Mr. BRIGHT, M. P. -Mr. John Bright has recently prepared an edition of his "Speeches" for publication in America. In making the selection the author has | two pounds to two pounds five shillings. specially chosen those speeches which relate to "the defence of the cause of liberty and free government in America." Messrs. Little, Brown, and Co., of Boston, will publish the work, and Mr. Frank Moore, who collected the songs of the two armies during the recent rebellion, will give a biographical introduction. A fine portrait, by Richie, is promised with the book. -London Review.

In passing through the fertile counties of Annapolis and King's, we were informed that the hay crop as a general rule was highly satisfactory. All kinds of grain with the exception of wheat, were fully an average yield. The potato fields were unusually promising; but fruit, especially in Annapolis County, is, in most orchards, a sad failure. The blossom indicated an immense quantity of apples and plums, but by some infliction, not fully understood or explained, a blight passed over the trees, and the fruit perished in embryo. The August pippin s almost a total failure in all the Annapolis orchards, now and then you see a tree bearing a few, but even these are diminutive in size. The russets are more promising.

In Cornwallis the prospect is more hopeful. The failure of the Atlantic Cable is a sad disappointment to all nations. It was supposed that all needful provision had been made in the arrangements to meet every possible contingency that might arise during the process of laying the cable; but the actual development shows how much more reliable is experience than the most elaborate theory. The graphic and minute descriptions of Dr. Russell, so extensively published by the periodical press, reveals the following facts :-While Mr. Cyrus Field was on the watch in the tank, a little before the time of the accident, a grating noise was audible as the cable flew over the coil astern. One of the experienced hands immediately said-"There is a piece of wire," and called to the lookout man above to pass the information aft; but no notice appears to have been taken of the circumstance. After the ship was stopped, and the remainder of the flake payed out, a piece of wire was seen projecting out of the flake, underneath that in which the fault was suspected to exist, and on one of the men taking it in his fingers and trying to bend it down the wire broke short off. It was nearly three inches long, and had evidently been of hard, illtempered metal, which had flown out through the threads in the tank. The discovery was in some measure a relief to the men's minds that one certainly, and, possibly, the second of the previous faults might have been the result of accident. It was remarked, however, that this fault occurred in the same watch as all the previous ones had. The fault was too serious to be overlooked, and as there was a difficulty in detecting its situation, preparations were made to get the picking up apparatus

Previous to doing so, two cuts were made in the cable, the first near the old splice, between the main and the fore tanks. Cable all right. The second cut was three miles on board, which showed the fault to be overboard. The wire rope and the chain wire were secured to the cable forward, which showed a maximum strain of twenty-three and a half hundred weight; and at five minutes past nine o'clock, Greenwich time, the cable was severed, and went over the stern, one thousand one hundred and sixty miles having been payed out when the end splashed into the

The picking up was, as usual, exceedingly tedious and one hour and forty-six minutes elasped before one mile was got on board. Then one of the engine's eccentric gear got out of order, so that a man had to stand by with a hand spike, aided by a wedge of wood and elastic band, to assist the engines. Next the supply of steam failed, and when steam was got lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," give sure and up it was found that there was not water enough in the boilers; and so the picking up ceased altogether. should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket. Then occurred the great misfortune. Lunch was just over. Some had left the table, and others were about leaving. The scientific gentlemen had very much cheered us by their stating that they believed the fault was only six miles away, and so ere dead night falls we might hope to have the fault on board, make a new splice and proceed on our way to Heart's Content, geographically, about six hundred miles away. Suddenly Mr. Canning appeared in the saloon and in a manner which told all, and said, "It is all over; it is gone," then hastened onward to his cabin. Ere the thrill of surprise and pain occasioned by those words had passed away, Mr. Field came from the way into the saloon and said, with composure admirable under the circumstances, though his lips quivered and his cheek was blanched, "The cable has parted and has

THE DEFALCATIONS of Mr. Edward B. Ketchum of the firm of Ketchum, Son & Co., New York, in round numbers count up to millions. "The total amount of liabilities." The Pope of Rome is seventy-three years old, and says the Boston Journal-" as reported by the committee, including a claim of $250,000, which the house disputes, was $3,995,608.35. The assets, valuing property more with reference to its productiveness than to its selling price, amounted to $3,093,-000. This included $243,000, which the firm hopes the abstracted bonds. It can be recovered only by a long course of litigation."

This is robbery by the wholesale with a witness. The Methodist in referring to this horrid case of swindling, says:-

The first of the late disclosures of great defalcations in this city, brought out the fact that the defaulter was led to ruin by the seductions of our "Broadway Saloons.' The banks, it is reported, have since adopted a rule that their employees shall not be allowed to visit these resorts, and the prohibition is good; but why not strike the blow more directly at the root of the evil? Why not call for the suppression of these moral nuisance?

These "saloons" are indeed, imported nuisances; they are of German origin; but they would not be tolerated, with their New-York outrages, in Berlin or Vienna. Here they stud most of one side, and much of the other, of our principal thoroughfare. The right of Broadway, from Canal-street to Bond-street, presents an almost unbroken continuity of them. They flaunt their grossly pictured illuminated signs in the eyes of the procession of citizens ever thronging the street. Their wretched music keeps whole squares in racket most of the night. We repeat, there is no other city of the civilized world, bowever corrupt, where the police would tolerate such an obtrusion of vice, as New York thus allows to be thrust nightly upon the gaze of the world, on her princi, a street. It will not do to plead that expressive laws and police interference are useless in such cases.

Public opinion should at once compel the interference of the city authorities for the deliverance of the city from this intolerable evil.

aug 17 FRED. A. ESTEY. A WONDERFUL CURE

ROGERS & CO'S. Cancer and Scrofula Remedy!

Amherst, N. S., August 1865. MESSRS. ROGERS & Co.-Gentlemen: Permit me to add my testimony to the great value of your preparations, and any person reading the following brief history of a cure effected by it upon my son, will not dispute my right to do so. He first fell upon a fork handle in the barn and hurt his leg a little below the knee; he subsequently took cold, when it began to swell and pain him very much: it soon ulcerated near where it was first hurt, and continued to discharge freely until the calf of his leg seemed to be one mass of corruption; his foot and knee swelled very much, and when we commenced with your medicine, was very much inflamed, and was evidently on the eve of mortification. The pain and suffering he endured no pen can describe; he grew weaker daily, nothing that medical skill and faithful attendance could accomplish was omitted; still be gradually sank, until their seemed but little hope of saving either his life or limb. As a last hope, the Doctors decided to amputate the leg; this was to have been done the next day, but just at this critical point a kind irlend advised me to try your medicine; I concluded to do so, and it at once began to improve, and is now about well. He goes to

This is certainly the most extraordinary cure ever effected in this country; no person could fully appreciate the sad and suffering condition he was in without seeing for themselves; to all human appearance he could not have lived a week; there did not seem to be a ray of hope left.

Doubtless there are thousands dying whose lives might be saved if they had this extraordinary medi-Hoping that God will prosper you in your work

I am, Gents, yours very affectionately, ALLISON COPELAND. And here allow the mother of the young man whose life has thus been saved, and who for many weary months dressed and handled that leg, and who shed many many tears, and spent many sleepless nights over it; say to mothers or those similarly afflicted, get the medicine by all means.

KEREN COPELAND. We the undersigned inhabitants of Amherst, and vicinity-some of us having been eye-witnesses to the above distressing case, and all being quite familiar with the facts from common report in this community-have no hesitation in endorsing the above statements of Mr. Copeland.
