

A Skillful Surgical Operation.

The American Ambassador at Vienna, Mr. Kasson, has lately forwarded to his Government an interesting account of a remarkable surgical operation lately performed by Professor Billroth, of Vienna, which, wonderful to tell, consisted in the removal of a portion of the human stomach, involving nearly one-third of the organ—and, strange to say, the patient recovered—the only successful operation of the kind ever performed. The disease for which this operation was performed was cancer of the stomach, attended with the following symptoms:—The appetite is quite poor. There is a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "all gone" sensation; a sticky slime collects about the teeth, especially in the morning, accompanied by an unpleasant taste. Food fails to satisfy this peculiar faint sensation; but, on the contrary, it appears to aggravate the feeling. The eyes are sunken, tinged with yellow; the hands and feet become cold and sticky; a cold perspiration. The sufferer feels tired all the time, and sleep does not seem to give rest. After a time the patient becomes nervous and irritable, gloomy, his mind filled with evil forebodings. When rising suddenly from a recumbent position there is a dizziness, a whirling sensation, and he is obliged to grasp something firm to keep from falling. The bowels costive, the skin dry and hot at times; the blood becoming thick and stagnant, and does not circulate properly. After a time the patient spits up food soon after eating, sometimes in a sour and fermented condition, sometimes sweetish to the taste. Oftentimes there is a palpitation of the heart, and the patient fears he may have heart disease. Towards the last the patient is unable to retain any food whatever, as the opening in the intestines becomes close, or nearly so. Although this disease is indeed alarming, sufferers with the above-named symptoms should not feel nervous, for nine hundred and ninety nine cases out of a thousand have no cancer, but simply dyspepsia, a disease easily removed if treated in a proper manner. The safest and best remedy for the disease is Seigel's Curative Syrup, a vegetable preparation sold by all chemists and medicine vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White (Limited), 17, Farringdon Road, London, E. C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

To A. J. White, Esq.
Spanish Town, Jamaica, West Indies,
Oct. 24, 1882.

Dear Sir,—I write to inform you that I have derived great benefit from "Seigel's Syrup." For some years I have suffered from liver complaint, with its many and varied concomitant evils, so that my life was a perpetual misery. Twelve months ago I was induced to try Seigel's Syrup, and although rather sceptical, having tried so many reputed infallible remedies, I determined to give it at least a fair trial. In two or three days I felt considerably better, and now at the end of twelve months (having continued taking it) I am glad to say that I am a different being altogether. It is said of certain pens that they "come as a boon and a blessing to men" and I have no reason to doubt the truthfulness of the statement. I can truly say, however, that Seigel's Syrup has come as a "boon and a blessing" to me. I have recommended it to several fellow-sufferers from this distressing complaint, and their testimony is quite in accordance with my own. Gratitude for the benefit I have derived from the excellent preparation, prompts me to furnish you with this unsolicited testimonial.

I am, dear Sir,
Yours ever gratefully,
(Signed) Carey B. Berry,
Baptist Missionary.

ALL SORTS.

A little boy who was asked if he had a good memory, said: "No, but I have a good forgettery."

DON'T BE FOOLED.—When you require a worm expeller ask for Nelson's Cherokee Vermifuge and take no other. Always reliable and pleasant to take.

"What are pauses?" asked the teacher of the primary class. "Things that grow on the cats," piped the small boy at the foot.

INFLUENCE.—The influence of McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup on the stomach is beneficial, whether there be Worms present or not; no unpleasant results follow the use of this medicine.

"Small fevers thankfully received," was the response Dr. Holmes once made to a young doctor who asked him for an appropriate motto.

THERE ARE MANY CHILDREN whose lives are but days of misery and their nights of frightening dreams, caused in a large percentage of cases by worms. McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup is a pleasant and effectual remedy.

Angeline.—"The man I marry must be handsome, brave, and clever!" Tompkins.—"Dear me! How fortunate we have met."

To partially atone for our many sins during the year now closing we wish to expose a fraud. We refer to the large packs of horse and cattle powders now sold. Sheridan's are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. This statement is true.

Red is used for danger signals on railroads, and always means "stop." On a man's nose it ought to give the same warning.

Valuable information.—Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will positively prevent diphtheria that most to be dreaded of all dreadful diseases. Don't delay a moment, prevention is better than cure. No family should be without the Anodyne in the house.

"Pa, is it right to call a man born in Poland a Pole?" "Of course, my child." "Well then, if a man is born in Holland is he a Holo?"

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL with Hypophosphites, Will Build up Wasted Systems. Dr. R. B. Pusey, Elizabethtown, Ky., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion frequently in the last ten years, and take pleasure in commending it as a valuable remedy both for adults and children in wasting conditions."

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease and must be treated through the blood to entirely remove it from the system. It is an exceedingly painful disease, but not dangerous, excepting when it attacks the heart, when it usually proves fatal. SCOTT'S EMULSION cures it permanently by neutralizing the RHEUMATIC Poison in the blood.

Criticising the Bible.

In criticising particular parts of the bible we are bound to consider the complexity of the service the bible is designed to render. The bible is like a ship making a long voyage, passing alternately from temperate zone to torrid, and thence through temperate to frigid, and back again. In judging of the wisdom of each particular portion of its outfit, all the vicissitudes of the voyage must be taken into account. The wisdom of the shipbuilder is not alone seen in the flying pennants and the figure head, but also in the various internal arrangements giving strength and capacity to the vessel, and providing for the convenience, health, and comfort of the passengers and crew. Viewed from this aspect, it will be found difficult to prove that any portions of the Bible are either unnecessary or unworthy. If the Bible was to be adapted to human wants, it must have a human side complete and perfect. It is by the complete incorporation of all human methods of expressing truth that the Bible made an intelligible and adequate revelation of the divine will; and to criticise the Bible because it employs every device of language and literature by which truth is conveyed from one mind to another, is to hoist ourselves with our own petard, and to reveal the fallibility of our own logic rather than the imperfection of the Bible.

For want of self-examination many are like travellers skilled in other countries but ignorant of their own.

John Wesley wrote to one of his ministers: "Your talent in preaching is just the same as it was seven years ago. There is no compass of thought. Reading only can supply that. You can never be a deep preacher without it any more than a thorough Christian." Wesley himself, up to his seventieth year, was accustomed to read while in his saddle; and at eighty-three years of age studied from 5 o'clock, A. M. to 8 P. M., and recorded his regret that he "could not work longer without hurting his eyes."

How They Do It.

So-called respectable people would hesitate considerably before pilfering your pockets in a crowded thoroughfare. That would be too too. The same discrimination is not indicated by the so-called respectable druggist when that wonderful cure, PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR, is asked for. He will pierce your pockets in the most genteel manner by substituting cheap and dangerous substitutes for the genuine Putnam's Corn Extractor. Watch for these gentlemen, and take none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists everywhere. N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, proprietors.

INDIA AND CANADA.

The Advantages of the Dominion—An Army Veteran's Experience.

Toronto Mail.

The Earl of Dufferin, our late Governor-General, is evidently a man of destiny. His appointment to the Viceroyalty of India is a deserved honor, and he will have the best wishes of every loyal Canadian. But he has no sinecure. English rule in India is a difficult thing to maintain—as the late Postmaster-General Fawcett often pointedly told Parliament—for it one civilization attempting to rule another on its own domain. Moreover, the ruling class will always be in a minority because the climate is so exacting that Englishmen cannot colonize the country in any considerable numbers. Adults cannot long abide there without a change of climate, and children born there of Caucasian parents, invariably die if they are kept in the country over six years.

India has many natural advantages over other English dependencies, but Canada has a mere healthful climate, and she is not vexed, with the problems of the government of aliens.

The heat of the lowlands of India is something dreadful, the average being over 80 degrees. In the dry season the glass often registers 120°. Most of the wealthy class can flee to the mountains in summer, but the army officers and men have to endure it. As a consequence the mortality is very great.

Not long ago it was our privilege to converse at some length with Mr. T. B. Deacon, of Goderich who has served in Her Majesty's Indian army over seventeen years. To our inquiry on how the climate affects the health of foreigners, he said:

"Well, one does not notice the change at first unless the dry and hot season is on. Indeed I endured the damp hot of winter and the dry heat of summer very well for many years. Not until 1877, did I begin to feel knocked up entirely. Then I lost flesh rapidly, my appetite was torpid, my spirit was gone directly I wanted any vim, I got that yellow that I looked very like a lemon, and my legs swelled like in size to an elephant's. And sure enough, I was weak! No, I had no pain at all. I was simply quietly wasting away, my system being completely saturated with malaria. None of the army physicians could help me, and I finally went home for treatment but the London medical men gave it up when they saw me and learned that I had been soldiering in India. Quite given out, I came to Canada, but got no help here, either. I had about made up my mind that it was all up with me but by a very fortunate turn of circumstances I began to use the famous Warner's safe cure, and when I had taken nine bottles I got to be a strong and healthy man, having run from 92 to 142 lbs., the most I ever weighed. I have not had to take a drop of medicine in over a twelvemonth. No, I shall not go back to India and I don't advise any of my friends either here or at home to go there. The Caucasian has no business there whatever."

Some of us may at times feel like finding a little fault with our old Dominion, but take it all in all we have a climate much preferable to that of "India's coal strands," and we will stick to our own country.

From the Late Hospital Surgeon J. A. Spangale, M. D. C. M.

From what I say of your new EMULSION, "BUDDY" while residing in the F. and C. Hospital I have no hesitation in recommending it as a MOST AGREEABLE and TRUSTWORTHY preparation of COD LIVER OIL. For debility from many causes, and more especially when the result of one of those trying and tedious "Colds," so common in Nova Scotia, it has proved itself of great and permanent value.

J. A. SPANGALE, M. D. C. M., Late House Surgeon of F. and C. Hospital.

By the use of Hamilton's Quinine Wine and Iron, and Tonic Biscuits, the blood is purified, and a healthy skin is the result. Beware of imitations. See that you get "Hamilton's," the original and genuine. For sale by all Druggists and General Dealers in Canada.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

Attractions for 1884-5.

No printed periodical can take the place of parent, pastor, or school-teacher; but a good magazine can supplement their work and influence to a wonderful degree. In view of this, it is not extravagant to say that—instead of "Can we afford to take St. Nicholas?"—the question of every earnest household in English speaking countries, to-day, should be: "Can we afford not to take St. Nicholas?"

The magazine, during its eleven happy years of existence, under the editorial charge of

has won familiar to hundreds of thousands of young readers; and their interest and intelligent enjoyment have constantly inspired the editor and publishers to fresh effort. Today, its strength is in its wholesome growth, its sympathy with young life, its hearty recognition of the movement of events, and its steadily increasing literary and pictorial resources. The following are some of the good things already secured for future numbers of ST. NICHOLAS.

"His One Fan," a serial story for boys, by the popular author, J. E. Trowbridge.

"Personally Conducted," illustrated papers on famous places in Europe. By Frank R. Stockton.

"Historic Girls," a companion series to "Historic Boys." By E. S. Brooks.

"Ready for Business," suggestions to boys about to choose an occupation,—based on personal interviews with prominent representatives of various trades and professions. By G. J. Mason.

"Driven back to Eden," a serial. By R. P. Roe.

"Talks for Young Folks," a series of popular papers, by H. H. (Helen Jackson).

"Among the Law-makers," recollections of a boy-page in the U. S. Senate,—containing much political information both instructive and amusing. By Edmund Albert.

"Days and the Golden," a very funny serial story by a new writer, Chas. Carrey.

Short Stories by Louisa M. Alcott.

"The Progress of Invention," from Palanquin to Palace-car, from Cross-bow to 100-ton Gun, etc. Descriptive papers, by Chas. E. Bolton.

"Art Work for Young Folks," papers on decorative handicraft, by Chas. G. Leland.

"Sheep or Silver?" a story of Texan life. By the late Rev. William M. Facker.

"A Garden of Girls," being six short stories for girls, by Six Leading Writers.

"Tales of Two Continents," stories of adventure, by H. H. Boyesen.

"Cartoons for Boys and Girls," funny pictures, by St. Nicholas Artists.

"From Bach to Wagner," brief, pointed biographies of great musicians. By Agatha Tuckis.

The Illustrations will be the work of the very best artists and engravers, and there will be plenty of them. In the November and December numbers are beautiful COLOR FRONTISPICES.

Buy the November number for the children. It costs only 5 cents, and all book and news dealers sell it. The subscription price is $3.00 a year, and now is just the time to subscribe. A free specimen copy of ST. NICHOLAS will be sent on request. Mention this paper.
