Lament of the Irish Emigrant.

BY LADY DUFFERIN. In view of the recent death of its author, a woman as lovely in nature as she was brilliant in mind, a melancholy interest attaches to this familiar poem, one of the simplest and most pathetic in our language.

I'm sittin' on the stile, Mary, Where we sat side by side On a bright May mornin' long age, When first you were my bride; The corn was springin' fresh and green, And the lark sang loud and high-And the red was on your lip, Mary, And the love-light in your eye.

The place is little changed, Mary, The day is bright as then; The lark's lond song is in my ear And the corn is green again : But I miss the soft clasp of your hand, And your breath warm on my cheek. And I still keep list'nin' for the words You never more will speak.

'Tis but a step down yonder lane, And the little church stands near, The church where we were wed, Mary, I see the spire from here. But the graveyard lies between, Mary, And my step might break your rest-For I've laid you, darling! down to sleep

With your baby on your breast. I'm very lonely now, Mary, For the poor make no new friends, But O! they love the better still The few our Father sends! And you were all I had, Marv.

My blessing and my pride; There's nothing left to care for now, Since my poor Mary died. Yours was the good, brave heart, Mary,

That still kept hoping on, When the trust in God had left my sowl, And my arm's young strength was gone ; There was comfort ever on your lip,-And the kind look on your brow-I bless you, Mary, for that same. Though you cannot hear me now.

I thank you for the patient smile When your heart was fit to break. When the hunger pain was gnawin' there, And you hid it for my sake ! I bless you for the pleasant word, When your heart was sad and sore-O! I'm thankful you are gone, Mary, Where grief can't reach you more!

I'm biddin' you a long farewell, My Mary-kind and true! But I'll not forget you, darling ! In the land I'm goin' to; They say there's bread and work for all, And the sun shines always there-But I'll not forget old Ireland, Were it fifty times as fair !

And often in those grand old woods I'll sit, and shut my eyes, And my heart will travel back again To the place where Mary lies; And I'll think I see the little stile Where we sat side by side, And the springin' corn, and bright May morn, When first you were my bride.

Preserving Harness.

The Shoe and Leather Reporter gives some valuable hints in relation to the preservation of leather. The extreme heat to which most persons expose boots and shoes during winter deprives leather of its vitality, rendering it liable to break and crack. Patent leather particularly is often destroyed in this manner. When leather becomes so warm as to give off the smell of leather, it is singed. Next to the singeing caused by fire heat, are the heat and dampness caused by the covering of rubber. Close rubber shoes destroy the life of leather. The practice of washing barness in warm water and with soap is very damaging. If a coat of oil is put on immediately after washing, the damage is repaired. No harness is ever so soiled that a damp sponge will not remove the dirt; but even when the sponge is applied, it is always useful to add a slight coat of oil by the use of another sponge. All varnishes, and all blacking containing the properties of varnish, should be avoided. Ignorant and indolent hostlers are apt to use such substances on their harness as will give the most immediate effect, and these as a general thing are most destructive to the leather.

When harness loses its lustre and turns brown, which almost any leather will do after long exposure to the air, the harness should be given a new coat of grain black. Before using this grain black the grain surface should be thoroughly washed with potash water until all the grease is killed, and after the application of the grain black, oil and tallow should be applied to the surface. This will not only "fasten the color," but make the leather flexible. Harness which is grained can be cleaned with kerosene or spirits of turpentine, and no harm will result if the parts affected are washed and oiled immediately afterward.

Shoe leather is generally abused. Persons know nothing or care less about the kind of material used than they do about the polish produced. Vitriol blacking is used until every particle of the oil in the leather is destroyed. To remedy this abuse the leather should be washed once a mouth with warm water, and when about half dry, a coat of oil and tallow should be applied, and the boots set aside for a day or two. This will renew the elasticity and life, in the leather, and when thus used upper leather will seldom crack or break.

CLOVER AND TIMOTHY .- A. Hadley, in a communication to the Northwestern Farmer, gives what he regards three important reasons why clover should be sown with timothy. First, the clover ver being tap-rooted penetrates deeply, stands drouth, mellows the soil, and the timothy grows much stronger and holds up the clover. Secondly, if sown for pasturage, the timothy almost universally prevents the clover from swelling cattle. Thirdly, hay is too binding, especially for cattle, and clover too washy (succelent), hence both together are better than either alone. To these we may add, under the head of the first, that where grass comes in a rotation, it is of the utmost importance on a clay soil, that at least a part of this grass crop be clover. It will serve to mellow and oosen the heavy soil in a remarkable degree, so that when turned over with a plough, it will not only be rich, but loose and friable. If, on the other hand, timothy alone is sown (which some do because the hay sells better), the sod will turn over heavy and clammy, and be unfit for any crop which is to follow. The same correspondent says that he is partial to rye for calf or sheep pustures, which he occasionally sows in the summer or autumn, after a crop of corn; and then, after being pastured winter and spring, it is turned under for a spring crop—corn, if the soil be strong enough—or it may be allowed to go to harvest.—Country Gentleman.

THE CARROT should always be furnished with a good, deep, rich soil, and as free from stones and lumps as possible. It is waste of time and labor to try to grow boots of any kind on a poor or unprepared soil. Seed should be got in early, so as to have the benefit of a portion of the spring rains. Sow in drills about an inch deep; the drills about a foot apart; and at thinning, the plants should be left at from four to five inches

Horn may be allowed to grow very thickly, almost in clusters. To keep the roots nice for table use, place them in sand in the cellar; but for feeding, they will keep well in a cellar, without covering, or buried in the ground. An ounce of seed will sow about one hundred feet of drill, and two bounds is the usual quantity per acre.

SOMETHING ABOUT BUTTER. - It would open the eyes of careless butter makers to step into a Chicago commission store and see how much more the best qualities of butter bring than the streaky, salvy, milky hodge-podge that comes out of the tub of the country merchant to whom all butter is alike and has the same price. The pots of choice, sweet, clean butter, free from every trace of milk and redolent of country richness, will at any time of year bring from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. more than the other, and the market is never glutted with it. To make such butter, the cow must have good feed, the diary vessels (of tin) must be washed with boiling water and thoroughly dried before receiving the milk, cleanly care must be used in milking, the dairy must have fresh, pure air, and the butter must have pure, clean salt (Ashton's is the best) and thorough working. It is the old story of a large reward for a little, constant, watchful painstaking.

POULTRY .- A pullet hatched early in the spring begins to lay at the approach of winter, and pullets hatched late in the summer begin to lay in the ensuing spring, and it is by saving a certain proportion of the pullets from the early and late broods that you make sure of winter eggs-a few early hatched chickens for catching the highest markets and a numerous flock of chickens in the warm months when rearing is least precarious. The hen continues in her prime for two, and, at most, three years-therefore save every year pullets equal to a third of your brood stock, selling off at a trifling price the same number of aged hens, or offering them up in a stewed dish or well-baked pie. However, I have no scruple about keeping a heavy, symmetrically made, splendidly feathered "partlet" for four years, for the sake of her stock. Many farmers grumble about their poultry, from not paying attention to such a simple matter as their not looking over their brood stock, drafting all the old dames (known by the developed scales on their legs), and reserving from the market basket the most promising young pullets raised during the

How to Raise Early Potatoes .- Plant early, the best early variety, and that is, the Sebec, in warm soil, well prepared by tillage and manure, putting about a tablespoonful of Bradley's XL superphosphate of lime in a barrel.

To hasten germination, set the barrel or box of seed potatoes in a warm room about this time. This will cause the potatoes to sprout and so hasten early maturity. Another way is to start in a hot-bed, and trausplant, as soon as it is safe to do so, into a warm, sandy loam; a southeastern slope where it can be had, being deemed preferable for growing early vegetables. Some recommend horse manure for hills or drills, as it promotes temperature and hastens growth. Will those desirous of growing early potatoes, whether for their own table, or the market, or both, heed these remarks ?

The unanimous testimony in favor of this article wher. ever it has been used, and more particularly in various parts of Essex County, where the manufacturer formerly resided, proves the high value which is placed upon it in all cases where a remedy of such a character is apporpriate. The inventor of this Salve was no mere adventurer, who set the article a going only to make money, without caring whether it injured or cured those who used it, but a skillul physician and surgeon, who for many long years used it in an extensive practice, and, dying, left the recipe as a valuable inheritance to the generation which was to

For cuts, bruises, sores, and every species of inflamma-tio upon the surface of the body, its use has been followed by the most satisfactory results, and it only requires a trial to prove it to be all that its manufacturer claims for it.

Entrance Fee 50 cents, and Transfer Fee 50 cents each per Share.

Subscribed Capital, - $250,000.

And is being constantly increased.

THIS Society will consist of an indefinite number of Shares of the ultimate value of $200 each. In the issue of this Stock peculiar inducements are offered to capitalists and others seeking a perfectly safe and remunerative rate of Interest, free from the anxiety and doubt incident to investments requiring constant waterfulness, and to enable every one who can save from their income to invest periodically that portion of their savings which overlaps current charges in a common Fund.

Money is received on Deposit from those who do not wish to invest periodically, for which Interest is paid in January and July, at the rate of Six per Cent. per Annum. Advances are made to members (only) to buy, build, or redeem property, upon the security of approved Real Estate, repayable by easy monthly instalments.

Present amountaivanced to members, $151,300.

Investing Shares may be taken up at any time, to mature in ten years. Bonus profits belong to these Shares.

IT is well at all times to call things each by their own proper names, otherwise you may not get what you nt. When you desire to have the best Coal Oil, that which is made from Albert Coal, and manufactured in this Province, ask for "ALBERTINE OIL.". Should you call or it by some other name, where the genuine article is not sold, you may expect to be served with an inferior article. Always call for and be sure you get Albertine Oil.

Albertine Oil has no bad edor, will burn to the last drop in the lamp without depreciation of light, and gives uni-in the lamp without depressals.

Whenever you meet with a bad smelling Oil or a bad burning Oil, you may be sure it is not Albertine.

For Albertine Oil, Wholesale or Retail, apply to THE ALBERTINE OIL CO., 23 Prince Wm. street.
