Mr. Burpee's report of his Western railway surwey, says :--

IT From this survey, made as carefully as possible. we find that to make our connection with the Counties on the upper St. John, and at the same time with the American system of railways, in the most profitable way, 88 miles of railway, costing not more than $30,000 per mile, will require to be built, or in all an outlay of $2,640,000."

Of this amount the Government facility bill prowides $880,000, leaving to pay interest $1,760,000, which, at 6 per cent., will require $105,000 per annum.

Mr. Burpee endeavors to show that the income of annually ; the freight and travel between St. John and of the road, he says :--

"The first thirty miles through the Parishes of Lancaster, Westfield, and Petersville, traversing in the first instance inexhaustible quarries of limestone, and knowing that the demand for lime in the interior and ses and as a fertilizer to the soil, is only limited by impetus that would be given to its manufacture by the facilities for its transport offered by a line of railway direct from the kilns to the consumers, as also the returns to the line in freight. There is also an abundance of water power in immediate contact with the line, and already several mills for the manufacture of lumber, all of which must furnish traffic and cause travel. Then take the quantities of hacmatac and hard wood from Petersville and the adjoining parishes of Hampstead and Greenwich, with the valley of the Nerepis on one side, and the timber lands on the head waters of the Lepreaux on the opposite, add to it the agricultural products of the whole, and

Comrades of the Army of the James, Ic bill you farewell, farewell. BENJ. F. BUTLER, Maj. Gen.

Butler's summary dissmission by Gen. Grant has produced a great sensation. It gives mortal offence to some, and immense satisfaction to others.

The Washington correspondent to the Tribune moval. Grant was known to be supreme. He puts Generals up and he puts them down. His word is law in all military affairs. But the declared sentiment of his headquarters that " Gen. Butler's arrests, imprisonments, and punishments of rebels and traitors have been illegal and arbitrary, and that many cases of glaring injustice have come to light, and many others are expected to be developed by his supersedure;" this and the recent almost national expression of satisfaction at the mention of his name as Secretary of War in the reorganization of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet give politicians here the clue to a scheme to get a troublesomely earnest radical out of the way, and to dispose of a dreaded politician. The Cooperheads of Washington and Georgetown are jubilant to-night over his removal. Hood escaped from his Tennessee campaign with some 28,000 men. The correspondent to the Tribune writes thus of his crossing the river and his escape :-Finding they could not effect a crossing near Florence, with the gunboats in range, nor yet at De catur, anticipating in that quarter, opposition from the road when built will fully justify this large out- both land and naval forces, they laid their pontoon lart of doing so, he puts the passenger and freight bridge at Bainbridge, right across the shoals, and fully straffic from St. John to the United States at $175,000 ont of gunboat reach from up or down the river. Here they peaceably effected a crossing for their main army, and not until Forrest, bringing up the the Upper Counties at $65,500; the income from St. rear, was about to pass over, was there any molesta-Join to Fredericton at $17,500; local traffic, $115,- tion or opposition. By the way, it was somewhat 000 -Total, $348,000. Speaking of the resources amusing a few day since to read the dispatches sent all over the country, about Steedman with his artiltery, playing on the enemy from one side, while from the other, the gunboats kept peppering away, smashing the pontoons to the smallest kind of atoms. Thomas, in the meantime, with his victorious army right in the enemy's rear, pounding and crushing in the upper river Counties, both for building purpo- away, and jamming Hood and his frightened hordes into a confused mass against the river bank. A livethe cost of transportation; we can easily imagine the ly imagination would doubtless depicit hundreds of gravbacks, with eyes dilated and guivering lips, jumping into the river to escape, while Steadman's colored troops took special delight in firing on the unfortunate wretches, sending them to a "watery grave." Unfortunately for the dispatches, Hood's main army was, at the time, about a week or so over the river, having crossed without any molestation whatever.

miles east of St. John, on our present line, the re annum. Thence 20 miles up we have Blissville and the country watered by the Oromocto and its branches. By careful search, and on good authority, we find that from twelve to twenty million feet of humber are taken from these waters annually, costing in their transport to St. John from $1.25 to $1.75 per thousand feet: By rail this can be delivered on the wharves of St. John for 80c. per thousand, or about one half what it now costs. And being delivered daily, and in better condition, why should we not es-timate safely on carrying the whole of it? but take only the lowest annual yield, and we have 15,000,000 feet, at 80c. per mile-$12,000."

From a careful inspection of the resources of the A Halifax is to be completed. Mr. Burpee is satisfied that the income will fully justify the expenditure. AN APPEAL to the Common Council of St. John by petition, numerously signed by the citizens, urges them to pledge its credit in favor of this extension for at least $400,-000. If our City Fathers comply with this request, the work in all probability will go forward.

The Freeman, in speaking of the great progress that the Irish settlers have made in Johnville, Carleton County, says :---

The men who went to those settlements scarcely three years ago were then no better off than those who remained behind, and they had difficulties to overcome and discouragements to conquer which men who now go the settlements will know nothing about. They were the first to go into the wilderness ; sometimes they were quite alone. They had no roads, and their nearest neighbors lived miles away and bould do little to help them. Now the roads are en, the settlements are almost like villages, and by of the settlers are already so well off that can and do assist new settlers. ney had energy, determination and spirit, and dy are independent-some of them even comtively wealthy. They have farme on which no has a claim; houses, cattle, and barns full of grain and roots. Which of all the men who put down their names as applicants for land three years ago, and then, frightened at some shadow, held back. has since done as well as even the least successful of these settlers? Which of them is as well off to-day?

Besides, those of whom return is made as settlers, there is a large number who have made clearings on their farms and other preparations to settle.

These settlements are some of the very best land Tin the Province. The land has been carefully selected, and the settler now has the choice of all that remains unoccupied. He has also the certainty of a thickly settled neighborhood, of church, school, post office, good roads, &c. . There never was on this continent such an opportunity offered to working men to secure an independence, and the men who hesitate to avail themselves of it -- who prefer to hang about town seeking employment, often in vain, con-suming in winter all the money saved in summer-will one day when old age has come upon them, or a bad season has reduced them to want, have cause bitterly to repeat their folly."

Official reports to the War Department announce that the second attack on the defences of Wilmington proved successful.

Fort Fisher was captured on Sunday afternoon, loth by assault; the assault was preceded by a tremendous bombardment by the fleet, when the land forces stormed the works, and after seven hours. severe fighting got possession of the Fort where the Federal flag now floats. Gen. Whiting, Col. Lamb, in command, and over 2000 prisoners with 72 guns were captured.

The loss of the Federals, especially in officers, was severe, but the total is not yet reported. This great success seals up the port of Wilmington, and the capture of the City will soon follow.

At tillsborough, Albert County, on the morning of Dec. 24th, of crystpelas, after a short illness, Mr. Edward G. Mc-Latchy, in the 4sth year of his age, leaving a disconsolate widow and eight children to mourn the loss of a kind husband and an infection ite parent, Mr. McLatchy was the subject of early religious impressions, but did not make au open profession of faith till some years after he had ef fected a se themeut in life. He was married in December, 18:4, to Jane, young st daughter of the late Michael Steves, of the same place. On leaving the parental roof and mov ing to his own house, his first care was to erect the family altar, which he never neglected or suffered to be removed until its duties were closed with his last illness. It was a little more than three years after he had thus erected the family altar, when, one one lovely Sabbath afternoon, in the month of June, he was baptized, with the wife of his youth, on the profession of their faith, by the Rev. John Francis, and thus became identified with the First Hillsborough Baptist Caurch, of which he continued to be a member until he was removed by death. In the social and prayer meeting which he loved to frement, his voice was often heard in warning his fellow dy ng men to "flee from the wrath to come," and in exhort-,ng his brethren to " continue steadfast in the faith " and in pleading with his Heavenly Father to preserve His people and to "keep them from the evil that is in the world." the Sabbath of the 5th December, a little less than three weeks before his voice was heard for the last time in the prayer meeting at Stoney creek, where he most frequently gave attendance. On the Sabbath following, it being next the last Sabbath which he spent on earth, he visited one of his brothers who was afflicted with the erysipelas, and had been confined to his house for some length of time. Alas ! how little those brothers thought that their next interview would be in eternity, and how much less that the voice of him who was able to visit the sick room, and to impart words of consolation to the afflicted, should be the first that would be still in death ; and yet an unerring Providence has so decreed. He died in the full evjoyment of peace, or to use his own words - as the solemhities of etermy gathered thick around, and dark gloomy clouds over shadowed him, and having wrestled nearly one whole night in agonizing prayer,-" I have found peace." " Blessed peace." How impressive are the words of the Psalmist, " Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright. for the end of that man is peace."—Psalm 37: 37. He was inter-red in the old burying ground near the old Baptist Meeting House, on December 27. The funeral sermon was preach by his pastor, kev. A. J. Smith, from Rom. 8: 28. [Chris
