THE SEAT OF WAR.

This terrific civil war amongst our neighbours really passing rapidly from bad to worse. Immense armies are collected-a mammoth navy is called into existence officers are multiplied by the thousand gunboats, steamboats and iron clads go on increas- of Gen. Hooker and other general officers placed ing; all the most modern means of destruction are augmented to a prodigious extent-hundreds of and slashed the cowardly retreating rascals. It was thousands meet in deadly conflict; battles on a scale all in vain, however. The road for two or three of awful magnitude are fought, and tens of thousands pour out their blood like water; the shrieks of the ded with their shattered fragments. Gen. Hooker slain and wounded pierce the heavens, and the has, however, already sent Sykes' regulars after lamentations of stricken parents, widows desolate, them. As to the loss sustained by this corps, either and children fatherless, go up from ten thousand in killed or captured, it could not have been greathabitations, and yet the end comes not. The quest they ran too fast for that. I have the mortification tion is oft repeated, when will this war close? but no- to add that they allowed twelve pieces of cannon to body can divine. The North says, not until the fall into the hands of the enemy. What makes this traitors are subdued. The South says, not until we retreat not only disgraceful, but well-nigh disasnobly win our independence, and form an integral trous, is that it completely foiled a splendid manoepart of the great family of nations. But the battles, the defeats, the victories of the past two years have settled no question at issue between the contending parties. Not one decisive battle has been fought. One, two, five, ten, twenty, thirty, forty thousand fall in one engagement, but both sides claim the victory, or so apologize for the defeat as to make it merely a drawn battle. Washington is not taken, Richmond, rebel prisoners! The artillery combat was prolonged Charleston, Mobile, Hudson, Vicksburg are all as yet invulnerable.

The immense army of the Potomac, the pride and glory of the North, is led by the invincible Hooker across the Rappahannock, and plunged for long days and nights in bloody combat. It inflicts a baptism of blood, and receives the same at the hand of the enemy, and is finally driven back with a loss of ten, fifteen, or twenty thousand men, but it is only a retreat as a prudential measure. There is no acknowledged defeat in the case. Lee claims a great victory. and the South is frantic with joy, but Hooker in a day or two is ready to resume the battle where he left, and hasten "on to Richmond" in dispite of every obstacle. It would really seem as if this monster war had become a standing institution of the country, that must at all hazards be maintained and perpetuated by all the material and intellectual resources of the nation. Is prayer for peace offered? If offered, does it propose the terms of peace? If so, would it not be better to leave the conditions of peace with Him whose counsel shall stand and who will do all his pleasure?

We transcribe a graphic account below of the recent bloody engagement at Fredericksburg, as given by the Church Witness, of Wednesday, from American papers, which will be read with painful interest:

On Sunday the battle was renewed with redoubled flerceness. General Hooker was reinforced by the first army corps under General Reynolds, which was immediately put into position on the right. General Lee was also reinforced. Lee's object was to gain possession of a portion of the plank road in front of the Federal position, and this object he obtained after a terrific struggle of six hours duration. We copy again from another letter of a correspondent of the New York Times :--

But the possession of this road was not obtained by the enemy save at our own time, at his severest cost, and after one of the most desperate, tenacious and bloody conflicts, for its short duration, of the whole war. At 5 o'clock A. M. the rebels could be plainly seen seen up the plank road, about a mile and a half from the Chancellor House, which Gen. Hooker still retained as his headquarters, though a shell had gone through it the evening before, and another had cut down a tree directly in front of it.

Our line of battle was formed with Gen. Berry's gallant division on the right, Gen. Birney next on the left, Gen. Whipple and Gen. Williams supporting. At 51 A. The engagement lasted without the slightest intermission from 51 A. M to 8.45 A. M., when there was a temporary cessation on our part, occasioned by getting out of ammunition. We held our position for nearly an hour with the bayonet, and then, being resupplied, an order was given to fall back to the vicinity of the Chancellor House, which we did in good order. Here the contest was maintained for an hour or more, not menced coming, panic stricken, down the road to- so severely as before, but with great havoc to the enemy, and considerable loss to ourselves.

The gigantic task which Gen. Hooker has given uself to do, embraces nothing less than the destrucion of the rebel army and the capture of Richmond. The former primarily, however; for he knows well that the real rebel Capital (or Head-place, as the etymology of the word implies) is the head-quarters of the rebel army in the field. But he means to take Richmond also; and he has made his arrangements—including the establishment of depots of supplies as the lead. By Rev. T. Todd: Dea. Titus Bicks, $2.—Rev. I. Wallace, 1.—By Rev. We must not omit to state that while the battle vas raging near Chancellorsville on Sunday, General Sedgewick moved forward to the attack of the heights of Fredericksburg. Our readers will remember that Lee had withdrawn a large portion of the forces and Lee had withdrawn a large portion of the forces and guns in defence of this position, and will not be sur-by all druggists, at 25c., 62c., and $1 per box. rised to learn that Sedgewick succeeded in his object. on Sunday night, therefore, the Federal line extended from Fredericksburg to Chancellorsville, and the mos sanguine expectations of success were formed by every one. The scene, however, soon began to change. Early on the following day (Monday), Sedgewick pushed forward a division towards Chancellorsville, which was at once driven back, and later n the day he was himself attacked by Longstreet, and compelled to retreat across the river with the loss of 5000 men. Hooker now became alarmed; Lee was pressing him in front, and Longstreet was preparing to attack him in flank. A heavy rain also came on early on Tuesday morning, flooding the Rappahannock, and endangering his communications. He therefore decided to retreat while retreat was possible, and on Tuesday night he and his army moved across the river, and once more occupied the deserted fortifications at Falmouth. His loss is estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000. This result was wholly unexpected by the North, and bitter, therefore, was the disappointment felt by every one when the news was eceived. Some consolation is however, derived from the fact that Gen. Stoneman with a large body of cavaly and flying artillery, succeeded in making a complete circuit of Lee's army, approaching within a few niles of Richmond, frightening its inhabitants, capturing a few stragglers and destroying a large amount f property, without sustaining any material loss. was a bold enterprise, successfully accomplished; out it had no effect on the issue of the battle at Chancellorsville, and in our opinion, Stoneman would have been better employed in direct communiction with

The joy in the South is unbounded. The Richmond Enquirer of the 5th May says:-

"Acting like a charm upon the public mind, amidst the furore of patriotic excitement which pervaded the community on yesterday, came the following despatch from General Lee. It tells the tale of the enemy's second charge upon our gallant army on the Rappahannock, in language as simple as it is cheering, and eclipses for ever the futile raid which was no doubt intended by the enemy to be one of their fancy empellishments to what is now (alas for them!) a spoiled picture. GEN. LEE'S OFFICIAL DESPATCH.

MILFORD, May 3, 1863. To President Davis-Yesterday, General Jackson enetrated to the rear of the enemy, and drove him om all his positions from the Wilderness to within me mile of Chancellorsville.

He was engaged at the same time in front by two f Longstreet's divisions.

Many prisoners were taken, and the enemy's loss killed and wounded is large.

This morning the battle was renewed. He was dislodged from all his positions around hancellorsville, and driven back toward the Rappa annock; over which he is now retreating. We have again to thank Almighty God for a great

General Commanding. (From the Richmond Whig, 5th.)

We bring our readers good tidings of great joy this morning. In the language of the noble and invincible Lee, "we have again to thank Almighty God for a great victory." We cannot furnish particulars, but the public know the moderation with which that great leader expresses himself, and will understand how much is meant by the language he employs. The intelligence that Jackson is severely wounded will bring the prayer to millions of lips that his injury may not be mortal, and that it may not keep bim

There is a report that General Hooker has again crossed the Rapphannock, and occupied Fredericksburg ; but we do not believe it. He executed this movement, it is said, on Friday last-that is only two days after his sudden return; and it is a little curious. that up to this date (Wednesday, the 18th May), we have no intelligence of his subsequent operations, The whole story is, no doubt, a canard.

The Federals have been successful in the south west. Grand Gulf and Port Gibson have been captured, together with one thousand prisoners, and a large amount of army supplies and munitions of war. General Grant was operating successfully in the rear of Vicksburg, and anticipating a speedy reduction of that city; but at the latest accounts, he is said to have met with a severe check. An attack was made upon Haines' Bluff by five gunboats and two mortarboats, but it was gallantly repulsed.

The Confederate General Forrest has captured a Colonel Straight and one thousand six hundred men,

It is again confidently stated that another attack upon Charleston will be made at once.

It is stated that the Confederates in their last raid along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad,

The exports of specie from New York during week ending 25th April amounted to $629,855; total since 1st January, 1863, £16,855,225. The corresponding time of 1862 the total was $12,900,782; of 1861, $2,-500,000; of 1860, $7,174,646; of 1859, $14,202,663; of 1858, $9,942,869.

DR. A. B. SPINNEY, ELECTROPATHIC PHYSICIAN,

WOULD most respectfully announce to his patrons, and the public generally, that his increasing practice and the earnest solicitation of friends and patrons have nduced him to remain in town another year, during which time he will ever be pleased to wait upon all who may desire his services either in family or office practice. experience gives him confidence to say that he believes his nethod of treatment far superior to any other for old Chronic Diseases. Dr. S. would therefore invite all those who may be suffering with any of the ills that flesh is heir to to give him a call, and though you may not know the cause of your sickness or distress, he will tell you what organs or parts of the system are affected, and to what extent. Please call and satisfy yourselves. His method of treatment comprises the use of Electricity and Vegetable fedicines: he neither blisters, bleeds, gives mineral poisons, nor noxious drugs. A successful practice has proved his remedies to be certain, safe, and efficient. To the Ladies, the Dr. would most especially call, if you are suffering with any of the ills peculiar to your sex—come now and be cured. He has devoted a large share of his time to the study and treatment of Female Complaints, and now feels competent to treat them in their most malignant For Irregularities, occasioned by cold or otherwise, there is no agent so efficient in curing as Electricity; he will therefore guarantee a perfect cure in every case.

Dr. S. invites all who may be suffering from Scrofula in all its various forms, as Hip Disease, White Swellings, &c. also, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Tetter Rash, and every Hu mor, of whatever kind or character. Likewise, Spinal Dis-Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, General Debili-y, Habitual Constipation, &c., &c., to give him a call. Office, opposite Town Clock, Germain Street. Others can be seen by calling at the Doctor's office:— Dr. Spinney-I feel it impossible to express my gratitude o you for the wonderful cure you have made. My feet and eg, which had lost a large share of the flesh, from the effeets of Erysipelas (improperly treated at first by another physician), is now quite well, and the bones and muscles, ouce plain to be seen, are now covered over nicely with flesh, in a healthy condition. Though for a long time I lay in a helpless condition, given up by many as beyond the reach of medical aid, I have, by your kind attention for ten weeks, been saved, and I feel that you have been an intrument in the hands of God of prolonging life. With feelings of the deepest gratitude, I remain yumble servant, MRS. C. HAWKINS, I remain vour St. John, May 4th, 1863. Princess-street.
