HYMN OF THE UNIVERSE. PARAPHRASED FROM GOETHE.

Roll on, thou Sun! for ever roll,
Thou giant, rushing through the Heaven
Creation's wonder, nature's soul!
The golden wheels by angels driven;
The planets die without thy blaze,
And cherubim with star dropt wing
Float in thy diamond-sparkling rays,
Thou brightest emblem of their King!

Roll, lovely earth! and still roll on,
With ocean's zure beauty bound;
While one sweet star, the pearly moon,
Pursues thee through the blue profound;
And angels with delighted eyes
Behold thy tints of mount and stream,
From the high walls of paradise;
Swift-whirling like a glorious dream.

Roll, Planets! on your dazzling road, For ever sweeping round the sun! What eye beheld when first ye glowed? What eye shall see your courses done?
Roll in your solemn majesty,
Ye deathless splendours of the skies!
High altars from which angels see
The incense of creation rise.

Roll, Comets! and ye million Stars!
Ye that through boundless nature roam;
Ye monarchs on your flame-winged cars!
Tell us in what more glorious dome,
What orb to which your pomps are dim,
What kingdom but by angels trod—

Tell us where swells the eternal hymn— Around His throne—where dwells your Goo

IMPROVEMENT OF IRELAND AND THE IRISH.

During the whole of the past summer, the London Times has had a special Commissioner travelling throughout Ireland, who has reported to that paper the actual state of the Church of England. country and the people, from observations made on the spot. The letters of the Times'. correspondent have excited much interest, and been read everywhere with great attention. They show most clearly and decidedly the great improvement which has taken place in the country, especially among the people; and in summing up a series of these letters, the Times says :-

"But the disease has brought at last its own remedy, and nature has done more than our Acts of Parliament had done for hundreds of years. The potato rotted; the population Ireland has changed; little, indeed, in the sense of that bitter old sarcasm about making a solicitude and calling it peace, but with much substantial gain. Does anybody doubt it? Let him read the matter-of-fact letters of our travelling correspondent. Let him see Ireland with his own eyes. Let him take the report of the Irishmen who have no interest in the change, and whose feelings are wedded. perhaps, to the old regime with its rude heartitown suburbs, built of turf or rough stone, cemented by mud, and the innumrable ditches and fenches that cut up the land, have alike disappeared. English farmhouses and farm a man all the year round and give him good wages. Instead of theprecarious eightpence or sixpence a-day, it is now a shilling all the year round, and more at harvest. The plough now makes as long and as deep a furrow as in this country, and has to return as often before it has finished the field. There are real stacks where there used to be the weatherbeaten havcock or a few loads of wheat. There is seldom seen the waste field abandoned to the rush and bramble. Household servants, workpeople, and tradesmen get good wages. Where a carriage could not stop without being surrounded by beggars, and where a tourist was followed by a stream of such interruption is as unknown as in this country. The union workhouses are not happy places, indeed, for that they are nowhere, but they are comfort and decency compared with the former lot of the utterly destitute .-Everywhere manufacture of one sort or another is cautiously creeping in. The mineral resources of Ireland, especially those useful for agriculture, are developed; coalpits that had ruined successive proprietors and companies are worked to a profit. This is no partial improvement. The whole peasantry are better off. They still adhere to their quaint national custom, the tailed coat, the frieze overcoat, with its cape, and the knee breeches: but the materials are new and good, and the patches not so obtrusive. The Roman Cathoic priests cannot complain that they are left behind in the secular improvement. Even in places where the sum of the population has most fallen off they are building large and magnificent churches. It is true that many of the estates have passed into English hands, though not so many as was apprehended. It is also true that the new comers are often distasteful to the old residents, and make friends but slowly in any class; but they are said to be a good sort of people, to mean well, and to spend money. They are making Ireland more wealthy, and a better country for a man of any class to live and be happy in Infinitely the most important part of the hange is that in the manners and morals of the cople. It may be summed up as a greater submissson to law. There is much less drunken-ness, and less violence, conspiracy, pilfering and fraud. It is seldom one hears of a landowner, or his steward being shot at his gate or his dining table, on a tenant put out of his land by the sumtable, on a tenant put out of his land by the summary process of a bullet. Plautations are not pulled up, hedges irregularly lopped for firewood, and even gates, posts, rails, and garden seats, carried off to boil the pot. The new comers, under the Encumbered Estates Act, have established themselves, and if they are not all of them Ireland's oldest blood, or even Irishmen at all, they are respected in their possessions, even if the ousted masters are not far distant, and it is still remembered that the estate was got at a bargain. The better the bargain, the more was there left to spend on the land, and it has been spent. There was harshness in both remedies, the natural and the legal, and no doubt many people regard the "Court" even with more horror than the famine. But each in its way was the 'Happy Despatch' to rid that unhappy island of its ancient troubles. The proof is in the consequences. Ireland is a country to live in. But the other day a man could not live there except in some manner of life that was bad in itself and must soon work itself to a bad end—either ocess of a bullet. Plantations are not ust soon work itself to a bad end-eit ment to Settlement in such boats, or vessels, as could be procured at each place, depending upon the fishermen and the agents of the fishing-firms for food and lodging,-a rough, dangerous, and most uncomfortable mode of voyaging. The change, therefore, to the Church ship could not be otherwise than agreeable and their stay on board for three days afforded great gratification to the Bishop of Newfoundland and his companions. Prayers were said every morning and evening in the Church at Forteau during their stay there; and on St. Quebec kindly preaching on the occasion, and assisting his brother of Newfoundland in the administration of the Holy Communion. This is a wonderful change from the state and condition of Newfoundland and Labrador, when first visited by the Bishop in 1848. No public worship or means of grace were then thought of, and of course there were no churches or houses of prayer. At present two clergymen of the Church of England are stationed on this coast, where they have permanently resided for several years, employed in constantly visiting from house to house and Settlement to Settlement; three churches have been built and consecrated, and two others are advancing to completion. On this once desolate and forsaken shore, in the handsome church of Forspectacle was presented of two Bishops, two Priests, and a Deacon, celebrating Divine Service with all the appropriate circumstances reward. nnected with the public worship of the

The Church ship returned to St. John's on the 20th September, after the performance of Divine Service in forty-seven different Settlements,-that is to say, in thirteen Settlemencs Shore; and twenty eight in the Missions on the Northeast coast of Newfoundland. The account of this visitation as published in full. will be read with great attention by all who take an interest in these matters.

Mr. Lindsay on American Affairs,

Mr. W. S. Lyndsay, one of the members of Parliament for Sunderland, according to his anrotted too, or fled, or remained to accept life | nual custom, addressed his constituents on the and its duties on somewhat better terms. So 2nd instant, and his speech is reported at length in the London papers.

It will be remembered that Mr. Lyndsay visited the United States last year, as a self-appointed delegate from the Shipping interest of England, and had long conferences with the Chambers of Commerce both at Boston and New York, urging upon these bodies, the propriety, if not absolnte necessity, of establishing a better system ness andits slovenly comfort. There can be no of things, as regarded the ships of England and doubt that, be it well or ill, Ireland is fast be- the United States, in order to place the shipping coming like England. The crowded villages and interest of each country on a more equitable footing. Of course, both Chambers scouted the propositions of Mr. Lyndsay, preferring to retain some small advantages which they thought buildings are rising up, whose tenants, whether English, or Scotch, or Irish, can employ Alluding to the present Civil War in America, Mr. Lyndsay said ;-

"The terrible civil war in America had delayed the settlement of maritime affairs between our country and the States, but he had no doubt that when order was restored, the matters discussed during his visit to America would be satisfactorily dealt with. The hon. member then referred to the cotton difficulty, and said, that if cotton could not be got down from the plantations to the depots before the rainy season came on, they would not get it in England next season, and until the blockade was removed cotton certainly could not leave the plantations. Now, as miserable objects from one point to another, it would be some time before cotton was received from India, Jamaica, and elsewhere, he corsidered it to be the duty of our Government to endeavour to induce the Federal Government, in the cause of humanity, to remove the blockade. (Cheers.) Considering the bold stand made by the Confederates, and the strength of the South, he thought it almost time that the Governments of England and France thought of recognizing the independence of so numerous a body of people. (Cheers, and some hisses.) It was evilent that the North was not sincerely anxious to abolish slavery, which would never be removed by a servile war. The separation of North and South was much more likely to accomplish the object. (Hear, hear,)"

Already we learn that this declaration of Mr. Lyndsay, the substance of which was sent by telegraph from Cape Race, has given great offence to our American neighbours at the North, who view any allusion to the recognition of the Southern Confederacy with great animosity. Yet that recognition may take place at a day much sooner than they anticipate.

FLOWERS FOR WINTER.-Flowers intended for winter blooming, need a season of repose, especially tropical plants, such as geranium, fuchia, &c., which should be allowed rest from growth during the months of July and August, by almost entirely withdrawing the supply of water. Of course the leaves will fall off, but the plants will be fitted to start into fresh and vigorous growth, as soon as the water is again supplied. Previous to this, the branches of the fuchsia should be pruned in, and water given sparingly at first, increasing the supply as the young shoots grow. Geraniums should be partially shaded from the sun after they are cut down. For this purpose, select the shortest and stockiest shoots with a growing point, and divest them of most of their leaves; keep rather dry till they show symptoms of growth; and success is almost certain. - Dollar Newspaper.

And we hope that, on surrendering to our most Gracious Queen the high trust you have now discharged, Her Royal approbation may be accorded to you. We assure your Excellency that (as we believe), in common with the inhabitants of every section of the Province, we shall continue to feel the warmest interest in the personal welfare and happiness of yourself, the Honour-James' Day, both the Bishops and all the able Mrs. Manners-Sutton, and your family Cleagy (Messrs. Mr. Mayor, Aldermen, and Gentlemen, Members of the Common Conneil of the City of

At the commencement of my official career New Brunswick, I had the satisfaction of receiving from the Citizens of St. John, the Commercial metropolis of the Province, the assurance of their desire to support me in the performance of my official duties. I have relied on that assurance, and the promised assistance has been fully accorded to me. To satisfy every one is indeed an impossibility, and to attempt it is the part of a weak or of a dishonest man. But to receive from a free and intelligent people the recognition of having been actuated, during seven years teau, during the past season, the extraordinary by a single-hearted desire to promote their welfare, must be, to any one, an object of high ambition, and, when attained, it is a great I have endeavored, anxiously and earnestly, to merit this reward, and I thank you for the

I know also that the progress which the people of this City, and of the Province in general, have made during the last seven years, is their work, not mine. But I have not, on this account, felt the less sincere gratification at their increasing prosperity, nor have I sympathized the less warmly with them, in their temporary

That you and the people of New Brunswick may prosper is my heartfelt wish. And you may be sure that no resident in the Province will feel a deeper interest in your welfare than that which will be felt by me and mine, when absent.

For Mrs. Manners-Sutton, as well as on my own behalf. I am grateful to you for your good wishes. From myself, to the youngest member of my family, there is not one who has not regarded this Province as a happy home, and we shall always retain New Brunswick in affectionate remembrance.

St. George's Society --- Address to the Lieutenant Governor.

On Monday afternoon the members of the Saint George's Society of this City, waited on His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, who has been a l'atron of the Society since his arival in the Province, and presented to him the following farewell

ADDRESS: To His Excellency the Honorable John Henry THOMAS MANNERS-SUTTON. Lieutenant Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Province of New Brunswick: On the occasion of Your Excellency's approaching departure from this Province, after term of office of more than usual duration, marked by Your Excellency's untiring exertions to promote the welfare of the people committed to your charge, the Saint George's Society of this City, of which Your Excellency has been for several years the latron, desire to join their fellow citizens in bidding Your Excellency a respectful farewell. The Members of this Society, individually, nust ever retain a grateful sense of the many acts of kindness and condescension which have distinguished both your Excellency and the Honourable Mrs. Manners-Sutton during your residence in New Brunswick, and while we express our regret at your speedy departure, we beg to assure your Excellency that in whatever portion of the world your future lot may be cast, you will carry with you the sincere good wishes of this Society for the happiness and prosperity of vourself, the Honourable Mrs. Manners-Sutton, and all the members of your family

R. BAYARD, President. [L.S.] . W. M. JARVIS, Secretary, &c. St. John, N. B., 21st Oct., 1861.

To which His Excellency was pleased to make the following

REPLY. To the President and Members of the St. George's Society, of St. John.

GENTLEMEN :-The principle on which your Society is founded will enable you fully to understand my feelings in bidding adieu to you and to the Province. For while you are as closely identified with the interests of New Brunswick, as any portion of her inhabitants, you take pleasure in cherishing a peculiar regard for that part of the British Empire with which you, or your ancestors, were in former years, connected by residence and birth; and for my part, although the days which Providence may henceforward accord to me, will be passed at a distance from New Brunswick my memory will often revert to the happy period of my residence here, and I shall always cherish the recollection of, and retain a special regard for, the Province and for its Inhabitants.

I wish to assure you, Gentlemen, and, through you, the members of the St. George's Society with which Society I have myself been connected for seven years, that both Mrs. Manners Sutton and myself appreciate, and are grateful for the feelings of interest which you have expressed in the future welfare and happiness of ourselves and of our family.

This work has been prepared with the design of having a question book, where the same subject could be presented to the whole school. The first grade is for the younger portion of the school, while the second is for those more advanced. Both of them are on the same portion of Scripture, but one s more simple than the other.

Vol. 2 do do 2 Grades.—These volumes make complete and interesting history of the Life of It will be found of great value for a whole school to have the same lesson before them. From Prof. H. B. Hachett, D. D., of Newton In

I have examined some of the pages of Rev. Mr. McKenzie's Question Book on the Life of the St viour. I regard the plan of the work (which differs quite materially from that of any similar work,) as excellent, the questions as eminently judicious and well suited to interest and instruct the learner. It cannot fail to prove a welcome and useful auxili-ary to the cause of Sabbath School Instruction. The Comprehensive Question Book on Prominent Bit ical Events, from the Creation to the End of the World. By Rev. J. Banvard, author of the "Topical Question Book," Infant Series, &c. &c.

and for the speedy cure of the subjoined varieties of disease: SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS, SUCH AS Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all SKIN DISEASES.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1850. J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the times it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from anything. In fact the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that anything you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease is gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully,
Yours, ALFRED B. TALLEY.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes
"I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous dia-thesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhea by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowedge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes: "A dangerous ovarian tumor on one of the females in my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your extract of Sarsaparilla, Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains." Syphilis and Mercurial Disease. NEW ORLEANS, 25th Aug., 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla. I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Venereal and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it vielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration of the face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mer cury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely hy your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this pre paration from your laboratory must be a great re medy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co, Va., 6th July, 1859. DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been afflicted with painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM.

Jules Y. Getchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an Affection of the Li ver, which destroyed my health. I tried everything, and everything failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Espy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel youn again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough." Caries, and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative powers of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigoous action, and thus overcomes disorders which

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarspiess, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmoand colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmo-nary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the comcivilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even femilies, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy in their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As we know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of the remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind. PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
