

THE DAILY HERALD.

CHARLES H. LUGEN, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

FREDERICTON, N. B., MAY 9, 1882.

THE DUBLIN TRAGEDY.

The assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish, Chief Secretary for Ireland and Mr. Burke, under Secretary which occurred on Saturday has created a profound sensation. We give the particulars elsewhere. It is impossible to understand the reason of this crime unless as has been asserted, the murderers only sought Mr. Burke's life and Lord Cavendish was slain only because he happened to be with him. Lord Cavendish had only recently been appointed, and his entrance upon the duties of his office was intended to signalize the inauguration of a policy of conciliation. He had no political crimes against Ireland which called for vengeance; and his death cannot possibly hasten the consummation of the objects aimed at by the Irish agitators. While this double murder is clearly the outcome of political agitation, it would be a great mistake to connect the League movement with it in any way and, abhor as we must so dastardly a crime, we ought not to hastily pass judgment and condemn the whole Irish people, as many do, because of the outrage. The crime is a frightful one, and its effect must be profound, yet it in no wise alters the duty of England towards Ireland, while it may effect the line of policy which will be pursued. It will be observed that the leaders of the Irish party both in Europe and America protest against the deed in language which cannot be mis understood. The opportunity is now afforded them to show if their abhorrence extends further than words of condemnation. The Conservative party have pledged themselves to support the government in dealing with the crisis even to the extent of proclaiming martial law.

THE COMMENTS OF THE EUROPEAN PRESS.

The Madrid papers express horror at the Irish assassinations, and also surprise at Gladstone's remaining in office after the failure of his Irish policy.

Diritto, published at Rome, thinks Gladstone will conform to the idea of those who demand severe measures towards Ireland.

The Berlin Post says Gladstone's policy already bears bitter fruit. The Courier asks if this is the expression of gratitude for Parnell's release, and adds that the Gladstone ministry must recognize that its first duty is to suppress Irish Nihilism. The National Zeitung declares that it would be greatly to be deplored if the assassinations cause the overthrow of the ministry.

The London Standard says it is believed that the post of Chief Secretary for Ireland will be offered to and accepted by Jos. Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade. It says Forster has offered his services to Gladstone, if he required them.

The London Times says it is imperatively necessary that Gladstone should prove to England without an hour's delay that he has at length come to understand the true nature of the Irish difficulty. No attempt to explain the murders as an accidental outbreak, or as the last hopeless effort of organized disaffection will avail with those who advocate Forster's measures as indispensable for restoring order.

The Standard says Bourke being an Irishman and a Roman Catholic, one would have thought that those circumstances would have dismissed hostilities in his case.

THE GERRYMANDERING BILL.

A great deal of feeling is expressed in Ontario over the redistribution bill, and it is by no means confined to one political party. This feeling is very natural. The bill is such an one as never before was introduced into any legislature. Not that there have been redistributions before and will not be again; but happily in the history of this Country at any rate redistributions have been conducted on some other principle than a determination to carve out constituencies which would return representatives in favor of the administration. This has been accomplished by "hiving" the Liberals wherever it was possible, that is to say, if a constituency is strongly Liberal and the adjoining one only fairly so, the two are so changed that the Liberals are gathered as nearly as possible in one constituency. In this way nothing is lost to the Tories, but one seat may be gained in the constituency in which, previous to the division, the Liberals had only a small majority. In like manner the Tory vote is strengthened in places where it was weak by adding Tory parishes taken from other ridings. No particular attention has been paid to geographical lines or the convenience of the electors, but parts of one county have been tacked on to another with which they are not geographically connected. It is as though, in order to counterbalance the Liberal vote of York, a few strong Tory parishes should be selected in Sunbury and Carleton, that is if there are any such there, without any regard being paid to the fact that it would be most inconvenient for the electors to vote in York. One thing must be patent to the impartial observer, namely, that if the policy of Sir John Macdonald has been such a success as is claimed, it is most extraordinary that he is not willing to submit to the verdict of the constituencies as they were in 1878, when he was returned to power.

THE CHINESE.

Arrangements have been made for the importation of eight thousand Chinese within sixty days. This is an alarming outlook for British Columbia. The western province bids fair to be swamped by the Mongolians, who have proved themselves much more difficult to get rid of than any one dreamed. It looks very much as if there was more danger of western America becoming Mongolianized than of eastern Asia being Anglicized.

The Dublin Tragedy.

(SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.)

LONDON, May 8. It is now thought that Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were both deliberately selected for assassination during the procession in Dublin on Saturday. A man enquired three times whether Cavendish was in the procession. The Chief Secretary at last lifted his hat and told his name. The man replied, "Thank you, that will do." Two men on horseback also watched the procession in a suspicious manner. There were eight gaping wounds on the body of Cavendish and eleven on Burke.

A Huge Exaggeration.

(SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.)

CHICAGO, May 8. A Racine despatch states that previous reports of the loss by the big fire there, which was put at fifteen millions were grossly exaggerated, and that the total loss is only $350,000 and the insurance $150,000.
