The Boston Journal reports a destructive fire at the United States Armory, Springfield, Mass., on the 2nd inst. A building 200 feet in length and two stories high, was entirely destroyed, with its contents. The building was built about 50 years ago, and has been in constant use in the manufacture of muskets during this time. The wood-work was so thoroughly saturated with oil that when once on fire there was no subduing it. At one time it seemed impossible to save any part of the works situated upon the north side of the Square, and many of the shops were cleared of their machinery, tools, and stock.. The fire was, however, stopped at 10 o'clock at the brick partition which separates this building from the one directly east of it, and which also contained extensive wings recently constructed. It is impossible to give a correct estimate of the loss in machinery and material to-night. Owing to the great rapidity with which the fire spread, little was saved in the building destroyed, and much of the machinery in the adjoin ing buildings must have been severely injured in its hasty removal. Forty-seven milling machines were destroyed and considerable other machinery of less value. The total loss was $50,000. The cause of no suspension of work at the armory in consequence of the fire. the fire was spontaneous combustion. There will be THE SEAT OF WAR.

The war tempest rages with undiminished fury, railroads are torn up, costly bridges are broken down, steamboats are destroyed, and millions scattered to the winds of heaven; multitudes left in a starving condition, and tens of thousands ushered into the instantly silenced by the tread of hostile armies, and the trump of war. A friend just from the Federal hospitals tells us that no language can describe the agonies of the wounded and the dying in these receptacles of bleeding humanity. Let all christian hearts pray that God in mercy will restore peace and save the greatest Republic on earth from self destruction. At Calais we were told that a regiment who went from there early in the war a thousand strong, returned the other day numbering a little over seventy men; the rest had all gone to their account. A number of young men in that City connected with respectable families had entered the army; but all were dead save one, and he had retorned disabled for life. Washington, July 3d, 1864, War Department, 9 o'clock, P. M. To Major Gen. Dix: - The following telegram, dated at Marietta, Ga., was received this evening from Gen. Sherman, giving the successful result of the "The movement on our right caused the enemy to evacuate. We occupied Kenesaw at daylight and Marietta at 8.30 a, m. Thomas is moving down the nain road toward the Chattahoochie, and McPherson toward the north of Nickajack on the Sandtown road. Our cavalry is on the extreme flanks. Whether the enemy will halt on this side of the Chattahoochie or not will soon be known. Marietta is almost entirely abandoned by its inhabitants, and more than a mile of the railroad iron is removed between the town and the foot of Kenesaw."

A despatch from Gen. Grant's headquarters at 9 o'clock this a. m., gives the following result of Gen. Wilson's operations: Sixty miles of railroad were thoroughly destroyed. The Danville road, Gen. Wilson reports, could not be repaired in less than 40 days, even if all the materials were at hand. He has destroyed all the blacksmith shops where the rails might be straitened and all the mills where scantling for sleepers could be sawed. Thirty miles of the Southside road were destroyed.

mercy the negroes they retook. Wilson's loss of property is a small wagon train used to carry ammunition, his ambulance train and 12 cannon. The horses of the artillery and wagons, were generally brought off. Of the cannon two were removed from their carriages, the wheels of which were broken and the guns thrown into the water, and one other gun had been disabled by a rebel shot striking the trunnions before it was abandoned. He estimates his total loss at from 750 to 1000 men, including those lost from Kautz's di-

A rebel force made its appearance near Martinsburg this morning, and were at last accounts destroying the railroad and advancing on Martinsburg. The reports received as yet are too confused and conflict-ing to determine the magnitude of the force or the extent of its operations. (Signed) E. M. STANTON,

A letter dated Bermuda Hundred says:

Wilson's and Kautz's cavalry have just returned from their recent raid. They have destroyed from 20 to 25 miles of the Danville Railroad very effectually. On their return they encountered the enemy in strong force. A heavy fight was the result. The loss was considerable on both sides, with some captures of men, horses and guns. The same letter says heavy firing was heard in the direction of Petersburg on Thursday night. Result not known.

New York, July 3.—The Times' special dispatch from the Headquarters Army of the Potomac records the return of Gen. Kautz with the loss of many men, horses, twelve guns and a wagon train, but men, horses, twelve guns and a wagon train, but the expedition was most successful in the destruction of the Danville, and Weldon Railroad, mills and an immense amount of rebel property. On return-ing they were overwhelmingly attacked by Fitzhugh Lee's and Hampton's cavalry and a force of infantry. The rebels were repulsed several times, but finally our forces were surrounded, and the retreat of the wagon train and artillery were cut off. Orders were then given to retreat, which was effected through dense woods and a marsh. The artillery was spiked and wagons burned. It was reported that the 6th corps had vigorously attacked the rebels and retaken some arms."

Corps gives the details of what was intended as a surprise to the rebels by Gen. Baldy Smith, which, however, owing to disobedience of orders by Gen. Barton's brigade, resulted in nothing but drawing a heavy artillery and muskery fire from the rebels. Capt. Butler of New Hampshire, aid of Gen. Smith, was badly wounded in the leg.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Tribune's special dispatch from Charlestown, (West Virginia) July 1, has the following:

"Hupter, with the whole of his command, arrived safely at this point, without the loss of a pound of government property, during the march of 500 miles. He defeated the enemy in five different engagements. All the railroads and canals on the route were totally destroyed. Our loss in the expedition will not exceed 2000; that of the enemy, including prisoners. post he at least 5000. The army is in excellent pirits, and will soon he heard from where least expected."

New York, July 3.—The steamer Fulton, from On Port Royal Suth ult., has arrived. All was quiet at D. Shilton Head.

two more are nearly completed,

The iron-clad gunboat Queen City was captured at Columbia, White River, on the 24th, by the rebels under Shelby, numbering 200 men. Most of the crew and the officers were captured. The rebels planted at night a battery on the shore opposite where the Queen City was lying at anchor, and at daylight opened upon and disabled her. The rebels took three of her guns and a quantity of ammunition, when three other gunboats came up and compelled the rebels to abandon and burn her. Communication between Memphis and Little Rock is entirely suspended, owing to the blockade at the Cut Off. It is believed a heavy fight occurred in the vicinity of Clarendon on Saturday and Sunday, between our gunboats and rebel batteries, as continual firing was heard at the mouth of White River. Marmaduke with a large force of rebels, is at Red Fork, on the Arkansas River, and part of his army had cro-sed over and were threatening to occupy Crockett and St. Charles. He is reported to have over 18,000 men and forty pieces of artillery. It is believed to be his intention to isolate Steele from his base of supplies and co-operate with Price, and compel Steele to evacuate the State."

BALTIMORE, July 3. - At daybreak this morning in telligence reached headquarters at Martinsburg to the effect that rebels were approaching in three separate columns one by way of the turnkpike towards Shep-ardstown, the second towards Martinsburg, not far from the line of the railroad and the third west of it. Gen. Sigel at once prepared to check this movement of the enemy. The troops was drawn up, and at 5 o'clock fighting commenced in the neighborhood of Bunker Hill, and continued four or five hours, during which his cavalry fell slowly back to the infantry support. Ascertaining that the force of the enemy was largely superior to his own, Sigel determined to evacuate Martinsburg, which was done in good order. The train and property on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were safely removed from the neighborhood. A force of the enemy also came by way of North Mountain with a view of flanking our forces, but in this they were disappointed. A despatch received at 5 o'clock this evening states that fighting has been going on all day near Leetown, about ten miles from Harper's Ferry, and three miles to the left of the railroad, between a force of the enemy moving in the direction of Shephardstown pike and the command which Sigel had left there to occupy the place. presence of their Judge.
