The Lent Half-Dollar.

When Charles Gleason was about ten years old, a bright half-dollar was given him by his grandfather, to buy anything he pleased for a New Year's present. The boy's mother that morning taught him the verse: "He that hath pity on the poor, lendeth to the Lord, and that which he hath given will he repay him again." The words were running in the boy's mind, on his way to the store to purchase a toy which he had seen in the window of the shop on the previous day.

Just before Charlie reached the store he met a poor woman, who had somtimes done washing for his mother, and she seemed to be in great dis-

"What is the matter, Hannah?" said this kindhearted child. "O master Charlie, I've got to be turned into the street this cold morning; and my little Bill so sick, too!"

"Turned into the street-you and Bill-what for ?"

"Because I cant raise my weekly rent. I've just been to see my landlord, and he says it's three days overdue, and he'll not wait another day. There go the men to put my bed and stove, and a few other things, on the sidewalk. Oh! what shall I do?"

"How much is your rent, Hannah, asked the boy with a choking voice. "It's half a dollar," said the woman. "It will kill Bill to put him out in this cold-and sure I will die with him." "No, you won't! No you shan't!" said the tender-hearted child; and feeling in his pocket brought forth his treasured half dollar, and placed it quickly in her hands. Seeing she hesitated to keep it, notwithstanding her great need, Charlie told her it was all his own, to spend as he pleased, and that he would rather give it to her than to have the nicest toy in the store. Then walking away swiftly from the shop windows, which were all full of tempting New Year's presents, he went bravely home to his mother, sure of her approbation.

The first person he met was his grand-father. He had observed Charlie go down the street, and waited for his return, that he might see what he had bought. So his first salutation was:

"Well, child, what have you done with your money?"

Now Charlie's grandfather was not a religious man; and the boy knew, that though he sometimes gave his money to his relations, he seldom or never bestowed it upon the poor, so he rather. disliked to tell him what he had done with his money; but while he hesitated, the verse which he had that morning learned came into his mind and helped him to answer. Looking pleasantly into his grandfather's face, he said-"I've lent it, sir!"

"Lent your half-dollar! Foolish boy, you'll never get it again, I know." "Oh yes I shall, grandpa, for I've got a promise to pay." "You mean a note, I suppose: but it isn't worth a cent."

"Oh yes, grandpa, it is perfectly good. I'm sure about it, for it's in the Bible." "You mean you have put it there for safekeeping, ch? Let me see it." Charlie brought the book and showed him the verse; "He that bath pity on the poor lendeth to the Lord, and that which he hath given will he pay him again. "So you gave your money to some poor scamp? Well, you'll never see it again. Who has got it,

"I gave it to Hannah Green, sir;" and Charlie told him the sad story.

"Oh fudge!" said his grandfather; "vou can't pay poor folks' rent. It's all nonsense. And now you've lost your New Year's present-or will, if I don't make it up to you. Here," he added, as he threw him another half-dollar, "seeing your money is gone where you'll never see it again, I must give you some more, I suppose." "Oh, thank yoo!" said Charlie, heartily. "I knew the Lord world pay me again, grandpa, because the Bible says so; but I didn't expect to get it so quick." "That boy's too much for me," said the old gentleman as he walked quickly away.

An Interesting Story.

Cast thy bread upon the waters and after many days it shall return to thee. This is a scripture truth, which, like all truth, has been verified a thousand times. The following story may serve to illustrate the verity of this text. Allow me to premise that my story is a true one in all partial culars.

Some thirty years since a lad of one of our eastern cities, about ten years of age, was sent by his employer to carry a basket heavily laden with wares, to a purchaser. While staggering under its weight up a steep hill, a gentleman of about thirty years of age proffered his assistance, and beguiled the tediousness of the way by a pleasant anecdote, good advice, and kind words. They parted; fifteen years passed away; the senior of these two parties, now nearly fifty years of age, sat in his study, with a melancholy countenance and a sad heart. His door opened, and his young and fascinating daughter, just blooming into womanhood, entered to announce that a gentleman desired to see her father. "Show him in, my darling daughter, and do you my dear child, leave us to ourselves." The old gentleman entered. " Well, sir," was his salutation, " have you cousidered my proposition?" "I have, and have determined, happen what may, I will not force or sway, by any act of mine, the will of my child. She shall be left to her own free choice." "Then, sir, to morrow by three o'clock your property must go into the hands of the sheriff, unless you find some friends to pay the twenty thousand dollars." This he said with a sneer, and, coldly bowing, left the house. The poor father's heart was racked. " I am a beggar, my daughter homeless; I have no friend to offer assistance at this hour of my severest trial." In the midst of these bitter reflections again his daughter entered, introducing a gentleman of some twenty five years of agera stranger. " Am I in the presence of Mr. G?" was his opening remark, which being affirmatively answered, he continued by saying that he was a successful mer-chant in New York, and, hearing of the misfortune of Mr. G., had come on purpose to ask the amount of his liabilities, that he might loan the necessary funds to relieve his wants. Nor was he shocked at the mention of the large sum of twenty thousand dollars. He handed his check which was duly honored; the father was once more a happy man his daughter was not homeless; he had found some friend to pay, despite the sneer of his hard-hearted creditor. "But pray, sir," said he, "to whom am I indebted for this munificent kindness from an entire stranger ?" " Perhaps you have forgotten," was the reply, "that some fifteen years since you aided a friendless boy of ten years of age to carry his loaded basket up a hill; that you gave him good advice and kindly words. I am that boy ; I followed your advice ; I have lived honestly; I have gained wealth, and now after many years, I have come to return to you, the waters." - Ch. Ad.

There is a plough in Peoria, Illinois, that will cut thirty-two inches wide and eighteen inches deep. From the point to the hinder end of the mould-board it is seven feet, and it requires sixteen oxen to draw it. It was built for ditching

GOOD HABITS LAST .- "Soon after I was settled in the ministry," said an old clergyman, "I was appointed a member of the school committee of the place where I lived. In frequent visits to one of the schools, I took notice of a boy whose clothing was very coarse, and showed many patches, but still was neat and clean throughout. His habits were remarkably quiet and orderly, and his manners very correct. His disposition was evidently generous and kind, and his temper mild and cheerful, as he mingled with his schoolmates at play, or joined their company on the road.

When last I saw him in New England, he was on his way to school. His appearance still bespoke the condition of his widowed mother, and his hat was but a poor protection against either sun or rain, but as I passed him he lifted it with an easy but respectful motion, a pleasant smile, and a cheerful "good morning," which, unconsciously to himself, made the noble boy a perfect model of genuine good manners. His bow, his smile, and his words, all came straight from his true, kind heart. When next I saw him, thirty years had passed, and I was on a visit to the West. The boy had become a distinguished lawyer and statesman, but his bow and his smile, and his kind greeting were just the same as those of the barefooted boy with the shocking bad hat.

A BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT. - Sorrow sobers us and makes the mind genial. And in sorrow we love and trust our friends more tenderly, and the dead become dearer to us. And just as the stars shine out in the nights, so there are blessed faces that look at us in our grief, though before their features were fading from our recollection. Suffering! let no man dread it too much, because it is better for him, and it will help to make him sure of being immortal. It is not in the bright days, but only in the solemn night, that other worlds are to be seen shining in the long, long distances. And it is sorrow - the night of the soul - that we see the farthest, and know ourselves natives of infinity, and sons and daughters of the Most High!

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP

To MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Manufacturing Chemist, Saint John, N. B. We, the undersigned, have much pleasure in recommending your Compound Syrup. After a fair and protracted trial of the same, we consider your preparation a very valuable nervous tonic, far surpassing many others of considerable repute, and well worthy the confidence of the profession generally.

We beg to remain, yours, very truly,
A. H. CHANDLER, M. D.
H. A. JACOBS, M. D. Moncton, N. B., November 9, 1867.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Manufacturing Chemist. SIR-For several months past I have used your Compound Syrup in the treatment of Incipient Phthisis, Chronic, Bron-chitis, and other affections of the Chest, and I have no hesitation in stating that it ranks foremost amongst the remedies used in those diseases. Being an excellent nervous tonic, it exerts a direct influence on the nervous system, and through it invigorates the body.

It affords me pleasure to recommend a remedy which is really good in cases for which it is intended, when so many advertised are worse than useless. I am, Sir, yours truly, S. Z. EARLE, Jr., M. D. St. John, N. B., January 1868.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Chemist, St. John, N. B. DEAR SIR—Having used your Compound Syrup for some time in my practice, I have no hesitation in recommending it to my patients who are suffering from general debility, or any disease of the lungs, knowing that even in cases utterly hopeless it affords relief.

I am, Sir, yours truly, H. G. ADLY, M. D. St. John, N. B., January 1868.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, St. John, N. B. Sin-Having, while at your Establishment, carefully ex amined your prescription, and the method of preparing your Compound Syrup, I felt anxious to give it a fair trial in my practice. For the last twelve months I have done so, and I find that in Incipient Consumption, and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, it has done wonders. In restoring persons suffering from the effects of Diptheria, and the cough following Typhoid Fever prevalent in this region, it is the best remedial agent I have ever used. But for persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know of no better medicine for restoration to health than your Compound Syrup.

If you think this letter of any service you are at liberty to use it as you see fit.

o use it as you see fit.

I remain, yours, &c., EDWIN CLAY, M. D.

W. H. THORNE'S. CAUTION! CAUTION! THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly-mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.:—It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace. Crotelet Work, Baby Linen, &c.: cleaning Sponges.

purposes, viz.:—It washes all line toings, such as musing Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c.; cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspnonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal lose no

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time—saves your clothes—saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed; for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve them—by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for months. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day with Progressy's Cleaning Crystal. on a Washing Day, with Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal. JUST RECEIVED per ship Choice from London—5 bris.

Crushed Sugar; 6 bags Java Coffe; 12 chests Choice On hand-a fine assortment of General Groceries, at

TUYT'S FAMILY GROCERY. Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that their their neighbors and friends, and all know that it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them, Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—For Byspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessmess, Languer and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Billious Headache, Sick Headache, Fick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Billious Colic and Billious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhæa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and howels into healthy action, restores the appetite. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. DR. J. C.
