough Mass., May 27, 1887.

FROM REV. S. S. LEIGHTON.
I have used B. O. & G. C. Wilson's Wild Cherry Balsam in Coughs, Colds, and other Pulmonary Complaints; and three cases have come under my own observation, in which all similar remedies failed, which were completely restored by taking less than one bottle.

It is, in my opinion, an invaluable remedy, happily adapted to remove the diseases for which it is designed.
S. S. LEIGHTON.
West Townsend, Mass.

CASES OF CHOLERA CURED.
Geo. B. Estabrooks came to my house late at night. He was taken ill in the night, with violent cramps, and walked the floor all night, in great distress. When I arose in the morning he was much alarmed about his recovery. I told him I could cure him. I gave him a teaspoonful of Neuropathic Drops, and in ten minutes he was entirely free from pain, and ate a hearty breakfast and went on his journey.

ANOTHER CASE.—Mr. William Wilson was going to a fair at Springfield, and came to my house about midnight, very sick indeed, with violent pains in the right side, the Cholera, and was going to die. He wished to leave his money with me for his family. I gave him a teaspoonful of your Drops, which relieved him. In twenty minutes I gave him another, and about an hour after a third, which entirely cured him, and he went to the fair in the morning.

JOHN HAYES.

DYSENTERY.
I have resorted to B. O. & G. C. Wilson's Dysentery Syrup, in all kinds of bowel complaints, and it is always sure. One dose is generally a perfect antidote. For Dysentery, one to three may be necessary. In very severe cases, I generally add fifteen to thirty Neuropathic Drops to each dose, which never fails, and my experience is, like that of hundreds of individuals who come to this city on business, and have visited the store of B. O. & G. C. Wilson, under circumstances which rendered a trial of the Syrup necessary, who have been perfectly astonished at the result, and the shortness of the time in which it effected a cure. The medicine can't be beat.

THE NEUROPATHIC DROPS WILL CURE
CORNES AND CHILBLAINS.
CHELSEA, June 26th, 1887.

Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.
Gentlemen: For eight or nine years I have been troubled with a corn of the worst kind; I had it cut out as often as once in four to five weeks, and still continued very lame. February 9th, 1887, I noticed that your Neuropathic Drops were used for corns. I applied the Drops, night and morning, rubbing them on with my fingers for 10 or 15 minutes each time, for each time, for two weeks, which so effectually cured it that it has given me no trouble since.

E. L. MERRIAM.
Saint John, N. B.
July 30, 1887.

Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.—I beg to state that from personal knowledge of some of your Botanic Medicines, I believe them to be of a superior character. During the existence of the Cholera in this City, in the summer of 1855, I was called, as a minister, to visit a woman said to be dying with that dreadful disease. She had been attended by physicians during the night, and was left by three, only a few minutes before I entered, to die. Seeing her condition, from what I had before witnessed, I believe there were hopes. I immediately commenced administering doses of your Neuropathic Drops and Dysentery Syrup, and ordered them continued at short intervals. In about six hours she was much better, and in about six hours more she fully recovered. Other cases nearly similar, of which I had personal knowledge, occurred during the existence of the Cholera in this City, by the use of your Drops.

E. MCLEOD.
The above Medicines although here serviceable in Cholera, are no less useful in Diarrhea Dysentery &c. and have worked a cure when all other means have failed.

Messrs B. O. & G. C. Wilson.
I have found the Dysentery Syrup and Neuropathic Drops when taken together an invaluable remedy for Diarrhea & Dysentery, and I consider them Medicines that every Family should keep themselves supplied with.

RADWAY'S REGULATING PILLS.
(No. 3.)
R. L. RADWAY & CO. have recently discovered a method for extracting from roots, herbs, plants and gums, a nutritious extract of such wonderful nourishing power—which they have combined with Radway's Regulating Pills—that six of these pills will supply the blood with the same amount of nutrition as one ounce of ordinary bread; so that, while the system is undergoing a thorough physical, and regulating process, it daily becomes strengthened.

Persons afflicted with LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, Heart Diseases, Fullness of Blood, and all Females who are subject to Irregularities, ysteria, &c., are particularly recommended to use these Pills. They are pleasant to take—easily coated with gum—free from taste, and will not gripe, sicken or weaken the system, or leave the bowels costive. Mothers nursing should likewise take one or two of these Pills once or twice per week. They will not only keep your system healthy and regular, but will protect your infants against Cramp and Pains in the stomach, and insure not only a healthy child, but will invest every child, thus suckled, with a sweet disposition.
