MRS. KRUGER DEAD.

Dom Paul Wept Freely When the News was Broken to Him.

Pretoria, July 22.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger, of the South African republic, died Saturday afternoon of pneumonia, after an illness of three days. She was 67 years old.

London, July 22. Owing to the Sunday telegraph hours in Holland, says a despatch to the Daily Mail from Hilversum, Mr Kruger was not informed of his wife's death until the evening. The news was broken to him by Dr Heymans and Secretary Boeschoten. Mr Kruger, who had just returned from Hilversum church, burst into tears and asked to be left alone.

He exclaimed: "She was a good wife. We quarreled only once and that was six months after we were married."

He prayed for a long time and is now calmly sleeping, his Bible beside his bed. The Transvaal and Orange Free State flags are flying above the white villa, draped and half masted.

Pretoria, July 21—Mrs. Kruger's long separation from her husband, combined with her death of her favorite daughter. Mrs. Smith, last week, had completely broken her spirit. Mr. Eloff and many other members of the Kruger family were at her bedside when she passed away.

Does your wife love amusement? Then send her out for an evening, or what is the matter with you escorting her to see that funny comedy, "A Wise Woman? You will enjoy it, and it will remove that tired look from her face. You will both be the better for it.

SOUTH AFRICAN HERO'S DEATH.

(Special to Daily Herald.)

Moncton, July 22.—Corp. Rogers, whose death from injuries in Alberta, N. W. T., has been received and who went to South Africa with the second contingent, is a native of Berry's Mills and a son of George Rogers of that place. His sister Mrs Geo Cole resides in Moncton. He left Moncton for Alberta about fifteen months ago.

VEST'S TRIBUTE TO THE DOG.

Showing the Effect Eloquence Will Have Upon a Jury.

One of the most eloquent tributes ever paid to the dog was delivered by Senator Vest of Missouri some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested he was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. He was paid a fee of $250 by the plaintiff. Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked defendant. Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys, however, urged him to make a speech, else their client would not think he had earned his fee. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the face of each juryman for a moment and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, the best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journeys through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

Then Vest sat down. He had spoken in a low voice, without a gesture. He made no reference to the evidence or the merits of the case. When he finished, judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury filed out, but soon entered with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $200. It is even said that some of the jurors wanted to hang the defendant.

Possible Motive.

Maperson—Just look at that ocean greyhound go!

Merman—Yes; I wonder if some sea urchin hasn't tied a tin can to its tail!

Not the Kind.

He ordered a saddle of mutton;
The waiter brought it, of course.
Said he after trying to carve it,
"'Tis the saddle, no doubt, of a horse."
