Forenoon was occupied in discussing Steven's Bill to extend jurisdiction of Board of Education. General debate. Some opposed it on the principal that measures of reform in school system should come from Government; some said that the system of inspectorable has proved an expensive humbing; some that Government; some said that the system of inspectorship has proved an expensive humbing; some that training school was not efficient or impartial; some that as Trustees are elected by the people, they are the best judges as to the requirements of school districts; some suggested that inspectors should act in conjunction with trustees. The general arguments in favor of the Bill are that a wasteful expenditure of public money and dissatisfaction on part of disappointed schoolmasters, results from indiscriminate establishment of school is without previous brownledge and hment of schools without previous knowledge and usent of Educational Board.

last, in one grave (one a young man), by this relent-of Mr. Meehan (son of the manufact) who have been discussion allusion was made to the late appointment appointed Dept. Treasurer at Bathurst, in the Count of Gloucester. Several members stated that the had been informed that he was a minor only eightee or nineteen years of age. As that was not denied presume it was the case. I do not think it ver udicious to appoint minors to such important offices There was a difference of opinion among members a to the liability of his sureties. Bill passed in Com mittee. The House went into Committee upon anothe Bill, introduced by the Attorney General, relating to securities to be given by Deputy Treasurers. It prevides that each Deputy shall give two sureties. The Bonds for Deputies at Chatham, Newcastle, Frederic ton, Dalhousie, Bathurst, Richibucto, St. Andrews and St. Stephen shall amount to $8,000, at Shediac, Moncton and St. George $4,000. Some members thought more care should be taken in appointing to responsible offices, and that the Government should rely rather upon the honesty of the individual, than upon sureties who were seldom called upon to make good their bond.

On motion of Mr. Desbrisay, a committee was appointed to whom shall be referred all matters con-nected with the Crown Lands.

On Thursday the house went into committee on a bill relating to the Port of St. Stephen, which proposed to exempt that port from certain duties now paid. The arguments used in favor of the bill were, that as the law now existed all the lumber was shipped from the Calais side of the river, and tended to build up and benefit Calais; that so long as the present law was continued the business would be done there, as vessels loading in Calais had an advantage of about $25 per hundred tons. After quite a long discussion the bill was withdrawn, for the reason that a similar bill had passed the Legislature some time ago, had been sent to the Imperial Government to which the Queen would not grant her assent, an according to the Royal instructions, a bill which has once been rejec ed at home could not be passed again without having the matter discussed with the Impe rial Government, and giving reasons to convinc them that the Queen should assent to it. In answer to Mr. Boyd's question, the Prov. Secre tary stated that the Government intended to propos a grant for denominational schools, equal to last year. Mr. McPhelim's yearly offering of the Judges fe bill was introduced. I have been informed that thes fees during the last year have amounted to mor than £200 to each of the Judges. I presume th fees amount to about £150 annually. This bill he been often discussed—the Lawyers generally wish tsubstitute a fixed sum in heu offers, which means t take a sum equal to the fees out of the public chest and relieve the litigants of an equal amount. On Friday a considerable discussion took place of a bill introduced by Mr. Grimmer. By the law not existing, in reference to the taxing of unimprove wilderness land, all the land in the Parish where th owner resides is exempt from the one cent tax; th present bill sought to make the land of residents pa the same as con-residents exempting lands up to 30 acres. The whole principle of this tax was full discussed: the bill was lost.

Mr. Munro's resolution, which is, that the Post master-General shall prepare a bill authorizing th collection of postage on newspapers—say, if prepai by the publisher a fee of half-cent on each newspaper or one cent to be paid either by stamp previous t posting, or in money on delivery on each paper sent and carried by mail and delivered within the Province and which has not been prepaid in the country wher mailed was discussed. Mr. Munro was the only member who spoke in favour of it, three or four made short speeches in opposition. When the vote was taken on the resolution it was negatived by

On Toesday there was quite a discussion in refer ence to the law regulating sale of spirituous liquot throughout the Province, the alteration sought for was to allow tavern keepers to collect by law liquor sold in quantities not less than a gallon. On motio the committee postponed the further consideration of the bill for three months. It is rum sured that th Government will bring in their Railway Bills th week. We may then expect a spirited debate.

ENGLISH AND CONTINENTAL.

Mr. W. S. Lindsay, M. P., invites the London Daily News to give a contradiction to certain rumor it started in regard to his connexion with the Confe derate States, and says he is not the holder of Confe derate bonds of any kind; and that neither himse nor any member of his firm have in any way entere into any contracts with the Government of the Confederate States for the construction of war steamer first that the attempt on the part of the North t

The insurrection in Poland is extending. It em braces all ranks and classes, and is headed, so it i reported by priests of the Roman Catholic church The London Times says : -

"There can now be no doubt of the magnitude the Polish insurrection. We have no details, and th bare telegraphic summaries come to us from the Rus sian authorities, who, of course, represent events a favourably as possible for their cause. But nothin can be more ominous than even these meagre reports, The dates and the names of the places cannot err. Cudlip stated his intention to bring in a Bankrupt are enough to show how widespread is the revolt, an Bill this Session. in spite of alleged victories over the insurgents. Wengrow, which it is said has been taken by th Russians after a bloody conflict, is considerably t tne east of Warsaw, near the frontier of Russia Proper. On the other side, the country on the Prussian frontier has been the scene of events apparently of much importance. In a combat on the 6th, th Russians are said to have been defeated and a numbe of the Imperial troops, probably disaffected Poles, fled across the frontier. In the south there has been severe fighting, and the Warsaw and Vienna Railway has fallen into the hands of the insurgents. & Of the universality of the movement there can be no doubt. It was said at first that the larger proprietors and the peasantry stood aloof from it, and that it was supported principally by the smaller citizens, who suffered most from the Conscription. This account of the revolt, however, is now plainly inadequate. Whatever may been the truth at first, it is now evident that this is a great national insurrection, in which men of all classes have joined; that it is determined -it may be a desperate attempt by an oppressed people to deliver themselves from a yoke which had become unbearable. It is, indeed, a proof of the reality. of their misery that, after so many years' subjection, they should try the fortune of war at a time when Russia has no external enemy, and when the success of Imperialism in France and the desire of Europe to have rest from revolutionary excitement must have given them little hope of support from the West. It is now asserted that the great landed proprietors are assisting the insurgents with horses and provisions. More than this, the fever has passed the frontier, and it will be seen from the dispatches we publish to-day Chellan a petition from Albert Country relative that fears of a rising are entertained even in the Prussian territory. The Prussian army is in motion, and a large force is to be concentrated in the disturbed districts. From Austria, we hear that the Emperor had prorouged the Galican Diet, and that the resolution is supposed to have been adopted in consequence of Prince Sapieha having announced his intention of

> The National Commerce, claimining to be the provisional government of Polini, have issued a stir-ring appeal, in which the following declarations may afford some clue to the character of the insurrection: " On the first day of our openly coming forward, at the moment when the holy struggle begins, the committee declares all the sons of Poland, without any distinction of falth or race, descent or station, are free and equal citizens of the country. From this moment the land which the agricultural population possessed on conditions of paying rent or giving task work to their masters, is unconditionally their property and that of their heirs. The land owners who will be injured by this arrangement, shall be compensated from the general funds of the State. The families of all laborers who join the ranks of the defenders of the country, or die in glorious death while so serving, shall receive a share of the land protected from the enemy, out of the State property."

AMERICAN NEWS.

From the New York Scattish American Journal, we learn that the peace feeling of the people is developing itself at important points, and is speaking out in tones that must be heeded. Ohio, New Jersey, Indiana and Illinois are speaking trumpet tongued in the peace direction. The New York Tribune, which the Methodist designates "the political organ of the Plymouth church." (Henry Ward Beecher, Pastor), is waxing exceedingly warm in favor of closing up the war upon almost any terms. The Tribune led the Republican party in triumph through the last Presidental campaign, and was evidently Mr. Lincoln's pet paper. When Fort Sumpter was captured by the rebels, this same Tribune made his war cry heard from the centre to the circumference of the great Republic. What will be the effect of this new policy it is quite impossible to devise; but it is just possible that Mr. Horace Greeley may find himself enclosed within narrow limits at an early day.

THE SEAT OF WAR.

The blow on Charleston and Savannah still lingers The assault on Vicksburg commenced, it is said on the 1st ult. The Federal gunboats opened a scathing fire on the rebel batteries, to which a sharp reply was given! As yet no decisive results have transpired. General Grant thinks the place will be taken and the Confederate army captured.

The Vicksburg correspondent of the Times says Every day since we have been here, not less than 100 lail to respond to the roll call, and are carried out never to return. The levee, ruffled into billows by this tempest of death, is all that tells us how great are our losses and how fearful our sacrifices, One Surgeon had five hundred patients crowded together in dark, noisome negro quarters, and of these from fifteen to thirty died daily. The weather was at times intensely cold. He could get no wood. Nobody would answer his requisitions, and the sick suffered severely from cold. He had chopped down all the fences in the vicinity, dug up the posts, dis-mantled a few out-houses, and in this way had managed to afford a little fire in cases of extremity. He had no medicines; his requisitions met with no response beyond a refusal. He had no provisions beyond coarse army rations, and for three days the only lood given the sick was that which was humanly shared with them by a small guard that had been placed around the quarters, and who fortunately had brought a few days' rations with them. He was unable to afford those under his charge much beyond sympathy when sick, and a detail of men with picks and spades to cover them up when dead. This was the post hospital, and in it, it is not perhaps exaggeration to assert that dying is the rule, and getting well the exception. Application for discharges in cases where recovery without change of air was impossible rarely meet with success, it having been asserted by at least one General that it is easier to dig. two graves than sign one set of papers.

(From the Church Witness of Wednesday.) Two Federal gumboats-the Queen of the West and the Indianola -ran successfully past the Vicksburg butteries, and jubilant accounts of the exploit were published in the Northern papers. They were designed to operate between Vicksburg and Port Hudson, and thus cut off the communications of the Confederates with Texas and the trans-Mississippi Department. But this design has not been accomplished. The Queen of the West captured in Red River a small transport named the Eva, and forced her pilot, John Burke, to take the wheel of the gunboat and pilot her up the river. Burke feigned fear, but finally took the helm under a guard. Upon nearing the batteries he told the Federals that they were 15 miles from them, immediately putting the vessel close in, when she received a shot which broke h steam pipe and disabled her, when she was com pelled to so render. The pilot jamped overboard and escaped. The official report of the capture says: The visible results of the capture consists of one 2 pounder rifle Parrott gun, one 24 pounder, three 2 pounders, one ditto slightly damaged, besides a arge supply of ordnance stores, a large supply of quinine, two cases of amputating instruments, clothing, flour, bacon, beef, pork, lard, bread, and other tores in proportion. The vessel was but slightly injured, and she will soon be in tighting trim under Confederate colors. It is stated that the Indianola has gone up Red River to recapture the Queen of the West, if she can. The Eva has been recaptured by the Confederates.

But the Federal Government was destined to ex-

erience a still greater disappointment. The Indianola s we have stated, was sent to recapture the Queen of the West. She is one of the best gunboats in the Federal service, having the double excellence of invulnerability and speed; no doubt, therefore, was entertained of her success. The Confederates had repaired her old consort, and, together with another small steamer, they boldly attacked the Indianola, and compelled her to surrender. This fact is officially communicated to the Federal Government, and the reasons given for the disaster is that "she disobeyed her instructions." It is a great triumph for the Con-

A despatch from Charleston states that three steamers from Nassau arrived there on the 9th, with valuable cargoes, and that a steamer ran out successfully on the night previous, with the Hon. J. B. Clay on board, for Liverpool. Not a gun was fired at any of these vessels. The Giraffe, a fast steamer, ran the blockade of Wilmington on the 28th.
