

FUN FROM YONKERS.

A Budget of Jest to Make You Laugh and Grow Fat.

He—I have asked you 20 times to marry me, and now I ask you once more for the last time.

She—Oh, this is so sudden!

Bill—Have you seen that woman lighting change artist at the theater?

Jill—No; is she good?

"Great! Why, she puts on her bonnet in less than 15 minutes!"

Bill—I see the name of Lipton's new "cup lifter" is Shamrock II.

Jill—After the race they will put it Shamrock second.

Mrs. Styles—That man fought hard to dissolve the union.

Mrs. Fyles—Do you mean to say he was in the rebel army?

"No, no; he was my lawyer when I got my divorce."

Gotham—I heard that you had no trouble in heating your new house?

Church—That's right; they can always make it hot enough for me.

"What do you use, steam, hot air or mother-in-law?"

Helen—I hear Hortense has got some orange shirt waists.

Hattie—No, not orange—lemon shirt waists.

"Why lemon?"

"More apt to be squeezed."

"I suppose you see and hear some funny things in your business?" said the visitor.

"Yes," replied the theatrical manager.

"Why, only a few minutes ago one of the actors came in and asked me for some of his salary."—Yonkers Statesman.

On Equal Terms.

"Why are you going to leave, Guste?" "Because they treat me so badly." "That isn't my experience. Why, they treat me as one of the family! The mistress calls me an old fool as often as she does her husband!"—Lustige Blätter.

His Business Way.

"No, Mr. Veeder," said the pretty village milliner with a blush, "I like you very much, but not enough to marry you." "Bless you, Miss Phoebe," replied the commercial traveler, "I never give it up at first trial. Sometimes I have to make a dozen trips before I sell a bill of goods, and I can be a good deal more persevering than that when I'm looking for a wife. You won't marry anybody inside of the next 30 days, will you? All right. I'll be around again in exactly that time with the same—with the same sample of young man. Good day, Miss Phoebe."—Chicago Tribune.

Then He Was Ordered Out.

Croft has left Plymouth now. One little sentence exiled him.

You see, he had a fine old timepiece in the hall, hanging on a nail. His wife says he deliberately loosened that nail. However that may be, his mother-in-law one day rushed into the drawing room in a state of great excitement.

"Oh, dear; oh, dearie me!" she cried. "That heavy, horrid old clock has just fallen with a terrible crash on to the very spot where I was standing only a moment before."

Croft was quite cool and collected. But he murmured absently:

"I always said that clock was slow!"—Stray Stories.

WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN

They Have Another Lively Tilt With Conundrums.

"Now, then," said the information editor, coming back at him sturdily, "what happens when Sioux Falls?"

"She doesn't," retorted the exchange editor. "Divorce lawyers hold her up."

Why is a matrimonial engagement?" "Like a baseball combination? Diamond ring. Why is a whiskey manufacturer?"

"Keep still! Why is a trapdoor?" "Shut up! Why is a reformed dead-beat?"

"Expunge. Cut it out. What is the difference between a tomato?"

"And squaring the circle? One you can and the other you can't. What is the?"

"That won't do. What is the difference between a tomato and Washington city? One is seedy inside and the other's inside D. C. D'y'e see?"

"Capital crime. What do you do when old Time drags?"

"No. Use the spur of the moment on him. Why is a modern novel like a turn-coat?"

"Shows the seamy side. What's the difference between tea and a bad boy?"

"One's hyson and the other's low son. Why is?"

"Wrong."

"Always getting into hot water?"

"No. One has tannin and the other needs tannin."

"Weak. Why does a barber tell you a story when he slices off a piece of skin?"

"Because the tale goes with the hide. What is the difference between a bad marksman and a south sea islander tattooing his sweetheart?"

"Easy. One misses his mark and the other marks his miss. Why was Oliver Cromwell, after the battle of Marston moor?"

"Like a sheet of fly paper? Ol stuck up. Why is a volcano?"

"Like a swell party? Tremendous blowout. What is the difference between a billiard ball and?"

"No pocket to put it in. Why is a hippopotamus?"

"Can't climb a tree. When does?"

"When it's a jar."

At which critical juncture the information editor had to stop to answer a query from a knowledge seeker who wanted to know how many kinds of religion there were in the world, and if he wouldn't kindly give him a short description of each.—Chicago Tribune.

Her First Real Tragedy.

Daughter (sobbing)—I got angry with Jack and threw a t-teacup at his head.

Mother—You poor child, and I'll wager you haven't a bottle of china cement in the house.—Stray Stories.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Calcined Plaster
Land Plaster
Rock Wall Plaster

A convenient Wall Plaster for farmers and others living in localities distant from central markets, where lime, hair, etc., necessary for use in making ordinary mortar cannot be procured without considerable delay. Rock Wall Plaster is put up in bags of 100 lbs each, and is ready for applying to walls by the simple addition of sand and water. Rock Wall Plaster saves time, admits of carpenters immediately following the plasterers, giving the owner his building weeks earlier than with ordinary plaster. Rock Wall Plaster is a substitute for ordinary lime mortar and makes a much superior wall. The most inexperienced plasterer can apply it.
