stronger than it appeared during the three days' battle; he had made breastworks of fences and logs, and had thrown up rifle pits, commanding important points, and when it is remembered that with the exception of Hancock's brilliant success early in the morning, we could not in the rest of Thursday's battle drive them from any of their positions.

It appears now that Lee took the precaution to fortify both North and South Anna rivers, before Grant crossed the Rapidan. By these precautionary measures, he is obviously prepared to contest every inch of the way to Richmond. Sherman's cavalry raid, it is said, destroyed Confederate property to the amount of $10,000,000. He extended it within sight of the gas lights of Richmond.

On Saturday night last, Lee's army was reported, by telegram, in line-of-battle three miles beyond Spottsylvania Court House, with sharpshooters within half mile of the town. Lee is entrenching, and the position will probably require flanking Supposed the enemy will yet make a desperate resistance. Their privations seem to exasperate them. Two thousand more prisoners taken since Thursday. Federal losses thirty-five thousand. Nearly made good by reinforcments, which still continue arriving. The expected attack on the enemy on Saturday morning did not take place. Gold 74.

A few skirmishes have taken place, but no general engagement is reported this week. Both armies seem exhausted, and inclined to rest for a while. In the battles so far since Grant crossed the Rapidan the destruction of life has been enormous, but no victory of any importance has been won. Lee has obviously displayed generalship of the very highest order, and in the midst of terrible carnage, has preserved his forces as an unbroken and insurmountable wall between Grant and Richmond. He seems to have accomplished quite as much or more than was expected of him by his greatest admirers. He is strengthening his lines of defence every hour, and the railway damages, have been repaired, so that his communications are all intact. General Butler had pledged himself to take care of Beauregard, but the old fox has given him the slip, and turns up in Richmond, in full force, prepared to join Lee, or to do whatever is required of him.

Butler is pounding away at Fort Darling and is said to be largely reinforced. This is the key to Richmond, and of course is made as strong as human power could make it. Richmond depends upon Fort Darling to hold in check the Federal gunboat power. If this bulwark fall Richmond cannot stand.

Telegrams say that Sherman is making some progress in the South west. After two days hard fighting, in which he lost 3,000 men, he compelled Johnston to evacuate Rosacca, Georgia. The trouble is that the further he proceeds from his base of supplies the greater his danger and his difficulty, as was the case with Banks in his Red River expedition. That promised well at first, but in the issue resulted in tremendous failure, and poor Banks displaced because he could not accomplish an impossibility. General Sherman's head quarters are said to be at Rosacca, where he captured 1,000 prisoners and is pressing on after Johnston.

After looking at this whole affair dispassionately, and from many different stand points, our conclusion is that this mighty campaign against Richmond as the seat of the Rebel power, that was expected to terminate more than a week ago in the complete triumph of the Federal rule, has but just commenced; and that the murderous slaughter of the past is but as the first fruits of such a harvest of death as will make the ears of all who shall hear it tingle before Richmond is subdued. When will peace come to the American people? O God send it speedily is our earnest prayer.

Since writing the above, our conclusions regarding the successful resisatnce of Lee are more than confirmed. A private telegram just received by a commercial gentleman in this City, says, "Virginia Campaign virtually ended. President calls for 400,000 additional men." Gold is up to 82.

The Globe's despatch, of Wednesday, has no word from Grant. Severe battle in Charleston harbor between Federal and Confederate fleets, on the 14th. Particulars not given. Fort Sumter repaired and doing its work effectually.

Under cover fog enemy attacked Smith's line, forcing it back in confusion. He rallied, and recovered it; simultaneously enemy made attack from Petersburg on Butler's forces, but were handsomely repulsed.

Siegel met the enemy in superior force at Newmarket, and was forced to retire with loss of five guns, and six hundred killed and wounded, saving all trains.

For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Disorders, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years. The Troches are highly recommended and prescribed by Physicians and Surgeons in the Army. Soldiers and Officers being exposed to sudden changes, should be always supplied with "The Troches" as they give prompt relief.

PUBLIC BENEFACTRESS.—Mrs. S. A. Allen has justly earned this title, and thousands are this day rejoicing over a fine head of hair produced by her unequalled preparation for restoring, invigorating and beautifying the Hair. Her World's Hair Restorer quickly cleanses the scalp and arrests the fall; the hair, if grey, is changed to its natural color, giving it the same vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth. For ladies and children, whose hair requires frequent dressing, the Zylobalsamum, or World's Hair Dressing, has no equal. No lady's toilet is complete without it. Every Druggist has it for sale.

GENTLEMEN—In consequence of the death of the late S. H. Gilbert, Esq., your Representative, and my having been solicited by a large number of the Freeholders of the County of Queen's, I have consented to offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages. O the wing to great exposure and terrible decomposition after My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepaied by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed, to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise, they gave me immediate relief.
