

SABBATH HYMN.

Glory to the glorious One, Good and great, our God alone, Who this day hath glorified, First and best of all besides, Making it for every time, Of all times the sweetest time.

From the beginning, day of days, Set apart for holy praise; When He bade the willing earth All its hidden stores bring forth, When He gave the shining heaven, Then to man this day was given.

On this day the Son of God Left His three-days' dark abode; In the greatness of His might, Rising to the upper light. On this day the Church puts on Glory, beauty, robe, and crown.

On this day of days the Lord, Faithful to His ancient word, On His burning chariot borne, Shall in majesty return. King of kings, He comes in might, From His heavenly home of light.

To His own Jerusalem, Old Judea's brightest gem, To the hill of Jebus, see, King Messiah, cometh He; With His cross to bless and save, With His cross to spoil the grave.

He shall speak, and earth shall hear; Rending rocks shall quake with fear, And the waking dead shall come From the silence of the tomb. Shaken heavens and shattered earth Then shall rise to second birth.

To the kingdom promised long, With his shining angel throng, Righteous vengeance to fulfil, Recompense for good and ill, Adam's race from dust to call, Lo, He cometh, Judge of all!

Then the glory to His own! Then the kingdom and the crown! Then the sinner's hope shall close, Then begin his endless woes; Then he knocks, but knocks in vain; Who shall break his iron chain?

Earth is fleeing, fleeing fast, And its beauty fades at last; O beloved, then, awake, Bonds of carnal slumber break; Wake, beloved, watch and pray, While remains one hour of day!

Death, it cometh,—O beware! Judgment cometh,—O prepare! Steadfast, steadfast let us stand, For the Judge is nigh at hand; Steadfast let us rest each night, Steadfast wake at morning light.

—From the Syriac of Ephraim.

HANNAH BAILEY, AND THE ROCK OF AGES.

One summer evening, years ago, a little girl, carrying a bundle, was slowly walking the principal streets of a village, when the sound of music arrested her steps. The sweet tones proceeded from a cottage which stood at a little distance from the road, and involuntarily the child drew near to the gate to listen.

All around was very calm and quiet; no passing carriages, no noisy, happy children disturbed the stillness of the moment, and as the music came floating down the lawn, blending with the faint rustling of the leaves, and the indescribable hum of insect life, it might have attracted an elder and more critical person than the ragged, weary looking child, who had dropped her bundle, and stood peeping through the lattice.

The tune was simple, but the tones of the piano were rich and full, the voice sweet and clear; and though the child could not distinguish the words, she felt they must be good.

"Ain't it pretty?" she said, half aloud, to herself, after listening attentively for a few moments, and her eyes brightened. "I know who it is; it is the doctor's daughter playing on her piano."

While she spoke, the music ceased. She waited some time, but all remained quiet, and slowly and reluctantly she turned away, and prepared to take up her bundle, while the happy look faded from her face.

Suddenly she turned, and again spoke aloud. "I mean," she said, "to go and ask her to sing something to me," and she hurriedly unlatched the gate, and took a few steps up the gravelled walk. Then she paused, and glanced down at her torn dress and bare feet.

"I don't look very nice," she murmured, and an expression, half sorrow, half shame, shadowed her countenance; "but they say Miss Nellie's good natured," she added, "and I guess I'll go," and she walked hastily on to the porch.

The hall door was opened, as also was the parlor door, so the child could look in and see a young girl sitting before the piano. She was busily engaged in arranging music, and did not at first observe the child, who had no courage to knock. At last she raised her eyes, and slightly started with surprise, but said kindly:

"Come in, little girl." Encouraged by her manner, the child entered the pleasant parlor, and stood amazed at the comfort and cheerfulness of the room. There were bright flowers all about, bright curtains, and a bright carpet, that felt soft to her feet; but in the midst of all this brightness, she remained bewildered and silent, thinking again with regret of her ragged and soiled dress. Twice the young lady asked—

"What do you want, my child?" "Then she answered, "I heard you singing in the street, and I thought, perhaps, you would sing something for me. Will you, please?" "Yes, certainly," answered the astonished young girl, "what would you like?" "I don't know, madame; you know," said the child.

"Who takes care of you?" asked Nellie. "Have you any brothers or sisters?" "No," answered Hannah, "I take care of myself; I'm eleven years old."

"Do you go to church, or to Sabbath school?" "No, marm."

"Would you like to go?" persisted Nellie. "I don't know as I should," said the little girl, in differently.

"Hannah," said Nellie, after a pause, "do you like to hear me sing?" "O! yes, indeed—yes, indeed," was the animated reply.

"Well," said Nellie, "if you will go to Sabbath school, I will sing to you every week, if you will come here."

"I'll go," said the child, decidedly; and then her voice dropped, and she added, "perhaps father won't let me; he won't, unless he's sober; and I haven't got clothes."

"If your father will let you," said Nellie, "and you will promise to go, you shall have some clothes." The child looked pleased. Then, as it was getting dark, she hastened home. Nellie watched her as she ran down the walk, and heard her repeating to herself all of those beautiful words that she could remember, "Rock of Ages, rock for me."

Before the next Sabbath, some ladies interested by Nellie, visited Hannah's home. It was a wretched hovel, to which heat and cold, storm and sunshine were freely admitted by the broken doors and windows, and was almost entirely destitute of furniture. No one could doubt that little Hannah had often suffered from cold, and was pinched by hunger. A reluctant consent was obtained from her father for her to attend church, and clothes were provided. The next Sabbath the child was at church, and the following Tuesday she came to hear Nellie sing.

The summer passed by, and the mellow autumn came and went. Little Hannah had been quite regular in her attendance at the Sabbath school—never absent, unless detained by her father. At first it was very hard to interest this neglected child in religious truths; what she was taught, she as quickly forgot; but as she was really bright, before long she began to improve. She never forgot to go to hear Nellie sing, and Nellie was always pleasant, and ready to gratify her. In return for her kindness, the child lavished on her all the affection of her strong nature. No matter what else Nellie sung to please her, each time before leaving, Hannah would say, "Now please sing 'Rock for me.'"

It is not necessary to pursue the history of Hannah Bailey. My story has missed its aim, if it has not already taught an important lesson. Those who possess personal advantages or acquirements of any kind, never taste so sweet a pleasure in their exercise, as when employing them in gently winning the young, the ignorant, the neglected, or the vicious, to the ways of godliness.—Janie's Scrap Book.

"ISER, ROLLING RAPIDLY."—It is related of some friends of Campbell, the author of "Hohenlinden," in leaving his room after a gay supper, that one of the number had the misfortune to fall down a long flight of stairs. The poet, alarmed at the noise, opened his door and inquired—"What's that?" "This I, sir, rolling rapidly," was the immediate reply of his fallen friend.

CONSEQUENCES AND CAUSES.—There is no action of man's life which is not the beginning of so long a chain of consequences, as that no human providence is high enough to give us a prospect to the end.—Hobbes.

Southey, quoting this, observes—"Although the chain of consequences be so long, I will venture to say that the chain of causes is longer."

FENELON.—Lord Peterborough, after a visit to Fenelon, said, "He was cast in a particular mould, that was never used for anybody else; it is a delicious creature. But I was forced to get away from him as fast as I could, else he would have made me pious."

DELICATE PRAISE.—When Sir Matthew Hale was made Chief Justice, his commission was brought to him by Lord Clarendon, who told him that "if the king could have found out an honest and a fitter man for that employment, he would not have advanced him to it."

AMERICAN ICE.—Sydney Smith, in London, was shown a lump of American ice, upon which he remarked, "that he was glad to see anything solvent come from America."

CENSUS OF ENGLAND.—The first volume of the census for England, which has just been issued, shows the numbers and distribution of the people in the several parishes and places. An abstract of the returns was published last year; a careful revision of them shows that on the 8th of April, 1861, the population of England and Wales, with the Isle of Man and Channel Islands, including the army at home and the navy and seamen in the ports, rivers, and creeks—amounted in number to 20,909,671. The returns for Scotland having been also revised, the population of Great Britain on that day is found to have been 23,971,965; and the returns for Ireland, when the revision of these also is completed, will bring the population of the United Kingdom to above 29,000,000. The increase in England and Wales alone since the census of 1851 has been 2,138,616 notwithstanding that in the interval 2,250,000 persons emigrated from the United Kingdom, of whom it is calculated that 640,816 were English. Since the census of 1851 the male population of England and Wales has increased 11.38 per cent., the female population 12.50 per cent. The excess of females over males, 365,159 in 1851, had grown to 513,706 in 1861; and these figures do not include the army, navy, and seamen out of the kingdom. In Scotland the disproportion is still greater; in Great Britain, with the islands in the British seas, the excess of females over males in 1851 was 687,471, to which the Irish returns, according to the unreviewed abstract, have above 150,000 to add. On the census night 62,490 persons were on board vessels in the harbours, rivers and creeks of England and Wales, without reckoning persons in barges on Canals; in the metropolitan districts 8,094 persons were on board vessels in the docks and the Thames. In England and Wales 124,962 persons were in work-houses and workhouse schools, 13,456 in hospitals, 24,207 in lunatic asylums, 28,365 in prisons and reformatories, 23,598 in orphan asylums and other principal charitable institutions, without reckoning in any instance the official staff in charge of these institutions; 90,839 persons, military and families of military, were in barracks. The population of the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, which had previously been increasing, has in the ten years under review, hardly maintained its number except by an increase of the military force.

JUSTICE IN IRELAND.—The Government has interposed to remit a fine inflicted by the magistrates of Galway for conduct which deserved the highest praise. A young man named Brookes found a number of ruffians, shamefully ill-treating a number of young women, belonging to a Protestant institution, when returning from bathing. At great personal risk he saved them from further molestation. The stipendiary magistrate would have dismissed the case against the women, who were afterwards sentenced at the assizes by Baron Hughes to six months' imprisonment, a sentence they are still undergoing. The magistrates who would have let go those offenders without any punishment, inflicted a fine on Mr. Brookes for protecting the girls, he having been summoned for an assault upon the aggressors. The Judge, a Roman Catholic, praised his conduct warmly; and now the Lord-Lieutenant, after a full consideration of the case, has remitted the fine, which the Judge had not power to do, as the matter did not come before him on appeal.

The Mighty Healer. WORLD KNOWN AND WORLD TRIED! HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!

The free admissions of all nations, as well as the verdict of the leading physicians of the old world, stamp this powerful remedial agent as the greatest healing preparation ever made known to suffering man. Its PENETRATIVE QUALITIES are more than MARVELLOUS; through the external orifices of the skin, invisible to the naked eye, it reaches the seat of the internal disease; and in all external affections its anti-inflammatory and healing virtues surpass anything else on record, and Nature's great ally.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM. Are two of the most common and violent disorders prevalent in this continent; and these the Ointment is especially antagonistic—it modus operandi is first to eradicate the vermin and then complete the cure.

BAD LEGS, OLD SORES, AND ULCERS. Cases of many years standing, that have previously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful agent.

ERUPTIONS ON THE SKIN. Arising from a bad state of the blood or chronic diseases, are eradicated, and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet appliances in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.

PILES AND FISTULA. Every form and nature of these prevalent and stubborn disorders is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emollient; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Rheumatism, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sore of all kinds, Chubb's, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Gout, Swelled Glands, Tetters, Lumbago, Sore Legs, Ulcers, Mercurial Eruptions, Sore Breasts, Wounds of all kinds, Piles.

CAUTION!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions, around each box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the book to the light. As handsome rewards will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

Sold at the Manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines throughout the United States and the civilized world, in pots at 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot. Oct. 20.

THOMAS R. JONES. October 9th, 1862. COLDS! COUGHS!! Brown's Bronchial Troches Cure Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Influenza, any irritation or Soreness of the throat, relieve the Hacking Cough in Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Catarrh, clear and give strength to the voice of Public Speakers and Singers.

Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "slight Cold" in its first stages; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. Brown's Bronchial Troches are a most valuable article, especially so at this season of the year when Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness and Sore Throat are so prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief.

"A simple and elegant combination for Coughs, &c." Dr. G. F. BROWNE, Boston. "Have proved extremely serviceable for Hoarseness." Rev. HAZEL WARD BAZEMAN, Milton Parsonage, Canada. "I have been much afflicted with Bronchial Affection, producing Hoarseness and Cough. The Troches are the only effectual remedy, giving power and clearness to the voice." Rev. Geo. SLACK, Minister of Church of England, 151 St. James Street, London.

"Two or three times I have been attacked by Bronchitis, so as to make me fear that I should be compelled to desist from ministerial labor, through disorder of the throat. But from a moderate use of the Troches, I now find myself able to preach nightly, for weeks together, without the slightest inconvenience." Rev. E. B. BROWN, A. B., Wesleyan Minister, Montreal. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents per box. July 11.
