indisputably that the News is wrong. Our contemporary having, himself, exemplified in the article alluded to, how easy it is to make mistakes, of the most exaggerated and offensive character even, will, we trust, do us justice by exonerating us from the charge of falsehood, "in order to place the Hon. Mr. TILLEY in a false position," which he has preferred against us.

THE NEWS.

UNITED STATES. BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATE A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the laws of the United States hav been for some time past and now are opposed and the execution thereof obstructed in the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, by a combination too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceeedings, or by the powers vested in Marshals by the law, -now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln President of the United States, in virtue of the power vested in me by the Constitution and the laws, have thought fit to call forth, and hereby do call forth the militia of the several States of the Union, to the aggregate number of seventy-five thousand, in order to suppress said combinations and to cause the laws to be duly executed.

The details of this object will be immediate ly communicated to the State authorities through the War Department. I appeal to all loyal citizens to favor, facilitate and aid this effort to maintain the honor, integrity and the existence of our National Union and the perpetuity of popular government, and to redress the wrongs already long enough endured. I deem it proper to say that the first service assigned to the forces hereby called forth, will probably be to repossess the forts, places and property which have been seized from the Union, and in every event the utmost care will be observed, conistently with the objects aforesaid, to avoid any devastation, any destruction of or interference with property, or any disturbance of peaceful citizens in any part of the country. I hereby command the persons composing the combinations aforesaid, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective city, and a boat is on the way to Fort Sumter. abodes within twenty days from this date.

Deeming that the present condition of public affairs presents an extraordinary occasion. I do hereby, in virtue of the power in me vested by the Constitution, convene both Houses of Con, gress. Senators and Representatives are therefore summoned to assemble at their respective chambers at 120'clock, Thursday, noon, the fourth day of July next, and there to consider and determine such measures as in their wisdom the public safety and interest may seem to demand In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States

Done at the City of Washington, this fifteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord 1861, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-fifth. ABRAHAM LINCOLN. (Signed)

By the President: WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

The assault on Fort Sumter was renewed early on Saturday morning, and continued with vigor by the rebels, until half-past one o'clock in the afternoon, when, yielding to circumstances, Major Anderson surrendered unconditionally to the revolutionists. Three of the vessels sent out by President Lincoln to succor him were in sight but unable to render any assistance. The capture of the fort was the cause of universal rejoicing in the seceded States; we do not learn what effect it produced in the non-seceded slave States; but in the free States, so far as we have heard, much excitement prevails, and universal indignation and demand for revenge. Gov. Sprague, the anti-Republican Governor of Rhode Island, who has hitherto been silent upon the question of coercion, is the first to offer men to the Government, and places himself at the head of his troops. This example will be followed by the Governors of Maine, Massachusetts, and other New England States, no doubt; but it is quite likely the President will accept first, the assistance that is proffered to him by Gov. Morgan of New York, and Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania, and other States near the seat of Government. We learn from Washington that the Cabinet is determined to push matters, and Mr. Lincoln has issued a proclamation calling for seventy-five thousand men.

Congress is also summoned to meet on the fourth of July next, in extra session. In the President's answer to the Virginia Commission ers, it is plainly intimated that a vigorous war policy has been determined upon, and that nothing but submission at the South will secure peace in the country. But the despatches from Montgomery give very little encouragement that the seceders will submit. Their seizure of a United States agent is another act of war upon the American government, which will call for action in a new quarter.

We have deemed it of importance, says the Boston Courier of Monday last, to furnish a connected history of this rebellion in the South The sketch is long, but covers every important point from the time of the secession of South Carolina down to the surrender of Fort Sumter on Saturday last. It will be seen in this history that the first act of war was done by the rebels and that Fort Moultrie opened the campaign of CHARLESTON. April 14.—Hostilities have for the esent ceased, and victory belongs to South Carolina. With the display of a flag of truce from the ramparts of Fort Sumter at half-past one o'clock the firing ceased, and an unconditional surrender was made.

The South Carolinians had no idea that the fight would end so soon. After Major Anderson's flag-staff was shot away, Col. Wigfall, one of Gen. Beauregard's aids, went to Fort Sumter with a white flag, to offer assistance in extinguishing the flames. He approached the burning fortress from Morris Island, while the firing was raging from all sides, and effected a landing at Fort Sumter.

He approached a port hole and was met by Major Anderson. The latter said he had displayed a white flag, but the firing from the South Carolina batteries was kept up nevertheless. Col. Wigfall replied that Major Anderson must haul down the American flag : that no parley would be granted, and that "surrender or fight" was the word. Major Anderson then hauled down the American flag, and displayed only a flag of truce. All firing instantly

CAPTURE OF A UNITED STATES NAVAL OFFICER. MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 13.-Major Chambers of the Alabama army, has arrived here from Pensacola, bringing Liout. Reed Werden, of the Federal Navy, as a prisoner of war. He was bearer of despatches to Fort Pickens and the Federal fleet off Pensacola bar. He is held by the Secretary of War, who sent a detatchment to arrest hin.

MONTGOMERY, April 13,-Despatches from Gov. Pickens to the Secretary of War here were read by the Clerk of the War Department from the Executive buildings, in the presence of Jefferson Davis and his cabinet Seven guns were fired in honor of the victory, and there is great rejoicing in all circles.

MONTGOMERY, April 13. P. M. Lieut. Werden is held as a prisoner of war in this city. He has been compelled to give up to the Secretary of War his despatches from Lieut. Slemmer to the Government at Washington. The Attorney General's opinion is lested as to the law in his case. He violated his promise to report to Gen. Bragg, and arried in secret despatches to Fort Pickens, showing to Gen. Bragg other despatches, and failing to report himself on his return.

SCARCITY .- The Cape Breton, News says :-There is we regret to learn, a great scarcity of hay, and other fodder for cattle, throughout the country—compelling many farmers, in order to preserve their stock alive, to feed out their seed and grain and potatoes. Such a state of things is a deplorable feature in our Agricultural economy, and is mainly attributed to the persistence of our farmers in keeping over winter too large a stock, especially of horses. It is discouraging enough, at all times, to find Agriculturists obliged to purchase provisions for their families, between seed time and harvest; but to know that the seed intended for the ground is being consumed by cattle as feed, is lamentable in the extreme-more particularly where a renewal of the apply is doubtful. Such a condition of affairs-which is at present, alas! too general, leaves us without hope for the future, and which, ruinous in its immediate effects, will retard the general prosperity and progress of the country for years to come.

HUNGRY CATTLE!-There is a pinching searcity of hav in the out-settlements. Never did icebound mariners in the polar seas more ardently long for the return of warm weather, than do the farmers just now.—Bridgetown Register.
