No, indeed," I thought; " not if I never go to Maple Cottage any more. I could not avoid his escert to-night, -indeed I should be most ungrateful did I not confess that I was extremely glad to see him; but I will take care it does not occur again."

But it did occur again so far as Ton was concerned very quickly. The next day Saturday-while Gussie and I were changing books at the library, he came into the shop, and advised us to read "Handy Andy," and "Ten Thousand Topsail Sheet-blocks," or something very like it, and be selected the "Dog Fiend" for his own especial edification, and mortally offended Gussie by offering to purchase for her "The True History of Mother Bunch." Gussie, who had just taken to Mrs. Heman's poetry, and had expressed a wish to be allowed to read "Corimie" with Hetty North, felt herself completely outraged, and replied with dignity, "You can buy it for Rosa if you like; though I am not sure that she will care about it." Gussie had a would be grown up air about her that was mightily diverting, when she those to put it on. Then, of course, Tom walked home with us, for it was about luncheon time; and just as we reached the gates we met Mrs. Crofton and Sibyl driving with Gilbert and Mr. Saunderson. They all smiled graciously on us, excepting the old gentleman, who scowled at us, as it we had just then personally affronted him, and as they passed before us along the drive, Tom said.

poor as a church mouse than have such a wife as Sibyl will make him. It will be great fun to go and see them when the honeymoon is well over, and Sib is shining out in her true colors, and Gilbort is just getting disenchanted. The miserable fellow! he will not be able to say his soul is his

M You do not know Gilbert Tredgold," I replied. Unless he is greatly altered he is not the man to succumb to any woman's temper; but are you sure that he intends Sityl to be his wife ?"

"It really looks very much like it, that is all I can say; but how he can like such a wax doll sort of beauty I cannot imagine. I hate that smooth golden hair, and these turquoise blue over, and a skin that looks as if it would spoil, like a bonnet, if it were caught in a heavy shower. No, no Margarita bella; a nut-brown

"With plenty of 'tin,' of course !" I remarked, half-amused, and half wondering whether a compliment was paid to my own tawny face and

No I don't care about tin now. I did office; but that is all over, Margaret. The wife I choose must be a handsome, spirited, elever, good, of course a gentlewoman, and a capital musician. She must be younger than myself, of courseabout five years, say, not more. I don't want a baby, or a mere bread-and-butter girl. As for money, I do not care a jot about it. "That is quite a new decision," I replied bas . MAll my doing !" I exclaimed in great affright. "Ob. Tom! what can you mean?"

"It is one I came to about two months ago, and I had a talk with the governor. It was all your doing."

"Don't you remember my telling you what a lot of scrapes I was in money scrapes you know? And didn't you advise me to go to the governor, and tell him all about it, instead of borrowing afresh at nobody knows what per cent? Well, I took your advice and went, Margaret; and we had the very jolliest row you can imagive, at never saw my father in such a rage; he yowed he would disinherit me; he declared I should bring down his grey hairs with sorrow to the grave, and all that kind of thing, you know. It doesn't mean much; and governors always say it when they get aggravated; but it is decidedly unpleasant to listen to, -particularly when you know you are in a fix, and can only say, 'I am sure i am very sorry sir; Lhad no idea it was half as much, dec.

But what had your confession to do with—!"
With getting married! Oh! my father asked me if I had any objection to wedded happiness; and I replied at once, None in the world, provided I might have the girl of my choice. But of course there was the question of supplies to be considered, and the beloved pater proposed Miss Agatha Druce as being a very fine. wound woman, and also as being in the enjoy-ment of an independent fortune! But, Margaret, Lireptied that I had no opinion of double alliances, and that I would see the fair Agatha drawned before I would make her Mrs. Crofton! At last, after a very tempest of a row, we came to something like an arrangement. I told themtor my mother joined action when the fray was at its height—that I would marry one person or nobody at all, and as they want to see me set tled dawn, and as sober as a judge, they were forced to give way. So that is just how the mat-

"I know nothing; and if you keep me here," Tom, I shall have no luncheon, and I am really half-starving!" And, without giving him time to reply, I seized Gussie by the hand, and ran with her into the house.

If I were not greatly mistaken, I understood now that I was to be given to Tom as the price of his reformation. He had been too freely in dulged in his youth to endure even the slightest, restraint in manhood, and he was resolved on having his own way in this particular emergency. Strangely enough, he had elected that I should be the strangely enough he had elected that I should be the strangely enough. crangely chough, he had elected that is erhis wife, and his parents were fain to yield to is persuasions; for well they knew that if they craved consent he would either do his best to refused consent he would either do his best to the me over without their sanction of he would, in revenge, plunge desperately into greater ex-cesses than before. So they had agreed, I doubted not, to ratify his choice, and pay his debts once more and settle apon him a suitable income, on condition of his tenouncing evil ways dy married man, and a respectable memb take it without more ado? Tom had really said nothing yet, and it would not do to proceed to extremities on mere surmises, however well founded they might be. I could not well appear too conscious; so I moved quietly to the empty chair, feeling all the time that Mr. Saunderson's sternest gaze was fixed upon me. (To be Continued.)

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY This remedy has long been cherished by the community for its remarkable efficacy in relieving, healing and curing the most obstinate, painful and long standing cases o Caugh, Cold, Influenza, Sore Throat, Bronchit s, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Taflammation of the Lungs while even Consumption itself has yielded to its magic influence when all other nieans have failed. Its whole history proves, that the past has produced no remedy of equal value, as a cure for the numerous and dangerous pulmonary affections which prevail all over the land.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Andrew Archer, Esq., of Fairfield, Me. "About eight years since, my son, Henry A. Archer, now Postmaster at Fairfield, Somerset County, Me., was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of Lungs, and general debility,—so much so that our family physician declared him to have a "Seated Consumption." He was under medical treatment for a number of months, but received no benefit from it. At length, from the solicitation of himself and others, I was induced to purchase one bottle of WISTAR'S HALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, which benefitted him so much I obtained another bottle, which in a entited him so much I obtained another bottle, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I think I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—rus Great Lang Remen'r for the Times! The above statement, gentlemen, is my voluntary offering to you in favor of your Balsam, and is at your disposal."

four years since, and are a great improvement upon the Melodeon, Harmonium, and other reed organs, greatly excelling them, especially in the excellent quality and variety of their tones; in power and quickness of action, and ca pacity for expression.

Their success has been entirely beyond precedent, and proves how greatly such an instrument was needed. Again and again the manufacturers have been compelled to douand again the manufacturing facilities, until they have increased six fold. From the most eminent of the musical profession, the most distinguished planists, organists, composers and musical directors, the Mason & Hamilto Cabinet Organs have received an amount and degree of commendation nev-er before bestowed upon any similar musical instrument. More than two hundred and fifty of the most emisent musicians in the country have given written testimonials to the value of the improvements contained in them, and that they excel all other instruments of this class. Fifty-five Gold or Siver Medals, or other highest Premiums, have been awarded to Mason & Hamlin for the impertant improvements effected by them, and for the superiority of their instruments to all others. Constantly exhibiting their instruments in competition with others, they have been awarded the highest premium n every instance, but three or tour.

For churches, sunday schools, &c., the MASON & HAM, LIN CABINET ORGANS are the instruments long wanted, of the very best quality, abundant power, not too expensive, nor liable to get out of order.

For private use, in drawing rooms, &c., they are not less desirable, and are finding a place in the musical families of the principal cities.

They are shapted to a wider range of music than the Piano, being better fitted for all sacred music and for much secular music, while their quickness of action is such that the most lively, rapid music can be played on them. Then their cost is greatly less, as well as their liability to get BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM OPINIONS OF DISTIN-

B. Mills, the eminent Pianist. Reof opinion respecting them.—William Mason, the eniment Planist: The best instrument of its class with which I am Plantst: The best instrument of its class with which I an acquainted, and worthy a place in every drawing room.—
Harry Sanderson, the eminent Plantst: In every respect far superior to everything I have ever seen of the kind, whether in Europe or America.—George Washbourne Morgan, the eminent Organist, N. Y. I can only reiterate what so many in the musical profession have said, that for equality, promptness and exquisite tone, they are unequalled.—John H. Wilcox, the eminent Organist, Boston Surpasses everything in this line I have ever seen, whether Freuch or American.—John Zundel, the eminent Organist, N. Y. The hest reed instruments in the world are made. rious instrument for the temple service, so readily secured as to be available for any congregation, and effective and beautiful as to meet the desires of the most refined and fastidious.—N. Y. Observer.

The MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS must not be confounded with other reed instruments, from which they vary essentially, their superiority being largely desi-ved from PATENTED IMPROVEMENTS, which cannot be empleyed by other makers. Among them are:
The AUTOMATIC BELLOWS SWELL (patented),

The AUTOMATIC BELLOWS SWELL (patented), a most important invention, and greatly the best swell ever devised; being much more effective and easily us of than any other. The variety and beauty of effect of which it is capable, cannot be appreciated except from actual use. The many attempts to imitate or find a substituse for this swell, prove its value. None of them, however, approach it in excellence and simplicity.

IMPROVED SELF-ADJUSTING VALVES (natented), secure much more perfect action, durability and freedom from liability to get out of order.

WOOD'S OUTAVE COUPLET (patented), in effect nearly doubles the power of the mistrument in which it is used.

NOISELESS SAFETY VALVES (patented), prevent the hissing sound often heard.

issing sound often heard.
The IMPROYED COMBINATION REGISTER (patent ed), gives great facility in drawing stops

Reference—Mr. C. F. Hartt. Address:

Polham Winchester County Na Y. TAKE great pleasure in recommending to my friends in I Nevs Scotia and New Brunswick the Boye Boarding School of Mr. Cherbulicz. I know him as a highly cultivated gentleman and an accomplished and skilful teacher. He is a Swiss Protestant, but long resident in this country, and for 17 years he has been connected with Pelham Priorry, which is no small recommendation. His school offers superior advantages for acquiring a skilful knowledge of the French language.
