SUMMER TRAVEL.

In conversation about three years ago with a gentleman whose business brings him constantly into intercourse with tourists, a New Brunswicker asked why it was that more of the annual stream of summer travel did not find its way to this Province. The answer was, "Well, in the first place you people don't advertise the country; in the second place, your railroads are not run in first class style; in the third place your hotels, with few exceptions, are not good, and in the fourth place there is nothing to keep people there." These were the reasons he said he had gathered from tourists. As summer tourists are a good class of people to have in the Province, it is worth while to analyse these reasons and see if there is there is anything in them. First, do our people advertise the country? They certainly do not do so. If one goes into any railway or steamboat office in the United States he will find advertisements of nearly every place under the sun, except the St. John River. You can also get a nicely illustrated descriptive pamphlet, or at least "a folder," telling the chief points of interest in the localities described therein. It is useless to say, as some very wise people do, that these things are of no use. The fact that they are circulated prove that they are of service. One thing is very sure, the proprietors of the various places advertised in them would not lay out so much money in printing ink if they did not receive some compensatory return. The second objection is, that the railroads are not run in first class style. If there any foundation for this? It is said that it scarcely pays to run the roads as they are now, and from this it is argued that it would not be worth while to equip them any better and run the trains any faster. One cannot shut his eyes to the fact that there is a great difference between railroading in New Brunswick and the same mode of travel anywhere else; but whether any remedy is possible is a question we do not feel able to solve. The objection in reference to the hotels is not as serious now as it formerly was; and we think that every person who comes to the Province now, either upon business or pleasure, will find no difficulty in procuring hotel accommodation as good as any one require or can expect in a place so far away from the centres of population. The further objection, that there is nothing to keep the people here is only too well founded. The country is one of great natural beauty, but it has been for the most part left to develop its own attractions. We have magnificent rivers and lakes, and not a pleasure yac it upon them which can be hired for a day's cruise. Hundreds of resorts to which tourists might go for a day or two, but they have to be hunted out and no means of reaching them, are generally primitive in the extreme. Our hotel and railroad people ought to take these matters into consideration.

THE Morning Times has taken some remarks of the Herald, in reference to the "policy of personal vituperation" which was being adopted by persons on the Government side towards members of the Opposition, as applying to the press. In this it is mistaken. Our reference was to the retailing of low slanders about the street which we had reason to know had been dealt in pretty freely by friends of the Government. It then goes on to say that our remarks about Mr. Hanington came under the condemnation which we apply to these scallals. But this is not so. We met Mr. Hanington squarely face to face. He in his place in the Legislature could answer what we said, and he invariably tried to do so, which was, by the way, where the fun came in. There is a difference between attacking a man in this way, and lying about him on the street corners. The one is legitimate, the other is despicable.

THE SESSION.

The session of Parliament is very near its end, although its work is by no means accomplished. About sixty bills, and many of them are of very considerable importance, are yet upon the files of the House and cannot be proceeded with. The dilatory conduct of the Government in bringing down their measures cannot be too strongly condemned. Their whole effort seems to be devoted to strengthening themselves for the coming conflict, and from this standpoint it is a matter of indifference how many important matters have to be dropped so long as Ontario can be "erynned" into giving a to y majority.

COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE.

The local elections in Prince Edward Island illustrate the glorious march of the N. P. In the last House there were four Liberals, one Independent, and twenty-five Tories. Yesterday, however, the Liberal party divided the honors with the other party, and, it is said, secured fifteen out of the thirty members elected. It may be said by some that other considerations than those of the tariff entered into the conflict, and this is probably correct. Probably the good people of Prince Edward Island have had enough of Tory rule at home, and have seen too many of its effects at Ottawa, to desire, apart altogether from the expediency of protection, to see it perpetuated. We are quite clear that it was not the failure of the National Policy alone which changed the Island vote. If you grant the Tories all they claim for their taxation policy there yet remains enough to sink their ship beyond the possibility of its ever floating again. The Pacific Railway Contract is enough of itself. Indeed the shameless "Onderdonkery" of Sir Charles Tupper alone ought to sicken any consistency of Toryism. It would be absurd to overrate or misunderstand the significance of these elections. They do not, of course, indicate what the verdict of the people of Prince Edward Island will be when the elections for Parliament take place, but they do show that Toryism is on the wane there.

ELECTION RUMORS.

P. Lynd, of Edmundston, a merchant with considerable means and exhaustless energy, is said to be in the field against L. Theriault.

S. A. Cameron, of Andover, is named as a possible candidate in Victoria for the local election.

J. A. Clark of Carleton, St. John, proposes to ask the electors of St. John to send him to Fredericton for the next four years.

Messrs. Tweedie, Park and Sargeant, in Northumberland, are among those who are willing to bear the responsibility of representing that County. All the old members will offer again.

The Queen's County Tories meet in Gagetown on the 18th, to consider as to their political salvation.

In Westmorland the Tories are trying to write themselves up to sufficient enthusiasm to cope with Sir Albert Smith. They have gone heavily into speech making.

Mr. James Mitchell, of St. Stephen, expects to go to the polls whenever the election for Parliament comes on. Lewis A. Mills, of St. Stephen, will be a candidate for the local.

IRELAND.

Mr. Gladstone is determined to grapple with the Irish question with a firm hand. He announced on Monday that all the Government arrangements in respect to that unhappy island would have to be recast and he will introduce a strong measure for repression of crime. Having done this he proposes to deal with the arrears of rent. In the first measure he will receive support from all sides of the House. Even Parnell and his followers will feel bound to vote with the Government. We are sure that it would be a sad libel upon them to intimate that they have any sympathy with the policy of murder.

It is believed that the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke can be identified without much difficulty. Several arrests have been made.

Mr. Blake made a good point against the redistribution bill when he said that the Government have been concealing the Bill from the Liberals for months although they have allowed the Tories to discuss it, alter and amend it in private to suit their own interests. Such a bill ought to have been put upon the files of the House early in the session; but Sir John kept it locked in his desk, only showing it to the favored ones who could assist in fixing it up so as to serve the scandalous purpose for which it is intended.
