

whom it is calculated one-half will belong to the working, and one-half to the middle classes. But against this there is a small deduction, on account of the proposed disfranchisement of the artisans and labourers employed in the Government dock-yards, which probably will not be carried out. Such is the substance of the new Reform Bill, and in regard to it one cannot without any sympathy from the Government in its apparently honest endeavor to grapple with this momentous question, or help feeling the force of Mr. Gladstone's observation when he said, "It was probable that, according to the various tempers of men's minds, they would be told by those that they had done too little, and by others that they had done too much, but their answer was, that they had done their best." For two hours and a-half the House listened with intense interest to his masterly exposition of the views of the Government in relation to this matter, and when he had concluded, which he did with an eloquent tribute to the value of freedom, everyone felt that he had added one more to the many laurels he has already gained in Parliamentary warfare. The discussion which followed was principally remarkable as indicating that the opponents of the measure will not be able to rank themselves among the Liberals, but who, in reality, ought to take their places amongst, and be ranked with, the Conservative section of the House. Amongst these pretended Liberals may be classed Mr. Laing, Mr. Horsman, and Mr. Lowe, the two former of whom made insidious and damaging speeches against the measure, and the latter of whom moved the adjournment of the debate with the intention on Tuesday night of doing what he no doubt considered to be the most good service. This intention he well fulfilled on Tuesday, when he opened the debate and delivered himself of one of those sarcastic speeches to which he usually treats the House on this subject; but the effect of it was sadly spoiled afterwards by Mr. Croker, Sir Robert Inglis, and Sir C. Wetherall, against the Reform Bill of 1832, and showed that Mr. Lowe had borrowed his arguments from them, and his peroration from Mr. Canning. The debate was rendered remarkable by a very able speech from Mr. Fox, the blind member for Brighton. It was the first time he had addressed the House, but he displayed great debating power, and he hit Mr. Lowe, Mr. Horsman, and Mr. Laing very hard. Mr. Bright followed with a severe criticism on the Bill, which, however, on the whole, he supported, and at length the question that leave be given to bring in the Bill was carried without a division, but the second reading is not to come on till the 12th of April.

—THE ABOLITION OF CHURCH RATES, so offensive to all classes of dissenters, so called, is likely to be sustained by a respectable majority in the Lower House. Mr. Cardwell suggested abolishing all compulsory measures to collect Church rates, and in this idea Mr. Bright, Mr. Samuel Morley and others of their class, acquiesced. It will be a happy day for England and for her national Church, when the support of christianity, in all its departments and connections, is sustained wholly by the freewill offerings of the people.

ARRIVAL OF THE "CITY OF PARIS." New York, April 2.

The City of Paris with Liverpool dates to the 23d, arrived. In the House of Commons Earl Grosvenor gave notice that on the 2nd reading of the Reform Bill he would move an amendment, bringing it in expedient to discuss the Bill until the House had before it the entire Reform Scheme contemplated by the Government.

Sir W. H. Russell gave notice of an amendment by which the present bill shall not take effect until provision is made for the re-division of representation. The London Times says Lord Stanley will second Earl Grosvenor's amendment, and predicts immediate support for it, and does not too late for the Government to bring forth better bill.

The Morning Post believes that the amendment will prove the death blow to the Ministry. The Daily News and Star regard it as an insidious movement, and as nothing but opposition to reform, and say the Conservatives dare not move a direct negative to the measure.

A Paris telegram of the 20th to the Daily Telegraph, reports on good authority that Head Centre Stephens had just arrived in Paris, having been in London.

A Vienna telegram asserts that declarations of a re-assuring character have been received from Berlin, and apprehensions of a war removed. It is stated that the Gastein Convention will be adhered to.

The London Morning Post believes this statement to be unfounded, and that the relations continue critical.

The ex-cruiser Shenandoah was sold here at auction for $15,750. Breadstuffs sold; Provisions quiet and steady; Consols 94 1/4; United States 5 2/3 1/4.

UNITED STATES. New York, March 31.

The Post states that the American schooner Alma was attacked and captured in the China Sea by three piratical junks. The captain, mate, and part of the crew saved themselves by taking the boats, after gallantly defending the vessel as long as possible.

One million, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the missing bonds stolen from Mr. Lord, have been recovered, and the remainder is expected to be obtained.

Steamer Helvetia, yesterday, landed one thousand and twenty emigrants from Liverpool. Government has prohibited the contemplated celebration of the fall of Richmond, by the colored population of that city.

The imports of U. S. for January and February were over $2 and one-half million. To prevent panic the Commission recommended the passage by Congress of a resolution increasing the duties on imports 10 per cent for 90 days, with the single exception of printing paper unsized, used for books and newspapers exclusively.

Washington dispatches say the monitor Miantonomi has been ordered to the Fishing Banks, to protect the interests of the American citizens in case of possible difficulties.

Orders have been issued to muster out every colored soldier in the service by May 1st.

The Agents of Maximilian recently made an offer to prominent American politicians to give them a contract for collecting Imperial revenues in Mexico for five years, on condition that they will prevent any action by our Government to the President Juarez or inimical to the Empire.

It was rumored in Washington yesterday that a stormy Cabinet meeting had resulted in the notification of Secretaries Stanton and Harlan, by the President, that he would be glad to receive their resignations.

A despatch from Petroleum Centre, Pennsylvania, dated yesterday, says—Another destructive fire visited the oil regions yesterday. The Hyde and Egbert farms, wells at Petroleum Centre took fire and thirty-five wells were burned.

The loss is estimated at twenty-five thousand barrels of oil, and $175,000 in property of various kinds. Late South American news, in order to secure a sufficiency of supplies, Peru has removed the duty on importations of rice, yellow butter, beans, cheese, beef—fresh and salt, barley, jerked beef, hard, peas, lentils, corn, hay and fresh vegetables.

A despatch from Hamilton, C. W., dated Saturday, states that the 13th battalion was mustered out of service that morning, and immediately afterwards received orders to assemble in this afternoon at two o'clock, and that all the Province had been served with the same order.

Much speculation as to the probable cause was indulged in, although no alarm was manifested.

New York, April 3. The President has issued a proclamation of peace, declaring the insurrection at an end, and the late rebel states fully reconstructed and entitled to a restoration of their former relations to the Union.

The Savannah Herald has an account of a report which took place in the city of Savannah, Georgia, and some young men endeavored to avenge an alleged outrage on another white man, who was arrested by negroes and bayoneted. Several shots were fired into the mob, but the riot was subdued by the Mayor and citizens.

The Republicans of Connecticut elected their State ticket yesterday including Governor.

The Government of President Barez of Samouira had hardly been inaugurated before an effort was made to overthrow him, and a revolt broke out in the province of Samouira and various towns, headed by Gen. Cabral. Congress which was in session, promptly voted money and means to suppress the revolt, and by a vigorous blow Barez defeated and routed the rebels, and obliterated the mystery in the revolted district. The rebel leader Cabral has asked permission to leave the country.

Advices from Havana, March 24th, state that there has been a report of negro insurrections on the sugar plantations, also on the plantations of Hernandez, and on two others near Matanzas. The Government ordered cavalry and infantry to prepare to go to the scene. There is little danger to be apprehended of a general insurrection at present. A large detachment has been discovered in the Military Treasury, and the Intendant Don Gouguin Galvez and Intendant Don Rodriguez have been condemned to pay $252,294.10 dollars—There are also large deficiencies in the Custom House and other Departments.

Gold 127 1/2. THE REMARKABLE PROPERTIES OF BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES HAVE BEEN THOROUGHLY TESTED since first introduced. The demand for them has steadily increased, and purely upon their merits, they have found favor with those, who, from Pulmonary, Bronchial, or Asthmatic complaints require them. For Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Influenza, they are entirely efficacious, removing all obstructions, and increasing at once the power and flexibility of the voice.

REV. SYLVANUS COBB, thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman: Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any consideration whatever.
