The Samily and the Sarm.

Shall we Know our Loved Ones There ? In that glorious spirit land,

Where all is pure and bright; And the hosts rejoicing stand, Before the throne of light; Where the crystal river flows, And the tree of life blooms fair : Where never enters death-Shall we know our loved ones there?

When we reach the distant shore, And behold the shining band, Who with Christ forevermore, Dwell in yonder blissful land, Chanting loud his glorious song, Whilst conquering palms they bear-Midst that bright angelic throng, Shall we know our loved ones there ?

Yes, weary, mourning, sad ones, From whom earthly friends are riven, Ye shall join the loved and just ones, In their glorious home in heaven. Then droop not, faint not by the way ; For when freed from earthly care, In the light of everlasting day, We shall know our loved ones there.

To Boys and Girls.

James Parton says the following in a late number of Packard's Monthly:

-Montreal Witness.

Few persons have looked into the lives of so many remarkable men as I have, yet I cannot call to mind one of the acknowledged kings of busious apprenticeship to some occupation akin to that which he afterwards exercised, and in which his great success was made.

Vanderbilt, for example, was a boatman, sloop captain, and steamboat captain for nineteen years before he set up for himself in the business of building and running steamboats, in which he gained more money than was ever before gained in a single lifetime except by plunder. There is not to-day in the whole world a man who knows as much about steamboats and steamships as this same Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Astor is another illustration. He learned the fur business from the very rudiments. He used to beat furs from morning till night in his master's back shop, and, after doing this a while, he used to take a basket of trinkets and nick-nacks, and go around among the sloops and markets, driving hard bargains with boatmen, Indians and marketmen for such skins as they had brought to town. By-and-by he shouldered his pack, and tramped the country for peltries; and, extending his journey, at length he became familiar with every place, every tribe, and every person connected with the fur trade in North America. Then he went to Europe, and learned all about the market for furs and their prices in every part of the world. Few men have ever understood a thing so well as Mr. Astor understood the business of collecting, curing, and selling furs. He knew it, not as a clerk might have known it; he knew it as a man knows the trade to which he has served a long apprenticeship under a watchful and exacting master.

Another case in point was the first Rothschild. who, from his twelfth to his twenty-seventh year, laboriously acquired a knowledge of money, first as an errand-boy and money-counter to his father, and afterwards as banker's clerk.

Girard, too, was a thorough sailor before he ever owned a ship, and was personally familiar with most of the commercial ports long before he ever consigned a cargo to one of them.

John Gorham, of Providence, the head of the largest manufactory of silver ware in the world, did not go into his father's counting-room as a clerk, but into his father's shop as an apprentice; and he learned how to do with his own bands whatever he has since had to direct others in

But such examples are numberless. All my acquaintance with business men teaches me that the fundamental secret of success in business is knowledge-real knowledge, such knowledge as is only acquired by becoming practically familiar with methods and processes-such knowledge, in fact, as a man gets by taking hold of work, and doing it until he can do it easily and perfectly.

There is a noble establishment in Broadway. where many of us go, occasionally, for the rehabilitation of our outer man. It was in the grand upper-room of this palace-like store, where I was being measured for a coat, that I conceived the idea of writing this article. In well-conducted establishments of every kind, you will notice the same faces year after year; for able men naturally gather able men around them, and employers and employed, by reciprocal justice and courtesy, become attached to one another, and have neither motive nor desire to sever the connection. And yet, on that occasion, seeing around me the same skilful and obliging persons I had seen there ten years before, I could not but reflect how little chance they had to advance from clerkship to mastership.

"Suppose," thought I, " a lad of sixteen or seventeen should propose to himself, as an object in life, to become the proprietor of an establishment like this-what would be the shortest and likeliest path for him to strike into ?"

I feel certain that the best thing he could do would be to apprentice himself to a good tailor, and learn all there is to be known about the making of clothes. Having acquired that knowledge -not with his head only, but with his fingers as well—nothing would be easier than to set up a small shop. Now what is the difference between a small tailor-shop (well placed and well-conducted) and the overshadowing clothing houses of Brooks or Devlin! Why nothing but thirty years' growth.

The knowledge which a clerk acquires is part of the indispensable equipment of a man of business; but it is far from being so vital to a grand success as that which comes from a true apprence ticeship. Gibbon says that going out with the militia on training days was of material assistance to him in writing the history of the great Roman wars. Just giving the word of command to a few companies of country militia let him into the secret of complicated battles and great campaigns.

Learn a trade, then, lads, you who aspire to do something creditable and substantial during your life. Would you be an architect, and build the new Capitol west of the Mississippi t Well, then, go apprentice to the best carpenter or mason within your reach. Do you wish to be a sculptor, and yet cannot pay a master's fee ? Instead of pining in your mother's chimney corner, go to the nearest stone-cutter's, and cut stones.

The educating effect of learning a good trade has never been sufficiently considered.

Why have we, now-a-days, so many simpering, silly girls about, who know nothing, can do nothing, and are nothing! They have been to school ing, and are nothing! They have been to school long enough to get a little knowledge, and they do not appear to be wanting in natural capacity; and yet, so empty are they of sense and reflection, that often when I look into their expressionless countenances, I find it difficult to believe in the immortality of their souls. It seems more reasonable to believe that such abortive efforts of nature would be quietly absorbed or dissipated like the leaves which flutter to the ground, and are no more seen.

What is the matter with these poor creatures? The matter is, they have never boiled potatoos, ironed clothes, made puddings, clemed paint, made bods, nor in any other way seriously applied their minds and hands to the exact and skilful performance of nomely tarks. They have missed the precious education which comes of carefully.

done work. If any good soul would take half a dozen of these unfortunate beings, and give them a good three years' drill in the work of a wellordered house, the educating effect would astonish every one who knew them. You cannot boil an egg precisely right without getting a little education out of it. Compare the mechanics in the Novelty Works with the clerks in Stewart's store. The clerks are excellent fellows; they look well, dress well, understand their business, and are in every respect worthy members of society; but our best mechanics have a certain force of manhood, a weight of character, and a depth of reflection rarely seen in those who only buy and sell.

I should be very sorry to say anything to disparage our institutions of learning. Nevertheless, I feel confident that an intelligent youth, who remains at school until he is sixteen or seventeen. and then apprentices himself to a good trade, can get a better education out of his shop (with an hour's study of princ ples in the evening) than it is possible to get in any college in existencethat is to say, a better education for this new and forming country, where, for fifty years, at least, to come, no man can hope to play a leading part, except in wielding material forces.

I say, then, lads of sixteen, if you would lay a foundation for a sure prosperity, begin by learning a trade. If you would escape the perdition of being a fool, learn a trade. If you would do a man's part for your country, begin the work of preparation by learning a trade.

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous
Weed, Tobacco I

NE Box of ORTON'S PREPARATION is WARRANTED to destroy the appetite for Tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be.

ANY CASE THE MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED. It is almost improvided to break off from the way of Tobacco is almost impossible to break off from the use of Tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted; with the help of the Preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to hear witness to the fact that ORTON'S PREPARATION completely destroys the appe-tite for Tobacco, and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commenced its use. It is perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. The Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions affected by Tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of Tobacco from the system, and thus allaying the unnatural cravings for Tobacco.

No more Hunkering for Tobacco after using Orton's Preparation! Recollect it is Warranted!

Beware of Counterfeits!! RECOMMENDATIONS. The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.] Bangon, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used Tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times-I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for Tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure if the directions are followed.

W. P. HEALD.

From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.
This is to certify that I had used Tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 18:7, whole system deranged and broken drawn. I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for Tobacco since using the Preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of Tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.] BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used Tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a triend induced me to try Orton's Preparation sold by you). I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least banker after Tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Freparation.
