A FEW PLAIN WORDS TO MY LITTLE PALE-FACED FRIENDS.

[From Our Young Folks.] Three years ago I visited my dear young friend, Susie. Although she lives in the country, in the midst of splendid grounds, I found her with a very pale face, and blue semicircles under the eyes. Her lips were as white as if she had just risen from a sick bed; and yet her mother told me she was as well as usual. Susie was seven years old, and a most wonderful child.

I said to her, "Well, my little chick, what makes you so pale?"

She replied, "O, I was always pale. Annie says it is pretty."

When we were sitting around the dinner-table, I introduced the subject again, for it was very sad to find this beautiful and promising child so fragile. Before I left, I took little Susie's hand and walked into the garden. "And now," said I, "my little one, you must show me your favorite flower."

She took me to a beautiful moss-rose, and exclaimed. " O, that is the most beautiful flower in the world; don't you think it lovely, sir?"

I said, " Now, Susie, I shall come here again in two weeks. I wish you would dress up that rose-bush in a suit of your own clothes, and allow the dress to remain till I return."

She laughed, and said, "Why, how queer! why do you want me to do that?" I replied. " Never mind, but run and get the clothes, and I will help you dress it up, and see if it looks like

So off she ran with lond shouts to ask mainma for a suit of her clothes. Of course, mamma had to come and ask if I was serious, and what were my reasons. I said, "I cannot give you my reasons to-day, but I assure you they are good ones. and when I come again I will explain it all to you."

So a specimen of each and every garment that Susie was in the habit of wearing, was brought forward, and Susie and I spent some time rigging out the rose bush. First came the little shirt, which made it look very funny; then came the little waist and skirt, then the frock, frock, then the apron, and finally, over all, a little Shaker sun-bonnet. When we had reached this point, Susie cried out, " Now, how can you put on stockings and shoes?" I said, "We will cut open the stockings and tie them around: the shoes we cannot use." Of course, we all laughed and Susie thought I was the funniest man in the world. She could hardly wait for me to come again to tell her why I had done such a funny

In two weeks, according to my promise, I was at my friend's house again. Susie had watched her little rose-bush, or rather the clothes which covered it, and longed for my coming. But when we took the bonnet, gown, skirt, shirt, and stockings away, lo and behold, the beautiful rose-bush had lost its rich green, the flower had lost its beautiful color,-had become, like its mistress. pale and sickly.

"O!" she cried, "what made you do so? why, you have spoiled my beautiful rose-bush."

I said, "Now, my dear little one, you must not blame me, for I did this that you might remember something of great importance to you. You and this rose-bush live out here in the broad, genial sunshine together. You are pale and sickly; the rose bush has been healthy and beautiful. I put your clothes on this rose-bush to show you why you are so white and weak. If we had kept these clothes upon the bush for a month health.

"But would you have me go naked, sir ?" " No, not altogether, but I would have you healthy and happy. And now I am going to ask your papa to build out here in the little garden a vard, with a close fence, and when the sun shines you must come out into the yard with your nurse, and take off all your clothes and play in the sunshine for half an hour, or until your skin looks pretty red."

After a hearty laugh, the good papa asked if I was serious about it. I told him never more so. and that when I should come to them again, a month hence, if Susie had such a baptism in the sunshine four or five times a week, I could promise that the headache and sleeplessness from which she suffered so much would be lessened, and perhaps removed.

The carpenter was set at work, and in two days the enclosure surrounding a bed of flowers, was completed. At eleven o'clock the next morning. a naked little girl, with a very white skin, might have been running about within the pen; papa. mamma, and the nurse clapping their hands and shouting. I had been careful to say that her head should be well protected for the first few days with a large damp towel, then with a little flat hat, and finally the head must be exposed like

I looked forward with a great deal of inferest to my next visit. Susie met me with, "O, I am black as an Indian."

" Well, but how is your health?" The good mother said, " she certainly has greatly improved; her appetite is better, and I never knew her to sleep so well before."

There were four children in the family, and all of them greatly need sun-baths. As there were two boys and two girls, it came to pass soon that another pen was built, and four naked children received a daily baptism in the blessed sunshine. And all these children improved in health, as much as that rose-bush did after we removed its funny dress. The good Lord has so made children that they are as dependent upon the sun for their life and health as plants are. When you try to make a bouse-plant grow far removed from the window, where the direct rays of the sun cannot fall upon it, you know it is small, pale, and sickly; it will not long survive. If in addition to by aceping it from the window, you dress it with the clothes which a child wears, it will very soon sicken and die. If you keep within doors, and do not go into the sunshine, or, if, when you do go out, you wear a Shaker bonnet and gloves. you must, like the house-plant, become pale and

Our young folks will ask me, "What is to be done? Are we to go naked !" O no, not naked, but it would add greatly to your health and strength, and your ability to work with both mind and body, if every part of your body could be exposed to the sunshine a little every day. And if you are pale and feeble, the victim of throat, lung, nerve, or other affection, you must seek a new life in this exposure of your whole body to the sun-bath. But if you go a great deal in the open air, and expose your face and hands to the direct rays of the sun, you will All of which is now offered on the most favorable terms t probably do very well.

Just think of it, your whole body under your clothes in the dark, like a potato-vine trying to grow in a dark cellar. When you take off your dress and look at your skin, are you not sometimes almost frightened to see how white and hastly it seems! How elastic, tough and cheerghastly it seems! How elastic, tough and cheerful our young folks would become, could this white, sickly skin be exposed every day to the sunshine! In no other way could they spend an hour which would contribute so much to their welfare. Carry that white sickly potato-vine from the cellar out into the blessed sunshine, and immediately it begins to get color, health and strength. Carry that little girl from the dark parlor, where she is nervous, irritable, and unhappy, into the sunshine, and immediately the blood starts anew; soon the skin takes on a beautiful tinge, the little one digests better, her tongue wears a better color, she sleeps better, her nerves are quiet, and many happy changes come.

Twenty years ago I saw a dear, sweet child, of two years, die of croup. More than thirty hours we stood around its bed, working, weeping, praying, hoping, despairing; but about one o'clock in the morning, the last painful struggle for breath gave way to the peaceful sleep of death.

On the following Sunday we gathered at the ad home to attend the funeral. The little coffin was brought out under a shade tree, and placed upon a chair, just under the window of the bedcoom where the little one had always slept, and there the broken-hearted mother and father, with many neighbors, and the kind-hearted minister, all wept together. And then we all walked to the grave-yard, only a little distance away, and buried the little one in the cold ground.

On the very evening of that same day the brother of Charlie who was about two years older. was taken with the same disease. I was called n to see him. O, how pitiful, how very touching, were the moanings and groanings of that mother When the sun rose the next morning, the sufferer was better; as night came on he was much worse again, but on the following day was able to ride

Within a few days I sought an opportunity to peak with the parents about the management of their little son. It was painful to tell them that I thought they might have prevented the death of Charlie. But I said what I thought was true, and then advised a new policy in the case of the remaining child. I said to them, "Your son who has been taken away from you was carefully screened from the sunshine. When he rode out in the baby-wagon, it was always under the cover. And he slept always in that bed-room, into which the direct rays of the sun never come; that great tree makes it impossible. A child cannot live where a plant will not grow; and if you doubt what I am telling you, try a pot of flowers in Charlie's bedroom. You will find that in a single month the leaves will fall, and the plant will die. Charlie spent three quarters of his life in that

The mother cried out in very anguish of soul, What shall we do?"

"Well," I said, "my dear friend, if you would save this child, and that is the only available sleeping-room for it, I advise that you have the trees which shade that part of the house cut down. Trees should never be allowed to shade human dwellings. They are beautiful and noble bjects, to my fancy more beautiful and noble han any other production of our planet, and I would have them multiplied, but would not have them near our houses.'

The trees were cut down, the blessed sunshine came in to dry, sweeten, and purify the bedroom. Its atmosphere was so changed that no one could fail to observe it. The child was kept much in the open air, when taking his mid-day nap he was occasionally laid naked upon a mattress, near a window, in the direct rays of the sun, his head protected, but the rest of his body exposed to the sunshine. The little fellow's health greatly improved. I believe he never had another attack of

Our young folks should never sleep in bedrooms that have not the direct sunshine. They should never sleep in bedrooms the windows of which are shaded by a piazza or a tree; and if they would have the very best health, they must live as constantly as possible in the sunshine. And all who have delicate health must, with their clothes removed, take daily sun-baths during the summer season. Such a bath will give them very little trouble, and they have no idea how much it will add to their health and happiness. One good bath in the sunshine is worth many baths in the water, valuable as these are. Some people admire or two, it would entirely have lost its color and pale girls. They make good ghosts, but are not worth much as girls. God hung up that great sun in the heavens as the fourtain of light, health, beauty, and glory for our earth. Our young folks, by living in houses with piazzas, shadetrees, close blinds, and curtains, and by using in their walks broad-brimmed hats, gloves, parasols, and veils, deprive themselves in great part of the many blessings which our Heavenly Father would confer on them through the great sun.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be Letter of Rev. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain of the 107th New Letter of Rev. E. F. Crans, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

Near Acquia Creek, March 4, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment.

* * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them.

REV. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain. Letter from the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa. Gentlemen—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me half a dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for 83.50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money enclosed.

I am very truly yours, N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church. Soldiers' Home, Superintendent's Office, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15th, 1868.

1 have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvellous and gratifying. Such a preparation as this I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field.

GREY COTTONS!

REDUCTION IN PRICE! WING to the recent fall in the price of Cotton, we are now able to make a large reduction in the price of GREY COTTONS, Manufactured at the New Brunswick Cotton Mills.

and we beg to inform the trade that we intend to supply them with our manufactures at a lower price, and of a better quality, than they can possibly be imported from England.

WM. PARKS & SON. WAREHOUSE: 51, PRINCE WILLIAM STREET.

ARD Rubber Trusses.—We have just received a few of these Trusses. The maker says: "After devoting considerable time to the investigation and treatment of this disease (Hernia or Rupture), and becoming familiar with the practical working and defects of the various kinds of Trusses in use, the instrument now under consideration was devised with the vew of combining (if possible) all the good qualities of other Trusses without their faults, and after actual and of repeated experiments, it is believed to accomplish this long sought and desirable object in a much more effectual and satisfactory manner than any other Truss." These Trusses can be washed without injury

A Slight Cold, Cough,

Moarseness, or Sare Threat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Raugh or Might Rold in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs.

Brown's Branchial Fraches
were first introduced eleven years ago.
It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Roughs, Rolds, Reanchitis, Asthma, Katarrh, the Hacking Cough in Kan-sumption, and numerous affections of the Dhraat, giving immediate relief.

will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. Sold by all Oruggists and Oealers in Medicine, at 25 cents per box.
