

tion, than the firing of guns poured forth their thunderous roar until the Prince made his appearance. Then the cheering of the multitude commenced, and continued at intervals, all along his line of march to the Court House. Before leaving the Station addresses of welcome were presented by different bodies, and were respectfully acknowledged. As he approached the Court House the Sabbath School children sang in sweet and inspiring strains, three verses of the National Anthem.

God save our gracious Queen,
Long live our noble Queen,
God save the Queen!

Send her victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save the Queen.

O Lord our God arise,
Scatter her enemies,
And make them fall;
Confound her politics,
Frustrate her knavish tricks,
On thee our hopes we fix,
God save us all.

Thy choicest gifts in store,
On her be pleased to pour,
Long may she reign,
May she defend our laws,
And ever give us cause
To sing thy praises loud,
And praise thy glorious name.

To which was added a verse by Professor DeMill, which reads thus:

Lord, from thy throne above,
The riches of thy love
Upon our monarch pour,
Grant him all good, we pray;
Keep every ill away;
Be thou his guide and stay
For evermore.

The cheering at the Court House, and the waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies, gave expression to the joyous sensations felt deep down in the hearts of the assembled thousands.

The ceremonies at the Court House having concluded, the Prince passed on to his stopping place—the Waverley Hotel. This was the token for a general rush in that direction.

At the Waverley, to the great delight of the people, he appeared upon the balcony in full view. Cheers long and loud, again broke forth, as the youthful Arthur stood before the gazing crowd in princely dignity, and gracefully acknowledged the honors so freely lavished upon him.

As one looked into the face of this young man, he is reminded that he is the son of the most tenderly beloved and highly honored Queen that ever sat upon a throne, or held a royal sceptre, and the son of a father whose name has gone down to posterity embalmed in the love and gratitude of the virtuous and the good of all nations. This thought alone is sufficient to stir the soul with the deepest emotions, and to call forth the enthusiasm so manifest in his presence.

But not alone for his royal mother's sake, or on account of the many excellencies of the sainted Queen, is the young man loved and honored; but there is an expression of intelligence and purity in his countenance and a quiet dignity of manner that give him a place at once in all hearts.

Though only in his twentieth year his intellectual culture is of the highest order, and he has already filled positions of trust in military life in a style highly indicative of a bright and useful career. It is gratifying to see a young man so fondly cherished may be more than realized in the purity, dignity and glory of his coming years.

IN THE EVENING
A torchlight procession on a brilliant scale; blazing bonfires, and splendid illuminations at numerous and prominent points lit up the pathway of the Royal Stranger as he proceeded to the Skating Rink to enjoy the festivities in reserve for him there. He remained at the Rink encompassed with the beauty and fashion of the city, and participating in the joyousness of the occasion, until 9 o'clock in the morning.

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING,
at 10 o'clock, H. H. Royal Highness left in the Railway for Fredericton. As he passed from his Hotel to Indian town, the streets were well filled with admiring crowds; all anxious to shower their benedictions upon the lovely Prince. His visit, though short, has won for him golden opinions from all classes in the community; and has inspired in all hearts, a more intense devotion to the Queen and Government, than has ever before been known.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—London papers express the opinion that the labor movement in the United States more than ever require the attention of enlightened men.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—The Empress has arrived back at St. Cloud. She has abandoned her eastern journey for the present.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The official papers of to-day contradict the alarming news of the Emperor's health, saying, the Emperor attends to his affairs daily. He has suffered some from rheumatism, but at no time has his condition been such as to cause the least anxiety.

UNITED STATES
New York, Sept. 7.—A terrible suspense is hanging over the coal region of Pennsylvania concerning the fate of two hundred and one men and boys confined in the shaft of the Delaware Lackawanna and Western Coal Company's works. A fire yesterday destroyed the buildings closing entrance to the mines, with debris, and it is feared all inside the mine have perished. The work of excavating was rapidly progressing.

Latest advices from the Pennsylvania Coal Mine disaster give no hope that any of the buried miners are alive.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT OF A REMARKABLE CASE.
Gagetown, New Brunswick, July 22, 1868.
MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Chemist:—

DEAR SIR—Allow me to bear my testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same result as I experienced from its use. During the last seven years, I have devoted myself almost exclusively to the treatment of Consumption, having cases under my care, in all parts of the Province; so that I am enabled to speak from experience of the benefit derived from its use.

The most marked, was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial result. When I first saw him, he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. What disease he had been treated for, did not appear, but I found him suffering under Chronic Spentia. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnea, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general emaciation. I put him under treatment, and in a few weeks he was able to move about a little, but still the debility continued. I then prescribed your Compound Syrup of Euphorbia, and after using four bottles, he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March, he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh, from 138 to 145 pounds weight.

I send you this for the purpose of making what you please of it, and wish you all success in your labors for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchitis, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant,
J. H. W. SCOTT, M. D.
