

DOCTOR JACK

By St. George Rathborne.

There are lights here and there upon the Calle del Prado, and these help the stranger in a degree. Time was, and not so very long ago, when the honest citizen of this burgh desiring to go out at night had to take a guard along with him, and unless the moon shone, have a link-boy run ahead to light up the way. The Madrid of today has made giant strides, however, though far in the rear of such a brilliant city as Paris.

The street is not deserted, though its life is nothing compared with the heart of the city in the plaza known as the Puerta del Sol, where the pulse of the populace beats, and all gay sights are concentrated.

Doctor Jack meets several slouching fellows, who look at him inquisitively, and with such evident menace in their manner that, considering the circumstances surrounding him, the American may well be pardoned for holding himself in readiness to do battle. He is the worst man in Madrid for such footpads to tackle, as they may find out to his cost.

The hours become more numerous, and he sees more signs of life. Soon he will have to leave this lighted thoroughfare, and plunge into a narrow street that by devious turnings will, if he have rare good luck, eventually take him to the public square.

If danger is to descend upon him it will probably be at such a time, but there is really no way to avoid the disagreeable task.

Music reaches his ear. Beyond a wall comes the serenade song of some dark-eyed senorita enjoying the cool air of the evening in the plaza. The friends, perhaps with a stalwart and gallant lover seated at her side. Over the way the music is more weird. A gipsy bolero, as the fandango is called at times, is getting underway, and although matters are tame enough at this early stage, Jack shudders as he remembers the wild orgy upon which

After Baby Comes.

In the days following the baby's birth there is often a long up-hill struggle to recover strength, and the nurse busies herself in the preparation of jellies and broths for the invalid.

When Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used as a preparative for motherhood the baby's advent is practically painless, there is abundant strength to nurse and nourish the child, and a rapid recovery from the shock and strain inseparable from maternity.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of 21 South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. "When I had those misdeeds I began to think I would never have children. My back used to almost break and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up. I felt so bad; then I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time, and I never got those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I now feel well, and weigh 150 pounds, and the baby 25 pounds. We feel very grateful for the good you medicine did for us. We are both healthy, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels healthy.

The Druggists are Busy.

HARVEY STATION.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

April 18.—The bridge over the N. B. Magogadavie stream at York Mills, which was carried out by the ice during the recent freshet is being rapidly replaced by a new one. Councillor Thos. Robison has the contract and expects to have the bridge finished in a few days. The new bridge is forty-four feet long and 16 feet wide and has but a single span.

R. H. Torrance has sold his farm at Frog Lake to Robert Lister and in the future intends to reside near St. Stephen; he and his brother Thomas have purchased a large farm there and will move on to it in a few days. Mr. Torrance will be much missed in this place he was a good citizen and his removal will be a decided loss to the community.

A W. Coburn has been quite ill for the past week but is now improving.

are unable to enjoy the fruits of their labor because of kidney trouble brought on by the work which they are subject to. When the first sharp pain comes across the small of the back it is a warning that something has gone wrong with the kidneys. At this time delays are dangerous and by taking Doan's Pills immediately many years of suffering may be avoided.

Here are a few proofs that Doan's Kidney Pills are a positive cure for backache:

MR. M. E. SANDERS, Fairbank, Ont., writes:

I suffered intensely with pains across my back and am pleased to say that after taking one box of Doan's Pills I felt entirely cured, and can recommend them to all.

MR. G. WILLIAMS, Brantford, Ont., writes:

I was troubled with severe pains in my back, but after taking one box of Doan's Pills the lameness entirely disappeared. He highly recommends Doan's Pills to others.

MR. R. T. ARNOLD, Davisville, Ont., writes:
