

Wellington's Cook

Wellington's personal taste and habits like those of most great men, were very simple. He cared not for show or pomp of any kind. Instead of building a counterpart to Blenheim, for which money had been voted, he bought and improved Strathfieldsaye, a common country gentleman's house. In his diet he was very abstemious, even to the injury, it appears, of his health. He, of course, kept a first-rate French cook for his guests. The cook, it was said, one day suddenly resigned. The Duke, in astonishment, asked the reason. "Was his salary insufficient?" "No, my salary is very handsome. But I am not appreciated. I cook your dinner myself, a dinner fit for a King. You say nothing. I go out and leave the under cook to cook your dinner. He gives you a dinner fit for a pig. You say nothing. I am not appreciated. I must go."—Goldwin Smith.

Yes, It Did.

A party of youths at an English seaside town had tried all the penny-in-the-slot machines on the pier, until at last they came to one that didn't respond to the penny placed in the slot.

"Look here, my man," said the eldest of the party to the pier attendant, "that machine is to try your weight: the next your height; the next your strength; then, your sight; and now I've put a penny in this thing, but I didn't see what it's for."

"That, sir," replied the pierman. "Oh, that one is to try your temper, sir."

And it did.

Railroad Labor Troubles of '51.

The Railroad—The laborers have returned to their work, having agreed to the contractors' regulations—12 hours and six shillings York per day, says The Toronto Globe of May 17, 1851. At present all is apparently satisfactory. The troops have not been sent from London, and under present circumstances they are not required.

Birds That Sing Tunes.

A News despatch from Chicago last week told of the purchase for $1,200 by a wealthy man of that city of a canary which had been taught by its owner, a shoemaker, to sing correctly, "Yankee Doodle." It might interest that purchaser to know that a good many years ago Mr. Adam Falk, a merchant of Tavistock, Ont., educated not a few of the same class of birds to sing not only "Yankee Doodle," but also "God Save the Queen." His plan was to cover the cage and leave the birds in darkness, with nothing to attract their attention, and then by constant whistling of the airs mentioned, to gradually educate them into repeating the music. But there is no record that his efforts received the ample reward obtained by the fortunate cobbler.

William Lyon Mackenzie's Press.

In connection with a question as to the present location of the printing press of William Lyon Mackenzie, which was at one time deposited in Toronto Bay, Mr. Thomas Shaw of 38 McGill street, Toronto, says as a boy in Stouffville he remembers that Mr. Boyer had a printing press reputed to be the one in question. This was before 1850. Mr. Shaw says the press was sold and passed into the possession of Mr. J. M. Patterson, and later of Mr. Wheeler. Finally, says Mr. Shaw, the bed of the press was purchased by Mr. Jas. Holden of Prince Albert, Ontario County. He thinks this was about 1855.

Dear Sirs,—My little girl was almost dead with summer complaint. I tried numerous remedies for her, but they did no good. A friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I procured a bottle, and by the time she had taken three doses it began to help her and two bottles effected a complete cure. I owe her life to your excellent remedy.

Dear Sirs,—My little boy was very bad with diarrhoea. He passed nothing but blood. I tried everything, but could get nothing to do him any good until I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. A few doses made a complete cure, and I have more faith in your remedy for diarrhoea than any other preparation on earth and always keep it in the house.
