

An Alarming Disease Afflicting a Numerous Class.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and, in fact, the entire glandular system, and the afflicted drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions, he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted: Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky, mucous gather about the gums and teeth in the mornings, accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there a fullness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there a vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidney scanty and highly coloured, with a deposit after standing? Does food ferment soon after eating, accompanied by flatulence or a belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the dreadful disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced stages the skin assumes a dirty brownish appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold, sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, rheumatic pains appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against this latter agonizing disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a small quantity of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipency. It is most important that the disease should be promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a strong hold the correct remedy should be persevered in until every vestige of the disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned, and the digestive organs restored to a healthy condition. The surest and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

Market Place, Pocklington, York, October 2nd, 1882.
Sir,—Being a sufferer for years with dyspepsia in all its worst forms, and after spending pounds in medicines, I was at last persuaded to try Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and am thankful to say have derived more benefit from it than any other medicine I ever took, and would advise any one suffering from the same complaint to give it a trial, the results they would soon find out for themselves. If you like to make use of this testimonial you are quite at liberty to do so.
Yours respectfully,
(Signed) R. Turner.

ALL SORTS.

A young gentleman wishes to know which is proper to say on leaving a young lady friend after a late call—good night or good evening? Never tell a lie, young man; say good morning.

An Irishman called at a drug store to get a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for the rheumatism; the druggist asked him in what part of the body it troubled him most. Said he, "I have it in every houl and corner of me."

The soprano wanted the tenor turned out of the choir because, after hearing her run up and down the scale six or seven times in one breath, he remarked that she was a very good wind-lass.

Baird's French Ointment will cure the Itch in a few days, cures Salt Rheum, Chapped Hands, Scald Head, Obstinate Sores and Wounds.

A will is registered in Waynesburg, Penn., which contains the following clause: "I also give to my beloved wife one red cow, one three-year old colt, and the remainder of the kitchen and household furniture."

For loss of end, horz. all, red water in cows, loss of appetite, rot, or murrain in sheep; thick wind, broken wind, and roaring, and for all obstructions of the kidneys in horses use Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. Don't buy a large pack of worthless powder.

A shallow brained pot remarked, with the air of an instructor, "People should never laugh at their own jokes. I never think of laughing at mine." Does anybody else?" shyly asked a young lady.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, has all the virtues of these two most popular remedies. Made into a form that is very palatable and acceptable to the most sensitive stomach and is without doubt, unequalled as a combined food and remedy for lung troubles, and weak conditions.

A party of friends were discussing the merits of a charming song, when one exclaimed, "That melody always carries me away." Won't someone please whistle it? said the wit of the company.

The Sting Within.
It is said there is a ranking thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR is a never failing remedy for this kind of headache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

"What are you going to do when you grow up if you don't know how to cipher?" asked the teacher of a slow boy. "I'm going to be a school-teacher and make the boys do the ciphering," was the reply.

INCREASED POPULARITY.—When a medicine increases in popularity it is a sign that it is a good medicine; this is the case with McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup.

Coughs and Colds that we so frequently neglect and which so often prove the seeds sown for a harvest of Consumption, should have immediate and thorough treatment. A teaspoonful of Phosphorized Emulsion taken whenever the cough is troublesome, will relieve the patient, and persevere in, will effect a cure in the most stubborn case. Always ask for Phosphorized Emulsion and be sure you get it.

Ripeness in Character.

The Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon beautifully illustrates the marks of Christian character, somewhat as follows:

One mark is beauty. Ripe fruit has its own perfect beauty. As the fruit ripens the sun tints it with surpassing loveliness, and the color deepens till the beauty of the fruit is equal to the beauty of the blossom, and in some cases superior. There is in ripe Christians the beauty of realized sanctification, which the Word of God knows as "the beauty of holiness."

Another mark of ripe fruit is tenderness. The young, green fruit is hard and stone-like; but the ripe soft, yields to the pressure, can almost be moulded, retains the mark of the finger. So it is with the mature Christian; he is noted for tenderness of spirit.

Another mark of ripeness is sweetness. The unripe fruit is sour, and perhaps it ought to be, or else we should eat all the fruits while they are yet green. It may, therefore, be in the order of grace a fit thing that in the youthful Christian some sharpness should be formed which will ultimately be removed. As we grow in grace we are sure to grow in charity, sympathy and love; we shall have greater and more intense affection for the person of Him "whom having not seen we love;" we shall have greater delight in the precious things of His gospel; the doctrines which perhaps we did not understand at first will become marrow and fatness to us as we advance in grace. We shall feel that there is honey dropping from the honey comb in the deep things of our religion. We shall, as we ripen in grace, have greater sweetness towards our fellow-Christians. Better-spirited Christians may know a great deal, but they are immature. Those who are quick to censure may be very acute in judgment, but they are as yet immature in heart. I know we who are young beginners in grace think ourselves qualified to reform the whole Christian church. We drag her before us and condemn her straightway; but when our virtues become more mature I trust we shall not be more tolerant of evil, but we shall be more tolerant of infirmity, more hopeful for the people of God, and certainly less arrogant in our criticisms.

Another and very sure mark of ripeness is a loose hold of earth. Ripe fruit easily parts from the bough. You shake the tree and the ripe apples fall. If you wish to eat fresh fruit, you put out your hand to pluck it, and if it comes off with great difficulty, you feel you had better leave it alone a little longer; but when it drops into your hand, quite ready to be withdrawn from the branch, you know it to be in good condition. When, like Paul, we can say, "I am ready to depart," when we are set loose by all earthly things, oh, then it is we are ripe for heaven! It is a sure token of ripeness when you are standing on tiptoe, with your wings outspread, ready for flight; when no chain any longer binds you to earth; when your love to things below is subordinate to your longing for the joys above. When we get to this in our very hearts we are getting ripe, and we shall soon be gathered. The Master will not let His ripe fruit hang long on the tree.

A Cure for Tattlers.

Hannah More, a celebrated writer, who died about fifty years ago, had a good way of managing tale bearers. It is said that when she was told anything derogatory of another, her invariable reply was, "Come, we will go and ask if it be true." The effect was sometimes ludicrously painful. The tale-bearer was taken aback, stammered out a qualification, or begged that no notice be taken of the statement, but the good lady was inexorably off she took the scandal-monger to the scandalized, to make inquiry and compare accounts. It is no likely that anybody ever a second time ventured to repeat a gossip story to Hannah More. One would think her method of treatment would be a sure cure for scandal.

A SCEPTICAL CLERGYMAN

Throws Aside His Doubts and Bears Strong Testimony to the Truth.

London Advertiser.

Scepticism is a deplorable thing, especially when it leaves the mind on a stormy sea without an anchor or hope of haven. It does not probably prevail any more in these days than it did in the past, but we hear more of it because of the publicity given by the secular press. Some minds are so constituted that they cannot accept anything without proof, and yet they do not necessarily demand that the proof shall have the stamp of highest authority. They recognize merit for itself, and accept it gladly, knowing that eventually it must gain general recognition. The legal and medical professions, as well as the ecclesiastical, are slow to adopt what may conflict with their notions of self-interest and right. New ideas are almost always disturbing, but eventually they become assimilated, and are warmly commended.

The case of the Rev. George Waterman, a talented clergyman of Berwyn Lodge, Broadstone, Wimbome, England, suggests these observations. He got into a desperate condition which thoroughly unfitted him for ministerial work. His mind, sympathizing with his body, became very much depressed. As the mind is so the thoughts are. He finally put himself under the care of the best London specialists. For several years he pursued the ever fleeting phantom, but at length they told him his case was beyond amendment. Still more thoroughly depressed, he grew sceptical to a degree and believed himself doomed.

Provisionally, however, he had his attention drawn to a widely reputed means of restoration in cases like his own. He reluctantly began its use. Every few weeks he had chemical analysis made, and finding constant improvement, he eagerly persevered, and when twenty-six bottles had been used, the analyst reported: "No trace of either albumen or sugar by the severest tests." In other words, he exclaimed with rapture, "I was cured."

He had Bright's disease of the kidneys. That was in 1882, and from the day he put aside his scepticism at the use of an unauthorized remedy until he has been strong and well in body and mind, and contrary to the boasts of his medical friends has had no relapse. It is only fair to remark, though it may be unusual for papers editorially to do so, that Warner's safe cure is the remedy that saved Mr. Waterman's life, to which he ever bears willing testimony. And when we see it publicly endorsed by such eminent persons of quality as the Right Rev. Bishop Edward Wilson, the Rev. W. S. Henderson, of Prescott, Madame Sainton-Dolby, the renowned music teacher of London, Dr. Die Lewis, the famous American hygienist, the Rev. Dr. Squirrel, of Rugby, Eng., the Rev. D. A. Brown, of Aultville, Mr. Arthur Augar, of Montreal, Captain W. H. Nichols, of Hamilton, the Rev. Dr. R. C. Sowerby, of Helensburgh, N. B., the Rev. James Brierly, M. A., Congleton, Eng., the Hon. Geo. Taylor, of the Globe, and others equally well-known, we unhesitatingly commend it to the favor of our readers.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease and must be treated through the blood to entirely remove it from the system. It is an exceedingly painful disease, but not dangerous, excepting when it attacks the heart, when it usually proves fatal. SCOTT'S EMULSION cures it permanently by neutralizing the RHEUMATIC Poisons in the blood. No lady who delights in Flowers, and likes to see them do well and bloom abundantly, should be without Hanington's Food for Flowers. Ordinary packages 30s.—sufficient for 20 plants for one year.

From the Late Hospital Surgeon J. A. Spangley, M. D. C. M.

From what I saw of your new EMULSION, "BUDD'S" while residing in the P. and C. Hospital I have no hesitation in recommending it as a MOST AGREEABLE and TRUST-WORTHY preparation of COD LIVER OIL. For debility from many causes, and more especially when the result of one of those trying and tedious "Colds," so common in Nova Scotia, it has proved itself of great and permanent value.

J. A. SPANGLEY, M. D. C. M., Late House Surgeon of P. and C. Hospital.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Nov. 16th, 1883.

TO PUPPETER BROS.
Having used the BUDD EMULSION as prepared by you, I have found it very efficacious in the diseases of children, especially when of a flabby and enfeebled constitution.

It has produced admirable results in the debility following the Acute Fevers. Its power to resist decomposition, its agreeable taste, and the readiness with which Children take it must render it an important addition to our Pharmacopoeial remedies. I therefore have much pleasure in recommending it.
Yours truly,
K. MACKEZIE, M. D. C. M. & Co.

Money Can't Do It.

There are some things that money can not buy. It can get you a big house, and a carriage, and costly silks, and furs, and jewels. It can bring you power, and power is sweet. But it can not buy you love; it can not buy you a happy home; it can not buy content nor sunshine in the heart; it can not buy peace with God; it can not save your soul, nor that of your child. Without these, what is your money worth? With these, what great difference does it make whether you have money or not? The regeneration of a single child in your household is worth more than all the money you have got, be it ever so much.

SQUARE Pianos were formerly much more generally used than Upright Pianos though the latter were undoubtedly the more elegant and convenient as furniture. This was because the square was decidedly the best as a musical instrument. The improvements latterly made in uprights have changed this, and the uprights may now fairly claim to be the best as a musical instrument as well as more desirable as furniture. Especially is this true of the Upright Piano now offered by the Mason & Hamlin Company. Their pure musical tones are a delight to every appreciative ear, and in durability they present great advantages. This is the result of adding to all valuable improvements heretofore made, one which is more important than any, being a new method of fastening the strings, by which they are more securely held, making the vibrations more perfect, and the instrument less liable to bad effects of atmospheric changes.—Boston Traveler.

Report on Budd's Emulsion.

PROVINCIAL AND CITY HOSPITAL.

Halifax, April 30th, 1884.

Budd's Cream Emulsion has recommended itself at the Hospital as being a very palatable preparation of COD LIVER OIL. It is the only one prescribed here now.
