The Samily and the Sarm.

The Sailer Boy's Prayer. "Thy way is in the sea, and Thy path in the great

The winds were howling madly In the rigging of our ship ; And we thought the good Cordelia To the bottom soon might slip. The rigging was entangled At the main-mast-who would dare To ascend the creaking ladders And the ropes adjust with care ?

" Ho, ho, my little hearty," Said the mate, with steadfast eye, " Up, up, and clear the rigging,-To the main-mast quickly fly !" Poor Dick, he eyed in silence-The swinging mast,—the sea, Holding with the sky and tempest A fearful colloquy.

A moment more he lingered, Then with darting step he sped Far down in the forecastle, To his little swinging bed;

Up the ratines now he clambers To the fearful, dizzy height, And soon with dextrous fingers He sets the rigging right.

We gazed until our eyelids Were brimmed with agony, For we feared the lurching vessel Would plunge him in the sea. But as lithesome as a squirrel He descends the lines again, While a smile played o'er his features ; 'Twas a joy to see him then.

Soon I asked, " My boy, why lingered Your footstep at the word?" "Ah !" said he, " I pondered deeply, For at Sabbath school I heard Of the Mighty One, whose pathway Is in the raging sea, And I lingered but to ask him

To protect and succor me.

" My mother and my teachers Bade me pray to God each day : So I stowed my little Testament Close to my heart away; For I thought if I should perish In God's pathway, he would see That his sacred words I cherish, His words of love to me."

"Them That Honor Me, I Will Honor,"

" That's right, my boy," said the merchant, smiling approvingly upon the bright face of hishop-boy. He brought him a dollar that lay among the dust and paper of the sweepings.

"That's right," he said again ; " always be honest, it is the best."

" Should you say that ?" asked the lad timidly "Should I say what ? that honesty is the bespolicy ? Why, its a time-honored old saying-t don't know about the elevating tendency of the thing-the spirit is rather narrow, I will allow."

"So grandmother taught me," replied the boy ; " she said we must do right because God approved it without thinking what man would sav.

The merchant turned abruptly toward the desk, and the thoughtful-faced little lad resumed hi duties.

In the course of the morning, a rich and influential citizen called at the store.

" Time enough has brought me here," replied he. " I was always putting off necessary business by saying that. Now I am old the babit is fixed. and I can not break myself of it. If you do not lend me five dollars I shall have to go to the poor house or starve."

"Boys," continued the gentleman, "time enough ruined that man's life. Take care that it does not ruin yours."

ing, he said : "I have no children of my own. and I fear to adopt one. My experience is, that a boy of twelve (the age I should prefer) is fixed in his habits, and if bad-"

" Stop !" said the merchant, " do you see that lad yonder ?"

"With that noble brow ?- yes, what of him ?" "He is remarkable-"

"Yes, ves-that's what everybody tells me who has a boy to dispose of-no doubt he'll de well enough before your face. I've tried a good many, and have been deceived more than once.'

"I was going to say," remarked the merchant calmly, " that he is remarkable for his principle. Never have I known him to deviate from the right, sir-never. He would restore a pin-indeed (the merchant colored), he's a little too honest for my employ. He points out flaws in goods, and I cannot teach prudence in that respect-common prudence, you know, is—is common prudence— ahem !"

The stranger made no assent, and the merchan hurried on to say-

"He was a parish orphan taken by an old wo man out of pity, when yet a babe. Poverty ha been his lot; no doubt he has suffered from coland hunger uncounted times; his hands have been frozen, so have his feet. Sir, that boy would have died rather than be dishonest. I can't ac count for it-upon my word I can't."

"Have you any claim upon him ?"

" Not the least in the world, except what common benevolence offers. Indeed, the boy is entirely too good for me."

" Then I'll adopt him ; and if I have found one really honest boy, I'll thank God."

The little fellow rode home in a carriage, and was ushered into a luxurious home ; and he who sat shivering in a cold corner listening to the words of a poor old pious creature, who has been taught of the spirit, became one of the bes and greatest divines that Eogland ever produced, "Them that honor me, I will honor.'

"Time Enough."

" Fred, you must clean your boots before you go to school," said Mrs. Lawrence to her son. "I know it, mother; but it's time enough," replied Fred, who sat reading a story-book. Presently the lady spoke again. " Fred, hav-you looked over your grammar-lesson this morn-ing ? It is too difficult to learn in a hurry." "Well, I almost learned it last night ; it's time enough ; I want to finish this chapter," answere Fred.

"O, my son !" said Mrs. Lawrence, "I wish you would overcome that habit of putting off necessary duties."

Fred closed the story-book reluctantly, and took his grammar, wishing that his mother woul not " bother him so; he knew he had tim. enough."

Presently Mrs. Lawrence left the room, feeling very much troubled about Fred's bad habit, an wishing that he could be induced to break it of before he became a man. Knowing that Go: only could give him the strength and disposition to do so, she went to her own room, and kneeling down, prayed to this effect.

That day a gentleman visited the school ; an after listening with apparent pleasure to varion exercises by the scholars, the principal requeste him to talk to the boys a little while. He did so and interested them very much by relating some anecdotes of his own school life. One of these incidents was the means, by God's blessing, o curing Fred's habit. It seemed to Fred that the gentleman must have known what his bad habi was, or he could not have said anything so suite to his case. The gentleman said that one day hi was stopped in the street by a very shabby-look ing map, who, after calling him by name, an asking him if he did not remember Henry Brown begred him to lend him some mores

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in cur possession.

From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.

BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868. I hereby certify that I have used Tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two, pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times-I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for Tobaeco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure if the directions are followed. W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867. This is to certify that I had used Tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for Tobaccosince using the Prepara-tion. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of Tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation. E. W. ADKINS. [From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

Bangos, Me., March 24, 1868. This is to certify that I have used Tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffer-ed so much from a dizziness in my head and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a triend induced me to try Orton's Preparation and her son. (sold by you). I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the lesst hanker after Tobacco, either to smoke I did not in the least hanger and Preparation. or chew, after I began to use the Freparation. JOHN MORBILL.
