May Evening.

The breath of spring-time, at this twilight hour, Comes through the gathering glooms, And bears the stolen sweets of many a flower Into my silent rooms.

Where hast thou wandered, gentle gale, to find The perfumes thou dost bring ?--By brooks, that through the wakening meadows wind,

Or brink of rushy spring ?-Or woodside, where, in little companies, The early wild flowers rise? Or sheltered lawn, where, 'mid encircling trees, May's warmest sunshine lies? Now sleeps the humming bird, that in the sun, Wandered from bloom to bloom; Now, too, the weary bee, his day's work done,

Rests in the waxen room. Now every hovering insect to his place Beneath the leaves hath flown;

And, through the long night hours, the flowery race Are left to thee alone.

O'er the pale blossoms of the sassafras, And o'er the spice-bush spray, Among the opening buds, thy breathings pass,

And come embalmed away. Yet there is sadness in thy soft caress, Wind of the blooming year! The gentle presence, that was wont to bless Thy coming, is not here. Go, then; and yet I bid thee not repair, Thy gathered sweets to shed,

Where pine and willow, in the evening air, Sigh o'er the buried dead. Pass on to homes where cheerful voices sound,

And cheerful looks are cast, And where thou wakest, in thine airy round, No sorrow of the past.

The Dying Heiress.

Alice was an only child, an heiress. Lovely and accomplished, she lived for this world, and this world offered her no ordinary attractions. Idolized by her parents, and beloved by an accepted suitor, she knew not the meaning of a wish ungratified.

But an unexpected visitor arrived at the mansion. A pale messenger came to Alice. A hectic flush suffused her beautiful face, rendering it, if possible, more levely still. The eye of affection soon perceived that the seeds of consumption had been laid.

Alice sank by degrees, and as she lay on her couch, surrounded with all the luxuries that wealth could procure, began to think how sad it was to leave her loving friends and all her brilliant prospects, and to go-where? where?

She could not find an answer satisfactory to her soul. So she sent for the High Church clergyman.

He came. The family were assembled. He RUBBER PACKING, Plain, Pure, and Manhole, produced a missal. They all kneeled round the RUBRER PACKING, Patent, Round and Square, bed. He intoned the service for the sick. He departed, perfectly satisfied with his own performances, and assuring the parents that all was right. Was Alice satisfied?

She had submitted to all. She had endeavored to join in the service, but in her inmost soul she felt a blank.

"Father," said she, "I am going to die-where am I going ?" The father gave no reply.

"Mother, darling, can you tell me what I am to do to get to heaven?" No reply save tears.

"William, you who were to be the guide of my life, can you tell me any thing of the future?"

No response. "I'm lost! lost!" she exclaimed. "Am I not, father? Is there any one who can tell me what I must do to be saved ?" At length the father spoke. "My child, you have always been a dutiful daughter, and have never grieved your parents. You have regularly attended the Abbey church, and helped in its services, and the minister has performed the rites of the church, and expressed himself satisfied with your state." "Alas! father, I feel that is not enough. It is no rest to my soul. It is hollow—it is not real. O! I am going to die, and I know not where I am going. O, the blackness of the darkness! Can no one tell me what I can do to be saved?"

Blank despair was pictured on her countenance. Misery overshadowed the circle. They were overtaken by a real danger. Death was in their midst. Eternity was looming before them. They knew not how to answer the appeal of an immortal soul, awakened to a sense of sin-to a dread of appearing before God-to the terrors of

Alice was attended by a little maid, who was in the habit of frequenting a meeting held in a barn in the village, where prayer and praise were offered up in simplicity, and where they sang the

"There is a fountain filled with blood, Drawn from Immanuel's veins, And sinners plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains:"

"I lay my sins on Jesus, The spotless Lamb of God; He bears them all, and frees us

From the accursed load." and where she heard words which reminded her of the good old pastor.

She longed to tell her mistress that she might " wash and be clean," but felt diffident. At last she took courage, and just as the Israelitish cap-tive said unto Naaman's wife, "Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria, for he would recover him of his leprosy," she told her mistress, "There is a preacher in the village who proclaims salvation through faith in Jesus Christ, and urges us to accept the forgiveness freely offered in the gospel."

"O that I could see him!" exclaimed the dy-Alice besought her father to invite the strange preacher to the house; and though he thought it extraordinary, her wish was law.

Again the family were assembled, and the man of God entered the room. The dying girl, raising herself, appealed to him. "Can you tell me what I must do to obtain rest for my soul, and die in peace with God ?"

Alice fell back. "Alas!" said she, "and is it so ? Is there no hope for me?"
"Stay," said he, "though I can not tell you what you can do to be saved, I can tell you what has been done for you." "Jesus Christ, the Saviour God, has completely finished a work by which lost and helpless sin-ners may be righteously saved. God, who is love, saw us in our lost and ruined state. He pitied us, and in love and compassion sent Jesus to die for us. 'God so-loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.' He shed his precious blood on the accursed tree, in the stead and place of sinners, that they might be pardoned and saved. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

"And have I nothing to do?" " Nothing but to believe. No doing, working, praying, giving, or abstaining, can give relief to a conscience burdened with a sense of guilt, or rest to the troubled heart. It is not a work done in you by yourself, but a work done for you by another, long, long ago. Jesus has completed the work of our redemption. He has said, 'It is finished.' Through faith in him you have pardon. It is impossible for a sinner to do aught to save himself. It is impossible to add anything to the perfect work of Christ. Doing is not God's way of salvation, but ceasing from doing, and believing what God in Christ has already done for 'God has given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.'

"I do believe that Jesus died on the cross for sinners, but how am I to know that Ged has accepted me ?"

'Jesus, the God-man, has ascended into heaven. He has presented his blood before God, and has been accepted for us; and when you believe, you are accepted in him."

The awakened sinner listened with breathless attention. She received the word of God, which revealed Christ to her soul. The glad tidings fell as balm upon her wounded spirit. Her face was lit up with heaven's sunlight. Looking upward, she exclaimed, "O, what love! what "Jesus, thy blood and righteousness My beauty are, my glorious dress." And in a few days she departed to be with

THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to cantion the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Orystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.—It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c., cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspnonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time—saves your clothes—saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate heads. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve them—by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flan-injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve them-by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for morths. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day, with Pickstons's Cleansing Crystal. Sold by most respectable Grocers and Chemists, in Packets THREE CENTS EACH, sufficient for 20 Gallons of water, or Twelve for Thirty Cents, also in Boxes containing 144 Packets, price Three Dollars each. Be sure to ask for Pickstone's Washing Crystal, as there are spurious initations. Do not condemn it untried. Make one trial! Pro-TECTED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT. Sole Agent for New Brunswick: oct 15.
