C. P. R. Takes Action Against Two Millville Men.

The prisoners were brought to the city and taken before Col. Marsh, who remanded them until Wednesday and accepted bail for their appearance. Messrs Kennedy and Appleby are charged with interfering with the rights of the C. P. R. J H Barry, K C, has been retained to defend them.

The Holiday.

Dominion day was generally observed in town as a holiday and all seemed to make the most of it. A great many people spent the day out of town but those who remained at home had lots to amuse them. A number of visitors arrived by the morning train, and the steamer Victoria came in at two o'clock with the Forester excursion consisting of about 400 persons and the Temple of Honor band. The excursionists spent the afternoon very pleasantly and left for home at six o'clock. The horse races at the park in and the yacht race were the principal attractions of the afternoon and in the evening a great crowd attended the festival at Scully's grove.

A Narrow Escape.

A peculiar incident occurred as last evening's train from St. John was making the run in from Fredericton Junction. A steer had become firmly wedged by the legs in between the ends of the sleeper, on a bridge twenty five feet high, and the train passed over the bridge without harming the animal although it just brushed him, while on the other side was a gaping gulch, into which the passengers expected to see him fall. As soon as the train was over the bridge it stopped, and Conductor Hagerman and the train hands aided by some church of England clergymen on their way to the Synod disembarked and rescued the steer from his perilous position, and found him uninjured.
