" Never mind that point; but just tell me one thing. You say you are in your cousin's confidence; and confidence, you must remember, is sacred. Only, I suppose I may ask you on what grounds you contradict the report of this engagement, and what kind of trouble it is that Margaret is in ?"

" My grounds are that Margaret herself contradicts it with all her might. Tom never asked her downright till last night, and she at once said No.' She was even rude to him, she tells me; but it was of no use. And now papa and mamma, and all of them, take it for granted, and talk about it to everybody, and Margaret will either have to yield or to make the most horrible fuss. She said she would run eway and be a beggar rather than be Tom's wife; and do you know, Gilbert, if I were a young lady, and not Tom's own sister, I think I would. WHE AME WI

" And I am sure I would, too, if I were young lady; for your brother has not the stuff in him out of which good husbands are made. But, Gussie, what do you think I can do in the

"In the first place, you must not believe any-thing they say; in the second, you must let Margaret know that you do not; in the third place, you must help to pacify papa and mamma when they find that Margaret really is in carnest; and, lastly, you must never say that I told you anything! Sib would cut my head off if she heard me now!" " Not quite that, I hope."

Meanwhile I went down-stairs, and found only Sibyl in the drawing room; but the moment appeared, she began to discuss the subject most distasteful to me-my alleged engagement. She told me she had written to Mrs. Druce, and that we were to stay at her house in Belgravia when we went up to town about my trousseau; and then she asked who I would like to have for my bridesmaids besides the three children Eliza. Gussie, and Rosa, apologizing for not offering her own services, on the plea of having already appeared in the same capacity so often! In vain I protested that no trousseau was necessary; that marriage was the last thing I was anticipating; that I had never dreamed of being engaged to. Tom; and that nothing on earth would tempt or force me into so detestable a union. I spoke strongly, for I felt that mildness was unavailing : but I might have spared my eloquence, such as it was, for Sibyl was more, imperturbable than her mother, and to all I could say only returned smiling, half-jesting answers, rallying me on my coyness, laughing at my simplicity at not knowing my own mind, scolding me for being "missish," and finishing up with, "It is all very well, Margaret, to go to certain lengths. Of course it is the one chance a woman has of making herself of TERNS, for Ladies', Misses', and Children's Dresses. real consequence, and I do not wonder at you for taking advantage of the opportunity. It is well that we should keep our lovers trembling; and hoping, and fearing for awhile, or what is too CES, JET AMBERS and CRINGLINE TRIMMINGS. easily won may be too lightly prized; and I do not blame you for keeping Tom on the rack for a day or so, it will do him good, and take some of his intolerable conceit out of him ; but, Margaret,"-and she lowered her voice, and spoke very gravely,-" let me advise you not to go too far ! If you make an enemy of Tom, it will be the worse for you afterwards; for it is written in the Book of Fate that you are to be his wife ;and really it is a splendid match for you, such a one as you had no right to expect !"

"I never did and do not expect it. Oh, Sibyl, you will drive me mad between you. Once more I repeat it,—I amon carnest,—I do not love Tom, and I will not marry him; even if I were dragged to the altar, which can scarcely happen in this age and in this country, I would not say the words which should inseparably unite us."

She began to be angry then, "You had better not talk in that way,—we shall not bear it. You wretched, ungrateful girl! Are you not indebted to us for home, position, education, indulgences, everything you have or may have i Have you not been brought out as if you really were a Crofton? are you not treated as a daughter of the house- ?"

I interrupted her. "Yes, Sibyl, since one day in August it has been as you say; and now I see why I am so treated. Up to that evening when we held a certain conversation in Mrs. Crofton's dressing-room, I was a mere cipher in the family,-far worse, for I met often with contumely and injustice, and even the servants were enly and injustice, and even the servants were encouraged to show me disrespect. I think I understand you, Sibyl: you are playing a double game; but intrigue does not always prosper."

Her temper was all in a blaze at this address, and she would probably have said some very forcible things indeed if Mrs. Crofton had not just then appeared, and, half chidingly and half soothingly, stopped the angry torrent of words that was just commencing to overflow the bounds of prudence, and carried me off to prepare for a drive, alleging that I needed fresh air and quiet to chase away my headache and to bring some colour away my headache and to bring some colour back to my pale cheeks.

"Who will drive us?" I inquired timidly.

"Really, Margaret," returned Mrs. Crofton coldly, "you are extremely disagreeable. Are you determined to get up a quarrel? I desire you to go and dress, and be so good as to make haste. I have ordered the ponies round."

"Is Tom going with us?" I asked in despera-

" Of course he is. Now, not another word." "Aunt, I cannot, I will not appear again in public with Tom. My doing so will confirm the feport so falsely spread about of my engagement to him. I have spoken plainly to him, and he must understand me; and I will not give him must understand me; and I will not give him any just reason to call me a flirt or a coquette."

"Upon my word, child, you will tire my patience out. Do you think Tom—my son—is to be sacrificed to your girlish scruples and affectation? Margaret, I tell you Tom will be a castaway if you renounce him. I am sorry that he has made this choice; but, having made it, he must not be thwarted. And, Margaret, once more I tell you it is vain to struggle, it is vain to be rebellious. You are my son's betrothed, the world knows you as such: if—mark what I say—if you persist in being refractory, people will say the match was broken off because you were unworthy. You will either be Tom's wife at the time appointed, or you will be thrown helpless on the world, unprotected, uncared-for, and with blemished reputation."

all at once I felt strengthened to say, "Then coose the latter alternative. But I shall not incared-for: God, who pities the orphan and feres for the oppressed, will be my Protector, by character be injustly blackened. GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE Works like magic on Sores, Burne, Cuts, Wounds, Chilblams, Chapped Hands, Inflammation, &c., taking out the soreness, and healing the parts in a very short time. GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE.

AMESBURY, MASS., Oct. 13th, 1863. Mr. Grace Dear Sir: Having been afflicted grievously for several weeks with a severe abscess upon my side, I used several remedies for its eradication without receiving any relief, until I applied your salve, which effected a speedy and permanent dure. I therefore feel happy to certify my confidence in its virtues.

Yours, with respect, JAMES DEAN.
I certify to the truthfalness of the above statement.

SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, Proprietors.

Sold by all Druggists, at 25 cents a box.

From L. J. RACINE, Esq., of La Minerce, Montreal. "Having experienced the most gratifying results from the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I am induced to express the great confidence which I have in its efficacy. For nine months I was most cruelly afflicted with a severe and obstinate cough, accomcruelly afflicted with a severe and obstinate cough, accompanied with acute pain in the side, which did not leave me, summer or winter. The symptoms increased alarmingly, and so reduced was I that I could walk but a few steps without resting to recover from the pain and fatigue which so slight an exertion occasioned. At this juncture I commenced taking the Balsam, from which I found immediate velief, and after having used four bottles I was completely restored to health. I have also used the Balsam in my family and administered it to my children with the happiest results. I am sure that such Canadians as use the Balsam can but speak in its favor. It is a preparation which has only to be tried to be acknowledged as the remedy paracellence."

PIANOFORTE AND MUSIC WAREROOMS, SHEFFIELD HOUSE, MARKET SOUTER.

MARKET SQUIRE.

WE have now in the Warerooms a number of CABINET ORGANS of our own manufacture.

These Instruments are manufactured with great care, having all the modern improvements, among which is the Automatic Swell, which has given so high a character to the Mas n & Hamlin Organ. Warranted in every respect, equal to the best article manufactured in the United States; and will be sold at prices much lower than can be imported.

An inspection respectfully solicited.

MASON & HAMLIN, MANUFACTURERS OF CABINET ORGANS AND PORTABLE ORGANS.

Adapted to Secular and Sacred Music; for Drawing-Rooms, Churches, Sunday and Day-Schools, Lodges, &c.

Uniting to a considerable extent the capacity of the Piano-Forte with that of the Pipe-Organ, and cossing much less there sither.

They occupy little space; are elegant as ferniture; not liable to get out of order, and are securely, bexed, so that they can be sent anywhere by ordinary freight routes, all Forty Styles, plain or elegant cases; ore to twelve stops; Prices, $75, $90, $110, $125, $130, $140, $150, $150, $160, $170, $200, $225, $250, $300, $435, $500, $550, $600, and upwards. The Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs were introduced four years since, and are a great improvement upon the Melodeon, Harmonium, and other reed organs, greatly ex-celling them, especially in the excellent quality and variety of their tones; in power and quickness of action, and caof their tones; in power and quickness of action, and capacity for expression.

Their success has been entirely beyond precedent, and proves how greatly such an instrument was needed. Again and again the manufacturers have been compelled to double their manufacturing facilities, until they have increased six-fold. From the most emineat of the musical profession, the most distinguished planists, organists, composers and musical directors, the Mason & Hamin Cabinet Organs have received an agrount and degree of commendation sev-

and musical directors, the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have received an amount and degree of commendation severable fore bestowed upon any similar musical instrument flore than two hundred and fifty of the most eminent musicians in the country have given written testimonials to the value of the improvements contained in them, and that they excel all other instruments of this class.

Yrity-five Gold or Siver Medals, or other highest Premiums, have been awarded to Mason & Hamlin for the important improvements effected by them, and for the superiority of their instruments to all others.

Constantly exhibiting their instruments in competition with others, they have been awarded the highest premium rith others, they have been awarded the highest premium with others, they have been awarded the nighest premium in every instance, but three or four.

For churches, sunday schools, &c., the MASON & HAM-LIN CABINET ORIGANS are the instruments long wanted, —of the very best quality, abundant power, not too expensive, nor liable to get out of order.

For private use, in drawing rooms, &c., they are not less desirable, and are finding a place in the musical families of the principal cities.

They are adapted to a wider range of music than the Pi ano, being better fitted for all sacred music and for much secular music, while their quickness of action is such that the most lively, rapid music can be played on them. Then their cost is greatly less, as well as their liability to get out of order.

BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM OPINIONS OF DISTINGUISHED MUSICIANS:

I should think they would become very much sought after as parlor instruments as well as for public performance.—Sigismond Thalberg, the world-renowned Pianist. Sure to find its way into every household of taste and refinement which can possibly afford its moderate expense.

* * Far superior to exerything of its class I have seen.—L. M. Gottschalk, the eminent Pianist.—Such pure musical tones, promptness and smoothness of action and fine variety of effect, I have not found in any other instrument of the class.—S. B. Mills, the eminent Pianist. Really so excellent that there can hardly be much difference of opinion respecting them.—William Mason, the eminent Pianist. The best instrument of its class with which I am aequainted, and worthy a place in every drawing room.— Pianist. The best instrument of its class with which I am aequainted, and worthy a place in every drawing room.—Harry Sanderson, the eminent Pianist. In every respect far superior to every faing I have ever seen of the kind, whether in Europe or America.—George Washbourne Morgan, the eminent Organist, N. Y. I can only resterate what so many in the musical profession have said, that for equality, promptness and exquisite tone, they are unequalled.—John It. Wilcox, the eminent Organist, Boston, Surpasses everything in this line I have ever seen whether French or American.—John Zundel, the eminent Organist, N. Y. The best reed instruments in the world are made in the United States, and your Cabinet Organis are greatly superior, and by far the best made here.—Max Maretzek, Musical Conductor, N. Y. Far surpasses all other similar instruments which have come under my observation.—Carl Zerrahn, Musical Conductor, Boston. Exceeds in my Carl Zerrahn, Musical Conductor, Boston. Exceeds in my PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON estimation every other instrument of this general class.— Thos. Hastings. I can recommend them with confidence.

Lowell Mason. As soon, as the public become acquainted with the superior merits of your instruments, your only with the superior merits of your instruments, your only trouble will be to supply the demand.—Win. B. Bradbury. I have never seen anything of the kind which interested me so much.—Geo. F. Root. Exciting much interest in musical circles, and already becoming the fashion.—N. Y. Home Journal. The highest accomplishment of industry in this department. This is not our epinion, but the unanimous verdict of the organists.—Boston Advertiser.—A glorious instrument for the temple service, so readily secured as to be available for any congregation, and effective and irequiful as to meet the desires of the most refined and fastidious.—N. Y. Observer. The MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS must no The AUTOMATIC BELLOWS SWELL (patented), most important invention, and greatly the best swell ever devised; being much more effective and easily used than any other. The variety and beauty of effect of which it is capable, cannot be appreciated except from actual use. The many attempts to imitate or find a substitute for this swell, prove its walket. None of them, however, approach

TAKE great pleasure in recommending to my friends in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick the Boys Boarding School of Mr. Cherbuliez. I know him as a highly cultivated gentleman and an accomplished and skilful teacher.—
He is a Swiss Protestant, but long resident in this country, and for 17 years he has been connected with Pelham Priory, which is no small recommendation. His school offers superior advantages for acquiring a skilful knowledge of the French language.
