

He Paid the Freight.

"Your wife," remarked the old friend, "tells me you are getting into society now."

"No," replied the plain man, who had to pay for his wife's ambitions; "society is getting into me."—Philadelphia Press.

Misunderstood Him.

"I understand that you have a great deal of fret work in your home," said Mr. Sezzit to Mr. Henneque.

"I'd rather you would not drag my wife into the conversation, sir," was the dignified reply.—Baltimore American.

His Career.

"That gambler who was just sent to prison seems to have had a checkered career."

"Checked? Worse than that. Checkers were too tame for him; he went in for cards."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Dakota Farm.

"Indeed!"

"Yes. Why, he has a trolley line between his front gate and the corner."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Are the French Latins or Celts?

It may be of some interest to inquire in what sense the term "Latin" can be correctly applied to the French, whom almost in the same breath many people are apt to describe as a "Celtic" people. One thing surely is certain—that in blood the French cannot be at the same time both "Latin" and "Celtic." Yet the inconsistency does not seem to strike people.

I think that, although outside Provence the French have little or no Latin—i. e., Italian—blood in their veins, the explanation of their being described as a "Latin" race is to be found in the fact that their language and civilization are both Latin. It seems no longer permissible to hold that the French are mainly "Celtic" in blood, the view being now generally accepted that the bulk of the population in France is of a pre-Celtic and probably of Iberian or Ligurian stock. And this view seems to hold good also of Ireland and Wales.—London Spectator.

On a Fee.

"Doctor," said the stingy man, who was trying to save a fee, meeting Dr. Sharpe on the street, "what do you think of this? Very frequently I get severe pains in my feet. What's that a sign of?"

"I should say that 'was a sign of rain,'" replied the doctor.

The Ingrate.

This is an ungrateful world. It not infrequently happens that the man who laughs the loudest at the mother-in-law jokes at the raffle show is the man who lives at the expense of his wife's mother and depends upon her to supervise the cooking, perhaps to do it.—Boston Transcript.

No Oldest Residents.

Turning to the picturesque resident, the man from the east, with a praiseworthy desire to be pleasant, asked:

"Have you lived here long?"

"Naw!" replied Lariat Lem, carelessly shifting his gun from one hand to the other. "No body lives here long."

Persistence of the Flavor.

A western correspondent sends us this story, which may be taken with a few grains of salt as to the material allegation contained therein:

A country customer had bought some fish at a village grocery store—whether codfish, mackerel or herring is not necessary for the purposes of the story—and at her next visit to the store she entered a complaint.

"They tasted," she said, "exactly like English breakfast tea."

"I'm not surprised, ma'am," replied the grocer. "Those fish were caught in Boston harbor."—Youth's Companion.

Hay Fever can be Cured by Japanese Catarrh Cure.

IT KILLS THE GERM WHICH IS THE CAUSE OF THIS MOST PREVALENT COMPLAINT.

Hay fever has been the cause of much scientific study and research by many of the most prominent physicians throughout the world. Many of them differ as to its real cause, but the majority agree that the cause is due to the little germs contained in pollen grains, principally hay pollen, but many other flowers and plants contribute largely to its cause. Japanese Catarrh Cure has been found the only complete cure for hay fever. It contains an organic compound of Iodine, which is a thoroughly harmless antiseptic, and destroys the hay fever germs completely. It soothes, heals and gives almost immediate relief. You will find it pleasant to use. We will be pleased to send you a trial quantity free. Enclose 5 cent stamp for postage, to The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., Limited, 121 Church St., Toronto. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents, or mailed direct.

For sale by J. M. Wiley, druggist.

Across The Ocean On Business.

A LETTER TO OUR PATRONS.

Our Buyer is getting ready to go to the European markets on a buying and selling trip. He will take along several lines of Canadian manufactured goods and canvas the biggest merchants in England, Scotland, Ireland, Germany Austria Hungary, France and Roumania, if he meets with success he may go further on the same way. He will be on the search for good bargains for our own stores. Mr. Fickler intends to leave Fredericton via Canada Eastern to Quebec and Montreal on or about Aug. 8, and will board the new 9000 ton steamer, Lake Champlain, that sails on Aug. 16 from Montreal. This new steamer is owned by the Elder Dempster Co., the largest shipping company on the continent, of which we are their ticket agents in Fredericton and Quebec. Mr. Fickler has booked several of his friends on the same vessel, that he will accompany across the ocean. Our object in making the above known through this space is to assure our patrons and the public at large that our big stores will remain open for business, under the management of Mr. Wm. Lustgarten, one of our head men from Quebec stores, also Mr. Jas. Magee, Mr. John McGinnis, and G. E. Booth of Toronto. These four capable men will do their best to please our patrons, which they have been doing for the past three years.

At a meeting held by all our employees it has been decided to reduce our stock of imported goods, in order that our buyer may be in a position to buy in larger quantities, to do this we must turn our stock into cash.

Beginning with Thursday, Aug. 1st, and up to Aug. 9, we will allow a straight discount of ten percent on all purchases of a dollar or over, that any one will make in any of our 4 stores, providing you ask for it and mention that you seen it in this paper, remember that this offer will last for 8 days only. You buy all the goods you require in our 4 stores at our July reduced prices, and when you settle give only 90 cents for every dollar you've bought. No discount will be given to those who don't ask for it or mention this paper. Here is a great opportunity for you to save 20 to 40 percent under other dealers prices, and 10 cents on every dollar besides if you ask for it. This offer will last until August 9th inclusive. As we must have a good deal of cash for our buyer's trip to the European markets, where no merchant of this city ever went. We hope that the public will take advantage of this genuine offer and come in mass to this big sale.
