The Government of Canada, last winter, sent Mr. Quinn, the Supervisor of Cullers—that is, the Chief of the Surveyors of timber-on a visit to Europe, and his report has just been published by the Crown Land Department, in a pamphlet of 50 pages. It appears that Mr. Quinn, after vi siting the ports in England which are most largely interested in the timber trade with Canada, and confering with their several Chambers of Commerce upon matters of detail connected with that trade, proceeded to the continent, furnished with letters of introduction which smoothed his way effectually. Mr. Quinn states as his opinion, that there is an opening for considerable trade, at all the ports he visited. The rates of freight from the Baltic to the Northern ports of France, are of course lower than those from the St. Lawrence; and the cost of manufacturing lumber in Russia, Prussia, Sweden and Norway is much less than in Canada, owing to the cheapness of labour, -yet there are many descriptions of lumber produced in Canada, which cannot be had in the North of Europe at all. Among the kinds particularly wanted, Mr. Quinn specifies yellow pine, long and large red pine, rock elm, tamarack, oak, ash &c.

As the immediate consequence of Mr. Quinn's visit to Europe, cargoes of lumber have already been ordered and despacthed from Quebec, to Bremen in Germany-to Antwerp in Belgiumto Dieppe, Havre, Honfle, ur Nantez, Bourdeau. Diette, Marseilles, and Toulon, in France. Mr. Quinn states it as his sincere conviction, that these are only the introduction to an extended trade with the countries named, and it is announced that mercantile houses in Quebec are making great preparations for pushing an extensive trade with France next year.

Alluding to this subject, the Quebec Chronicle of last Monday has the following observations on the wholesale destruction of the forests of Cana-

"We cannot take leave of this subject without again lifting up our voice, to protest in the name of common sense, against the wholesale waste of our forest wealth which is constantly going on.— Settlement is made to be, though it ought not to be, synonymous with the destruction of valuable timber. We have seen acres upon acres of what were once fine pineries converted into black barrens, where the charred trunks remain. and will remain, erect for years, to show how careless of their interests the first backwoods men were. We have seen fine black walnut trees. worth any money to the cabinet makers even now, burned on a common brush heap. The magnificent oaks that once adorned the Western country, which might all have been manufactured into the best of staves, have mostly disappeared before the axe, and nothing so good as potash has been manufactured from their ashes. At this rate, our forest wealth, which now swells in export tables to nearly as high a figure as the produce of our fields, will soon be exhausted .-Twenty more years, and it will have dwindled to very little. Fifty, and we shall think rather of planting our forests afresh, than of preserving them. It is only by the newspapers referring to of our people can be brought about. We beg of our contemporaries, therefore, to take the sub-ject up, and teach the people no longer to regard treesas their natural enemies."

The forests of New Brunswick are also being wasted and require measures for their preservation; but meantime, we would call the attention of our leading timber merchants to those new markets in France, Belgium, and Germany, with the view of ascertaining whether they cannot be made available for some of the products of our own mills and forests.

TRAGIC AND FATAL OCCURRENCE.—We learn from the Colonial Presbyterian that a young man named Reddy, belonging to the parish of Port-land, was killed in a quarrel by another young man named Breen, at St. Stephen, on Monday evening last. Breen had escaped to the Ameri-can side of the lines. The Presbyterian says:—

"The verdict arrived at by the Coroner's inquest, was to the effect that " the deceased came to his death in consequence of blows from a whip, which were inflicted on him by Roderick Breen." The immediate cause of death was concussion on the brain, producing a certain amount of congestion. There was no fracture of the skull.

The sad occurrence has cast a gloom upon a quiet neighbourhoad, quite unused to the commission of such crimes. It is said that a letter was found on the person of the deceased, requesting him to come and see his mother, who was said to be unwell.

The young man Breen, who inflicted the fatal blows, is well known to us, and a more sober, obliging, and correct young man is not in the whole community. We have often been indebted to his and his brother's very obliging good offices. Until this occurrence took place, we had never heard even of his being passionate. No never heard even of his being passionate. No idea is entertained by any one that Breen intended to kill the deceased. In a moment of irritation and passion he inflicted the fatal blows. We need not point the moral of this sad occur-

RAILWAY ACCIDENT .- We are sorry to state that an accident attended with loss of life, occurred on the Railway between Canterbury and Eel River, on Tuesday evening. One of the Eel River, on Tuesday evening. One of the Engines employed on this section while bringing a train of wagons to the place where they were to be unloaded was run into by another Engine which had been employed in ballasting, but which was two miles away from the place where it should have been at work. On the engine were Mr. M. Jack, conductor of the ballast train, and some other persons several of whom were young women. The cause of this engine being so far out of her proper district is not at present clearly explained. One man and a boy were killed, and several persons injured, but it is believed not seriously.—St. Andrew's Standard.

DEATH BY DROWNING.—On the 29th Oct. at Lewis'Cove, Washdemoiac Lake, Mr. George son of A. B. McDonald, and brother of Rev. A. B. McDonald, was sculling a raft for the use of a boat in progress of erection, and by some means fell off. He cried for help, but before a boat could reach him he sank in deep water. This happened about four o'clock, search was immediately made, but his body was not found until until about 12 o.clock. Deceased has left a widow, one child, father and mother, five brothers and one sister to mourn their sad beteather. This painful event has spread a cloud of gloom over the whole community.—

The departed was generally respected for his a boat could reach him he sank in deep water. The departed was generally respected for his kindly disposition, and as a young man of much promise. He had never publicly professed faith, but his experience and life was such as to make the impression upon those who best knew him, that death to him was gain. The writer improved the solemn visitation from Rom. 8 ch. 28 v. to a crowded congregation. May we all learn to work while it is called to day.

Provincial Secretary's Of October

latest intelligence as to the progress of our

Four new fields have been discovered, and are being occupied with great rapidity. Two have been visited by your Lordship, and at all of them it has been found necessary to station officers and lay off claims. These fields are at Wine Harbor, St. Mary's River, and at Laidlaw's Farm on the eastern side of Lake Thomas. Three of them are on or near to naviga-cadie Canal, and within three miles of the Railroad. All are, therefore, easily accessible, and whatever they produce can be cheaply transported, supplies coming in by water, or by rail, at sea coast prices or thereabouts. This proximity to the sea, and to navigable rivers, canals, or Railroads, gives to the miner in Nova Scotia singular advantages; and if he

Harbor is thirty; the number of people employed is about two hundred. At Isaac's Harbor, tweaty-three applications have been made for claims, and there are bout seventy persons employed.

Both these fields are on the south side of the areas: At the former place, sixteen claims have been taken, and about fifty persons are employed. At the latter the numbers do not nor of New Brunswick, the progress has been steady throughout the summer. Though some have left Tangier as rumors of more promising fields have reached that local; y, or as the exi-gencies of the harvest called for labor upon the homesteads, hundreds of persons have wrought there all summer. And although the owners of the smaller claims will soon be compelled to suspend operations by bad weather, there is every reason to believe that, on the approach of spring, there will be a great rush of population at Tangie. The gold from this Mining District maintains some superoricy over that taken at Lurenburg, and brings readily in the market five shillings sterling an

At Lunenburg, the progress made has been marked and gratifying. All the seashore claims for miles around the Ovens have been taken up, at prices varying from five to twen ty dollars. These now number eighty-two.-Judging by the eagerness displayed to obtain these shore lots, the most of them must have been found remunerative, and some are known | much so as to become noticeable on the passto have been very profitable. Other shore claims have been sold for thirty-five pounds. The Upland claims at Lunenburg must be very promising, judging by the rapidity with which they have been taken up; three hun-dred and sixty have been applied for; and your Excellency will perceive, by reference to the plan, that they extend in a continuous line along the leads, from the Ovens to Rosebay, a distance of six miles. There is every reason to believe these leads extend miles beyond Rosebay, and that other portions of the Western Coast will yet be found auriferous .-Gold has been discovered at Foote's Cove, five miles west of Yarmouth, near the Western extremity of the Province. Isaac's, and Wine Harbors, are forty miles East of Jangier; so that there can now be very little doubt that gold will be found all over the South frontage of Nova Scotia, to what extent will probably be determined in the course of the next summer. ATROCIOUS MURDER IN NEW JER-A few days ago, it was reported that of 22d inst., a citizens of Middletown, N. J., dis-

making an examination, his fears were realized. making an examination, his fears were realized. The body until then unrecognized, was that of the stranger. Watch and chain, diamonds to the value of $40,000, and £10,000 in money, besides other value is had all disappeared, the small sum found in deceased's pocket being left behind doubtless, to deceive people, by making them believe that robbery was not the object of the foul murder. The breast of Feliner was a mass of wounds. Twenty gashes from a dirk, seven of which entered the beart, had been found necessary to complete the bloody work. Hope necessary to complete the bloody work. Upon identification of the body it was buried, and word has been, or will be sent to Fellner's wife and family in Germany of the sad affair. The police are sorely puzzled about the matter That he murder was plotted in New York, is a doubt, but it will take the ingenuity of our most ingenious detectives, to discover who committed it. A stranger rather poorly dressed, was seen to leave with Fullner when he settled his bill at the Prescott House. He was seen, but observed only to create a suspicion in the clerk's mind that he was an unreliable character. Did this man go with Fellner to New Jersey? It is likely he did, as the German was a child in experience here, and besides totally ignorant of the lan-guage. A shrewd fellow of his own land might have discovered his wealth, and advised him to seek, as he said he was seeking, a new boarding place, gradually drawing him into New Jersey, and a night murdering and robbing him, afterwards throwing the body into the water. It is said, however, that he was seen a day or two afterwards, on a Catharine street ferry boat, in company with a Polish Jewess, who was very richly dressed, and sparkling with diamonds.— This woman might have drawn from him the secret of his wealth, and hired an assassin to perpetrate the crime. In fact, the stranger who was seen with him might have been the agent of this woman. How to get at the man and at the woman is a matter for the officers. That they will try to ferret out the villians engaged in this horrible transaction, there is no doubt. Their success, under existing circumstances, is, to say the least, problematical. 'A reward of five hun-dred dollars is offered by Fellner's friends for any information that will lead to the discovery of the assassin.

THE NEW JERS EY MURDER. Arrest of Four of the Party-Some of the Property Recovered. The Detective Police of this city have just dded to their past history of successes in tracing out the sources of terrible crime, a victory over baffling circumstances, perhaps as deserving of credit as any of their previous triumphs. The first intimation of the finding of the body of Mr. Fellner appeared in the Tribune on the afternoon of Friday, the 25th of October. A gentleman residing in this city, who had been charged to some extent with he care of a friend just arrived from Germany, went to Middletown to view he body, and identified it, and on Monday gave infor mation at Police Headquarters. On Monday afternoon Detectives Farley and Tieman set out on an almost hopeless voyage of discovery, but their work has been crowned with success, as the following circumstances will reveal. It appears that on board the steemship Bayaria. which bore the ill fated Mr. Fellner to this ity, there were among the passengers two ladies, Polish Jewesses, their names being Mrs. Marks, and her sister, Miss Alberting Flaum, who must have been steerage passengers, as their names are not given in the published list. At any rate they made the acquaintance of Mr. Fellner, and became very intimate, so house, No. 45 East Broadway. The following day Mr. F. made the acquaintance of a gentle-man in the Prescott House, to whom he confided no small share of information as to his business in the city, and undoubted intimations of his actual wealth immediately available. Two days after the arrival Mrs. Marks and her sister called upon Mr. F. at the Prescott House and remained with him some time, A day or two after that visit it appears that Mrs. Marks called at the Prescot House aione, and saw Mr. Fellner in his room, the door of which she locked after entering. Here she is said to have drawn a stiletto upon Mr. F. threatening to kill him for having, as she alleged, an improper intercouse with her sister, Albertina Flaum. On this momentous occasion it is said that Mr. F., in some manner appeased the angry and deeply offended lady, d she left. Almost immediately thereafter Fellner took recourse to the counsel of his newly-made confidential gentlemanly friend, as to how he must get out of his scrape with certain "ladies who had come over to this country on the same steamer with him." This young man sympathized with him deeply, and at once advised him to go to a private boarding place, to leave the hotel at once, and so

He suggested that the house he resided in would be an available place—No 4 Carroll street, South Brooklyn. Accordingly, Mr. F. decided that he would move, and was about to order a carriage to convey him and his baggage thither, but the young friend objected stating that the distance was short and that a man would be abundantly able to carry the trunk, and they could walk. The plan was adopted, and a man was called in from the street to act as porter. From that time from the street to act as porter. From that time to the finding of his body in the water near Applegate's Landing, N. J., nothing had been seen of Mr. Fellner by the proprietors of the Prescott House. It appears, however, that they went to the house referred to, No. 4 Carroll street, in Brooklyn, on the 15th of October. There he remained for a day or two, and on the 20th disappeared in company with Mr. Radetzsky, the young man in whom he had confided so closely. Radetzsky, it is said, was in the 28th Regiment N. Y. Volunteers, which served at the seat of war for three months. On the 28th, Mr. D. Leben-thall called at the Detective Police Office, in Elm street, and gave the information relative to his having identified the body of Sigismund Feliner, at Middletown. N, J., and that he had been informed in a letter from the friends of deceased in Europe, that he had with him a large amount of money and diamonds. Upon investigation of the vest of the deceased, it was discovered that he had received nineteen stabs on the left breast, within an area of four inches, each stab being of itself sufficient to cause instantaneous death. A handkerchief was also found in the pocket of deceased bearing the initials of Miss Flaum. After the appearance of the report of the Coroner's inquest in the paper of Saturday, Mrs. Marks and her sister became the victims of uneasines, and on Monday went to Radetzsky's boarding place in South Brooklyn, where the trunk and other baggage of deceased still remained, and requested the keeper of the house to permit them to examine Mr. Fellner's trunk for letters which they represented would implicate the good name of Miss Flaum. They accordingly went to the room where the trunk was and ransacked it, taking whatever they pleased and leaving. Mrs. Marks acknowledges that she received from Mr. Fellner, as indemnity for the injury he did to her sister, the sum of 26,000 francs; and Adolph Swenzer and his wife, who had been inmates of the house in Carroll street, Brooklyn, state that they received from Mrs. Marks two 1000 franc notes as hush money, to prevent them revealing what he had received nineteen stabs on the left breast, they knew of the matter. It also appears that Mrs. Marks and her sister have been missing from their boarding house, in East Broadway, till within the last day or two. They represent that they had been visiting some friends at Yonkers, but upon inquiry being made, this story proves to be false. A sword-cane was found in the Elysian fields, Hoboken, on Sunday night

From the Journal of Tuesday.

Last night Policemen Fraser and Gardner capias upon the captain. They were told by on board, and then that there were two women the capias was read, and Fraser then attempted to descend the companion way. The man the face with the lamp, which breaking inflicta small wound, and then drawing a knife from his right side thrust it into Fraser's left breast. Luckly the lining of his coat turned the blade

The assassin then rushed at Gardner and stabled him in the region of the stomach-as near as we could ascertain—for at the time of getting this information the body had not been brought ashore. Before Fraser and Gardner could get on sho e the sails were hoisted, and the lines cast off, the vessel gliding swiftly into Fraser meanwhile was calling for a boat.-When near George's Island Gardner exclaimed, "I can stand it no longer! God help me I'm Dead!" and fell upon the deck. Fraser then cut loose one of the vessels hoats and made his way ashore. The Captain soon after put the vessel about and came ashore himself in another boat, bringing with him two girls, of whom we shall speak hereafter.

The Capt. reported that Gardner was lying dead on the deck when he left the vessel.

The two girls were taken to the Police Office last night, and kept in custody. As both were below at the time, they cannot be expected to know much of this fatal occurence, but during the trial, they may assist in revealing the scenes which characterize a ' hell affoat.' Immense excitement prevails throughout the city, as the details of the affair became known.

The Police Office was surrounded during the the murderer, who was recognized by Fraser was placed in irons and confined in a cell in from the 24rd Psalm and 4th verse. The the City Building.

Richard Beazly, and several constables were placed in charge of the vessel.

The affair took place at 64 P. M. The debt for which the capias was issued, was for the paltry sum of £4, the amount of a Butcher's bill. In resisting the payment of this just claim, all the terrible consequences we have bove related were entailed.
