Every thing in the new city is in modern style, such as you see generally in cities of northern Europe, and like much that you observe in the United States. The old city is, much of it, very old, and being purely German, carries you back six of seven hundred years. You will also notice in plassing, the causis, connected with the river of the scene gives way, and Toegis to find myself, then shape them to symmetrical beauty; lay the strong foundations; rear the walls to the lefty roof; furnish the secret chambers and the open courts; build inward holes to the holiest; overlay the whole with purest gold, silently, that

C.E. Burnham, and Alfred Lordly, have fire specimens of the very best quality. These gentlemen are supplying the market with home manufactured goods that compare favorably with the best imported from the United States. Mr. C. W. Weldon brings forward his spring bed as a model of neatness and of solid comfort for "tired nature" demanding repose. Mr. Christie's frame of green slat blinds looks admirable, and scarcely admits of improvement. Trunks of different sorts, combining capacity, stability and neatness, in fine proportions, are on hand.

BOOTS AND SHOES

occupy, as might be expected, a prominent place, and vet only a small number of the gentlemen engaged in the business have stands in the building. Messrs. Francis & Son have as fine an assortment as you would see in Boston or New York of ladies' and gents' boots of the very best quality. Mr. Hall has a rich variety, and all of superior workmanship. Mr. M'Cart's stand also makes a very creditable appearance. In fact, the boot and shoe department indicates most clearly the rapid progress made in this business within a very few years in St. John. It is on the increase every displayed by the Provincial Paper Collar Company is highly attractive. The varieties of style are numerous, and in form so constructed as to resemble strongly the best quality of linen. This Company richly merits an extensive patronage, and will probably very soon obtain it! It is pleasing to see these new institutions turning out such excellent work. It certainly speaks well for the progressive spirit of our people.

ROLLS OF LEATHER

are exhibited by Mr. W. Peters, Mr. Albert Pcters, of this city, and Mr. McKenzie, of Fredericton. They comprise the different styles for shoes and boots of all descriptions, and for hose and harness making, &c. &c. The leather factories of the country are not as well represented as they should be. We see nothing from the excellent factory at Moneton; but the specimens on show indicate great progress in the leather making art of the Province. New Brunswick will soon be as independent as her neighbors, so far as leather is concerned.
