ODDFELLOWS' GRAND LODGE.

Moncton Brethren Arranging for Entertainment of the Visitors.

The Moncton Transcript says that the Oddfellows of that city are leaving no stone unturned to make the visit of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., which meets there this week both profitable and enjoyable for the visiting brethren. Their spacious hall in the Y. M. C. A., building has undergone a complete transformation. It has been thoroughly renovated and repainted, the furniture has been newly upholstered and it presents a most attractive appearance. One of the features of the decorations is the Lion and Unicorn border in honor of the visit to Canada of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall. Another feature is the carpet which is marked with the emblems of Oddfellowship. As already stated in the press there will be about 250 visiting brethren and their wives.

The Encampment I. O. O. F. will meet on Tuesday, and the Grand Lodge on Wednesday and Thursday. On Wednesday at 12.20 o'clock a special train will leave Moncton for Pt. du Chene to convey the Oddfellows and their friends on a day's outing. The steamer Northumberland has been chartered and a two or three hours' sail on the harbor will be enjoyed. The Citizens Band will accompany the excursionists and a very pleasant time is assured.

A number of Fredericton delegates whose names have already appeared in the Herald will attend the gathering at Moncton.

MISCELLANEOUS.

This, that and the other thing.—New York Evening Journal.

Strategy.

"Rafferty," said Mr. Dolan, as he looked at the big hotel building. "If I how ty live in a place like that, gimme the top flure. Then, in case any iv the j'ices laves go, the felly on the ground flure hov ty bear the brunt iv it." "But 'ink iv the drop!" said his neighbor. "It 'ud be ter'ble. But I'd chance it. I've had experience, an' when there's any kind iv a-gettin' together I invariably want ty be the man that hits first."—Washington Star.

Common Rumor at Fault.

The persistent correspondent was worming a biography out of the reluctant statesman. "I suppose it is true, senator, as everybody understands," he said, "that you began life as a poor plowboy?" "No, sir," growled the statesman. "I began life as a red faced, flat nosed, squawling baby."—Chicago Tribune.

A Blessing In Disguise.

"I suppose you are greatly displeased with my daughter's pianoforte practicing. It must annoy you dreadfully—the flat has such thin walls."

"Well, no, I have no wish to condemn your daughter's practicing. It has been the direct cause of my wife and I taking a great deal of very beneficial outdoor exercise."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Abdominal?

Miss Brown—What's the matter with your husband? Some stomach trouble, isn't it?
Mrs. Malaprop—Oh, worse'n that! The doctor didn't specify. He just said it was some "severe abominable complaint."—Philadelphia Press.
