A private letter from on board the steamer Richmond, which took part in the fight at Fort Pickens, dated November 23, states that that vessel commenced bombarding Fort McRae at 10 o'clock, November 22. The writer states that he had been complimenting the captain of one of the guns on the accuracy of his aim, when a shell bounced through the bulwarks, took his head off, and wounded six men. This shell on exploding raised the ship out of water and made her reel like a drunken man. Another shell burst six feet below the water line. ther shell burst six feet below the water line, causing a bad leak, but the steam pumps kept the vessel free. The firing was continued all day, and was resumed by the enemy next morning, when we moved out of his range. The Niagara still kept at them, but being out side of the bar she cannot be much injured. Fort Pickens had up to that date lost but one with our smooth bore guis, as they are no match for the enemy's rifle cannon. The bombardment was to be renewed the next day (234), with a determination to whip or be whip-

Even if the President should be disposed to yield to the just demands of England, we doubt if he would be allowed to do so. The despotism of the mob, the frantic and unreasonable action of the multitude, govern everything in the Federal States, and prevent all possibility of the Government doing what is right, and just, and honorable. The schr. Ellen 2'986 tons from Cornwallis, inward bound, with a cargo of deals and potatoes, capsized off the Bell Buoy. The origin of the accident, the Captain upposes, was owing to the canvas covering of the hatch being chafe'l away by a chain that the water began gradually to get in, and of course the more the schooner pitched and rolled the more water got into her, until she waterlogged, and then capsized. She was running under a double-reefed foresail at the time. When the vessel capsized, the crew clung to her, being all the time in a most perilous situation, until they were taken off by Mr. B. Dougherty's boot from the Island. As soon as the alarm was given, the Carleton life boat was manned by Messrs. George Stackhouse Joseph Mulherran, G. Sprague, R. G. Trying C. Shamper, J. This aged Father expe. rienced religion at the time of the great revival at Hillsborough, nearly 40 years ago, was baptized by the late Father Crandal, and united with the Baptist church of which he continued coasistant member until his death. He was for several years before his death afflicted with the Palsy, and as he increased in years, the disease continued to prey upon his constitution. so that during the last year of his life it at times affected his reason. Yet in his affliction his faith was strong in God, and from time to time when his friends conversed with him, he expressed his firm hope in the grace of God to carry him safely through. When his journey was ended he fell asleep without a struggle.

He was interred on the 24th ult. near his wn residence in the Dawson Settlement, beside his aged father, who died several years since. The occasion was improved by a sermon to a solemn congregation from the words: ' Mark the perfect man and behold the upright for the end of that man is peace." THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE. New Volume:

the seventh of September, 1861, The New York Weekly Tribune commenced the twenty-first year of its existence; The Daily Tribune being some months older and the Semi-weekly Tribune somewhat younger. For more than twenty-years, this journal has labored in what its conductors have felt to be the cause of Humanity, Justine and Francisco tice, and Freedom, endeavoring to meliorate the condition of the oppressed and unfortunate, to honor and encourage useful exertion in whatever sphere and, to promote by all means the moral, intellec-tual and material advancement of our country. It has aimed to be right rather than popular, and to espouse and command to-day the truth that others may not be willing to accept to-morrow. In pursuing this course, mistakes have doubtless been made and faults committed; but, having in all things incited our renders to think and judge for themselves rather than adopt blindly our own or thers' conclusions, we believe we may fairly clain or this journal the credit of having qualified its readers to detect and expose even its own errors. To develop the minds of the young by the most general, thorough and practical Education, and to encourage and stimulate Productive Industry, through free grants of Public Lands to actual settlers and cultivators, as also through the protection of immature or peculiarly exposed branch-es from too powerful foreign competition, are among the aims to which this journal has adhered through good and evil report, and which it steadfastly com

Ac to the Civil War now devastating our country, we hold it to have originated in a Rebellion nore wanton, wieked, inexcusable, than was ever pefore known—a Rebellion in the interest of the ew against many—a Rebellion designed to raise nigher the walls of caste and tighten the chains of oppression. Having done all we could without a surrender of vital principle to avoid this War, and having witnessed the forbearance, meckness and long-suffering with which the Federal Government sought to avert its horrors, we hold it our clear duty, with that of every other citizen, to stand by tion by our forces; the inhabitauts were the nation and its fairly chosen rulers, and to se-cond with all our energies their efforts to uphold the Union, the Constitution, and the supremacy of the Laws. And, though the Rebellion has become, through unsurpation, decession, terrorism, and spoliation, fearfully strong, we believe the American Republic far stronger, and that the unanimous, earnest efforts of loyal hearts and hands will insure its overthrow. But on all questions affecting the objects, the scope, and duration of this most ex traordinary contest, we defer to those whom the American People have clothed with authority, holdng unity of purpose and of action indispensable in grave an emergency. In a crisis like the present, our columns must be argely engrossed with the current history of the War for the Union, and with elucidations of its more striking incidents. We shall not, however remit that attention to Literature, to Foreign Affairs, to Agricultural Progress, to Crops, Markets. Tribune an honorable position among its contem-TRIBUNE an honorable position among its contemporaries. Our main object is and shall be to produce a comprehensive newspaper, from which careful reader may glean a vivid and faithful history of the times, not merely in the domain of Acn but in that of Opinion also. As our facilities for acquiring information increase with years, we trust that an improvement in the contents of our nal is perceptible, and that, in the variety and hiess of intelligence afforded, we may still hope " make each day a critic on the last." In this ope, we solicita continuance of the generous mea sure of patronage hitherto accorded to our journal TERMS.
