The Samily and the Farm.

A Chapter on Teasing.

"Mother," said George Manson, "may I go with the boys and skate on the great pond this evening ?"

" No, George, I do not like to have you go this evening."

"Now, mother, do let me go ; it will be such a fine evening, and the boys all want that I should

"I lo not think it best for you to go, George,"

"Why not, mother ? why can't I go ?"

"You have a cold, and perhaps if you go it will make you so sick you will be unable to attend school for several days."

"Oh, no, it won't make me sick, mother; I am sure it will not. My cold is not bad now, and it will be such a beautiful evening, do let me go, mother, do; won't you ?"

"I am afraid, my son, that the pond is not frozen over hard enough.'

"Yes, mother, it is. Only think what cold nights we have had; besides, James Edwards is going, and his father never lets him go when the ice is thin. Won't you let me go, mother ?"

"You had better wait till to-morrow night." "But the boys are all going this evening, and perhaps they will not go to morrow night. Now, mother, only say yes, to-night, and I will not ask you again this week."

"Was there ever such a teaser! Do go, for I am sure you will tease my life away if you stay at home ; but do not complain if it makes you sick."

The next noon Mrs. Manson's oldest daughters came to ask her mother's permission to visit one of her young friends. "Susan asked me to come this afternoon," said Mary; "may I go?"

"No, you cannot go," as she sent her away with a frown.

Now, Mary was a girl of delicate feelings. She was by no means so fond of teasing as her mother supposed. On the present occasion, as often before, she had quite a struggle with herself, as to the course she should pursue. On the one hand, she shrank from obtaining a reluctant consent from her mother by teasing; on the other hand, she very much wished to visit her friend, and had reason to think, from past experience, that she might obtain consent by means which had so often proved successful. In the present instance her mother, who had half repeated of refusing a request which, on reflection, did not appear unreasonable, was easily persuaded to withdraw her refusal, and give the desired permission. A few days after this, Mrs. Manson paid a visit to her friend, Mrs. Day. "Mother," said Henry Day, when he returned from school at night, "Edward Smith asked me to come and see him next Saturday ; may I go?"

"No, my son; you have been there very recently. I do not think it best for you to go again 80 800D."

"May I go out and slide with the boys till tea time ?"

"Yes, my dear you may go."

"Mother," said Emma, "Cousin Sarah wishes me to spend the afternoon with her next Saturday; may I go ?"

"Next Saturday, my daughter, is some days ahead. I cannot decide now; but come to me Saturday noon, and I will let you know. I shall be happy to gratify you, if it is best for you to go; but if anything should occur to prevent, I hope my daughter will bear the disappointment cheerfully."

When the children had left the room, Mrs.

gain his point by importunity, and he may not; and in this way the mind is often kept on the rack of snspense for hours, to the serious injury of the temper and disposition of the child."

Lord Shaftesbury and Mr. Spurgeon. The Earl Shaftesbury writes to the Editor of the Record :-- " Sir,-On Monday evening last I was on the same platform with the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, in Exeter Hall. For this I have received a ebuke, and I shall, possibly, receive many more.

May I once for all, through your columns, give an answer retrospectively and prospectively to all such doubts and castigations? In the first place, am a member of the Church of England; and, y God's blessing, I intend to continue so. Secondly. I shall do my best to maintain in full vigour the Established Church of this kingdom. Thirdly, although I do not concur in all Mr. Spurgeon's sentiments, nor always approve the lan guage in which they are conveyed, I regard him as a man of great ability, of great earnestness, and doing a great work. And, in these days of trouble, rebuke, and of blasphemy, I will, if requested, give the right hand of fellowship to him, and to every other who will preach Christ to the masses of onr people. I am, sir, your obedient servant, SHAFTESBURY .- April 27, 1868."

A man in the lunatic asylum at Cincinnati, according to his own statement, is 400 years old. He loaned Shakespeare five dollars, which he never got back, presented a bosom-pin to Columbus, just before bis first voyage to America, and was on intimate terms with Queen Elizabeth, whom he familiarly calls "Lib."

Manson exclaimed : "I wish my children were like yours, Mrs. Day. Do tell me if your chil-dren never tease. My children wear me out teasing, from morning till night. If my George had been in your Henry's place, he would have given me no rest from now till Saturday noon, if I had refused to let him go."

"My children," said Mrs. Day, "never tease; and pardon me, my dear friend, if I say that when I see teasing children, I always attribute the habit entirely to the parents, regarding it as the natural effect of causes which they have set in operation."

"I cannot agree with you. I think there is a great difference in children. Some are natural teasers. I believe my children love to tease."

"Again I must differ from you. I do not believe there is a child in the world who loves to tease. I think teasing itself is naturally disagreeable to every child."

"Well, I certainly know that if teasing was disagreeable to my children, they would not follow it so incessantly as they do."

"I am by no means sure of that. We all often consent to do disagreeable things, if by such means we can secure some favorite object. My own experience has convinced me that teasing is nearly or quite as disagreeable to the teaser as to the teased. When I was a child, I had the reputation of being a great teaser; but I can well recollect the reluctance with which I set about the task of procuring my mother's consent to some favorite scheme by this means. Like all children, I greatly desired the indulgence which I sought to obtain, and I had found by trial that my point was often obtained in this way, and seldom in any other. Depend upon it, no child will ever tease who has not been in the habit of gaining something by it. Children will not work so hard for nothing."

"I do not believe it would be possible to keep my children from teasing. The other evening George was bent upon going with the boys to skate upon the pond. I did not like to have him go, as he had a bad cold, but he teased every moment till he obtained my consent."

"And can you think it strange if the next time he wishes to gain your consent to his plans, he remembers the circumstances, and is encouraged to try again. Henry would like very much to visit his friend next Saturday," but he is perfectly aware that, with his parents, no means No ; and that no importunity changes so to yEs; and he does not think of making the attempt." "But sometimes I refuse my children, when afterwards I am sorry I did so. What can one do in such a case ?"

"I think, my friend, we should be very careful never inconsistently to refuse our children's reests. We should remember that our decision, when once expressed, ought to be, like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unchangeable ; and therefore we should not allow ourselves to be hasty in making known a decision which cannot be repealed without serious injury to the child. If it is evident that the request is reasonable, we should always grant it with cheerful promptness. This will gain the confidence of our children. They will come openly and frankly with their re-quests, assured that we shall not refuse them rem mere caprice, and afterwards yield to their

"I think not. It will be better for them to bide by it, while you learn the lesson to be more areful in future."

Weed, Tobacco I ONE Box of ORTON'S PREPARATION is WAREANTED to destroy the appetite for Tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be. IF IT FALLS IN ANY CASE THE MONEY WILL B& REFUNDED. It is almost impossible to break off from the use of Tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted; with the help of the Preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to bear witness to the fact that OBTON'S PREPARATION completely destroys the appe-tite for Tobacco, and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commented its use. It is perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. The Preparation acts directly apon the same glands and secretions affected by Tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of Tobacco from the system, and thus allaying the unnatural cravings for Tobacco

No more Hankering for Tobacco after using Or-ton's Preparation ! Recollect it is Warranted ! Beware of Counterfeits !!

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

From W. P. Heald; Esq , Bangor, Me.]

BANGUR, Me., April 24, 1868. I hereby certify that I have used Tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per mouth. I have made attempts to leave off at different times—I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanke; for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me, of the appetite for Tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure if the directions are followed. W. P. HEALD. [From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867. This is to certify that I had used Tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found I was completely cared. There not had any hankering or desire for Tobaccosince using the Prepara-tion. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of Tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation. one box of Orton's Preparation. E. W. ADKINS

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

Bangos, Me., March 24, 1868. This is to certify that I have used Tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffer-ed so much from a dizziness in my head and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a triend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you). I have done so, and an completely cured. I did not in the least hanker atter Tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.
