LOCAL NEWS.

COMMITTEE MEETING.—The Roads and Streets Committee meets this evening.

RAFT.—The tug "Ada G." towed a large raft of logs past the city yesterday afternoon.

NEW SHED.—Messrs. John Richards & Son are building an extension on their coal shed, near the old police office.

THE DAY POLICE.—Dow Vandine was sworn in as day policeman last evening in the place of John Woodward resigned.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual general meeting of the Gibson Leather Company will be held on the 6th June next.

CRICKET MEETING.—A meeting of the old Fredericton cricketers will be held this evening to organize a club and arrange for a match.

CRICKET PRACTICE.—The members of the Fredericton Cricket Club were engaged in practice in the Officers Square yesterday afternoon.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting of the York County Rifle Association will be held in the office of the Maritime Farmer this evening.

ICE AND DANDELIONS.—A Moncton lady had in her possession on Saturday ice fully half an inch thick, which formed in a water cask Thursday and Friday nights. She also had a full grown dandelion, and the two presented quite a contrast.—Moncton Times.

BAND UNIFORM.—The members of the Fredericton Brass Band intend procuring a uniform, and their friends will doubtless be asked to lend a helping hand. This is an excellent and deserving organization, which has afforded the music-loving portion of the community much pleasure on many occasions, and we hope they will have no difficulty in securing the object in view.

ALD. JOHN AND THE "OLD BOY."—"The devil has appeared," said Ald. Macpherson at the Council meeting on Monday night, and it was currently reported on the streets yesterday that Alderman John had an encounter after the meeting with something which, if not exactly the "old boy," looked sufficiently like him in one respect to warrant the impression being made in his mind that it was.

OBITUARY.—On the 28th of last month there died at her residence, Queensbury, Deborah H., wife of Mr. R. B. Cliff. The deceased lady was born May 1st, 1781. She had twelve children, six boys and six girls. Of these seven are living. She left surviving her forty-six grand children and thirty-eight great-grand children. Her descendants number altogether 118, of which 91 are living.

THE RULES OF ORDER.—At the meeting of the City Council, on Monday evening, Ald. Thomas created some amusement by the remarks which accompanied his request for copies of the rules of order. He said that he made the request as, although he had sat at the Board for some time, he was unable to learn the rules of order from the other older and more experienced Aldermen, or even ascertain from their actions that such existed.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH.—A meeting of the congregation of the Baptist Church was held on Monday evening in the vestry of the Free Baptist Church, York street, in regard to the new church. The pastor, the Rev. F. D. Crawley, was in the chair, and H. C. Creed, Esq., acted as Secretary. The gentlemen who composed the committee on plans—Mr. D. F. George, Joseph Sherwood, Judge Steadman, Dr. T. H. Rand, Mr. A. F. Randolph, Wm. Wheeler, George Kitchen, H. Crouse, and James G. McNally—were appointed a Building Committee, and were instructed by resolution of the meeting to procure specifications from the architect, Mr. D. E. Dunham, and to ask for tenders for the construction of the new edifice.

ANTIMONY.—We had a call the other day from Mr. W. J. Smart, Superintendent of the Hibbard Antimony Company, who was on his way to Nova Scotia to hire an additional force of miners. Eighty men are now employed there, and the output is from thirty to forty tons a day, worth from $75 to $90 per ton. The main shaft is 200 feet deep, and the Company have 800 feet of levels. The mine is paying handsomely. When Mr. Smart took charge he said he would make it pay in ninety days, and he has done so. Mr. Smart has had considerable experience in mining and is a thoroughly practical man. He says the Company have a good thing in their Prince William property, and he also speaks very favorably of the prospects of the Brunswick Antimony mine, which adjoins it.

THE OFFICERS' SQUARE.—It was resolved at the last meeting of the Council that the Police Magistrate be requested to instruct the police to have a supervision over the Officers' Square, to prevent any damage being done. Three cows grazed on the square the greater part of yesterday afternoon in undisturbed quiet, and in full view of the Police office. There is another thing to which attention has been called by some lovers of cleanliness and order, and that is—Whose duty is it to see that the sticks and the abundance of other debris now lying on the square, is cleaned up? It is true that the city is doing something to ornament this piece of ground by the construction of a beautifully proportioned gravel hill on the river side, just as they beautified the easterly end of the old stone barracks with a symmetrical lath pile; but might not the sticks, etc., be gathered from the surface of the square, and added to either or both of these piles to give them a rustic appearance?

THE NEW PAVEMENT.—A woodboat loaded with gravel for the new Queen street pavement, discharged yesterday at the Regent street wharf. The gravel is from the place known to river men as "Land's End."

"MRS. PARTINGTON."—The comedy of Mrs. Partington was presented at the City Hall last evening by Charles Fostelle and Company to a very good house. The performance was an admirable one, and most amusing. The Mrs. Partington of Fostelle was capital, and Ike was excellently conceived. It is only to be regretted that this company cannot show another night in Fredericton.

RED TAPE WITH A VENGEANCE.—"There is a good deal of red tape about the way in which some simple civic affairs are managed," said a citizen the other day, and there's more truth than poetry in the statement. Mr. James Farrell, the Board of Health Inspector, was recently informed or discovered that there was a dead dog on the Flats, which would be prejudicial to the health of the city if allowed to decompose above ground in the hot weather. He reported the matter to the Secretary of the Board of Health and that gentleman told him to tell Police Magistrate Marsh. The Inspector did so, and the Police Magistrate said that it was the City Marshall's business to remove such nuisances. The matter was accordingly laid before that functionary, but another band of red tape had to be removed. Before he could legally and properly bury the aforesaid deceased dog, an order for it, interment had to be procured from His Worship the Mayor. In regard to the last matter, however, it may be stated that as the City Marshall had not been appointed, John Woodward would not perform the duty without an order from the Mayor, which would secure the fee pertaining to the office.

THE "CAPITAL'S" TEACHINGS.—"It is reported," says the Capital of last evening, "that we have taught some of the reporters a lesson." We fail to perceive in what particular the local reporters have acquired anything from the teachings of the Capital, or what it is that paper has presented that is worthy of possessing oneself of. It is surely not desirable to become such a villager, such a wild, senseless ranter, such a dog-with-a-tin-tied-to-his-tail writer of vulgar and nasty personalities, as the editor of the Capital. It is a fact that none of the "effervescent young fellows," or of the "flukes" or "understrappers," of the local press, are fired with an ambition to place themselves on the platform on which the Capital's editor stands. To be known as the champion writer of vulgar abuse, the professor of Billingsgate, the high-priest of personal vilification, and the master of the lowest meanness, and most depraved form of vituperation, is not the ambition of any young journalist in this city.

The following is a "sample brick" from the reeking structure of vile abuse reared by the Capital:

That the wind-bag of the News is not improving in his bon-mots on the Capital. He is Rustin for a lamming. When we have nothing else to do, we will take him in hand. We are too busy just now with our spring poetry.

The Bridges and Roads.

Ald. Leigh drew attention at the Council Board Monday night to the dangerous condition of the bridges within the city limits, but below Mr. Ketchum's residence. He pointed out particularly the one immediately below Ketchum's, which had sunk considerably and was in a very unsafe condition. The Roads and Streets Committee was instructed to draw the attention of the Government to all the bridges below Mr. Ketchum's and within the city limits, and to request that repairing be at once effected. The point involved in the matter is that while the Government has to keep the road and bridges between the points mentioned above in good repair, the city is responsible for any damages that might result. All the bridges are in anything but good repair, and it would be a sensible idea to take some measures every year not to remedy but to prevent the road and bridges from getting into such a disgraceful condition as they were in, both above and below the city, this spring—a condition which endangered the life and limbs of hoaxes and rendered the road impassable in places for foot passengers. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the city only very recently had to pay a neat sum for damages to property at the Bailey bridge. The road above the city is now being repaired, and the Government is having a quantity of stone broken for the purpose of macadamizing the road below the city.

His Worship the Mayor said his attention had been drawn by some persons to the bad condition of the Maryland road, and Ald. Burchill said he thought that this road at the point mentioned was on the great road list. There should, it would seem, be some way of bringing pressure on the proper authorities to effect the needed repairs to this road, as it is one of the highways leading into the city over which there is a considerable amount of traffic, and it is therefore very important that it should be kept in good order.

Manitoba Floods.

(Special to THE HERALD.)

MANITOBA, May 9. The water in the Winnipeg Assiniboine is still rising, and the whole region beyond the bridge is under water. St. Boniface, on the east side, is also submerged, and the highways are impassable for teams. Persons living near the banks of the Red River are compelled to leave their houses and retire to the highest grounds. Hundreds of families are enduring hardships from being forced to live so long in tents and the upper parts of dwellings. Grist and saw mills are all idle and lumber is protected by booms. There is five feet of water in the gashouse retorts, the furnaces are submerged and the city is in darkness. The water is fully two feet higher than it was during the ice freshet, and intense anxiety prevails regarding the Louise railway and traffic bridge. The losses to all classes of industry are very great, and real estate is greatly affected.
